Event Partie I: Production écrite / compréhension écrite / grammaire (groupe 2)
06SK390-012b / Sprachkurs / 2,119

Description:

Business event contents:

La partie I du module est consacrée à l'élaboration des compétences écrites (compréhension et production) du niveau C1.

Les activités proposées en cours s'appuieront sur des documents écrits ou audio- visuels et permettront de faire l'acquisition des outils nécessaires en vue de rédiger différents types de texte propres au niveau C1 (résumé, compte rendu, synthèse, essai argumenté).

Un accent particulier sera mis sur le perfectionnement de la maîtrise grammaticale et sur l'enrichissement des structures syntaxiques.

Les étudiant-e-s seront également amené-e-s à acquérir une phraséologie et un vocabulaire adaptés au niveau C1 et à se familiariser avec quelques principes de la grammaire textuelle.

Notes:

Le cours demande un travail important et régulier.

Event Analyse linguistique du FEW électronique
06SE390-505a / Seminar / 251

Description:

Business event contents:

Le FEW de Walther von Wartburg porte le titre de Französisches etymologisches Wörterbuch, mais il correspond plus précisément au Thesaurus galloromanicus annoncé par le sous-titre. Cet ouvrage, réalisé essentiellement à Bâle et qui englobe et structure le vocabulaire des idiomes et dialectes galloromans depuis le Moyen Âge, est en voie de numérisation à l'UZH, ce qui ouvre des perspectives interprétatives spectaculaires. Il devient désormais possible (i) d'interroger la matière lexicale dans son intégralité (formes lexicales, sens, affixes) et (ii) d'intervenir de manière ciblée dans les articles rédigés (corrections, ajouts, regroupements, hyperliens).

Le séminaire a comme objectif d'étudier la multitude des interrogations et des interventions possibles. La recherche informatique complexe permet notamment d'entreprendre avec des stratégies nouvelles l'identification des quelque 30 000 lexèmes classés comme d'origine inconnue ou incertaine. Par ailleurs, on peut mettre en relief avec plus de précision des bases protoromanes ou des bases onomatopoeïques. Il est également possible d'identifier des trajectoires étymologiques superposées, effets de l'étymologie populaire.

D'un point de vue méthodologique, cette nouvelle ressource informatique permet de traiter de manière exemplaire les diverses voies d'évolutions d'une famille linguistique à travers un millénaire et demi.

06SE090De1b / Seminar / 892

Description:

Business event contents:

Im ersten Semester des Fachdidaktik-Kurses stehen die Planung, Durchführung und Reflexion von Übungslektionen im Zentrum. Sie erarbeiten in Gruppen schülerzentrierte und handlungsorientierte Unterrichtseinheiten im Bereich des Literaturunterrichts und der Sprachbetrachtung, führen diese in meinen Klassen durch und diskutieren Sie im Seminar. Dabei setzen wir uns ausgehend von seinen Lernzielen mit den Inhalten und Methoden des Deutschunterrichts am Gymnasium auseinander und reflektieren die Planung und Umsetzung von Unterricht im Kontext des Schulalltags. Allgemein beschäftigt uns die Frage, wie sich das Fachwissen, das im Germanistikstudium erworben wird, in fachdidaktisches Wissen und Können transformieren lässt. Konkret setzen wir uns mit der Formulierung von Aufgaben und Aufträgen, Feedback und Rückmeldungen auseinander und widmen uns der Frage nach der Rhythmisierung von Lektionen und der Aktivierung der Lernenden.

06SE090De3a / Seminar / 897

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie kommt Literatur ins Gespräch?

Dieses Seminar lädt dazu ein, aktuelle Ideen und kreative Wege des Literaturunterrichts auf der Sekundarstufe I & II kennenzulernen und auszuprobieren. Besonders im Fokus steht dabei das gesprochene Wort: Wie kann Mündlichkeit - Sprechen, Zuhören, Verstehen, Austauschen - zur Brücke zwischen Text und Lerngruppe werden? Gemeinsam gehen wir Fragen nach wie:

Wie erleben Schüler:innen literarische Texte - und wie können wir ihre Sicht ernst nehmen?

Welche didaktischen Positionen inspirieren - und was taugen sie für den eigenen Unterricht?

Wie plane ich eine Deutschstunde, in der Literatur nicht trocken analysiert, sondern lebendig erforscht wird?

Wie blicke ich nach einer Stunde zurück - und führe auf dieser Basis den Unterricht sinnvoll weiter?

Und nicht zuletzt: Welche Rolle spiele ich selbst im Literaturunterricht - als Moderator:in, Impulsgeber:in, Mitleser:in?

Ein Seminar für alle, die Literaturunterricht als Raum für echte Gespräche, neugieriges Fragen und gemeinsames Nachdenken begreifen wollen.

Notes:

Für dieses Seminar werden einerseits ein bereits beendetes Fachstudium, andererseits erste Lehrerfahrungen dringend empfohlen.

Description:

Business event contents:

Le deuxième semestre du cours portera sur le développement de la compréhension de textes littéraires, sur la production écrite et le grand thème de l'évaluation. La grammaire et le vocabulaire seront repris sous l'aspect de l'enseignement aux niveaux intermédiaire et avancé. Des réflexions sur des exemples concrets et des expériences personnelles ainsi que la planification de séquences de plusieurs leçons complèteront ce parcours.

Event Vergangene Zukünfte der Berufsbildung – nationale, transnationale und vergleichende Perspektiven
06SE226p544a / Seminar / 2,948

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie wir Bildung heute gestalten, hängt wesentlich davon ab, wie wir uns die Zukunft vorstellen. Aus historischer Perspektive bedeutet dies, dass die heutige Bildung das Resultat vergangener Zukunftsvorstellungen ist. Bildung fungiert dabei als zentrales Instrument, mit dem Akteure versuchen, die Zukunft zu gestalten und zu beeinflussen. Auch in der Berufsbildung zeigt sich dies: Hier wird um verbindliche Entscheidungen für die künftige Arbeitswelt und Gesellschaft gerungen, da unterschiedliche Akteure mit ihren Interessen aufeinandertreffen und Machtverhältnisse wirksam werden. Vor diesem Hintergrund untersucht das Modul vergangene Zukunftsvorstellungen in der Berufsbildung der Nachkriegs-Schweiz (1945-1989), einer Zeit, in der massgebliche Weichen für die heutige Berufsbildung gestellt wurden. Im Fokus stehen Perspektiven unterschiedlicher Akteursgruppen, darunter politische Experten, Lernende, Gewerbeschullehrpersonen und Berufsberatende. Auf der Grundlage von Texten, Quellen und Diskussionen analysieren wir, welche Zukunftsvorstellungen geäußert wurden, inwiefern diese Vorstellungen übereinstimmten oder miteinander konkurrierten, und wie sie in grössere historische Entwicklungen eingebettet waren. Darüber hinaus geht das Modul davon aus, dass Zukunftsvorstellungen erwerbsbezogener Bildung durch transnationale Dynamiken geprägt waren. Diese werden durch die Einbeziehung supranationaler Akteure sowie durch eine vergleichende Perspektive, insbesondere mit den USA, berücksichtigt.

Event Global governance of education - metrics, technologies and power positions
06SE226p557a / Seminar / 1,248

Description:

Business event contents:

This course introduces numbers as "agents" in global governance in education. It examines how quantitative metrics, such as standardized tests and international indicators, shape policies and educational practices on a global scale. Measurement tools-like large scale learning assessments or the international standard classification of education -are used to evaluate and compare educational systems across countries, influencing national agendas and funding priorities. The course underscores that these measurement systems serve more than just evaluative purposes; they actively shape educational values, standards and practices by establishing norms that countries strive to meet. Through data, global governance actors-including international organizations, the private sector, and governments-exercise influence, promoting a vision of "effective" education that can sometimes be seen as overly technocratic and distanced from local values or needs. A central aspect of the course is to look at existing tensions between global governance, democracy, and legitimacy, examining how different actors and audiences define and legitimize educational values. Students examine whether these metrics reinforce inequalities or overlook cultural and contextual differences. Workshops provide practical opportunities to analyze and critique specific metrics, encouraging students to think critically about the dual nature of measurement in achieving global education goals. Ultimately, students explore how measurement both enables governance and constrains autonomy within the global education landscape.

Event Robert Musil, "Die Amsel"
06KO360p128a / Colloquium / 2,576

Description:

Business event contents:

Im Zentrum des Seminars steht Robert Musils 1928 erstmals erschienene Novelle "Die Amsel", die der Autor 1936 in seine Sammlung "Nachlass zu Lebzeiten" aufgenommen hat und die als besonders aufschlussreich für sein Selbstverständnis als Erzähler gelten kann. Kaum ein Text aus Musils Werk ist in der Konstruktion der Form und in der Selbstreflexion des narrativen Akts derart kühn, nuanciert und dicht.

Die Veranstaltung widmet sich einem intensiven 'close reading' dieses Textes und flankiert die Lektüre unter Berücksichtigung weiterer Erzählungen Musils ("Die Verwirrungen des Zöglings Törless", "Drei Frauen" u.a.) durch das Studium ausgewählter Forschungsliteratur, die in diesem Fall besonders reichhaltig und spannend ist. Das Ziel des Seminars besteht darin, einen Einstieg in Musils komplexe, aber faszinierende Erzählkunst zu finden und über den Weg seiner kürzeren Prosatexte einen Klassiker der literarische Moderne anzunähern.

Event Digitale Plattformen: Macht, Ökonomie, Ästhetik
06SE380p806a / Seminar / 5,533

Description:

Business event contents:

Digitale Plattformen erscheinen allgegenwärtig und unverzichtbar. Wir kommunizieren und informieren uns auf ihnen, streamen Filme, Serien, Podcasts und Musik über sie, kaufen ein, buchen unseren Urlaub und bewegen uns mit ihnen durch die Stadt. Für immer mehr Menschen bestimmen sie auch den Arbeitsalltag. Doch was sind Plattformen überhaupt? Woher kommt ihre Macht, welche Geschäftsmodelle liegen ihnen zugrunde, und wie haben sie unsere digitale Kultur verändert? Welche technischen, sozialen und kulturellen Bedingungen haben den Aufstieg der Plattformkonzerne ermöglicht, und warum erscheint es zunehmend schwieriger, sie einer demokratischen Kontrolle zu unterwerfen? Befinden wir uns im Zeitalter des Plattformkapitalismus oder führt uns die marktbeherrschende Stellung der Tech-Konzerne gar in neo-feudalistische Verhältnisse, wie manche argumentieren? Nicht zuletzt: Was bedeutet es für die ästhetische Produktion und kreative Arbeit, wenn sie nahezu ausschliesslich unter Plattformbedingungen stattfindet? Welche neuen kulturellen Genres und ästhetischen Formate sind mit dem Aufstieg der Plattformen entstanden, und wie verändern sie unsere Wahrnehmung?

Diesen Fragen widmet sich das Seminar anhand von ausgewählten Lektüren aus den Medien-, Sozial- und Kulturwissenschaften. Es geht um die Analyse konkreter Fallbeispiele ebenso wie um die Auseinandersetzung mit künstlerischen Arbeiten, die das Leben unter Plattformbedingungen reflektieren. In den Blick kommen dabei Plattformen wie Amazon, Google, Netflix, Instagram, TikTok, Uber oder Spotify, die wir in ihrer jeweiligen Spezifik und auf gemeinsame Strukturmerkmale hin untersuchen. Ebenso soll es darum gehen, was die aktuellen Entwicklungen der sogenannten «Künstlicher Intelligenz» für die Zukunft der Plattformen bedeuten und wie diese selbst die Voraussetzungen für den KI-Hype geschaffen haben, von dem sie nun von zu profitieren versuchen.

Notes:

Ein integraler Bestandteil des Seminars ist das zweitägige Symposium «Im Maschinenraum der Cloud. Perspektiven einer demokratischen Digitalisierung» des Zentrums Künste und Kulturtheorie (ZKK), das ganztägig am 29. und 30. Oktober 2026 im Cabaret Voltaire stattfindet und Expert:innen aus Wissenschaft, Kunst, Aktivismus und Journalismus versammelt, die gemeinsam über Alternativen zur Macht der Plattformen nachdenken. Ein Reader mit Texten und Materialien wird zu Beginn des Seminars bereitgestellt.

Event Political Economy of Development in Latin America
06SE615-001b / Seminar / 4,672

Description:

Business event contents:

This course introduces the political economy of development in Latin America from a long-run historical perspective. We examine the region's trajectory from the colonial period to the present to understand how political institutions, economic structures, and state capacity evolved over time. By studying these historical processes, the course seeks to explain contemporary challenges such as inequality, corruption, and weak states.

A central concept in the course is path dependence. Early institutional choices shape later political and economic possibilities. Rather than treating history as a constraint or a curse, the course uses path dependence to explain why countries in the region have followed different development trajectories.

The course also emphasizes the role of political and economic elites in shaping development. In many contexts, elites control the resources and organizations needed to coordinate collective action. Development outcomes therefore depend on whether elites cooperate to provide public goods—such as taxation systems, infrastructure, and education—or whether they coordinate to protect class goods that benefit only a narrow group.

Across Latin America's history, the course highlights how periods of stronger development tend to emerge when elites both compete and cooperate in the provision of public goods, rather than competing solely for private advantages.

Event Übung: Heiliger Krieg und religiöse Gewalt
01UE57LB002 / Exercise Group / 3,122

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie werden Krieg und Gewalt erzählt, dargestellt und legitimiert? Und welche Rolle spielt dabei Religion? In diesem Methodenkurs befragen wir am Beispiel der Kreuzzüge verschiedene Quellengattungen – von historiographischen Texten, Briefen, Reise- und Pilgertexten, Recuperatio-Traktaten bis zu Karten auf Lateinisch, Anglonormannisch und Arabisch – nach deren Darstellung von Krieg und Gewalt und üben gemeinsam, historisches Quellenmaterial zu kontextualisieren und zu analysieren sowie historische Fragestellungen zu entwickeln und zu bearbeiten.

Event Passio und Compassio in der mittelhochdeutschen Literatur
06SE360p126a / Seminar / 2,121

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Leiden und der Tod Jesu, voller Gewalt, Verrat, Blut und Hass, gelten für das Christentum zugleich als entscheidender Wende-, Erlösungs- und Heilsmoment der Menschheit. Das Seminar greift die Passionserzählungen der vier Evangelien der Bibel auf, fragt nach deren literarischen Nachwirkungen und Deutungen im Mittelalter wie beispielsweise in Passionsspielen, Marienklagen, Liedern und Erzählungen. Ab dem 12./13. Jahrhundert entfaltet sich in mittelalterlichen Texten die sogenannte compassio als Leidensdeutung und Frömmigkeitspraxis. Das Seminar zielt darauf ab, komparatistische, erzählanalytische und religionshistorische Ansätze miteinander zu verbinden, um Zugänge zu den mittelhochdeutschen literarischen Darstellungen, Ausschmückungen und Interpretationen der Passion Christi zu eröffnen.

Course Materials:

Die Seminarteilnehmenden bringen bitte mit:

Event Intermediate Corporate Finance (L)

03VL22MO0008 / Course / 1,434

Description:

Business event contents:

In this course, students will be introduced to essential issues and concepts for financing firms. The course will be conceptual while at the same time being also practical and relevant. The module covers applied topics in finance. The module is built around lecture notes, which deliver the content and case studies that apply the content. The purpose of this course is the introduction of techniques to analyze major financial decisions made by firms. The course focuses on corporate finance concepts that can be applied directly to real-life financial decision making. Main topics covered in the course include hurdle rates and the cost of capital (i.e., the investment decision), the mix of debt and equity and the choice of the right kind of debt (i.e., the financing decisions), and basic valuation concepts (i.e., discounted-cash flow and multiples valuation. The course also discusses concepts related to sustainable finance or ESG issues as relevant for a corporate finance context. The course enables participants to make and assess complex corporate financial decisions.

Notes:

This module takes place onsite.

Presence is not compulsory. However, please bear in mind that in-class participation and attendance will help you understand and master the course content. If you have questions for me, you should ask them in class rather than by email; if I have an announcement to make, I shall make it in class rather than post it on the course website.

You should contact the teaching assistant Yann Joël Cerasi (yannjoel.cerasi@df.uzh.ch) for any question regarding the course.

Event Anatomy of a Coup d'État: the politics of autocratic power
06SE615p011a / Seminar / 5,420

Description:

Business event contents:

When and how do autocrats seize power? Do they ascend through elections or depose democratic leaders? What does authoritarian policymaking look like? Why do so many autocrats hold elections and write constitutions, constructing institutions to limit their own power? How do autocracies survive in the long run?

For a dictator, the greatest privilege is to die peacefully in bed. Anything else is politics. In this course, we will examine the origins, outcomes, and consequences of coups d'état: the fast, illegal removal of an incumbent ruler. Focusing first on how coups emerge and the role of elite coordination, the military, and democratic institutions, we will then examine the aftermath of authoritarian takeovers-how power is consolidated or shared, how institutions are built and destroyed, and how policy is made and implemented by dictators. We will situate this in broader theories of regime change, competitive authoritarianism, elite bargaining, and repression.

This course will take a comparative politics approach: we will focus on the strategic interaction of domestic actors and explore a wide range of cases. Though global in application, we will pull mostly from the following cases:

Europe in the interwar period; South America during the Cold War; Southeast Asia; Iran; and the Levant.

This course will be graded with an oral presentation (35%) and a written term paper (65%).

Event Specialization: Political Economy of International Organizations
06SE615p004a / Seminar / 3,733

Description:

Business event contents:

This seminar deals with international organizations (IOs) as key actors and arenas where global politics takes place. Although IOs in the past decades have become central for addressing some of the most pressing problems in the globalized world, increasingly their importance is also contested. We examine how IOs are organized and governed; what are the incentives of governments dealing with IOs as well as the incentives of the bureaucrats who staff them, and how IOs influence policy outcomes and international cooperation. We also consider the interaction of IOs with transnational actors such as multinational corporations and NGOs and have a particular interest in the interaction of the international political economy with the domestic political economy of IO members.

As the first half of the one-year long specialization course, this course places strong emphasis on questions of research design and methods, and how students can come up with their own research proposal on international institutions for the final year project.

Event The Political Economy of AI
06SE615p502a / Seminar / 3,195

Description:

Business event contents:

Artificial intelligence is reshaping economies, states, and societies. This seminar examines the political economy of AI, focusing on how interests, institutions, and power shape the development, evolution, and governance of AI. The seminar begins by comparing AI to other fundamental technological revolutions (such as railways or electrification). We then explore core political economy questions - who wins and who loses and who decides - in the context of four domains: First, we study the supply side, examining issues such as the main actors and the structure of the AI industry, including the vertical integration, cross-national variation, and the financing of the AI revolution. Second, we turn to the demand side and examine AI adoption and its implications for structural change in labor and product markets. We then turn to governance and the political struggles over how the gains and risks of AI are to be distributed: we examine variation in AI regulation, including the tension between regulation, innovation, and safety, competing visions of digital sovereignty, and policy responses to the distributional consequences of the AI revolution. Finally, we consider the geopolitics of AI and examine how AI (re)shapes global hierarchies in the world economy and the security realm. By applying established analytical frameworks to the field of AI, the seminar will teach students to transfer insights from political economy research to new issue areas and the current moment.

Event Sprache und Politik im Wandel

06SE360-106a / Seminar / 2,781

Description:

Business event contents:

Spricht der US-Präsident Trump wie ein Diktator? Nutzt die deutsche AfD nationalsozialistischen Wortschatz? Ähneln sich die Rhetorik von links- und rechtsextremen politischen Gruppierungen? Welche charakteristische Sprache ist bei den Schweizer Parteien zu beobachten - heute und früher? Welche Ähnlichkeiten und Unterschiede gibt es bei sogenannten Kriegsbotschaften im Vergleich zwischen Kaiser Wilhelm um 1900, Hitler 1939 und Putin 2022?

Diese und ähnliche Fragen leiten das Seminar zu Sprache und Politik im Wandel. Politik ist ein besonders interessanter Fall für eine linguistische Perspektive, weil politisches Handeln primär sprachliches Handeln ist. Und damit ist Sprache in der Politik auch ein Spiegel gesellschaftlicher Verhältnisse und politischer Positionen. Mit Blick auf historischen Wandel des Sprachgebrauchs in der Politik kann dieser Zusammenhang zwischen Sprache und Realität in den Blick genommen werden. Dafür beschäftigen wir uns im Seminar mit den entsprechenden linguistischen Theorien und Methoden und wenden diese auf verschiedene Phänomene in der Politik an.

Event Schweizer Chroniken
06KO360-113a / Colloquium / 2,668

Description:

Business event contents:

Chroniken vermitteln Geschichte(n): Sie sammeln, ordnen und formen Wissen über die Vergangenheit, organisieren es raumzeitlich wie erzähllogisch und konstruieren so ein bestimmtes Geschichtsbild. Historiographie - auch die mittelalterliche - erhebt zwar stets einen Wahrheitsanspruch, bleibt aber selten reiner Tatsachenbericht, sondern folgt spezifischen, auch 'literarischen' Formen des Erzählens. Im Seminar beschäftigen wir uns mit dem Korpus der spätmittelalterlichen deutschsprachigen Chroniken aus dem Gebiet der heutigen Schweiz. Diese amtliche Chronistik war zunächst auf einzelne Orte und Städte sowie ihre politischen Führungsgruppen konzentriert. Erst ab Anfang des 16. Jahrhunderts entstand nach und nach eine gesamteidgenössische Landesgeschichtsschreibung, gewissermassen ein protonationales Narrativ. In diesen gemeinschaftsstiftenden Erzählungen spielen nicht nur Geschichten von Ursprung und Herkunft oder Kriegen und Konflikten eine tragende Rolle, sondern ebenso erinnerungswürdige Ereignisse im In- und im Ausland.

Wir wenden uns daher einerseits den Entstehungs- und Gebrauchskontexten dieser Texte zu, fragen andererseits aber auch nach der narrativen Faktur von historiographischen Zeugnissen. Mit welchen literarischen Mitteln wird Geschichte geschrieben, was wird überhaupt als berichtenswert erachtet? Wie wird einzelörtlich, wie wird eidgenössisch erzählt? Besondere Aufmerksamkeit schenken wir den Bilderchroniken, eine Eigenheit aus eidgenössischen Städten, und beobachten an ihnen das mediale Zusammenspiel von Text und Bild.

Notes:

Kenntnisse des Mittelhochdeutschen sind Voraussetzung, daher sollte das Modul "Einführung in die Ältere deutsche Literaturwissenschaft" erfolgreich absolviert worden sein. Es wird mit teils unübersetzten Editionen (19./20. Jh.) gearbeitet.

Course Materials: Werden auf OLAT zur Verfügung gestellt.

Event NT Seminar: African Readings: A Course in Contextual Interpretation
01SE15SS050 / Seminar / 2,041

Description:

Business event contents:

This course introduces African Readings as one dimension of contextual interpretation within theological discourse. In contrast to dominant Western hermeneutical traditions, which have been shaped by its own cultural contexts, this course highlights the distinctiveness of African contexts and interpretive frameworks. We will explore how cultural differences shape diverse worldviews, particularly in settings where the spiritual, social, political, cognitive, and economic realms are deeply interconnected rather than separated. The course also examines how lived experiences of vulnerability, expressed through realities such as scarcity, poverty, environmental degradation, illness, and the legacy of colonialism, inform and influence biblical interpretation in African communities. Through these explorations, students will gain a deeper appreciation for the richness and complexity of African perspectives in biblical hermeneutics as well as its shortcomings.

Event KG_NT Seminar: The Gospel of John during the time of reformation
01SE22SS049 / Seminar / 1,548

Description:

Business event contents:

Schon für mittelalterliche Theologie und Frömmigkeit war das Johannesevangelium eines der anregendsten biblischen Bücher. Dies setzt sich in der Reformationszeit fort: Nahezu alle Reformatoren haben Predigten, Kommentare oder andere Auslegungen des Johannesevangeliums hinterlassen; Kunst und Musik sind durch Motive und Texte des vierten Evangeliums befruchtet und geprägt worden. Im Seminar wollen wir dieser breiten Wirkung des Johannesevangeliums im interdisziplinären Gespann von neutestamentlicher und kirchengeschichtlicher Wissenschaft nachgehen. Wir werden uns mit ausgewählten reformatorischen Johannesauslegungen beschäftigen, deren exegetischen Hintergrund abklopfen und mit heutigen exegetischen Erkenntnissen vergleichen.

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Schweizer Reformierten sagten in früheren Tagen, dass man am Sonntag "z Predigt" gehe. Viel mehr war da nicht: ein Lied oder wenn's hoch kam auch einmal zwei, ein langes Gebet ... "z Predigt" war sachgemäss, doch ist es auch zeitgemäss? In der Predigtliturgie geht es immer noch in erster Linie um die Wortverkündigung, klar, aber wir predigen nicht nur im Gottesdienst und feiern nicht nur mit den Ohren. Wir singen, beten und segnen, wir feiern einen Ritus am Sonntag. Was hilft diese Einsicht für das Verständnis der Verkündigung? Sie hilft uns, den Gottesdienst als Ganzes wahrzunehmen und den homiletischen Akt besser zu verstehen. Wie passen Predigt, Gebete und den Lieder zusammen? Welche Rolle spielen die rituellen Praktiken in der Auslegung biblischer Texte? Im Seminar soll die Theorie der gottesdienstlichen Verkündigung unter diesen Leitfragen bedacht und die ars celebrandi exemplarisch geübt werden.

Notes:

Bitte beachten Sie, dass am Sonntag 29.11., 6.12., 13.2. und 20.12. Gottesdienste von Teilnehmenden des Seminars in Gemeinden durchgeführt werden. Reservieren Sie sich die Zeiten. Es wird empfohlen, die parallel die Übung Evensong zu buchen.

01SE24SS022 / Seminar / 2,107

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie lässt sich ein exegetisch fundierter Zugang zum Johannesevangelium verbinden mit einer spirituell-kontemplativen Lektüre und diakonisch-homiletischen Erschliessung? Anhand exemplarisch ausgewählter Schrittexte will dieses interdisziplinäre Seminar unterschiedliche hermeneutische Zugänge erproben, sie diskutieren und auf reflektierte Weise miteinander kombinieren. Der Leitfaden für diese Experimentierwerkstatt bilden die im Evangelium selbst zu findenden «Lektüeranleitungen» und hermeneutischen Schlüssel: das Selbstverständnis als inspiriertes Zeugnis und Vergegenwärtigung des inkarnierten Logos.

Description:

Business event contents:

"Wenn es um die Wunder der Evangelien geht, sollte es nicht unser erstes Anliegen sein, sie zu verteidigen, sondern sie zu verstehen. Wenn wir das gelernt haben, stellen wir auf einmal fest, dass sie sich selbst verteidigen" (F. F. Bruce)

Wunderezählungen machen einen wesentlichen Anteil der Jesusüberlieferung in den vier Evangelien aus. Diese überliefern 35 Wunder Jesu und berichten in 15 weiteren Texten von seiner Wundertätigkeit. In diesem Seminar werden wir die Erzählungen über die Heilungen, Exorzismen, Natur-, Auferweckungs- und Epiphaniewunder Jesu und auch über die Wunder seiner Apostel miteinander betrachten. Auf dem Hintergrund des Alten Testaments und des jüdischen Kontextes werden wir diese Wunder zu verstehen suchen als Zeichen des messianischen Zeitalters, in denen sich das Reich Gottes ereignet (vgl. Lk 11,20; Mt 12,28). Dabei werden neben den theologischen Implikationen am Rande auch historische, philosophische und naturwissenschaftliche Fragen bedacht.

Business event contents:

Dieses Forschungskolloquium bietet fortgeschrittenen Studierenden die Möglichkeit, ihre laufenden Arbeiten (Masterarbeiten, ausnahmsweise auch Seminararbeiten) einer auf Ethik spezialisierten Forschungsgruppe vorzustellen.

Gleichzeitig stellt das Kolloquium eine Gelegenheit dar, Vorträge von Personen zu besuchen, die universitär im Bereich der Ethik und in angrenzenden Bereichen forschen. Es bietet damit einen Einblick in die aktuelle Forschung in der Ethik und in angrenzenden Bereichen und erlaubt es, sich mit der Arbeitsweise in der akademisch-philosophischen Forschung vertraut zu machen.

Event Mystik remastered. Analyse, Rezeption, Vermittlung
06SE360p125a / Seminar / 2,027

Description:

Business event contents:

Die abendländische Mystik bildete eine Denktradition heraus, die von der Spätantike über das Mittelalter bis in die Neuzeit und unsere Gegenwart hinein wirksam blieb. Mediale Dynamiken und kulturelle Ereignisse in unserem Alltag lassen sich oftmals besser verstehen, wenn man sie in dieser historischen Perspektive betrachtet.

Im Kurs lesen wir exemplarische Texte aus der abendländischen Mystik und stellen sie in Bezug zu medialen und kulturellen Erscheinungen der Gegenwart. Welche mystisch geprägten Denkfiguren und Wahrnehmungsformen zeigen sich in Literatur, Film und Gaming? Wie lässt sich dies auch im Aufführungscharakter von Sport, Musik und Performance Art beobachten?

Im Anschluss daran stellen wir uns die Frage, wie ein solches Kulturverständnis auch Eingang in den gymnasialen Deutschunterricht finden kann. Müssen wir unsere Vorstellungen von Kanon, Analyse und Verstehen an der Schule grundlegend überdenken? Können solche Ansätze direkt über die Gegenstands- oder eher über die Methodenebene vermittelt werden?

Für die Teilnahme am Kurs wird die Bereitschaft zur analytischen Auseinandersetzung über historische und mediale Grenzen hinweg erwartet. Ein ausgeprägtes Interesse an fachlichen wie fachdidaktischen Fragen ist ebenso wünschenswert. Als Leistungsnachweis sind flexible Formen zwischen Analyse, Rezeption und Vermittlung möglich.

Event Physical Chemistry III: From Quantum Mechanics to Quantum Chemistry
07VUCHE305.1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 2,198

Description:

Business event contents:

This lecture presents the core concepts of many-body quantum mechanics and explores theoretical approaches for describing atoms and molecules. Beginning with the fundamentals of quantum mechanics, it introduces the harmonic approximation for nuclear motion and mean-field methods for electronic structure. The Hartree–Fock method is examined in depth, followed by an overview of post-Hartree–Fock techniques such as Møller–Plesset perturbation theory, configuration interaction, and coupled cluster methods. The lecture concludes with an introduction to density functional theory, a widely used approach for studying electronic structure.

Event The mediatisation of everyday life in digital media: A comparison of Switzerland and the English-speaking world
06KO440p008a / Colloquium / 5,305

Description:

Business event contents:

The transformation of the media landscape, with the development of digital media, has radically changed human communication and social interaction. Now digital technologies allow individuals to represent their daily lives on myriad platforms, and engage in strategic presentation of the self across the entire lifespan (Harley et al. 2018). Everyday experience has become visible and searchable on social media, as individuals allow digital media into their lives with new levels of intimacy and familiarity, marking a shift from "mundane" private experience to public, curated and commodified online personae.

This module uses the concept of mediatisation as its analytical foundation and investigates how digital media are used to shape key life-course phases. Mediatisation theory argues that media do not simply transmit information but increasingly organise and structure social life itself. Through a cross-cultural comparison of Switzerland and the English-speaking world, students in this module will examine how daily life is experienced and represented online at different stages of the lifespan, including childhood, adolescence, parenting, working life, older age, and death/bereavement, and how such representation is influenced by the structures and ideologies of digital media.

Event Spezialisierung: Frieden und Konflikt in den Internationalen Beziehungen
06SE615p012a / Seminar / 3,473

Description:

Business event contents:

Im Zentrum der Spezialisierung stehen theoriegeleitete wissenschaftliche Analysen komplexer weltpolitischer Konflikte und unterschiedlicher Modi der politischen Konfliktbearbeitung und Kooperation. Die Studierenden werden dazu angeleitet, konfliktanalytische Fragestellungen zu entwickeln, für Konfliktanalysen relevante wissenschaftliche Literatur zu recherchieren, diese Literatur zu verstehen und zu vergleichen. Kenntnisse der Rolle und Funktion sozial- und politikwissenschaftlicher Theorien im Forschungsprozess werden anhand konfliktanalytischer Forschungsarbeiten vertieft und erweitert, die Ableitung von Hypothesen aus der Theorie wird exemplarisch geübt und Kriterien für die Wahl geeigneter Methoden im Forschungsprozess werden intensiv diskutiert.

Course Materials: Bonacker, Thorsten (Hrsg.) 2008: Sozialwissenschaftliche Konflikttheorien. Eine Einführung. Wiesbaden: VS-Verlag Schiedler, Siegfried/Spindler, Manuela (eds.) 2014: Theories of International Relations. London and New York: Routledge.

Event Reading Literary and Critical Theory (Group 1)
06SE450-550c / Seminar / 3,708

Description:

Business event contents:

This course will introduce MA-students to the most recent developments in critical theories under the 'new materialist turn'. The concepts, terminology and research questions we encounter in the theoretical texts will then be applied to selected passages from Shakespeare plays in the context of early modern discourses on subjectivity, embodiment and environment.

We will engage with approaches such as ecocriticism, literary animal studies and climate theory to investigate how Shakespeare's texts reflect early modern understandings of the natural world and humanity's place within it. Through cognition and affect studies and the history of emotions, we will explore how Shakespeare captured the inner lives of his characters and how these portrayals resonate with modern theories of subjectivity and selfhood. The seminar will also examine historical phenomenology and disability studies, allowing us to rethink the physical and sensory experiences of characters and audiences in the early modern period. Additionally, premodern critical race studies and new social history will help us uncover how race, identity, and power dynamics function in Shakespeare's works. Previous knowledge of Shakespeare's plays is not necessary.

Event Vorbereitung zum Forschungsseminar: Digital Technology, Politics, and Policy-Making
06SE615-501a / Seminar / 3,738

Description:

Business event contents:

The seminar studies how digital technology has affected liberal democracies with a focus on social media and artificial intelligence (AI). Digital technology permeates the entire political process, affecting the flow of information among citizen and political actors, the connection between the mass public and political elites, and the development of policy responses to societal problems. The seminar discusses how social media and AI have shaped these different domains, with an empirical focus on both Switzerland and other cases such as the United States and the European Union, as well as other countries and regions. This seminar will prepare students to understand and debate the growing influence of social media and AI in the political sphere. During the Fall semester, students will prepare a research design for an empirical study to be conducted during the Spring semester.

Event Vorbereitung Forschungsseminar PPE: Inequality, Redistribution and Politics
06SE615-505a / Seminar / 3,737

Description:

Business event contents:

In this seminar, we study the link between inequality, redistribution and politics both from a theoretical and empirical perspective. Inequality has increased throughout advanced capitalist democracies, especially in terms of wealth, income, opportunities and risks. Stratification occurs along multiple dimensions - class, regions, gender, ethnicity - which are politicized by different actors and in distinctive ways. The fall semester of this seminar provides a broad introduction to the field of inequality research from both a political economy, as well as a theoretical-normative perspective. Throughout the semester, students are encouraged to find an angle they are particularly interested in, as they have the possibility to write a research paper on an individually chosen topic in the following spring semester (2027).

The course is structured in three blocks. A first block addresses inequality from both an economic perspective (concepts, measures, empirical trends) and a normative perspective (theories of distributive justice, fairness norms). A second block asks about the structural and political drivers of inequality in democracies, in particular the question why redistributive politics and policies cannot or does not prevent the rise in inequality. In a third block, we address the implications of rising inequalities for politics itself: which actors benefit from inequality? which citizens are (de-)mobilized? On each of these topics, we read current theoretical and empirical research.

The seminar is a core course for the MA Track Philosophy and Political Economy.

Event Specialization: Agenda Setting and the Media: Framing the Political Debate
06SE615p001a / Seminar / 2,772

Description:

Business event contents:

In our daily lives, we often see certain political issues grab the spotlight, shaping conversations at dinner tables, on news channels, and across social media platforms. But how do some topics become the center of attention while others fade into the background? This Bachelor's course on "Agenda Setting and the Media: Framing the Political Debate" will guide students through the process of how issues rise to prominence in the political arena.

For instance, consider the issue of misinformation. Once a peripheral concern, misinformation has swiftly become a central issue in global politics, demonstrating the powerful role of media framing and agenda setting. News outlets and political leaders have highlighted it as a major challenge, influencing public opinion and prompting significant political and financial responses. Countries and organizations, including the European Union, are now investing millions to combat misinformation, showcasing how effectively framed issues can escalate into priority actions on the political agenda.

In this course, we will look at why certain issues become widely talked about, guided by the ideas of agenda setting and framing. Students will study real and recent situations, like the sudden surge in attention to artificial intelligence after groundbreaking achievements in machine learning, to see what's happening behind the scenes. Why do some subjects capture our attention while others do not? How do the ways media and politicians talk about these issues affect what we think is important? And what is the role of social media in this story? In this course, we will explore how media coverage, public interest, and political discussions and work together to make certain issues stand out. Students will discover the processes that decide which topics become big in public discussions and political discourse.

Sufficient time will also be reserved to discuss the research designs of the assigned reading materials so as to prepare students for writing their own research design, which will ultimately form the basis of the BA thesis.

Event Handels- und Wirtschaftsrecht II
02VL90PM2-1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 3,789

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Vorlesung "Handels- und Wirtschaftsrecht II" behandelt das schweizerische Wettbewerbsrecht in einem weiteren Sinn, nämlich das Kartellrecht (KG und PÜG), das Recht gegen den unlauteren Wettbewerb (UWG) und die Grundzüge des Immaterialgüterrechts. Thematisiert werden nicht nur das materielle Recht, sondern auch dessen praktische Anwendung auf behördlichem, zivilrechtlichem und strafrechtlichem Weg. Angesichts der fundamentalen Bedeutung des Wettbewerbsprinzips für ein marktwirtschaftliches System werden auch die ökonomischen Grundlagen, die verfassungsrechtlichen Bezüge und der internationale Rahmen gebührend berücksichtigt.

Notes:

Die Vorlesung wird begleitet durch ergänzende Unterstützungsangebote, die von Assistierenden gehalten werden. In diesen wird der in der Vorlesung vermittelte Stoff anhand von kleinen Beispielfällen veranschaulicht und die Studierenden können Fragen zum Vorlesungsstoff stellen. Das Angebot dient zur Vorbereitung auf die Prüfung im Handels- und Wirtschaftsrecht II. Es wird kein neuer Stoff vermittelt.

Event Soziales Mietrecht

02VL90WM89-1 / Course / 4,003

Description:

Business event contents:

Ziel des Kurses ist es, die Studierenden in die theoretischen und praktischen Probleme des sozialen Mietrechts einzuführen. Unter sozialem Mietrecht werden die Vorschriften zur Wohn- und Geschäftsraummiete im Anwendungsbereich des OR, des ZGB, der ZPO und von Nebenrechten wie der Verordnung über die Miete und Pacht von Wohn- und Geschäftsräumen (VMWG) verstanden.

Die Lehrveranstaltung umfasst Fragen rund um die Mietzinsgestaltung, den Kündigungsschutz (einschliesslich Mieterstreckung) und Mängelrechte. Ferner werden die Übertragung von Mietverträgen, die vorzeitige Rückgabe des Mietobjekts und die Untermiete thematisiert. Insbesondere mit Blick auf die Geschäftsraummiete gehören Rohbaumiete und Triple-Net-Mietverträge zum Inhalt der Veranstaltung.

Event Kapitalmarktrecht II

02VL90WM17-1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 4,033

Description:

Business event contents:

Teil 1: Die erste Semesterhälfte (mit D. Dedeyan) widmet sich der Regulierung der Märkte und des Marktverhaltens (von Emittenten und Investoren) mit Blick auf die realen Markt- und Kommunikationsprozesse. Vertieft werden hier u.a. Praxis, Trends und interdisziplinäre Theorie der Kapitalmärkte, Grenzen der Transparenz, Finanz- und nachhaltigkeitsbezogene Informationen, Prospekte, Werbung, Ad-hoc-Publizität, Offenlegung von Management-Transaktionen, Beteiligungspublizität, Insiderrecht, Markt- und Kursmanipulation sowie Haftung für Kapitalmarktinformation.

Teil 2: Die zweite Semesterhälfte (mit A. Darbellay) widmet sich einerseits dem Übernahmerecht und andererseits der Produktregulierung. Im Bereich des Übernahmerechts werden insbesondere der Verfahrensablauf bei öffentlichen Kaufangeboten, die Pflicht- und freiwilligen Angebote, der Gleichbehandlungsgrundsatz, die Pflichten des Anbieters und der Zielgesellschaft sowie die Zulässigkeit von Abwehrmassnahmen behandelt. Im Bereich der Produktregulierung liegt der Fokus auf kollektiven Kapitalanlagen, einschliesslich des Angebots an nicht qualifizierte Anleger und des Basisinformationsblatts. Ein weiterer Schwerpunkt wird auf nachhaltige Kapitalanlagen gelegt, insbesondere auf die Regulierung von grünen Anleihen.

Notes:

Zielgruppen:

- Masterstudierende der Rechtswissenschaft mit Interesse am Wirtschaftsrecht.
- Auch Studierende anderer Masterstudiengänge wie z.B. der Wirtschaftswissenschaften sind willkommen.
- Keine Vorkenntnisse erforderlich. Die Vorlesung steht für sich, eignet sich aber auch als Ergänzung und Vertiefung zu Kapitalmarktrecht I

Course Materials:

Die Materialien werden in der Vorlesung bekannt gegeben.

Event Mergers and Acquisitions
02VL90WM23-1 / Course / 4,035

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Lehrveranstaltung "Mergers & Acquisitions" befasst sich mit Rechtsfragen im Zusammenhang mit Fusionen und anderen Umstrukturierungen von Unternehmen. Die Vorlesung besteht aus sieben Veranstaltungen, welche über das Semester verteilt stattfinden und jeweils zwei Stunden dauern. In den einzelnen Veranstaltungen werden verschiedene Fälle besprochen, zu denen die Dozierenden online verschiedene Materialien abgeben (z.B. Verfügungen, Urteile, Prospekte, Verträge). Die Fälle werden daraufhin auf der Basis von Präsentationen der Studierenden in den Veranstaltungen besprochen und die jeweiligen Rechtsprobleme diskutiert. Die fachlichen Schwerpunkte liegen im Gesellschaftsrecht und im Kartellrecht.

Course Materials: Diese werden von den Dozenten auf der Website zur Verfügung gestellt.

07VLGEO341.1 / Course / 1,243

Description:

Business event contents:

Wissenschaftliche Grundlagen zu Gletscher und Permafrost.

Die grundlegenden Prozesse in Gletschern und im Permafrost werden ausführlich beschrieben, und ihre zukünftige Entwicklung im Zusammenhang mit dem Klima aufgezeigt. Die dazu gehörigen Messmethoden werden besprochen und ihre Vor- und Nachteile analysiert. Geographisch behandeln wir alle Eismassen, von hochalpinen Gletschern über grosse Talgletscher bis zu den polaren Eiskappen, sowie alpinen und arktischen Permafrost.

Notes:

Wichtig für ETH Studierende:

Eine Anmeldung über das Modulbuchungssystem der UZH ist zwingend notwendig. Dafür müssen Sie sich bis zum letzte Arbeitstag vor Vorlesungsbeginn des Herbstsemesters zum hochschulübergreifenden Studium auf Bachelorstufe angemeldet haben (<https://www.uzh.ch/de/studies/application/chmobilityin.html>) & (<https://ethz.ch/de/studium/non-degree-angebote/austausch/faq.html?question=10997&title=kann-ich-auch-kurse-an-der-universitaet-zuerich-belegen-im->).

Diese Anmeldung kostet für Studierende der ETH nichts.

Bei einer späteren Anmeldung zum hochschulübergreifenden Studium ist es nicht möglich, rechtzeitig Zugang zum Modulbuchungssystem der UZH zu erhalten. Sofern sich Studierende, die sich angemeldet und das Modul auch gebucht haben, dennoch gegen eine Teilnahme entscheiden, kann eine allfällige Buchung bis zum Ende der Stornierungsfrist wieder rückgängig gemacht werden. Zum Semesterabschluss erhalten alle registrierten, auswärtigen Studierenden einen schriftlichen Leistungsausweis der UZH.

Description:

Business event contents:

Der Grundkurs führt in eine wichtige Forschungspraxis der empirischen Religionswissenschaft ein: die Feldforschung. In der Feldforschung nähern wir uns dem Forschungsgegenstand durch Beobachten und Teilnehmen.

Wir dokumentieren, was wir sehen und erleben mittels Feldnotizen, Foto-, Film- oder Tonaufnahmen. Feldforschung zeichnet sich durch ein hohes Mass an persönlicher Involviertheit aus. Sie zu betreiben fordert Reflexionsarbeit. Wie beeinflusst unsere Präsenz die Forschungssituation? Wie bewegen wir uns im Forschungsfeld, ohne die analytische Distanz aufzuheben? Wie übersetzen wir Beobachtungen in Sprache?

Event Universities in the Public Eye: Strategic Communication and Reputation Management
06SE254p130a / Seminar / 5,653

Description:

Business event contents:

Universities are key actors in today's knowledge society, and their communication plays an increasingly vital role in our democracy. This seminar offers a practice-oriented exploration of strategic university communication at the intersection of science, politics, and civil society - with a special focus on Switzerland. Topics of the seminar include strategic reputation management, media relations and crisis communication. We will use recent data, analyse real case studies, and invite guest speakers to develop an understanding of the main stakeholders, objectives, and current challenges in university communication. As a graded outcome, students will (1) complete small assignments between lectures related to learning the crafting of a communication strategy (2) develop a written communication strategy for a Swiss university of their choice in groups and (3) present that strategy in an individual oral 'pitch' presentation.

By the end of this course, you will:

- Gain a basic understanding of the various types of university communication, along with their objectives and challenges
- Understand the roles, interests, and perspectives of key stakeholders involved in university communication
- Critically analyse and evaluate real-world communication campaigns to identify strengths, weaknesses, and areas for improvement
- Learn the fundamentals of developing a communication strategy for a university
- Get experience designing and delivering a 'pitch' for a communication project

06SK360-214a / Sprachkurs / 2,806

Description:

Business event contents:

Beskrivelse av kurset:

Kurset har som mål å forbedre studentenes skriftlige og muntlige ferdigheter i norsk og omfatter arbeid med komplekse grammatiske strukturer, idiomatiske uttrykk og den siste delen av læreboka Et år i Norge (leksjon 17-23). Muntlige ferdigheter utvikles gjennom interaktive oppgaver, arbeid med lyrikk og høytlesning av utvalgte dikt av lyrikerne Inger Hagerup og Andre Bjerke.

I de skjønnlitterære ukene skal studentene arbeide med Sult i ulike uttrykksformer. Vi leser og analyserer tegneserieadaptasjonen Sult (2023) av Martin Ernstsens, basert på Knut Hamsuns roman Sult (1890), og ser også den nyere filmatiseringen Sult 2020 (2023) av Ian Senior. Gjennom arbeid med romanutdrag, tegneserie og film får studentene utforske hvordan et klassisk litterært verk kan tolkes og aktualiseres i ulike medier og historiske kontekster. Sammenligningen gir grunnlag for refleksjon over modernismens menneskesyn, framstillinger av fremmedgjøring, fattigdom og identitet, samt over hvordan form, uttrykk og medium påvirker tolkning og mening. Arbeidet med Sult bidrar til å utdype språkkunnskapene og danner utgangspunkt for samtaler om kulturhistorisk kontekst og studentenes egen samtid.

Notes:

Mål med språkkurset:

Studentene skal ha kjennskap til norsk formålære, syntaks og idiomatikk og kunne uttrykke seg skriftlig i refererende, beskrivende og argumenterende framstillinger. De skal beherske hovedreglene i norsk grammatikk. Muntlig skal studentene kunne presentere et dikt, delta aktivt i samtaler og diskusjoner, uttrykke seg forståelig og vise evne til å forstå andre. Gjennom arbeid med skjønnlitteratur i ulike medier skal studentene også utvikle evne til analyse og sammenligning av tekster i lys av både kulturhistorisk kontekst og egen samtid.

Event Handschrift, Druck und Bild: Heldenepische Überlieferungsgeschichten
06KO360-514a / Colloquium / 1,330

Description:

Business event contents:

Heldenepische Erzählungen des Mittelalters sind komplexer überliefert, als leicht zugängliche moderne Editionen zumeist den Eindruck erwecken. Ihre handschriftliche Überlieferung sowie gegebenenfalls auch ihr Aufgriff in Bild oder Frühdruck illustrieren vielfältige Prozesse der Verschriftlichung vormals mündlicher Erzählungen, der Fragmentierung, Kommentierung, Interpretation, Redaktion, Kürzung, Erweiterung und der zeitgenössischen Rezeption in verschiedenen Kontexten.

Anhand von Texten und Textausschnitten vom "Hildebrandslied" über das "Nibelungenlied" bis hin zur aventiurehaften Dietrichepik werden wir versuchen, uns einem Verständnis dieser Texte auf dem Wege einer Untersuchung ihrer Überlieferungsgeschichte anzunähern. Zugleich wird dabei auch der praktische Umgang mit und die Analyse von Handschriften und Frühdrucken des Mittelalters und der frühen Neuzeit eingeübt.

Notes:

Basiskonzepte des Mittelhochdeutschen sowie Freude an der Lektüre vormoderner Literatur werden vorausgesetzt.

Course Materials: Anzuschaffen ist folgende Ausgabe: Das Nibelungenlied und die Klage. Nach der Handschrift 857 der Stiftsbibliothek St. Gallen. Mittelhochdeutscher Text, Übersetzung und Kommentar, hg. v. Joachim Heinzle, Berlin 2015 (oder spätere Auflage). Sämtliche übrige Seminarlektüre wird über OLAT bereitgestellt.

Event Transcendentalism and Its Afterlives: Margaret Fuller to Zohran Mamdani
06SE440-226b / Seminar / 3,700

Description:

Business event contents:

In this course, we will consider the major texts and lasting legacies of the literary, theological, and political movement called American Transcendentalism. We will engage with its high canon-including Margaret Fuller's Woman in the Nineteenth Century, Ralph Waldo Emerson's Nature, and Henry David Thoreau's Walden and "Civil Disobedience"-while also reading more marginal, surprising representative actors and texts. To more thoroughly understand the movement and its ongoing importance, we will learn about the historical context of 1830s Boston and the settler culture in North America within which it arose. We will build a systematic understanding of Transcendentalist oeuvres, print networks, and politics-and we will interrogate into their ideological positions through new critical-racial and colonial-critical scholarship. Upon creating this groundwork of knowledge, we will look forward in time toward its ongoing legacies: reading American political and aesthetic movements' engagements with or challenges to the precedents of Transcendentalism, including contemporary ecocriticism, queer theory, and political movements such as the Civil Rights Movement and twenty-first-century democratic socialism.

Event Spracherwerb Norwegisch
06SK360-205a / Sprachkurs / 2,786

Description:

Business event contents:

Sprachkurs für Anfänger ohne Vorkenntnisse. In der Einführung in die norwegische Sprache sind Aussprache, Grammatik, Hör- und Leseverstehen sowie Sprechen Schwerpunkte des Unterrichts. Auch schriftliche Übungen zur Textproduktion, auch in Form von Hausaufgaben, sind fester Bestandteil des Kurses. Der Kurs ist praxisorientiert aufgebaut und soll Teilnehmende an die Verwendung der norwegischen Sprache herañführen. Im Bereich Grammatik beschäftigen wir uns mit grundlegenden Themen wie Wortstellung, Substantiv- und Adjektivdeklinatìon, Verbflexion, Tempus der Verben, Pronomen, Zeitausdrücken und Zahlwörtern. Der Kurs gibt außerdem einen ersten Einblick in die Kultur Norwegens.

Wir arbeiten mit dem Lehrbuch "Et år i Norge" (Kap. 1-9) von Randi Rosenvinge Schirmer. Die Themen und das Vokabular decken unter anderem die Bereiche des Alltagslebens ab, wie Familie, Freizeit, Arbeit, Wohnen, Reisen, Sehenswürdigkeiten, Essen und Gesundheit. Während des ersten Semesters werden wir außerdem die Kinderbücher "Karius og Baktus" von Thorbjørn Egner, "Johannes Jensen - de tre første fortellingene" von Henrik Hovland und weitere kurze Texte lesen.

Notes:

Ziel des Sprachkurses ist der Erwerb grundlegender Kenntnisse der norwegischen Sprache (Bokmål). Die Studierende haben am Ende des Semesters erste Texte über die Themenbereiche, die im Unterricht behandelt wurden, auf Norwegisch gelesen und geschrieben und können einfache Unterhaltungen über ihre Gedanken und Meinungen zu Themen des Alltagslebens mit einfachem Vokabular und mit einer verständlichen Aussprache führen. Außerdem sollen die Teilnehmenden die Grundlagen der norwegischen Grammatik kennen und anwenden können.

Event Critical Development Studies
07SEGEO421.1 / Seminar / 580

Description:

Business event contents:

This course engages with different debates and perspectives in the study of development: What does development mean, and how can we capture it? How do people in "poorer" countries maintain their livelihoods under difficult conditions? What is done to help improve people's lives? All these questions relate to broader concerns of "development". Development, however, is a highly contested term. It used to (and sometimes still does) describe the modernisation of societies according to the model of the "West" that was assumed to be more and better developed than countries of the so-called "Global South". Nowadays, the term development and its normative connotations are discussed more critically. Employing a critical approach, this course centres around three dimensions of development: (i) development as a discourse (normative dimension), (ii) development as change and transformation (analytical dimension), and (iii) development as purposive intervention (practical dimension).

Event Intermediate Corporate Finance (S)
03SE22BO0017 / Seminar / 1,435

Description:

Business event contents:

The course builds on Corporate Finance 1, in which students will have learnt the basic tools and concepts of corporate finance. The course introduces few new tools, but it applies the tools learnt in Corporate Finance I to a range of corporate finance problems (specifically, the analysis of financial statement data, project appraisal, valuation, capital structure, willingness to pay and hedging foreign exchange risk). These are studied in the context of real cases. An important aspect of the course is its attempt to open the (financial) 'black box' that is a firm to reveal the mechanism that measures and determines firm value, and to explain the workings of this mechanism and the interactions amongst its components.

Notes:

No pre-registration required for UZH students.

Exchange students are asked to submit their home institution transcripts.

Attendance is compulsory.

Course Materials: Notes and cases to be downloaded from OLAT.

Business event contents:

Animal models are essential to understand the pathophysiology and provide treatment modalities of inherited and acquired diseases. Recent advances in genome engineering and detailed phenotyping have eased the generation and utility of model organisms in translational sciences. This course will offer insights and hands-on experience in mammalian (mouse), lower vertebrate (Xenopus), and Drosophila melanogaster kidney models to explore their unique advantages as well as limitations. The module will focus on the crosstalk between the immune system and the vasculature in several organs, inherited developmental disorders, mechanisms at the kidney filtration barrier and kidney diseases.

07SMBME314 / Block Course / 1,384

Description:

Business event contents:

The central theme of this course is the molecular pathogenesis of Inflammation and Immune Response. Different molecular mechanisms of rheumatic diseases, chronic inflammatory diseases, and inflammatory bowel diseases will be discussed. Teaching will take place in the participating research laboratories in small groups and will include molecular biology and biochemistry experiments, as well as discussing relevant literature.

Event Microscopy
07VLBIO416 / Course / 1,944

Description:

Business event contents:

This lecture series provides in-depth knowledge of the theoretical foundations and diverse applications of light and electron microscopy - indispensable tools in modern research and diagnostics. Throughout the lectures, students will gain a deep understanding of how various microscopy techniques are used to make the invisible visible. Additionally, essential concepts of image processing, which are crucial for analyzing microscopic images, will be covered. The course concludes with a written exam encompassing all covered topics.

Notes:

- The module BIO416 with credit points is also open for PHD and MD-PhD students.

Event Seminar: Prayers in the City - Audiovisuelle und multimodale Forschung im Kontext von Religion und Urbanität
01SE55SS029 / Seminar / 2,729

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Seminar führt in audiovisuelle, sensorische und multimodale Methoden der Religionsforschung ein und erprobt diese in urbanen Kontexten. Nach einer thematischen Einführung zum Thema "Religion in urbanen Kontexten" erlernen die Studierenden in praktischen Workshops die Grundlagen der Fotografie und des Filmens. Anschliessend entwickeln die Teilnehmenden ein eigenes kleines Feldforschungsprojekt und setzen dieses eigenständig um. Dabei lernen sie nicht nur den Umgang mit der Kamera als Instrument der Forschung, sondern auch als Mittel der Wissensvermittlung kennen und reflektieren dadurch auch ethische und darstellungspolitische Fragen audiovisueller und multimodaler Forschung.

Event Kulturelle Figuren der Gegenwart (Teil 1/2)
06SE506-552a / Seminar / 1,616

Description:

Business event contents:

In kulturellen Figuren verdichten sich gesellschaftliche Selbstbeobachtung und Populärkultur, Spezialsprachen und Gesellschaftskritik: Wenn von «performative males» oder «Talahons» die Rede ist, von «Karens» oder «Chayas», dann dienen solche Figuren innerhalb spezifischer sozialer Kreise als Abgrenzungsfolien, können aber auch als ambivalente Subjektivierungsangebote fungieren. Kulturellen Figuren sind eigenartige Gegenstände, sie spiegeln die Realität nicht einfach wider, sind aber auch nicht exakt dasselbe wie Stereotypen. Sie sind Teil der Konstruktion unserer sozialen Wirklichkeit - und dies in einem teils sehr lokalen, teils nahezu globalen medialen Rahmen.

In diesem Studienprojekt werden wir über zwei Semester hinweg untersuchen, welche kulturellen Figuren die Gegenwart in ausgewählten Bereichen prägen, was (also z.B. welche gesellschaftlichen Entwicklungen und Konflikte) in ihnen verhandelt wird und vor allem auch, wie sie durch gegenwärtige mediale Dynamiken (beschleunigte Social-Media-Trends, audiovisuelle Kurzformate, algorithmisches Marketing u.a.m.) in besonderer Weise geformt werden. Dafür werden wir Medienanalysen und ethnographische Methoden online und offline kombinieren, um sowohl den medial zirkulierenden Bedeutungsgehalt solcher Figuren als auch den lebensweltlichen Umgang mit ihnen (Selbst- und Fremdbezeichnungen, ironische Aneignungen und «Figurendistanz», Kritik von Stereotypen «Figurierungen» etc.) in den Blick zu bekommen. Weitere inhaltliche Festlegungen - insbesondere, welche Figuren in welchen Kontexten untersucht werden - werden in der Anfangsphase des Projekts gemeinsam festgelegt. Im zweiten Semester werden wir eine audiovisuelle Darstellungsform der Projektergebnisse erarbeiten.

Event Literature in Context: History and Theory
06VL440-200a / Course / 1,705

Description:

Business event contents:

Beginning with the early modern period - the time of the Renaissance in England and the first English settlements in North America - this lecture course will take a transatlantic approach to the history of Anglophone literature. It will concentrate on key moments, that is, political, social, and cultural constellations that led to the emergence of important literary trends and forms. These moments include the flowering of lyric poetry and drama in the Elizabethan period, the beginnings of American literature, the rise of the novel in eighteenth-century Britain, as well as movements such as Gothicism, Romanticism, and Modernism on both sides of the Atlantic. By repeatedly crossing the Atlantic to compare and contrast developments at different points in history, the course aims to give insight into some of the main periods, genres, and themes of British and American literature. In doing so, it hopes to familiarize participants not only with representative texts, but also with the historical contexts in which these texts were produced and received. At the same time, the lectures will introduce a variety of theoretical perspectives, including approaches from the field of postcolonial studies. The course will end by considering the rise of Anglophone literature from outside the UK and the US.

Course Materials: All assigned reading will be made available electronically on the OLAT platform. (Much of it is also included in the Norton Anthologies of English and American Literature.)

Event Writing as Liberation: Un/Freedom in American Literature
06SE440p507a / Seminar / 3,077

Description:

Business event contents:

In this seminar, we will examine how US-American literatures have engaged with questions of freedom, oppression, and resistance from the 19th century until today. Our analyses of selected texts will cover different ways in which writing has been viewed and practiced as a form of liberation. What roles do literacy and literature play in liberation movements? How have writers who had previously been excluded from the publishing market claimed authority and authorship? How do authors (attempt to) free themselves from the constraints of literary forms and genres to find new forms of expression? And, to what extent can literary texts be understood as social activism? We will approach these questions through exemplary case studies with a particular focus on African American literature, women's writing, prison literature, and experimental literary texts.

Notes:

Students are expected to attend (parts of) the biennial conference of the Swiss Association for North American Studies, which will take place at UZH on Nov. 5-6 on the topic of "American Un/Freedoms" and include keynotes by Prof. Elisabeth Anker (George Washington U), Prof. Heike Paul (FAU Erlangen-Nürnberg), and Prof. Rinaldo Walcott (SUNY Buffalo).

Research papers will be due by March 31, 2027.

Event Chinesische Literatur (Einführung)

06VL280-100a / Course / 532

Description:

Business event contents:

Dieser Kurs ist eine Einführung in die drei wichtigsten Gattungen der traditionellen chinesischen Literatur - Lyrik, Erzählung und Drama. Wir lesen Auszüge aus kanonischen Werken in Übersetzung und befassen uns mit zentralen Aspekten der traditionellen chinesischen Gesellschaft wie etwa dem kaiserlichen Beamtenwesen, Naturphilosophie, und wandelnden Vorstellungen von Familie, Liebe, Sexualität und Kosmos. Ein spezieller Fokus des Kurses liegt auf der Einführung in kanonische Werke der chinesischen Erzählliteratur. Dabei wird auch deren "Fortleben" in der Moderne anhand von ausgewählten Verfilmungen ein Thema sein.

Event Apocalypse now. Katastrophen und Endzeitvisionen in der Kunst der Frühen Neuzeit
06SE640-008a / Seminar / 5,057

Description:

Business event contents:

Apokalyptische Szenarien sind seit der Spätantike Ausgangspunkt und Gegenstand wirkmächtiger Bildfindungen und gewinnen auch in der Gegenwart zunehmend an Bedeutung. Vor dem Hintergrund historischer Krisenerfahrungen wie religiöser Neuordnungen, Epidemien, Naturkatastrophen und militärischer Auseinandersetzungen als Resultate politischer Konflikte werden Endzeitvorstellungen in Schrift- und Bildmedien verhandelt, die das Ende bestehender Ordnungen als ambivalentes Geschehen konzeptualisieren. Seinem Absolutheitsanspruch steht dabei ein liminaler Charakter gegenüber, aus dem sich die kollektive Hoffnung auf einen erlösenden Neubeginn ergibt. Anhand ausgewählter Beispiele widmet sich das Seminar der Apokalypse als einer ästhetischen Herausforderung und fragt mit Rücksicht auf divergierende Rezeptionskontexte und künstlerische Strategien nach den Funktionen und gegenwartsreflexiven Potenzialen ihrer Darstellungen.

Notes:

Die Vergabe der Referate findet in der ersten Sitzung statt. Eine Anwesenheit zu diesem Termin ist daher für die Teilnahme am Seminar obligatorisch.

Event PhD Course: Advanced Topics in Macroeconomics of the Labor Market
03VLDOEC1226 / Course / 2,140

Description:

Business event contents:

This course analyzes the determinants of wages and unemployment both from a theoretical and empirical perspective. The main purpose of the course is to familiarize students with leading search-theoretic models of the labor market as well as models of incomplete markets and their empirical applications.

Topics include the determinants of unemployment and vacancies over the business cycle, the implications of search frictions for wage inequality, wage bargaining and wage rigidity, the dynamics of search behavior over the unemployment spell, optimal unemployment insurance policy, and the macroeconomic implications of unemployment insurance policy.

Event Surrealismus in den Americas
06SE640-015a / Seminar / 4,971

Description:

Business event contents:

Die 1924 durch das von André Breton veröffentlichte "Manifest des Surrealismus" ins Leben gerufene Bewegung entwickelte sich weit über ihr Zentrum in Paris hinaus und brachte vielfältige künstlerische wie auch theoretische Ansätze hervor. Insbesondere kristallisierte sich eine Obsession für das indigene Amerika heraus - Nordamerika ebenso wie Lateinamerika und die karibischen Inseln.

Im Zentrum des Seminars steht die Untersuchung künstlerischer Praktiken im Umgang mit indigenen Kulturen. Dabei analysieren wir, wie Künstler*innen indigene Werke sammelten, eigene anthropologische Studien betrieben und sich künstlerisch "inspirieren" liessen. Exemplarisch betrachten wir Kunstwerke, wie etwa die von Eva Sulzer, Max Ernst oder Kurt Seligmann, sowie die von Wolfgang Paalen herausgegebene Zeitschrift "Dyn" (1942-1944). Ein weiterer Schwerpunkt des Seminars liegt auf der Art und Weise, wie surrealistische Stilelemente und Theorien lokal weiterentwickelt sowie in politischen Gegenbewegungen eingesetzt wurden. So gehen wir unter anderem der Frage nach, wie Strömungen wie der "Afrosurrealismus" in surrealistische Ausdrucksformen aufgriffen und kreativ umsetzten.

Ziel des Seminars ist die Erarbeitung eines vertieften Verständnisses eines transatlantischen Surrealismus, der sich in den "Americas" im Zusammenspiel europäischer Expatriates und lokaler Künstlerinnen herausbildete.

Darüber hinaus werden wir gemeinsam erarbeiten, mit welchen methodologischen Ansätzen wir die Wechselwirkungen zwischen den in Europa der 1920er-Jahre entstandenen Kunstbewegungen und ihren Weiterentwicklungen in Amerika kritisch analysieren können.

Event Microbiomes in health and disease
07SMBME307 / Block Course / 1,940

Description:

Business event contents:

This course focuses on the analysis of gut microbiomes in healthy subjects and in inflammatory bowel disease (IBD) patients. The composition of gut microbiomes is investigated by typisation of 16S rRNA genes. Analyses of microbial diversity within and across samples as well as exploratory supervised classification will be carried out with bioinformatics tools. Inflammation in the gut is assessed by histology and Western blotting of marker proteins.

Event Human Adaptation
07VUBIO437 / Course / 1,353

Description:

Business event contents:

Morphology and genetics of the human body are subject to ongoing evolution. Changes of the environment, disease burden or culture demand constant adaptation.

This course consists of a series of different lectures on topics related to human adaptation and aims to cover a spectrum of influencing factors and resulting adaptations in humans. Particular emphasis is placed on physiological and pathological processes. A background in human anatomy, genetic analysis or pathophysiology is highly recommended

Event Erkenntnis als Weg der Erlösung im Hinduismus und Jainismus
06VL330-600a / Course / 4,856

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Erkenntnis der Welt sowie des eigenen Selbst sind in den meisten Strömungen des Hinduismus wie auch im Jainismus auf dem Weg zur Erlösung entscheidend. In diesem Seminar werden wir uns mit verschiedenen Horizonten des Hinduismus befassen und diese den Perspektiven des Jainismus gegenüberstellen.

Notes:

Die Vorlesung wird so gestaltet sein, dass auch Studierende ohne indologische Vorkenntnisse daran teilnehmen können.

Event Sanskrit-Seminar: Weltgeburt und wahres Selbst – Dimensionen der Kosmogonien im Hinduismus
06SE330p020a / Seminar / 5,044

Description:

Business event contents:

Wir werden in diesem Seminar einige repräsentative Texte vertiefen, die den Ursprung der Welt als Bewusstseinsdynamik versinnbildlichen. Dabei werden wir einen Bogen vom Ṛgveda über die Brāhmaṇas, Upaniṣaden und Purāṇas bis hin zum kaschmirischen Śivaismus spannen.

Notes:

Die Schlüsselpassagen werden in der Originalsprache gelesen, Sanskritkenntnisse sind daher notwendig.

Event Gruppe 01, Proseminar 1: Macht und Herrschaft
06SE600-007a / Seminar / 399

Description:

Business event contents:

In diesem Basismodul geht es um Macht. Wer übte Macht aus und wie? Auf welchen ökonomischen und sozialen Grundlagen basierte Macht? Welche symbolischen Machtrepräsentationen gab es? Wann wurde Macht akzeptiert, wann nicht? Von wem und wie wurden die Mächtigen herausgefordert? Und wie haben sich Machtstrukturen in unterschiedlichen Herrschaftsformen verfestigt? Für die Beantwortung dieser Fragen werden wir uns mit der Geschichte des europäischen Mittelalters und der afrikanischen Geschichte des 19. und 20. Jahrhunderts auseinandersetzen. Mit Hilfe unterschiedlicher Quellengattungen werden wir untersuchen, wie es Menschen zu unterschiedlichen Zeiten gelungen (oder eben nicht gelungen) ist, Machtansprüche über andere Menschen umzusetzen. Mit diesem thematischen Schwerpunkt bietet das Basismodul eine umfassende Einführung in das geschichtswissenschaftliche Arbeiten. Eingübt wird das Lesen, Verstehen und der Umgang mit wissenschaftlichen Texten, Techniken der Literatur- und Quellenrecherche sowie die Analyse historischer Quellen aus unterschiedlichen Zeitbereichen.

Description:

Business event contents:

Vom Ende des Ersten Weltkriegs bis zum Staatsvertrag von 1955 durchlief Österreich eine Phase mehrfacher Umbrüche und politischer, gesellschaftlicher und wirtschaftlicher Katastrophen: Auf Kriegsniederlage, Auflösung der Habsburgermonarchie und widerwillige Kleinstaatsbildung 1918/19 folgten der demokratische Versuch der instabilen Ersten Republik, der kurze Bürgerkrieg von 1934, die Diktatur des austrofaschistischen «Ständestaats», der «Anschluss» an Nazi-Deutschland und der Zweite Weltkrieg sowie die Begründung der Zweiten Republik und zehn Jahre sowjetischer und westallierter Besatzung im Kontext des frühen Kalten Krieges, bis Österreich 1955 unter Bedingung einer Neutralitätsverpflichtung seine Souveränität wieder erlangte und in eine jahrzehntelange stabile Phase klein- und wohlfahrtsstaatlicher Demokratie eintrat. Das Seminar untersucht interne und internationale Ursachen, Dimensionen und Folgen der Umbrüche und Katastrophen der österreichischen Geschichte des frühen 20. Jahrhunderts, fragt nach gesellschaftlichen und politischen Kontinuitäten unter der Oberfläche der Disruptionen und diskutiert das Nachleben dieser Phase bis in die Gegenwart.

Event Gruppe 01, Proseminar 2: Macht und Herrschaft
06SE600-007n / Seminar / 400

Description:

Business event contents:

In diesem Basismodul geht es um Macht. Wer übte Macht aus und wie? Auf welchen ökonomischen und sozialen Grundlagen basierte Macht? Welche symbolischen Machtrepräsentationen gab es? Wann wurde Macht akzeptiert, wann nicht? Von wem und wie wurden die Mächtigen herausgefordert? Und wie haben sich Machtstrukturen in unterschiedlichen Herrschaftsformen verfestigt? Für die Beantwortung dieser Fragen werden wir uns mit der Geschichte des europäischen Mittelalters und der afrikanischen Geschichte des 19. und 20. Jahrhunderts auseinandersetzen. Mit Hilfe unterschiedlicher Quellengattungen werden wir untersuchen, wie es Menschen zu unterschiedlichen Zeiten gelungen (oder eben nicht gelungen) ist, Machtansprüche über andere Menschen umzusetzen. Mit diesem thematischen Schwerpunkt bietet das Basismodul eine umfassende Einführung in das geschichtswissenschaftliche Arbeiten. Eingeeübt wird das Lesen, Verstehen und der Umgang mit wissenschaftlichen Texten, Techniken der Literatur- und Quellenrecherche sowie die Analyse historischer Quellen aus unterschiedlichen Zeitbereichen.

Notes:

Event Rohstoffe, Macht und Modernisierung: Russland in der globalen Energiegeschichte
06VL610p001a / Course / 1,228

Description:

Business event contents:

Der russische Angriff auf die Ukraine im Februar 2022 erschütterte nicht nur die europäische Sicherheitsordnung, sondern führte auch zu einer tiefgreifenden Zerrüttung der Wirtschafts- und Handelsbeziehungen zwischen Russland und Europa sowie zu einer geoökonomischen Neuausrichtung des russischen Energieexports. Vor diesem Hintergrund bietet die Vorlesung einen Überblick über die Geschichte Russlands als Exportmacht fossiler Energieträger vom frühen 20. Jahrhundert bis in die Gegenwart. Sie zeigt, welche Bedeutung Rohstoffe für den Entwicklungsweg Russlands hatten, und erklärt, weshalb es gerade im Kalten Krieg trotz ideologischer Gegensätze zu jenen energiepolitischen Verflechtungen kam, die das Verhältnis zwischen Russland und Europa über Jahrzehnte prägten.

Event Was kann Geschichtswissenschaft (nicht) leisten?
06KO600p504a / Colloquium / 3,016

Description:

Business event contents:

Im Zentrum der Veranstaltung stehen grundsätzliche Fragen der Geschichtstheorie, wie sie im Basismodul II zwar im Rahmen der Historiographiegeschichte angeschnitten, aber nicht tiefer diskutiert werden können. Im Unterschied zum Basismodul wird nicht die Geschichte der Geschichtsschreibung, sondern die historische Epistemologie im Mittelpunkt des Moduls stehen. So sollen etwa folgende exemplarische erkenntnistheoretischen Fragen behandelt werden: Kann und will Geschichtswissenschaft objektiv sein? Was ist historisch wahr? Wie kann und soll Geschichtswissenschaft Vergangenheit erzählen, erklären, visualisieren? Hat Geschichtswissenschaft ein Expert:innenethos zu vertreten?

Event Senegambia: the entangled history of an African region (15th-19th centuries)
06SE600-507a / Seminar / 2,742

Description:

Business event contents:

The lands of Senegambia stretch from the arid Sahel in the north to the humid forest zone in the south. Various rivers connect the hinterlands with the Atlantic Ocean, while caravan routes lead to the Sahara and thence to the Maghreb. From the 15th to the 19th century, this region was connected to the wider world by multiple threads that further fuelled its internal diversity. In our seminar, we will explore a wide range of aspects of this region's pre-colonial history, including trade networks, material culture, architecture, technology, social structures, slavery, Islamic culture and jihadist movements, as well as Euro-African relations and gender.

Course Materials: Boubacar Barry, Senegambia and the Atlantic Slave Trade, Cambridge 2009.

Event The World and the Stage: Drama in the 20th Century
06SE440p509a / Seminar / 2,862

Description:

Business event contents:

This course traces the history of English-language theatre in the twentieth century by focusing on transformative moments - plays that challenged and reshaped the theatrical conventions of their time. These works did so through experimentation with new dramatic styles and techniques, as well as by bringing previously marginalized themes and social groups to the centre of the stage. Throughout the course, theatre is considered a unique medium of societal and cultural self-reflection, and we examine how innovations in dramatic form and expression correspond with historical developments beyond the theatre. In particular, the course highlights key moments of feminist, queer, and non-white representation. For example, Caryl Churchill's "Top Girls" (1982) uses an innovative, non-linear structure to bring together women from different historical periods, exploring the tensions between the ideal of women's liberation and the realities of free-market policies under Margaret Thatcher. Similarly, Tony Kushner's two-part epic "Angels in America" (1991-1992), written at the height of the AIDS crisis in Reagan-era America, blends realism with fantasy to offer pointed political critique in the form of "A Gay Fantasia on National Themes."

The course also examines how Anglophone playwrights from former British colonies - such as New Zealand Māori writer Briar Grace-Smith - combined European dramatic traditions with Indigenous performance practices to address questions of history, ethnic identity, and the postcolonial condition. Taken together, the plays examined in class reveal the dynamic relationship between performance and the social realities beyond it - hence, "The World and the Stage."

Notes:

Assignments: Learning portfolio (regular forum discussion posts, on average one every two weeks, plus a short contribution to a seminar session, either as a ten-minute presentation or a two-page written handout); term paper (submission deadline: March 1, 2027).

Course Materials: All course materials, including readings, will be made available electronically on the OLAT platform for this course.

Event Early English medical language
06SE440p512a / Seminar / 684

Description:

Business event contents:

This research seminar focuses on medical language across the history of English. We will study a range of medical texts from Old English to the present, for example, treatises dealing with anatomy, surgery, bloodletting, humoral theory, urinoscopy, midwifery, the plague, as well as medical recipes and charms. We will investigate medical vocabulary, such as, terms for diseases, body parts, medical procedures and tools at different time periods and analyse how medical English has evolved from the Middle Ages to today. In terms of methodological approaches, we will apply register analysis as well as lexicological and lexicographic methods. For quantitative analyses, we draw on the Corpus of Early English Medical Writing (1375-1800). For background, we will read up on relevant aspects of the history of medicine and visit the "Medizinische Sammlung" of the University of Zurich.

Business event contents:

Dieses Forschungsseminar widmet sich den Facetten der journalistischen Fähigkeiten in der Journalismuspraxis. Dazu werden Stellenanzeigen von Nachrichtenorganisationen in der Schweiz oder anderen Ländern erhoben und analysiert. Die Erhebung und Analyse baut auf bisheriger Forschung auf und führt die Ergebnisse weiter. Studierende werden eigene Forschungsfragen entwickeln, die mit dem Material der Stellenanzeigen beantwortet werden können. Letztendlich sollen Studierende auf dieser Grundlage ihre BA-Arbeit erstellen.

Event Das Museum als Archiv und Ausstellungsraum
06UE598-504a / Exercise Group / 602

Description:

Business event contents:

Ist die Zukunft aller Museen "ethnographisch", wie die Kunsthistorikerin Kavitha Singh an einer Tagung im Pitt Rivers Museum 2013 postuliert hat? Das Museum als Institution hat sich seit seiner in der Nationalstaatsbildung verankerten Gründungsgeschichte - sei es im sog. Westen, sei es in den ehemaligen Kolonien - und mit einem erneuten Gründungsboom in den 1990er Jahren ständig mit seiner Funktion und seinem Auftrag gegenüber der Öffentlichkeit beschäftigt. In der Lehrveranstaltung wollen wir uns insbesondere mit den Aspekten Archiv und Ausstellungsraum befassen - gleichsam der unsichtbaren bzw. verborgenen und der sichtbare bzw. repräsentierenden Seite des Museums. Dabei wird Archiv sowohl metaphorisch im Sinne jeglicher Aufbewahrung (in Sammlung, Depot und Ausstellung) als auch hinsichtlich professionell geführter Institutionsarchive verstanden. Der Ausstellungsraum soll mit Mieke Bal als sinnschaffendes Medium anhand konkreter Beispiele untersucht werden, um zu verstehen, wie nicht nur die präsentierten Objekte und die begleitenden Texte, sondern auch die räumlichen Anordnungen Wissen schaffen und vermitteln.

Event News Use and Political Engagement
06SE254p113a / Seminar / 2,067

Description:

Business event contents:

News is often seen as a cornerstone of democracy: people rely on it to stay informed about public affairs and political debates, enabling them to participate in politics and make democratic decisions. In recent years, technological developments have significantly changed how news is distributed and presented. As a result, the ways people consume news have also changed dramatically.

Think about it, your parents may still enjoy watching the evening news on TV, while you primarily get news from social media. Your uncle may only trust traditional newspapers, whereas your friends express their political views by quoting the most popular YouTuber. You might browse the news daily to stay up to date, but your neighbour has "cut off" news altogether since the pandemic.

There is wide variation in how people consume news, and these differences can have a significant influence on people's political knowledge and participation. At the same time, we see the rise of new forms of political engagement, such as buycotting and online petitions. Apart from traditional forms of participation, like voting or joining street protests, how do contemporary people, especially younger generations, engage in politics? And how are these (new) forms of participation correlated to their news use?

In this seminar, we will explore these interesting and socially relevant questions by conducting a quantitative empirical research project. The first half of the course focuses on key concepts and theories, and critical reviews of prior research and methods. Based on this, students will develop their own research questions and hypotheses. In the second half, students will work together to design a survey and develop a questionnaire.

This seminar also serves as the foundation and preparation for students' BA thesis. By the end of the fall semester, students are expected to submit a term paper, which is the first half of their BA thesis. In the upcoming spring semester, they will finalize the questionnaire, conduct data collection and analysis, and complete the full BA thesis.

Event Sentimentality in US Culture and Literature
06SE440-223b / Seminar / 2,743

Description:

Business event contents:

Commonly associated with so-called 'sob stories' and other types of narrative deemed to be flat and/or overly emotional, sentimentality tends to be used synonymously with mawkishness and sopiness. Yet, despite these negative connotations in everyday language, the sentimental remains an influential aesthetic mode found widely throughout American culture, literature, and politics. As such, it has not only shaped genres such as the sentimental novel and Hollywood melodrama, but also extends into the realm of political discourse. For example, popular sentimental tropes (e.g. the innocent child, the grieving mother, and the separation of families) have historically been used across the political spectrum to spur social movements and mobilize activism. But what exactly is sentimentality? What factors have contributed to its 'bad reputation'? How do sentimental texts, films, and other (art)works attempt to elicit compassion from their audience - and for whom? Put differently, in what ways does sentimentality interact with dynamics of gender, race, and class? These are some of the questions that will inform our seminar discussions as we critically engage with different forms and functions of the sentimental in a US context. Guided by theories of affect and public feeling that will help us gain a nuanced understanding of the term, we will examine sentimental elements across a broad variety of cultural and literary works. Ranging from the antebellum period to contemporary times, the syllabus will feature novels by Harriet Beecher Stowe and Celeste Ng, films by King Vidor and Chinonye Chukwu, as well as hip hop productions by Tupac Shakur and Kendrick Lamar, among many others.

Notes:

Paper deadline: March 31st, 2027

Event Geschichte, Theorie und Praxis des (historischen) Museums
06SE600-022a / Seminar / 1,225

Description:

Business event contents:

Viele Geschichtsstudierende interessieren sich für die Arbeit im Museum und arbeiten teilweise auch bereits selbst in Museen. Im Seminar wollen wir uns mit der Geschichte und Theorie der Institution Museum beschäftigen und dabei fragen, wie sich die Museumspraxis (Sammeln, Archivieren, Ausstellen, Forschen, Vermitteln) sowie Funktion und Anspruch der Museen im Laufe der Geschichte verändert haben. Eine weitere Frage ist die nach der Zukunft des Museums in einer globalisierten Welt, insbesondere angesichts der vermehrten Forderungen nach der Rückgabe von Objekten aus Museen an sogenannte Herkunftsgesellschaften und einem neuen Umgang mit menschlichen Überresten, die sich in vielen Museumsdepots finden. Im Mittelpunkt stehen als praktische Beispiele die Universitätsmuseen von UZH und ETH sowie das Landesmuseum. Die Einarbeitung in die theoretische Literatur ist Grundlage für gemeinsame Museumsbesuche und die eigenen Forschungsprojekte.

Event B: Psycholinguistics
06SE440-124d / Seminar / 324

Description:

Business event contents:
CONTENT

One of the biggest mysteries of human cognition is our ability to produce and comprehend language - something we normally do very quickly and seemingly effortlessly. But we have only to look at machines, or to try to learn a new language, to see evidence of how amazing this feat really is. This course provides an introduction to theory and empirical research on fundamental questions in psycholinguistics, including: How do we acquire language? Is language an exclusively human phenomenon? What are the brain bases of our ability to speak and understand language? How do we get from the incredibly noisy speech signal to individual words to meaning? When we want to express meaning, how do we choose which words and structures to produce? What does it mean to know a word? Is language processing modular or interactive? How is language represented in the brain? What can language disorders teach us about neurotypical language development and processing?

OBJECTIVES:

This course gives you the opportunity to delve into all of these questions and many more. By the end of the semester you should have:

- A solid background in psycholinguistics: what the big questions are; the major phenomena, and opposing viewpoints;
- the ability to read, discuss, and write critically about these issues;
- an understanding of the important methodologies in psycholinguistics: how they work and their pros and cons;
- practical experience with a range of psycholinguistic techniques: designing and running experiments, and analyzing data.

Notes:

1. Activity (field work, experiments) - 17%
2. Oral presentation - 17%
3. Final paper - 66% (deadline: February 24, 2027)

ad 1-2: Course participants will carry out small-scale research projects in order to gain hands-on experience with methods and techniques covered in class and in order to critically assess the advantages and disadvantages of each method. Afterwards they will present the results of their projects in class.

Course Materials:

There is no textbook for this course. Readings will be drawn from a combination of book chapters and journal articles, such as the following:

Bialystok E. (2009). Bilingualism: The good, the bad, and the indifferent. Bilingualism: Language and Cognition, 12(1), 3-11. doi:10.1017/S1366728908003477

Event The Long Civil War in US Literature and Culture
06SE440-221b / Seminar / 2,856

Description:

Business event contents:

This course examines the US Civil War not only as a discrete historical event (1861-1865), but also as a prolonged cultural, political, and social conflict that emerged from the antebellum period and continues to resonate today. Drawing on a wide range of texts, we will explore how US literatures and cultures engage with questions of enslavement and emancipation, citizenship, race, and gender, (epistemic) violence, and national memory. Against the backdrop of historical as well as literary and cultural studies scholarship, we will analyze poetry, fiction, and autobiographical accounts from the 19th century (incl. texts by authors such as Harriett Beecher Stowe, William Wells Brown, and Herman Melville) as well as 20th- and 21st-century memorial culture and the Civil War's continuing legacies (esp. with regard to race relations).

Notes:

Research papers will be due by March 30, 2027.

Course Materials: All texts and materials will be available on OLAT.

Event Logres au Printemps. Les débuts du roi Arthur dans la littérature médiévale
06SE390p503a / Seminar / 1,716

Description:

Business event contents:

Dans ce séminaire, il s'agira de présenter deux romans en prose qui couvrent tous les deux les années de jeunesse du roi Arthur : l'immense Cycle de Guiron le Courtois et la Suite dite historique du Merlin, elle-même partie du Cycle du Lancelot-Graal. Les deux œuvres pratiquent des approches diamétralement opposées : la Suite Merlin peint un univers résolument positif, orienté vers l'avenir, où les chevaliers de la Table Ronde forment une grande et belle fratrie. Le Cycle de Guiron le Courtois est un prequel, il essaie d'expliquer les failles qui se révéleront plus tard et causeront la perte de l'univers arthurien que lui-même ne racontera pas. Nous allons ensemble étudier quelques-uns des personnages et des événements les plus importants et les examiner aussi par rapport à leurs sources respectives. Ce sera aussi l'occasion de découvrir les romans en prose arthuriens.

Course Materials: Le matériel nécessaire sera mis à la disposition des participant-e-s sous forme de PDF sur Olat.

Event Lisboa vista por poetas e escritores: representações da cidade na literatura portuguesa
06VL427p003a / Course / 1,693

Description:

Business event contents:

Este curso terá como pano de fundo a cidade de Lisboa, que, desde muito cedo, é celebrada por vários escritores e poetas. Este será o ponto de partida para a análise crítica de obras de diferentes géneros, como a poesia, o conto ou o romance, de diversos autores dos séculos XX e XXI (tais como José Carlos Ary dos Santos, Lídia Jorge ou José Cardoso Pires). Far-se-á uma contextualização histórico-cultural de cada uma das obras e autores estudados. O curso promoverá a leitura e o debate sobre os temas abordados.

Course Materials: A docente irá indicar bibliografia selecionada e fornecer materiais avulsos.

Course Materials:

Francisco Rosales et al. (2017): CAMPUS SUR. Libro del alumno, Barcelona, Difusión.

Beim Kauf des Kursbuchs gibt es zwei Möglichkeiten:

Wer plant, an beiden Semestern (HS und FS) teilzunehmen, dem wird der Kauf der Kompaktversion empfohlen, die die Stufen A1 bis B1 umfasst. Es stehen zwei Alternativen zur Verfügung: eine deutschsprachige Ausgabe (Klett) und eine spanischsprachige (Difusión). Die deutschsprachige Version kann insbesondere für Studierende ohne romanistischen Hintergrund hilfreich sein.

Falls noch unklar ist, ob eine Teilnahme an beiden Semestern gewünscht oder möglich sein wird, kann die Ausgabe von CAMPUS SUR gewählt werden, die die Niveaus A1 bis A2 umfasst und nur auf Spanisch erhältlich ist (Difusión).

Da der Preisunterschied zwischen beiden Ausgaben gering ist, wird der Kauf der Kompaktversion empfohlen, auch im Fall einer Teilnahme nur am ersten Semester.

Event Nutzung und Wirkung von Fitspiration Inhalten auf sozialen Medien
06SE254p114a / Seminar / 2,078

Description:

Business event contents:

Durch unsere Mediennutzung treffen wir täglich auf eine Vielzahl unterschiedlicher Inhalte. Ein solcher Inhaltstyp ist Fitspiration. Der Begriff "Fitspiration" ist eine Verbindung aus "Fitness" und "Inspiration" und entstand in den sozialen Medien, um dem "Thinspiration"-Trend entgegenzuwirken, der übermäßig dünne Körper verherrlicht. Ziel von "Fitspiration" ist die Förderung einer gesunden Lebensweise durch Bewegung und Ernährung, jedoch haben diese Inhalte nicht immer eine positive Wirkung auf Nutzer:innen sozialer Medien.

Ziel des Seminars ist es, ein Konzept für ein (hypothetisches) Forschungsprojekt zu erarbeiten, das sich thematisch mit Fitspiration befasst. Dabei beschränkt sich das Seminar auf die Konzeption eines Forschungsprojekts, ohne dass dieses anschließend umgesetzt wird.

Through our use of media, we encounter a wide variety of content every day. One type of content is Fitspiration. The term Fitspiration is a combination of 'fitness' and 'inspiration' and originated on social media to counteract the Thinspiration trend, which idealises being excessively thin. The aim of Fitspiration is to promote a healthy lifestyle through exercise and nutrition, however, this content does not always have a positive effect on social media users. The aim of the seminar is to develop a concept for a hypothetical research project on the topic of Fitspiration. Please note that the seminar will only cover the conception of the project, not its implementation.

Event Everyday Online Experiences in Datafied Societies
06SE254p118a / Seminar / 861

Description:

Business event contents:

This research seminar explores online experiences in datafied societies and how internet users respond to the transformation of their everyday lives into data. As data collection and analysis practices have become pervasive across platforms and online services, users develop their own perceptions, understandings, skills, and tactics to navigate the risks and opportunities that datafication creates. Students will learn about and reflect on relevant user-centered theories, concepts, and methods through group presentations, a reflexive data diary, and the development of a research project proposal. Over the course of the semester, they will identify research gaps, assess the state of research, engage in critical thinking, and strengthen their conceptual and research design skills.

Event Introduction to Science Communication: Communicators, Intermediaries, Audiences
06SE254p122a / Seminar / 1,453

Description:

Business event contents:

Science plays a key role in today's knowledge societies - in public debates about climate change, health, AI, and more. But science is often complex, uncertain, or contested. Science communication helps make it accessible and relevant - not only by translating knowledge, but also by creating spaces for dialogue, debate, and participation. In this seminar, we explore how science is communicated and negotiated in society. How do researchers, institutions, journalists, and social media actors communicate about science? How do people engage with scientific information - not just as audiences, but as contributors, critics, or co-creators? What effects do these forms of communication have on public understanding, trust, or behavior? And how are these dynamics changing in digital and increasingly polarized environments?

The course offers an overview of key concepts, theoretical approaches, and empirical findings in science communication research. It involves guests from different fields of science communication - and invites students to critically reflect on how science becomes public, and what roles communication plays in shaping that process.

Event Digital Traces: Studying Online Phenomena with Computational Methods
06SE254p123a / Seminar / 1,063

Description:

Business event contents:

Every post, reply, follow, and upvote on the internet leaves a trace. These traces are one of the richest records of human communication ever produced, and they are largely public. This seminar teaches how to study online phenomena using computational methods that fit them.

This is a project-based seminar. With guidance from the instructor, every group of students designs and carries out a small original study of an online community or phenomenon of their choice (a subreddit, a YouTube comment section...). Working incrementally, they learn to ethically collect digital trace data, describe a corpus, analyze text through sentiment and topic modeling, and map communities as networks. Each method is introduced in a lecture, applied at home to the student's own project, and presented to the class for feedback before the next method begins.

By the end, students will have produced a multi-method study of one online phenomenon, learned to read computational communication research critically, and developed the habit of treating any computational result with appropriate critical eye.

Event Corporate Finance (L)
03VL22MO0007 / Course / 574

Description:

Business event contents:

This course develops and refines tools for evaluating investments (capital budgeting), capital structure, and corporate securities. With respect to capital structure, we start with the famous Miller and Modigliani irrelevance proposition and then move on to study the effects of taxes, bankruptcy costs, information asymmetries between firms and the capital markets, and agency costs. In this context, we will also study how leverage affects some central financial ratios that are often used in practice to assess firms and their stock. Other topics include corporate cash holdings, the use and pricing of convertible bonds, and risk management. The latter two topics involve option pricing. With respect to capital budgeting, the course pays special attention to tax effects in valuation, including in the estimation of the cost of capital. We will also study payout policy (dividends and share repurchases). The course seeks to deepen students' understanding of the link between corporate finance theory and practice. Cases may be assigned to reach this objective.

Event Übersetzungskurs - die besten Quellen zum Übergang Republik/Kaiserzeit
06KO600p018a / Colloquium / 3,120

Description:

Business event contents:

Im begleitenden Kolloquium zur Vorlesung vertiefen wir zentrale Themen des Übergangs von der römischen Republik zur Kaiserzeit anhand ausgewählter "Schlüsseltexte" im lateinischen Original. Im Zentrum stehen die besten und prägnantesten Passagen (u. a. aus Cicero, Sallust, Caesar, Vergil und der Res Gestae), die wir gemeinsam genau lesen, sprachlich erschließen und historisch einordnen: Was wird behauptet, was verschwiegen - und wie arbeiten die Texte an Deutung, Legitimation und Erinnerung?

Das Kolloquium richtet sich an Studierende mit soliden Lateinkenntnissen, die ihre Lektürefähigkeit schärfen und zugleich lernen möchten, wie eng Sprachdetails, rhetorische Strategien und historische Argumente zusammenhängen. Kurze Inputs, gemeinsame Übersetzung und Diskussion stehen im Vordergrund

Event „Nuove musiche“: Weltliche Vokalmusik um 1600
06SE760p008a / Seminar / 3,180

Description:

Business event contents:

Die weltliche Musik der Jahrzehnte nach 1600 ist durch eine grosse Vielfalt geprägt: Mit Generalbass und Sologesang gibt es wichtige musikalische Neuerungen, gleichzeitig entwickeln mehrstimmige Gattungen und Ensemblelieder eine grosse Vielfalt: Im späteren italienischen Madrigal stehen Tendenzen zur Dramatisierung und Chromatisierung neben solistisch-konzertierenden Formen, Villanella und Canzonetta und die «aria» bieten strophische Modelle (z.B. Vecchi, Hassler, Morley, Franck, Albert), in Frankreich und England erleben mit Air de cour und Ayres Lautenlieder eine eigene Blüte (Bataille, Dowland), es gibt vielfältige «gesungene Tänze» (Gastoldi). Im deutsch- und englischsprachigen Repertoire sind zudem vielfältige Adaptionen und Übersetzungsphänomene zu beobachten, auf die wir verstärkt eingehen werden (z.B. Weelkes, Schein). Mit einer Auswahl von Fallbeispielen untersuchen wir, wie sich diese Vielfalt kompositorisch darstellt, und diskutieren, wie sich in diesem Repertoire Musik als soziales Handeln und Form von Geselligkeit realisiert.

Course Materials: Themenauswahl und Literaturhinweise werden zu Beginn des Semesters bereitgestellt.

Event Öl. Fossile Energie und kulturelle Konflikte
06SE506p003a / Seminar / 3,115

Description:

Business event contents:

Öl als "schwarzes Gold" ist weit mehr als ein Rohstoff: In Literatur, Film und TV-Serien steht es für Gier, Kapitalismus, patriarchale Macht und Umweltzerstörung, aber auch für Aufstiegsträume und Modernitätsversprechen. Von Upton Sinclairs Roman Oil! (1927) über There Will Be Blood (2007) und Klassiker wie Giganten (1956) bis zu aktuellen Produktionen wie der ARD-Serie Schwarzes Gold oder der Streaming-Serie Landman (2024) erzählen populäre Medien, wie fossile Brennstoffe Gesellschaften formen und zerstören. Im Vertiefungsmodul untersuchen wir, wie kulturelle Konflikte rund um Öl und andere fossile Energien in populären Erzählungen und medialen Diskursen verhandelt werden. Öl erscheint dabei als kultureller Stoff: als Motor von Fortschrittserzählungen, als Auslöser von Gewalt und Ungleichheit sowie als Projektionsfläche für Angst, Begehren und Zukunftsimaginationen. Auf der Basis von ökokritischer und feministischer Theorie zu Petrokulturen und anhand unterschiedlicher Formate und Genres analysieren wir, wie Narrative des Fossilen Fragen von Macht, Gender und Ökologie verhandeln.

Event Kinematografie des Pferdes: Geschichte, Technik, Gangart
06SE255p006a / Seminar / 1,565

Description:

Business event contents:

«Durch den echten Film muss Pferdegaloopp dröhnen», schrieb Siegfried Kracauer in seinem Marseiller Entwurf zur Theorie des Films. Das Seminar geht dieser Formel auf den Grund und untersucht die Kultur- und Theoriegeschichte des Pferdes in Hinblick auf Bewegtbilder. Dabei geht es sowohl um Pferde, die auf beiläufige Weise auftreten, als auch um solche, die als zentrale Handlungsträger im Fokus stehen. Welche visuellen Operationen knüpfen sich an ihre Mähnen, Rücken, an ihre schnellen Bewegungen oder übergrossen Augen? Welche mythologische Rolle spielen Gruppen schwarzer Pferde, die in Träumen auftreten? Ausgehend von Eadweard Muybridges ersten chronofotografischen Aufnahmen eines galoppierenden Pferdes von 1887 bis hin zu Guy Maddins MY WINNIPEG von 2007 verfolgt das Seminar anhand zahlreicher Filmbeispiele eine Kinematografie des Pferdes. Neben der Sichtung und Analyse der Filme stehen die Lektüre und das Verfassen eigener Texte im Zentrum.

Event Oral History – Theoretische Grundlagen und Methodische Zugänge
06SE600-516b / Seminar / 2,084

Description:

Business event contents:

Oral History hat sich seit der Mitte des 20. Jahrhunderts als zentrale Methode etabliert, um historische Erfahrungen jenseits von Archivbeständen zugänglich zu machen. Ausgangspunkt ist die Annahme, dass individuelle Erinnerungen nicht lediglich ergänzende Informationen liefern, sondern einen eigenständigen historischen Erkenntniswert besitzen. Zugleich wirft der Umgang mit subjektiven Erzählungen grundlegende methodische und theoretische Fragen auf.

Auf theoretischer Ebene beschäftigt sich das Seminar mit der Frage, wie Erinnerung entsteht und in welcher Beziehung individuelle und kollektive Formen des Erinnerns stehen. Dabei geht es auch darum, wie Machtverhältnisse und die jeweilige Positionalität der Beteiligten Interviews beeinflussen. Wie formt sich Subjektivität im Erzählen? Welche Rolle spielen dabei gesellschaftliche Deutungsmuster? Wie lassen sich Brüche und Leerstellen interpretieren? Auf methodischer Ebene werden die Schritte der Planung, Vorbereitung und Durchführung von Interviews erarbeitet. Zudem werden verschiedene Formen der Transkription - einschliesslich KI-gestützter Verfahren - geübt und reflektiert.

Im Zentrum des Seminars steht die eigenständige Konzeption, Durchführung und Interpretation eines lebensgeschichtlichen Interviews, das auf den zuvor erarbeiteten theoretischen Debatten und praktischen Übungen aufbaut.

Notes:

Leistungsnachweis: Der Leistungsnachweis besteht aus der Durchführung und Auswertung eines Oral History Interviews (25%) sowie der schriftlichen Seminararbeit (75%).

Der Abgabetermin der Seminararbeit ist der 15. Mai 2027.

Event Statistical Foundations for Finance (Mathematical and Computational Statistics with a View Towards Finance and Risk Management)
03VL22MO0103 / Course / 2,814

Description:

Business event contents:

Besides learning all the aforementioned topics, students will be extensively "mapping" theory to computer algorithms, thus enhancing their programming skills in any of the major prototyping languages. The contents of the course (and emphasis on computer programming) cover numerous critical skills for students wishing to become "quants" in finance.

Course Materials:

I will send you via OLAT email my notes for the course. We further require my textbook "Fundamental Statistical Inference: A Computational Approach".

Event Robert Kramer: Aktivist und Essayist
06SE255p013a / Seminar / 2,575

Description:

Business event contents:

«Hello: I'm from NYC. The 50's were bad. I got reborn in the 60's. I left the states at the end of the 70's. I've been living around, mostly based in Paris, and I make movies», schreibt Robert Kramer 1998 an Bob Dylan. Er schlägt Dylan ein gemeinsames Filmprojekt vor, aber daraus wird nichts. Kramer stirbt 1999 mit nur 60 Jahren.

Der Regisseur war 1967 Mitbegründer des aktivistischen Kollektivs Newsreel, hat mit ICE (1970) und MILESTONES (1975) zwei Schlüsselfilme der US-amerikanischen Linken nach 1968 gedreht und die letzten 20 Jahre seines Lebens in Frankreich verbracht. Sein Werk, das nach Retrospektiven in New York und Wien sowie durch eine vorbildliche DVD-Edition neue Sichtbarkeit bekommen hat, strahlt in unterschiedliche Richtungen aus: Es zeigt die fortgesetzte Bemühung um eine politische und zugleich reflexive filmische Praxis, die sich seit den 1970er Jahren zunehmend für poröse, essayistische Formen zwischen Dokument und Inszenierung öffnet. Kramer reagiert auf Ereignisse wie den Vietnamkrieg, die portugiesische Nelkenrevolution oder den Fall der Berliner Mauer mit persönlichen und zugleich richtungsweisenden Filmen und Videos. Seine Versuche, in Frankreich kontinuierlich Filme zu machen, ermöglichen einen Einblick in die infrastrukturellen Möglichkeiten und Grenzen des essayistischen Autorenfilms in den 1980er Jahren. Im Jahr 2026, zum 250. Geburtstag der USA, lassen sich die Filme zugleich als kritischer Kommentar zu den beunruhigenden aktuellen Entwicklungen einer Demontage des demokratischen Rechtsstaats lesen.

Im Seminar sichten wir zentrale Filme des Regisseurs, darunter neben ICE und MILESTONES auch NOTRE NAZI (1984) (Kramers Komplementärfilm zu Thomas Harlans WUNDKANAL) und ROUTE ONE (USA 1989) und diskutieren sie in ihren Verfahren und Voraussetzungen. Dabei sollen auch nicht-realisierte Projekte - etwa mit dem Kunstkritiker John Berger - zur Sprache kommen. Zudem gilt es, Kramer als Autor kennenzulernen. "Whenever I start something, I always feel like I'm at a point of departure." (Kramer)

Notes:

Das Vertiefungsseminar findet in Kooperation mit dem Kino XENIX statt, wo am Donnerstag, 22. Oktober (abends), am Freitag, 23. Oktober (ganztagig) und am Sonntag, 25. Oktober (nachmittags) Veranstaltungen mit Filmen von und Diskussionen zu Robert Kramer stattfinden. Die Teilnahme daran ist Voraussetzung für die Seminarbuchung. Die Anzahl wöchentlicher Sitzungen wird entsprechend reduziert.

Event Unsichtbares: Film als nicht-optisches Medium
06SE255p501a / Seminar / 2,930

Description:

Business event contents:

Algorithmen, Codes und Datenströme sind unsichtbar. Aber sie bedingen, was zu sehen ist - und was nicht. Inke Arns spricht in diesem Zusammenhang vom «postoptischen Zeitalter» der digitalen Netzkulturen. Aus dieser aktuellen Perspektive stellt sich auch historisch rückblickend die Frage, wie sich Film als nicht-optisches Medium verstehen und beschreiben lässt. Dabei geht es darum, die Grenzen filmischer Darstellbarkeit auszuloten und das, was sichtbar wird, als Effekt oder Wirkung unsichtbarer Prozesse und Phänomene zu begreifen. Kräfte sind unsichtbar - wie die physikalischen und chemischen Reaktionen, die in Fischli und Weiss' DER LAUF DER DINGE (1987) wie von magischer Hand ablaufen. Geister sind unsichtbar - wie die Lwa im Haitianischen Vodou, deren Anrufung Maya Deren in DIVINE HORSEMEN: THE LIVING GODS OF HAITI (1947-1954) filmt. Mächte sind unsichtbar - wie die deformierenden sozialen Strukturen und Normen, gegen die die Protagonistin in Valie Exports UNSICHTBARE GEGNER (1977) ankämpft. Gedanken und ihre Übertragung sind unsichtbar - wie die telepathischen Fähigkeiten, die es der Protagonistin in Dario Argentos PHENOMENA (1985) erlauben, mit Insekten zu kommunizieren. Radioaktive Strahlung ist unsichtbar - wie die atmosphärische Bedrohung in Andrej Tarkowskij's STALKER (1979), die auch als Vorhersehung der Reaktorkatastrophe von Tschernobyl gelesen wurde. Vermisste sind unsichtbar - wie die im libanesischen Bürgerkrieg Entführten, deren Spuren bildlicher Löschung Ghassan Halwani in ERASED_ASCENT OF THE INVISIBLE (2018) nachgeht. Struktureller Rassismus ist unsichtbar - wie die vom «Blackface» maskierte Lebensgeschichte des eigenen Vaters, die Steve McQueens SUNSHINE STATE (2022) als Unsichtbarkeit zum Vorschein bringt. Die «slow violence» der langfristigen Zerstörung von Ökosystemen ist unsichtbar - wie die des Regenwaldes im Amazonas, die Richard Mosse in BROKEN SPECTRE (2022) mithilfe multispektraler Aufnahmen jenseits des sichtbaren Spektrums, in den Bereichen von Infrarot und Ultraviolett einholt.

Quer durch Science Fiction, Horror, Thriller, Experimentalfilm und Videokunst geht das Seminar der Frage nach, in welchen relevanten Kontexten Film als nicht-optisches Medium gebraucht wird und welche ästhetischen, ethischen und politischen Herausforderungen damit verbunden sind. Das Seminar hat explorativen Charakter; es lädt zur kreativen Erschließung von Zugängen jenseits konventioneller Aspekte von Genre, Stil und Special Effects ein sowie zum Erwerb theoretischer und analytischer Kompetenzen in den erweiterten Feldern der Bildkritik und Medienästhetik.

Event Crisis and Technology
06SE254p108a / Seminar / 579

Description:

Business event contents:

This seminar explores the complex relationship between crises and digital technologies in contemporary societies. Focusing on disasters, public health emergencies, and other forms of social disruption, the course examines how crises are mediated through digital infrastructures, including social media platforms, data systems, and artificial intelligence.

Drawing on perspectives from communication studies, science and technology studies, and crisis research, the seminar analyzes how technologies shape information flows, coordination, and decision-making under conditions of uncertainty. Particular attention is paid to issues of digital inequality, misinformation dynamics, and the role of social media and AI in shaping social responses and collective action during crises.

Through comparative case studies, students will develop critical perspectives on technology as a socially embedded force that influences crisis response, collective action, and social resilience. Students will engage with empirical research, theoretical frameworks, and real-world examples to understand both the opportunities and challenges that digital technologies present in crisis contexts.

Description:

Notes:

The allocation of students to this seminar will be done through the department via the module booking tool. If there is a shortage of seats, we will give preference to students that are majoring in Economics and have not yet attended a seminar and are already far in their studies. Please note that we cannot guarantee a spot.

More information on the process can be found on our website: <https://www.econ.uzh.ch/en/study/undergraduate/ma/seminar.html>

Application for this seminar is via the module booking tool
<https://studentservices.uzh.ch/uzh/launchpad>

Please be aware that the periods for booking and un-booking seminars differs from the regular module booking period for lectures.

Deadline for application: 30.8.2026.

The seminar takes place at SOF-G-21.

Event Real Analysis I (L)
03VL22MO0194 / Course / 2,522

Description:

Business event contents:

We will cover the standard topics in a one semester first course in real analysis appropriate for the intended audience, which in our case is students in our faculty, as opposed to the mathematics department (for which a higher level of presentation is used). The goal is to prepare the student for further study in courses that require this material, such as (post-introductory) probability theory, machine learning, microeconomics, mathematical finance, financial economics, and asset pricing. The list of topics is very standardized in nearly all textbooks at our intended level, and we will cover up to Riemann integration.

Course Materials: We will use my set of notes, which are available for download from this link: <https://u.pcloud.link/publink/show?code=XZ9CRJ0Zb8zolpXjhLVQzYC1tEE9GJ2IxH7V>

Event NaturKultur-Ontologien und die Rights of Nature-Bewegung
06SE506p505a / Seminar / 2,052

Description:

Business event contents:

In diesem Seminar lesen und diskutieren wir in einer ersten Phase verschiedene Texte rund um den ontological turn und befassen uns mit verschiedenen theoretischen Konzeptualisierungen von NaturKultur-Verhältnissen. In einer zweiten Phase beschäftigen wir uns anhand empirischer Fallbeispiele mit der Rights of Nature-Bewegung und fragen danach, was für NaturKultur-Ontologien in diesem Feld zu beobachten sind, was für verschiedene Wissensbestände darin in Anschlag gebracht werden, woher diese stammen und was für Wissenstransfers wie geschehen. Zuletzt setzten wir uns auch damit auseinander, was für ethische und politische Schlüsse und Forderungen sich aus einer konsequent ontologischen Lesart dieser Umweltschutzbewegung ziehen lassen.

Event Current Approaches in Single Cell Analysis
07VLBME327 / Course / 5,730

Description:

Business event contents:

Currently single cell analysis approaches revolutionize the way we study and understand biological systems. In all biological and biomedical settings, cell populations and tissues are highly heterogeneous; this heterogeneity plays a critical role in basic biological processes such as cell cycle, development and organismic function, but is also a major player in disease, e.g. for cancer development, diagnosis and treatment.

Currently, single cell analysis techniques are rapidly developing and find broad application, as the single cell measurements not only enable to study cell specific functions, but often reveal unexpected biological mechanisms in so far (assumed) well understood biological processes.

In this lecture, we will discuss the most important single cell approaches, the questions they can address and current developments. We will cover single cell genomics, single cell transcriptomics, single cell proteomics (CyTOF mass cytometry), single cell metabolomics and highly multiplexed single cell imaging. Finally, we will also discuss the latest approaches for the analysis of such generated highly multiplexed single cell data.

Event Pain-Mechanisms and clinical presentatio
07VUBME355 / Block Course / 2,109

Description:

Business event contents:

Pain, especially chronic pain, is a major health problem. In this course, students will learn about pain mechanisms, pathophysiological changes implicated in the transition from acute to chronic pain, different types of clinical pain as well as treatment and management options. Students will have the opportunity to conduct an experiment on a relevant, self-selected topic. Soft skills are promoted in this course by encouraging active participation, student-led paper presentations, and oral presentations.

Event Plant Epigenetics
07BLBIO314 / Block Course / 4,978

Description:

Business event contents:

This course offers a practical and theoretical introduction into the mechanisms of epigenetic gene regulation and their role in plant development. Molecular and cell biological methods, such as chromatin immunoprecipitation, chromosome conformation capture, chromatin immunostaining, and high-resolution imaging, are integrated with lectures on epigenetics, from molecular mechanisms to their function of selected epigenetic processes in the development of plants and animals.

Event Human Behavioural Ecology and Cultural Evolution
07BLBIO210 / Block Course / 5,253

Description:

Business event contents:

We will explore the evolution of human behavioural diversity, particularly focusing on the evolution of human cooperation, life history, social structure, mate systems and the origins of culture. We will use a comparative approach between humans and other mammals, and will explore hunter-gatherers case studies. The practical's will involve group experiments on cooperation, competition, problem solving, social learning. The students will work together on research projects that should be presented as a seminar.

Event Primate Behavior - Empirical Research
07BLBIO211 / Block Course / 5,252

Description:

Business event contents:

In this course, students will learn how to empirically approach ideas on the evolution of social, cultural and cognitive evolution, by observing primate behavior. Based on the theoretical background acquired in BIO 210 (or equivalent knowledge), participants will develop their own project, and design, execute, analyse and present their observational or experimental study, aimed at testing current ideas in primate behavior. The practical part will take place in Zoo Zurich and the Institute's Primate Station.

Notes:

This course is the continuation of Bio 210. Bio 210 or Bio 216 are a pre-requisite for this course, or equivalent knowledge or the motivation to acquire it during the course. Please contact the module leader if you are not sure regarding the pre-requisites.

Event Evolution of Human Life History
07VLBIO215 / Course / 5,255

Description:

Business event contents:

This course examines the evolution of human development and reproduction through the lens of life history theory. We will begin by outlining the key components of mammalian and primate life histories and identifying the distinctive features of the human pattern, including prolonged childhood, delayed reproduction, and extended lifespan. A central focus of the course will be on hominin fossil evidence: for each major hominin species, we will explore what is currently known about its life history profile and integrate this with archaeological and morphological evidence related to diet, behavior, and ecology. Special attention will be given to the role of cooperative breeding in shaping the human life history strategy and its deep connections to the evolution of our uniquely social cognition and complex cooperative behavior.

In allen fünf Tutoraten wird derselbe Stoff behandelt, d.h. Sie brauchen nur eines der Tutorate zu besuchen, und können frei zwischen den Terminen wählen. Eine vorherige Anmeldung ist nicht erforderlich. Falls einzelne Termine sehr voll sind oder Ihnen etwas dazwischenkommt, können Sie auch während des Semesters noch zu einem anderen Tag wechseln. Wir empfehlen dringend, jede Woche eines der Tutorate zu besuchen und die Übungsaufgaben vorher zuhause zu bearbeiten.

Event Modern Microscopy in Life Science Research
07VUBIO321 / Block Course / 1,995

Description:

Business event contents:

Microscopy is a major tool in life science research. Recent advances in microscopy and image analysis approaches allow investigating biological specimens at unprecedented scales. Beyond introductory theory, the major objective of this course is to apply modern microscopy and quantitative image analysis approaches to address a scientific question. Practical work will be done in small, individually guided teams that will apply state-of-the-art imaging methods, such as two-photon, light-sheet, super-resolution, and electron microscopy in a host laboratory.

Event Biology, Evolution, and Ecology of Marine Mammals
07VLBIO340 / Course / 5,260

Description:

Business event contents:

Marine mammals are a diverse group of 129 species from different Orders that rely on aquatic habitats for their existence. This diverse group has evolved several specialised aquatic traits, which allowed it to adapt to the marine environment. Some marine mammal species have also evolved many traits found in humans and primates, such as large brain size, slow life history, and advance cognitive abilities, making them an ideal group for the study of convergent evolution. The course will cover these intriguing evolutionary aspects, but also address pressing conservation issues in the light of ever-increasing anthropogenic threats.

Notes:

The course will be accompanied by a field course (BIO341) in Shark Bay, Western Australia, with only a limited number of places available.

Students who would like to participate in the course will need to apply separately.

Event Kleidung und Modekörper (13. bis 15. Jahrhundert)
06SE600-012a / Seminar / 1,574

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Seminar nimmt Kleid, Kleidungskulturen und Mode in ausgewählten Regionen Europas aus der Perspektive der Materialitätsgeschichte, der Sozialgeschichte, der Körpergeschichte und der Geschlechtergeschichte unter die Lupe. Wir werden u. a. versuchen, den Begriff des «Modekörpers» - von Gertrud Lehnert als «das modische Kleid in Kooperation mit dem lebendigen Körper» verstanden (Lehnert, Mode, 2013, S. 57) - in Bezug auf ausgewählte Quellenkorpora als analytisches Werkzeug anzuwenden.

Event Umkämpfte Vergangenheit: Geschichtsnarrative in Osteuropa
06KO612p501a / Colloquium / 2,922

Description:

Business event contents:

Geschichte ist Teil des politischen Diskurses. In Osteuropa lässt sich seit 1989/1991 beobachten, wie nationale Eliten bestimmte Mythen und Bilder der Vergangenheit heranziehen, um gesellschaftlichen Konsens herzustellen oder eine bestimmte Politik zu legitimieren. Dabei erfolgt die Konstruktion der Geschichte häufig nicht in kritischer Auseinandersetzung mit der eigenen Vergangenheit, sondern in Abgrenzung zu konkurrierenden historischen Deutungen. Solche rivalisierenden Geschichtsnarrative bergen ein erhebliches Konfliktpotenzial, insbesondere wenn Geschichte zur Delegitimierung alternativer Deutungen der Vergangenheit sowie zur Rechtfertigung nationaler, territorialer oder - im Fall Russlands - imperialer Ansprüche instrumentalisiert wird. Das Kolloquium untersucht die komplexen Zusammenhänge von Geschichtspolitik, Nationsbildung und Konflikten im Fall Osteuropas anhand von Fallstudien zu Russland, der Ukraine und den südkaukasischen Staaten.

Event Sammeln, Entziffern, Forschen: Archive als Orte des Wissens
06KO600p006a / Colloquium / 2,630

Description:

Business event contents:

Historische Quellen sind überwiegend in Archiven überliefert. Archive sind Orte, an denen Informationen durch Auswahl und Ablage von Dokumenten, Aufnahmen und Gegenständen gesammelt wurden und weiterhin werden. Die archivalischen Spuren bestimmen, welches Wissens über die Vergangenheit überhaupt erhalten bleibt und zu welchen Zwecken genutzt oder missbraucht werden kann. Im Unterschied zum Basismodul, wird es nicht darum gehen, eine Archivführung zu erleben. Vielmehr sollen am Beispiel frühneuzeitlicher Themen grundsätzliche Fragen, die sich bei der Forschungsarbeit im Archiv stellen, im Mittelpunkt stehen: Wie kann ich einschätzen, was ein Archiv überliefert? Welche Konsequenzen haben die Bedingungen der Archivüberlieferung für die Recherche? Wie unterscheidet sich Aktenrecherche im Archiv von Literaturrecherche im Netz? Wie lassen sich Akten erschliessen, deren Handschrift und Sprache heute nicht mehr ohne weiteres zugänglich sind? Inwiefern sind Archive selbst Quellen für die Geschichte des Wissens?

Event Reading Jane Austen
06KO440p002a / Colloquium / 2,519

Description:

Business event contents:

This colloquium will offer an overview of Jane Austen's works, from the juvenilia to her unfinished novel, Sanditon. We will think about Austen in context, discussing how her works engage with social, cultural, and political issues of her time, such as women and society, rank and social mobility, and popular culture, among others. We will also concentrate on Austen's style, especially her use of irony and free indirect speech. This colloquium will give us the opportunity to think about the canon and textual afterlives.

Course Materials:

Texts will include:
Northanger Abbey (1818)
Pride and Prejudice (1813)
Mansfield Park (1814)
Emma (1816)

Event Theorien der Multinationalen Unternehmung (S) (Theories of Multinational Corporation)
03SE22BO0059 / Seminar / 2,888

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Seminar beschäftigt sich mit den Theorien der Multinationalen Unternehmen (MNU) in einer globalisierten Wirtschaft. Aus einer interdisziplinären Sichtweise wird dabei die neue Verantwortung der Unternehmung im Prozess der Globalisierung beleuchtet. Die Globalisierung führt zu einer Verengung der Handlungsspielräume nationalstaatlicher Politik. Die wirtschaftlichen Austauschprozesse entwachsen der Regelungsgewalt nationalstaatlicher Ordnungen.

Insbesondere die Multinationalen Unternehmen sind der nationalstaatlichen Rechtsordnung nicht mehr vollumfänglich unterworfen, sondern können unter alternativen Rahmenbedingungen nach ökonomischen Gesichtspunkten auswählen.

Diese Entwicklungen erfordern eine Neubestimmung der Rolle der multinationalen Unternehmung. Dabei werden in diesem Seminar u.a. Ansätze aus der Ökonomie, der Philosophie und der Politischen Theorie im Hinblick auf ein neues Verständnis des "Global Corporate Citizenship" und der "Corporate Social Responsibility" der MNU untersucht und kritisch diskutiert.

Der Kurs bietet einen Überblick über die grundlegenden Theorien der Unternehmung und deren Antworten auf die Herausforderungen der Globalisierung.

Die Teilnehmer lernen, sich mit den Theorien kritisch auseinanderzusetzen und über aktuelle Themen der Unternehmensverantwortung sowie der Globalisierung zu diskutieren. Parallel dazu werden im Kurs Anleitungen und Hilfestellungen bereitgestellt, um Studierende bei ihrer oftmals ersten längeren Seminararbeit zu unterstützen. Die Seminararbeiten bieten eine gute Vorbereitung für eine spätere Bachelorarbeit.

Description:

Business event contents:

This is a introduction course for students who are interested in computational visual research. The course introduces students to computational approaches for analyzing and studying visual media data, with a focus of digital communication research. The course provides the students with the opporutnites to learn how to work with images and videos as data, using Python. Analytic techniques examples include: image video processing, image classification, computer vision,using network analysis in visual research, LLM ect. Students will learn both the foundational techniques and their application in communication research.

Notes:

Prior knowledge in python programming is ideal.

Event Introduction to Biomedicine

07VLBME111 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 741

Description:

Business event contents:

Was ist Biomedizin? Wie funktioniert der menschliche Körper? Welche zellspezifischen und organspezifischen Abläufe garantieren den gesunden Organismus? In der interaktiven Vorlesungsreihe werden die Funktionen der Zelle über die Organe bis zum Organismus erläutert. Die Studierenden erwerben die Grundlagen der Biomedizin, worauf die Module im dritten und vierten Semester aufbauen. Zusätzlich wird Literaturrecherche unterrichtet, welche für die Vorbereitung des graphischen Essays benötigt wird.

Notes:

Die Vorlesung findet im Hörsaal statt, sie wird aufgezeichnet (PodCast).

Aufgrund der begrenzten Platzkapazität im Hörsaal wird die Vorlesung während der ersten Semesterwochen live in einen zusätzlichen Hörsaal übertragen.

Event Animal experimentation and alternative methods in biomedical research
07VLBME311 / Course / 270

Description:

Business event contents:

In research, it is crucial to find the right methods to answer scientific questions. In this lecture, we will take a closer look at methods and models that are often used in biomedical research. Our focus here is on animal experiments and alternatives to these like 3D cell culture or in silico approaches. The quality of science (study design, transferability, validity, scientific rigor, open science) and science ethics issues (animal ethics, biomedical ethics, 3Rs and animal welfare) will also be discussed.

Description:

Business event contents:

We begin quickly with bachelor level introductory Linear Algebra, and move to intermediate topics of relevance for applications in science. Topics include theoretical derivation and properties of determinants; proof of the existence of the spectral theorem for real symmetric matrices; sums of vector spaces; the QR factorization; projections and least squares; generalized inverses; matrix norms; and proof of the existence of the singular value decomposition.

Course Materials:

The designated textbook is Johnston, Introduction to Linear and Matrix Algebra, 2021; along with my own notes, chapter 6, available at:

Event The Welfare State in the 21st Century: A Waste of Money or a Driver of Progress?
06SE615-001d / Seminar / 5,693

Description:

Business event contents:

The Welfare State in the 21st Century: A Waste of Money or a Driver of Progress?

The welfare state is often portrayed as a form of public consumption based on the idea that "the economy earns money, and the welfare state spends it." Especially in times of economic difficulty, politicians frequently call for welfare state retrenchment as a way to address perceived "spending problems" and support economic growth. Yet there is also an alternative perspective: the welfare state not only supports people in need but also plays a vital role in shaping and sustaining a country's economic model and in responding to societal challenges such as climate change.

At the same time, supporters of welfare state expansion often face significant political challenges when trying to build coalitions for reform. This course therefore addresses two central questions:

1. To what extent does the welfare state contribute to solving social and economic challenges in the 21st century?
2. What political factors enable the maintenance or even expansion of the welfare state in the 21st century?

The first half of the course examines the economic, social, and political outcomes of the welfare state. The second half focuses on the politics of welfare state reform. Seminar discussions and readings will bring together insights from political science, economics, and social policy. These academic perspectives will be connected to contemporary societal challenges, including current waves of economic uncertainty, gendered inequalities in economic and private life, and structural adaptations to climate change.

Event Sustainability Research in the Social Sciences and Humanities: Approaches and Methods
01SE82LB001 / Seminar / 2,834

Description:

Business event contents:

This seminar introduces students to key theoretical foundations and methodological approaches of sustainability research in the social sciences and humanities (SSH). It explores how SSH perspectives contribute to understanding and addressing sustainability challenges by examining diverse ways of knowing and researching socio-ecological transformations.

The primary goal of this course is to provide students with a comprehensive foundation in the theoretical and methodological aspects of social sciences and humanities (SSH) approaches to sustainability research. Students will gain an understanding of how SSH-based sustainability research is conducted, familiarize themselves with a variety of research methods - including interviews, surveys, Q-methodology, discourse and content analysis, and ethnographic and participatory approaches - and engage in practical exercises to apply these methods. The course aims to equip students with the skills to critically evaluate and design research projects, fostering both academic competence and cohort cohesion through collaborative learning and discussions. Thereby, the course lays the foundation for the acquisition and application of specific methodological knowledge in the course "Sustainability Research in the Social Sciences and Humanities: Applications and Explorations," offered in the spring semester 2027.

Course Materials: Will be announced at the beginning of the course.

Event Applied microeconomics research in practice HS26 (S)
03SEDOEC1260 / Doktorandenseminar / 287

Description:

Business event contents:

The course consists of student presentations and group discussions of papers in applied microeconomics across a variety of topics. Each session will feature a student-led presentation, followed by a group discussion to critically evaluate the paper's contributions and relevance. External speakers will occasionally present as well to expose students to recent developments within applied microeconomics research. The course will promote collaborative learning, critical thinking, and deeper engagement with current research.

Notes:

Students who are interested in attending or registering should send a brief email expressing their motivation to participate in the seminar, including one pdf file containing their CV and latest transcript of records to anne.brenoe@business.uzh.ch by August 30, 2026. Students will be notified by September 5, 2026 whether they are accepted to the seminar.

Course Materials: Papers will be distributed electronically

Event Specialization: Security, Peace and Conflict
06SE615p003a / Seminar / 3,194

Description:

Business event contents:

If you are interested in the empirical study of security, conflict, violence and peace and you want to write your BA Thesis on a topic in this research area, this BA Spezialisierung is for you! The seminar Political Mobilization and Violence will give you key insights into how to undertake a quantitative empirical project to explain phenomena such as war, state repression, terrorism, and protest, among others. This Spezialisierung seminar runs for two consecutive semesters, which will help you carry out your BA Thesis project. You will apply the knowledge and skills you have gained during your BA studies, including "Politische Systeme und Theorien", "Forschungslogik", "Methoden und Statistik" (including R), "Internationale Politik", and "Security and Conflict", among others. Combined with your hard work, dedication, and participation, the seminar will assist you in writing your BA Thesis proposal at the end of the Autumn Semester and then carrying out your own BA Thesis in the Spring Semester.

Event Seminar: Behind the Glass: The Museum of Religions in Marburg between narratives and the power of interpretation
01SE54SS047 / Seminar / 2,719

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Religionskundliche Sammlung in Marburg beherbergt auf drei Stockwerken über 10'000 Objekte, die „Einblick in Geschichte und Gegenwart religiöser Kulturen“ geben. Doch wer definiert, was dort ausgestellt wird und dadurch Teil einer religionskundlichen Sammlung wird? Die Deutungsmacht der Museumsschaffenden zeigt sich nicht nur in der Auswahl der Objekte, sondern auch bei deren Präsentation. Werden Objekte aus verschiedenen religiösen Traditionen unterschiedlich präsentiert? Und werden religiöse Objekte anders ausgestellt als solche, die von Kurator*innen nicht als religiös gesehen werden?

Auch die historische Perspektive wird einbezogen, denn weder die Präsentation von religiösen Objekten in musealen Sammlungen noch die Deutungsmacht von Museen sind neue Phänomene. Dies lässt sich beispielsweise mit Missionsausstellungen im frühen 20. Jahrhundert illustrieren, welche ein diverses Publikum anzogen.

Das Seminar geht solchen Fragen im Nexus von Museumsstudien und Religion nach, wobei auch die Gebiete der materiellen Religion und der epistemischen Macht miteinbezogen werden. Im Zentrum des Seminars steht die Exkursion in die Religionskundliche Sammlung in Marburg.

Notes:

Zum Seminar gehört eine Exkursion in die Religionskundliche Sammlung in Marburg vom 19.-21.11.2026. Die letzte Sitzung findet am 25.11.2026 statt.

Reading Week vom 12.-16.10.2026. In dieser Woche finden an der Theologischen und Religionswissenschaftlichen Fakultät keine Lehrveranstaltungen statt.

Event Seminar: Religious coexistence and conflict: Damascus as an urban negotiation space in the Middle Ages (7th to 14th cent
01SE54LM003c / Seminar / 2,733

Description:

Business event contents:

Im Seminar untersuchen wir das religiöse Leben in Damaskus zwischen dem 7. und 14. Jahrhundert mit besonderem Fokus auf religiöse Koexistenz, Konflikte und Aushandlungsprozesse im urbanen Raum. Anhand ausgewählter Textquellen gehen wir der Frage nach, wie religiöse Praxis, soziale Ordnung, und urbane Räume aus unterschiedlichen Textgattungen erschlossen werden können. Dazu arbeiten wir mit u.a. historiographischen Werken und Reiseberichten, die Damaskus als religiösen Raum, Erinnerungsort und Konfliktfeld entwerfen. Die Quellen werden sowohl inhaltlich als auch in Bezug auf ihre literarischen Formen, Entstehungskontexte und Funktionen innerhalb von Erinnerungskultur und Autoritätsdiskursen analysiert. Ein besonderer Schwerpunkt liegt auf der methodischen Reflexion: Wie lässt sich „religiöses Leben“ aus Textquellen rekonstruieren? Wie werden Vorstellungen von religiöser Koexistenz, Abgrenzung und Konkurrenz narrativ konstruiert? Inwiefern spiegeln die Quellen soziale Spannungen und Konflikte wider, und inwiefern produzieren sie diese erst? Welche Rolle spielen Macht, politische Herrschaft und Patronage für die Produktion und Gestaltung dieser Texte? Und wie wird Damaskus selbst – als Stadt, Erinnerungsort und religiöser Raum – in ihnen konstruiert? Neben der Arbeit an ausgewählten Primärquellen befassen wir uns mit zentraler Sekundärliteratur zur Geschichte Damaskus' sowie mit theoretischen Ansätzen zu Historizität, Historiografie und zur räumlich-sakralen Semiotik urbaner Zentren im Islam. Vorausgesetzt wird die Bereitschaft zu intensiver Lektüre und zur theoretischen Auseinandersetzung mit historischen Quellen. Arabischkenntnisse sind nicht erforderlich; wir arbeiten mit deutschen und englischen Übersetzungen.

Notes:

Event Seminar: The Social Life of Sacred Scripture
01SE55SS028 / Seminar / 2,737

Description:

Business event contents:

In diesem interdisziplinären Seminar untersuchen wir vergleichend, welche soziale Rolle «Heilige Schriften» im Christentum und Islam spielen. Im Mittelpunkt steht nicht primär der Inhalt von Bibel und Koran, sondern ihr «soziales Leben» - also wie religiöse Autoritätsfiguren, Gemeinschaften und Individuen mit diesen Texten umgehen, sie autorisieren, vermitteln und in unterschiedlichen Kontexten nutzen. Wir beleuchten gemeinsame Fragen beider Traditionen: Was macht eine Schrift autoritativ? Wie gewinnen Prediger:innen und Gelehrte die Autorität, die Bibel oder den Koran auszulegen? Auf welche Weise werden religiöse Texte in Predigten, Lehrkreisen oder öffentlichen Debatten wirksam? Darüber hinaus betrachten wir die vielseitigen Sinnebenen jenseits des reinen Lesens, etwa meditative Lesepraktiken und den Einsatz religiöser Schriften in Ritualen der Heilung und des Exorzismus.

Ein weiterer Schwerpunkt liegt auf der Medialisierung und Materialität: Wir verfolgen die Entwicklung von der mündlichen Überlieferung über handgeschriebene Manuskripte und den Buchdruck bis hin zur digitalen Präsenz religiöser Schriften in Apps und sozialen Medien. Im letzten Teil ziehen wir eine Synthese: Wie unterscheiden sich die Perspektiven einer theologischen Herangehensweise von der religionswissenschaftlichen und wie ergänzen sie sich in der Analyse des Umgangs mit Bibel und Koran? Das Seminar erfordert keine speziellen Vorkenntnisse und richtet sich an Studierende der Religionswissenschaft, Theologie, Islamwissenschaft und angrenzender Disziplinen.

Description:

Business event contents:

Genetik, Fossilreste, vergleichende Anatomie und Verhaltensforschung belegen die Zugehörigkeit des Menschen zu den Primaten. Diese Säugetierordnung stellt Variationen desselben Themas dar. Die wichtigsten Anpassungen und die entscheidenden Etappen der Stammesgeschichte werden vorgestellt. Damit sollen Antworten auf die Fragen: "Wo steht der Mensch im Rahmen der belebten Natur und wie ist er geworden?" gegeben werden.

Description:

Notes:

Die Vorlesung wird als Podcast aufgezeichnet. Es wird grundsätzlich eine regelmässige Präsenzteilnahme empfohlen, da es möglich ist, dass einzelne Veranstaltungstermine nicht oder nicht störungsfrei aufgezeichnet werden. Studierende verzichten auf eigenes Risiko auf die Veranstaltungsteilnahme oder auf das Erstellen eigener Notizen. Bei inhaltlichen Widersprüchen haben die als prüfungsrelevant deklarierten Materialien (z. B. Folien) Vorrang vor den Podcasts. Bei Unklarheiten kontaktieren Sie bitte die Dozierenden. Die Aufnahmen dürfen nur für den Privatgebrauch verwendet werden.

Die Übungen im Modul werden nicht aufgezeichnet. Da sowohl die Vorlesungs- als auch Übungsinhalte prüfungsrelevant sind, empfiehlt sich auch in den Übungen eine regelmässige Teilnahme.

Event British Millennium Cinema

06VL440p005a / Course / 493

Description:

Business event contents:

Since the beginning of the new millennium, Britain has undergone radical social, cultural and political changes. Many of those developments have been reflected on the big cinema screen. This lecture series will examine how issues such as changing gender roles, migration, economic crises and Britain's troubled relationship to Europe are represented in British film from 2000 onwards. It will also discuss questions such as the role of British cinema in a globalized market, the impact of technological developments such as streaming services, and Britain's struggle to redefine itself by cinematic means.

Event Migration and Language in Switzerland
06KO440p007a / Colloquium / 5,304

Description:

Business event contents:

Migration is one of the defining features of today's world - in 2020, nearly 281 million people were living outside their country of birth, and in Switzerland, more than a third of the adult residents are first-generation migrants. Migrants need to make decisions daily on which language they use or want to learn and are met with different reactions, both positive and negative, depending on the choices made. In this colloquium, we will look at what happens to language when people move across borders, and how migration shapes the way we speak, the way we are perceived, and the way we see ourselves. To answer these questions, it is important to understand the existing perceptions as well as the circumstances of the people that are interacting: Do they potentially have conflicting cultural expectations?

During this class, we will look further into reasons to choose one language over another, what makes someone want to learn a language, and what the consequences of these decisions are by focusing on the following questions:

- How do people navigate speaking different languages in their daily lives?
- Why do certain accents or languages carry more prestige or stigma than others?
- How does language influence identity, belonging, and cultural understanding?

Drawing on examples from Switzerland and our own experiences, we will discuss topics like multilingualism, language and identity, and language attitudes. By the end of the course, you will have gained a deeper understanding into how language shapes social life and how migrants navigate languages.

Event Das lange 19. Jahrhundert in der Musik
06VL760p010a / Course / 605

Description:

Business event contents:

Das 19. Jahrhundert ist eine Epoche der westlichen Musikgeschichte, die in Repertoire und Strukturen bis heute nachwirkt: Von der Etablierung der «Wiener Klassik» über die Romantik bis zu Nationalmusikbewegungen und den Neuorientierungen an alter oder exotischer Musik im Fin-de-siècle und der beginnenden Moderne, in Gattungen wie Symphonik, Programmmusik oder Oratorium, im Musiktheater mit Grand Opéra, Operette und Musikdrama, aber nicht zuletzt in der Veränderung der institutionellen Landschaft, durch Stärkung bürgerlicher Institutionen, neue Formen der Professionalisierung von Musiker:innen und sich verändernde mediale wie ökonomische Strukturen. Die Vorlesung gibt mit exemplarischen Fallbeispielen aus Europa einen Überblick über wichtige musikalische, ästhetische und sozialgeschichtliche Phänomene sowie Einblick in aktuelle Forschungstendenzen.

Course Materials: Eine spezifische Repertoireliste und Literaturauswahl werden zu Beginn des Semesters bereitgestellt.

Event Fundamentals of Digital Marketing (L+E)
03VU22MO0197 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 1,070

Description:

Business event contents:

Digital marketing has transformed how business and other organizations communicate with their audiences. The objective of this lecture is to give you an overview of the fundamentals of digital marketing. The lecture will be structured as follows:

1. Introduction to Digital Marketing
2. Value Proposition Design
3. Metrics and Analytics
4. Website Development
5. Search Engine Optimization
6. Marketing on Social Media
7. Advertising Online (display and paid search)
8. Email Marketing

Throughout bi-weekly exercise sessions, students will apply theoretical knowledge to a collaborative group project. Each group is tasked with developing their own project ideas, such as a book exchange platform, a landing page to promote an app launch, or a platform to find sports buddies. The practical application involves setting up a basic website, optimizing it for search engines, promoting their projects on social media, implementing a paid online advertising campaign, and conducting an email marketing campaign. In the final lecture and exercise session, each group will present their project along with the insights gained from the experience.

Active participation is crucial for success in this course. Your engagement in these activities will directly influence your assessment. As group projects begin in the very first session and groups are formed during this class, attendance from the first lecture is essential; because active participation is part of the final grade, non-attendance will negatively affect the participation component.

Notes:

- This lecture will take place on-site.
- Slides, documents, and further information will be provided in OLAT at the beginning of the course
- The registration for this course takes place via the UZH Module booking tool.
- This course forms part of the marketing minor program of the master Program

Course Materials: Slides and reading material (will be announced in the lecture)

Event Monetary Policy and Financial Markets (S)
03SE22MO0083 / Seminar / 2,011

Description:

Business event contents:

The objective of the seminar "Monetary Policy and Financial Markets" is to give students theoretical and practical insights into linkages between monetary policy implementation and central bank activities, on the one hand, and financial markets, on the other. We will cover foundational material as well as topics of current and ongoing interest in practice. Topics may include, but are not limited to, different approaches to monetary implementation, how central banks control interest rates, the role of collateral frameworks, quantitative easing, the functioning of money markets, the role of banks and maturity transformation, bank regulation, central bank digital currencies (CBDCs), stablecoins, the role and value of reserves, liquidity management, and central bank reserve management.

Notes:

This module takes place on-site.

Master students, maximum 20 participants. Students must apply for the course by email (incl. brief motivation letter, latest academic record & CV) and will be selected by the lecturers. Please submit your application until September 2, 2026 to secretariat.nyborg@df.uzh.ch.

Event The Practice of Strategic Management (S)
03SE22MO0052 / Seminar / 2,859

Description:

Business event contents:

While strategy is often understood as something organizations have, the strategy-as-practice perspective emphasizes strategy as something people in organizations do. In other words, strategy is seen as a social practice that is constituted by the daily activities of strategy actors. Taking this perspective, in this seminar we will discuss a range of important topics in strategic management research, including the activities of different strategy actors (top and middle managers), the dynamics of strategic decision making, the process of strategic change, and the practices and tools used in strategizing. This seminar is primarily research-oriented and aims to provide students with the foundations to understand the practice-based approach to studying strategic management.

Based on papers published in top international journals, we will discuss concrete research exemplars as to how strategists produce, reproduce and change strategy.

This seminar is highly participative. In each session, students are required to actively take part in discussions. During the semester, students are in charge of presenting papers of one session and to animate discussions in another one.

Notes:

Places in the seminar are limited.

Application required by August 30, 2026.

To apply, please upload the following documents in the module booking tool:

- Your CV
- A motivational statement
- Your transcript of records (incl. current GPA)

In case of questions, please contact Dr. Tania Racker.

Course Materials: Primarily journal articles. Course materials will be accessible via OLAT.

Event Non-Invasive Brain Stimulation for Neuroeconomics (S)
03SEDOEC0530 / Doktorandenseminar / 2,073

Description:

Business event contents:

This course will introduce the non-invasive brain stimulation methods commonly used in neuroeconomic and cognitive neuroscience research. More specifically, the course will introduce transcranial magnetic stimulation (TMS), transcranial direct current stimulation (tDCS), and other forms of transcranial electric stimulation through a series of lectures and practical demonstrations. We will cover the basic physical principles of each technique, common forms of usage in empirical research, some landmark findings, and safety aspects. The aim of this course is to familiarize the students with these techniques so that they can start planning experiments that employ these techniques to address questions about causal brain-behavior relations.

Notes:

This course will take place in BLU-003 (Blümlisalpstrasse 10, 8006 Zürich).

Event Armut und Sozialpolitik im Wohlfahrtsstaat: Vergleichende und aktuelle Perspektiven
06SE615p520a / Seminar / 5,384

Description:

Business event contents:

Warum existiert Armut in reichen Gesellschaften - und wie reagieren Wohlfahrtsstaaten darauf? Das Seminar verbindet klassische Texte der Wohlfahrtsstaatsforschung mit aktueller Forschung und praxisnahen Studien. Behandelt werden normative Einordnungen sowie Definition und Messung von Armut, vergleichende Wohlfahrtsstaatsanalysen, gesellschaftliche Einstellungen gegenüber armutsbetroffenen Personen (Stichwort: Deservingness und Solidarität) sowie die Unterstützung für sozialpolitische Interventionen. Darüber hinaus werden die politische Teilhabe und Mobilisierung von Betroffenen sowie konkrete Politiken und Strategien der Armutsbekämpfung analysiert. Ein besonderer Fokus liegt auf aktuellen Entwicklungen in der Schweiz im internationalen Vergleich.

Event French Theory: Deleuze, Lyotard, Foucault, Derrida
06SE160p001a / Seminar / 3,980

Description:

Business event contents:

The seminar will be devoted to some of the main thinkers of «French Theory»: Deleuze, Lyotard, Foucault and Derrida. We'll also work in this framework on the philosophy of Althusser, whose influence on these thinkers is massive. One session at least will be devoted to Rorty's interpretation of Derrida.

We will focus during the semester on what these thinkers advanced about the very nature of philosophy, its margins, its limits, and its relations to science and to politics. In other words, the seminar will be about the metaphilosophy of French Theory.

We'll study one text a week.

Course Materials: I'll upload all the texts on OLAT a bit before the beginning of the semester. They will be English translations. Reading French won't be necessary then.

Event Geopolitics and global economic relations
06SE615p506a / Seminar / 3,187

Description:

Business event contents:

This seminar examines the relationship between geopolitics and the global economy in an era of shifting power balances and intensifying strategic rivalry. It explores how geopolitics shape international trade, finance, and global economic governance. By applying existing theoretical frameworks to issues such as the rise of China and the Global South, economic coercion, and weaponized interdependence, the course seeks to provide an analytic perspective on contemporary developments. Further topics include issues such as the trade-security nexus, the geopolitical role of money and finance, the political influence of highly mobile capital and transnational economic elites, as well as the implications of fragmentation and decoupling for international economic relations. A main goal of this seminar is to use insights from existing research, systematic analysis to make sense of current developments and trends.

Event Voice analysis

06SE523-527a / Seminar / 5,344

Description:

Business event contents:

The human voice is a highly complex instrument that produces intricate communicative signals (vocalising). Vocalisation involves approximately 200 muscles working together within the vocal apparatus. To understand how these signals are produced, it is necessary to understand the anatomy and physiology of the vocal tract. In this course, you will explore various methods used to study vocal production. You will start with basic acoustic measurements, then add additional physiological and articulatory measures. These will include pharyngometry to measure the dimensions of the vocal tract, laryngography to examine vocal fold movement (phonation), and ultrasound tongue imaging to track the movements of the active articulators. Throughout the course, you will explore the relationship between acoustics and articulation, revealing how voice production shapes the acoustic signal to convey communicative information. All methods discussed are accessible in the Linguistic Research Infrastructure (LiRI) Lab, and you will have the opportunity to collect your own data during the course.

Event Forschungskolloquium Neuere deutsche Literaturwissenschaft
06KO360p552a / Colloquium / 319

Description:

Business event contents:

Im Forschungskolloquium stellen die Teilnehmerinnen und Teilnehmer ihre Projekte von Abschlussarbeiten vor (Masterarbeiten, Dissertationsprojekte), in allen möglichen Stadien ihrer Erarbeitung - von der Themenfindung, ersten Entwurfsskizze über Konzept, Disposition bis zu fertigen Kapiteln, und erhalten so Unterstützung. Auch bei der Suche nach möglichen Themen unterstützen sich die Teilnehmenden gegenseitig. Flankierend zu den jeweiligen Vorstellungs- und Diskussionsbeiträgen lesen die Teilnehmenden Primärtexte (Textbeispiele) und Theorie-, sowie Sekundärtexte. So ergibt sich ein anregendes Spektrum aktueller Literaturwissenschaft, von dem alle profitieren. Auch wer noch kein Abschlussprojekt hat, ist willkommen und kann ECTS-Punkte erwerben. Das Semesterprogramm wird in der ersten Sitzung nach den Wünschen der Teilnehmenden festgelegt.

06SE090Rus3 / Seminar / 921

Description:

Business event contents:

Im dritten Semester befassen wir uns mit russischsprachigen Romanen des 19.-21. Jahrhunderts und erarbeiten für diese Unterrichtskonzepte. Das gleiche machen wir danach mit berühmten und unbekannten Theaterstücken. Hier lernen wir kennen, wie man Theaterimprovisationen und -spiel für den Sprachunterricht nutzen kann. Als drittes geht es um Reisen - die Organisation von Sprachaufenthalt und Kulturreisen im Rahmen des Schwerpunkt- und Freifachunterrichts, aber auch um imaginäre Reisen, bei denen wir das Recherchieren im russischsprachigen Internet und das genaue Lesen von Reiseberichten trainieren. Schliesslich üben wir das Unterrichten an den bisher noch nicht behandelten schwierigen Themen der russischen Grammatik.

Event Taiwan: The Most Dangerous Place on Earth?

06UE280-204a / Exercise Group / 2,838

Description:

Business event contents:

This course examines the historical roots, political dynamics, and international dimensions of the Taiwan Strait conflict. It traces the origins of the China-Taiwan divide from the post-World War II period to the present and analyzes the evolution of Taiwan's political system, national identity, and cross-strait relations. The course explores Taiwan's role as a global economic and technological powerhouse, with particular attention to its semiconductor industry, as well as its international isolation and soft power strategies. It further assesses the risks of military conflict and the strategic interests of key third parties, including the United States, Japan, and the European Union. Through academic literature, policy reports, and current media sources, students gain a multidimensional understanding of one of the most consequential geopolitical flashpoints in the world today.

Event Information and State Power in Contemporary China
06UE280-590a / Exercise Group / 5,225

Description:

Business event contents:

This class traces the role of information as a source of power in contemporary China from the early 20th century to the present, both as a foundation for state power and a tool for challenging it. Each week, the course will center a primary source in Chinese alongside relevant secondary literature to complement discussion. Depending on the topic, these sources may include state policy documents, planning guidelines, speeches, scientific essays, institutional reports, media coverage of technological debates, or academic research articles. Guided by the instructor, students will analyze and contextualize these materials in dialogue with secondary scholarship, thereby deepening their engagement with key themes. Through this structured approach, students will enhance their critical understanding of how different types of information can, and have, served as a source of power in the hands of government organizations, private companies, societal actors, and other non-state institutions, in different historical and political contexts. By analyzing how different actors have understood and utilized information as power over time, students develop a historically grounded understanding of both continuities and differences between "analog" information in the past and digital information in the present. The class will also equip students with a transferable toolkit for analyzing and contextualizing primary Chinese language documents at the intersection of contemporary political, technical, economic, and social developments.

Course Materials: Primary source texts will be circulated beforehand.

Event Satisfaction with Politics: How People Experience Democracy in the 21st Century
06SE615p509a / Seminar / 3,912

Description:

Business event contents:

In Switzerland and across the world, citizens' relationship with politics appears to be changing. While democratic institutions remain widespread, public dissatisfaction with political processes, elites, and outcomes has become a defining feature of contemporary politics. This seminar examines how citizens experience democracy in the 21st century and why satisfaction with politics varies across individuals, groups, and countries.

The course provides an in-depth exploration of satisfaction with politics as a multidimensional concept that lies at the intersection of political science, psychology, sociology, and economics. It examines how citizens evaluate political systems, institutions, and actors, and why these evaluations differ across social groups and national contexts. Students will engage with key concepts such as political trust, democratic legitimacy, political efficacy, representation, and satisfaction with democracy, while also exploring broader debates about how people form political attitudes and perceptions.

The seminar investigates the underlying causes and consequences of political satisfaction and discontent in Switzerland and in comparative perspective. Topics include economic performance, inequality, governance quality, institutional design, media environments, and political polarization. Particular attention will be paid to how recent developments-such as social media, populist movements, democratic backsliding, and participatory innovations-shape citizens' perceptions of and engagement with democratic politics. Through a combination of lectures, readings, discussions, exercises, presentations, and writing assignments, students will develop a comprehensive understanding of the dynamics of satisfaction with politics and its implications in contemporary societies.

Event Quantitative Methods

06SE623-501a / Seminar / 5,387

Description:

Business event contents:

This course serves as an introduction to the minor in Methods-Data- Society. It covers the mathematical and statistical foundations of quantitative research, including probability theory, statistical inference, and statistical modelling. Special emphasis is placed on the logic of quantitative research, i.e., the manner in which statistical inference can be used to answer social scientific research questions.

Another important goal is to impart knowledge of the R programming language.

Notes:

Students who have completed an introductory MA course in quantitative methods are exempted from taking this course. For everyone else who plans on taking the minor, this is a compulsory course.

In addition to the course, tutoring sessions will be offered throughout the semester.

Event Spezialisierung: Debatten, Diskurse, Dialoge - Politische Kommunikation in der Schweiz
06SE615p013a / Seminar / 5,483

Description:

Business event contents:

Politik entsteht in Kommunikation - und Kommunikation ist (fast) immer politisch. Wahlversprechen, Abstimmungsplakate, Pressekonferenzen, Parlamentsdebatten, Social-Media-Kampagnen, aber auch Gespräche in Familien oder am Stammtisch prägen, wie wir Politik wahrnehmen und verstehen. Doch wie funktioniert politische Kommunikation eigentlich? Wie beeinflussen politische Systeme und Weltanschauungen unsere Sprache? Welche rhetorischen Strategien überzeugen, mobilisieren oder manipulieren? Und wie können wir politische Botschaften kritisch analysieren?

Das Seminar vermittelt grundlegende Kompetenzen der politischen Kommunikation mit besonderem Fokus auf die Schweiz. Wir beschäftigen uns unter anderem mit Metaphern, rhetorischen Strategien, gendergerechter Sprache, Narrativen, Wahlkämpfen sowie methodischen Zugängen. Dabei stehen unter anderem folgende Fragen im Zentrum:

- Wann und warum wird Kommunikation politisch?
- Welchen Einfluss haben klassische und digitale Medien?
- Welche rhetorischen Mittel und Argumentationsstrategien funktionieren?
- Wie können wir öffentliche Diskurse systematisch untersuchen?

Dabei geht es nicht nur um theoretisches Wissen, sondern auch um die praktische Anwendung: Wir üben, politische Kommunikation zu analysieren, kritisch zu hinterfragen und verständlich zu erklären. Wir haben dabei viel Gestaltungsfreiheit und können eigene Beispiele, Fälle und Materialien einbringen, über die wir gemeinsam diskutieren und so unseren eigenen Forschungsinteressen nachgehen.

Wir erwerben entsprechend vielseitige Kompetenzen, die weit über das Seminar hinaus relevant sind. Dazu gehören Kenntnisse und Methoden, um komplexe Kommunikation systematisch zu zerlegen und kritisch zu reflektieren. Wir lernen nicht nur, was gesagt wird, sondern wie und warum es wirkt. So ausgerüstet konsumieren wir Politik nicht nur, sondern verstehen sie und können sie allenfalls mitgestalten. Diese Fähigkeiten sind in der Wissenschaft ebenso gefragt wie im Journalismus, in NGOs, der Verwaltung, der Kommunikations- und Medienbranche und natürlich in der politischen Praxis.

Course Materials: Die Lektüre wird beizeiten bekanntgegeben. Sie setzt sich zusammen aus Lehrbüchern und konkreten Studien.

Event CFA Investment Challenge (S)
03SE22MO0036 / Seminar / 504

Description:

Business event contents:

The course is intended to familiarize you with the work of financial analysts and to teach you how to conduct a hands-on, in-depth analysis of a specific company in its market environment. As do professional financial analysts, you will give an oral presentation of your results (max. 10 minutes) and hand in a written report (max. 10 pages).

The best team of the seminar will represent UZH at the CFA Investment Challenge. The CFA Investment Challenge is part of a Swiss-wide competition to be held in February 2027. The Swiss winning team will qualify for the European eliminator competition to be held in Spring 2027. The European winning team will in turn qualify for the final competition to be held in Spring 2027. For more information about the Challenge please see:

<https://www.cfainstitute.org/en/societies/challenge>

Notes:

This module takes place on-site. This course is a competition, and the number of participants is limited. Enrolment is restricted to students who have already taken the seminar CFA Institute Research Challenge Training and Preparation.

Selection procedure: Please register until 4 September on OLAT:

Event Vorbereitung zum Forschungsseminar: Political Representation in Comparative Perspective
06SE615-501d / Seminar / 4,728

Description:

Business event contents:

The focus of the seminar is on the tension between populism and technocracy. In today's representative democracies the most critical task citizens perform is the (s)election of politicians to represent them. Yet citizens perceive their representatives as increasingly distant and feel poorly represented. Critics point to the difficulty of holding politicians accountable and their unresponsiveness to people's demands. The unfolding crisis of representation and the failings of political parties to act as key democratic actors is very much a crisis of democracy itself fostering populism. At the same time, citizens perceive the political system as ineffective and criticize party politics, elections and parliamentary representation for not delivering results, being unable to solve problems and disregarding scientific facts, expert opinions and merit fostering demands for technocracy.

In the Fall Semester the seminar provides a basic and encompassing introduction to political representation as a concept and to representative government as a set of institutions and actors. The seminar aims therefore to have both a theoretical and empirical focus. It addresses the dimensions of accountability, responsibility, substantive vs. descriptive representation, responsiveness, the role of parties as well as representational roles (trustee, delegate, etc.). The structure of the seminar is based on the knowledge of classic volumes in the field, but swiftly moves over to the most important contributions and debates of the last years. What does it mean to be adequately represented? How can the quality of representation be evaluated? Should an ethnicity, a social class or women be represented through members from these groups? Is it right to exclude immigrants from representation, and what about citizens living abroad? How effectively can citizens hold politicians accountable and sanction them? The reading list is centred on social and political science texts, but addresses political representation from an interdisciplinary perspective.

In the Spring Semester the seminar continues and participants produce a research paper based on empirical analysis. The focus of the analysis is the on topics relating to the tension between populism and technocracy and how it can be measured. The goal of the Spring Semester is that each participant produces a paper of about 7,000 to 8,000 words based on a research design, theoretical framework and databases (survey and text data) made available to all and developed in class during the weekly sessions. Participants are trained to undertake empirical research in the field of representation and to write a paper. In each step of the writing process, papers are discussed in class and accompanied by suggestions.

The final grade for the Fall Semester is composed of 70% by a final paper and 30% by the presentation in class. The final grade for the Spring Semester is 100% on the final research paper.

Event Weihegaben in griechischen Heiligtümern
06SE682-011a / Seminar / 5,011

Description:

Business event contents:

Bronzekessel, Kuroi und Koren, Marmorreliefs, Terrakottastatuetten, Waffen, Geräte, Schmuck und persönliche Gegenstände... Die Vielfalt der Gaben, die in der griechischen Antike von Gemeinschaften und Einzelpersonen ihren Göttern geweiht wurden, scheint unerschöpflich und die Funde füllen die Museen und Magazine der Ausgrabungsstätten. Im Seminar wird die Entwicklung dieses Spektrums von geometrischer bis in hellenistische Zeit betrachtet. An ausgewählten Beispielen bekannter städtischer und überregional bedeutender Heiligtümer wie auch lokaler Kultstätten fragen wir nach der Intention der Weihenden und der kommunikativen Wirkung der Weihungen. Spezifische Phänomene der Weihepraxis wie Monumentalisierung, Miniaturisierung, intentionelle Unbrauchbarmachung, rituelle Deponierungen und andere mehr kommen dabei ebenso zur Sprache wie der Umgang mit den Weihegaben im Heiligtumsbetrieb. Besonderes Augenmerk wird auf der inhaltlichen Kontextualisierung der Objekte und der kritischen Diskussion bisheriger Forschungsansätze liegen.

Event Grundlagen Interdisziplinären Arbeitens
06VU683-001a / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 3,425

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Lerneinheit beginnt mit einem Überblick interdisziplinärer Arbeiten in der Archäologie, von bioarchäologischen zu geoarchäologischen, archäometrischen, ethnoarchäologischen und historisch-linguistischen Ansätzen. Die interdisziplinären Verknüpfungen in der Archäologie werden anhand dreier spezifischer (Be-)Fund-situationen erarbeitet: "Grab", "Siedlung" und "Ritualort".

Event Interdisziplinäres Arbeiten in archäologischen Forschungsprojekten
06SE683-002a / Seminar / 4,054

Description:

Business event contents:

Archäologische Forschung umfasst weit mehr als Ausgrabungen und basiert in hohem Masse auf interdisziplinärer Zusammenarbeit. Die Lehrveranstaltung beschäftigt sich mit der Frage, wie unterschiedliche Disziplinen in archäologischen Forschungsprojekten zusammenarbeiten, welche Herausforderungen dabei entstehen und wie gleichberechtigte Kooperationen bis hin zu transdisziplinären Ansätzen gestaltet werden können. Anhand aktueller internationaler Fallstudien wird diskutiert, welche Disziplinen und Methoden für unterschiedliche Forschungsfragen relevant sind und wie ihre Zusammenarbeit bzw. Anwendung in den verschiedenen Projektphasen - vom Feld über Laboranalysen bis zur Publikation - organisiert wird. Thematische Schwerpunkte bilden: (1) Landschafts- und Geoarchäologie, (2) digitale Archäologie und drohnengestützte Fernerkundung sowie (3) Museumsarbeit, Archäologie in Zeiten von Krisen und Critical Heritage Studies.

Event Hoch hinaus und tief hinab: Das Hochgebirge als Aktionsraum in Mittelalter und Früher Neuzeit
06SE640-007a / Seminar / 4,843

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Alpen im Allgemeinen und das Hochgebirge im Besonderen waren spätestens ab dem Mesolithikum ein vielfältiger Aktionsraum: sie waren nicht nur Übergang von A nach B, sondern auch Jagdgebiet und Quelle vielfältiger Ressourcen. Bereits früh wurden Waren durch das Hochgebirge transportiert, eine Tendenz, die mit dem verstärkt aufkommenden Metallbergbau noch weiter zunahm. Zumindest ab der Bronzezeit ist auch Alpwirtschaft fassbar, die ab dem Hochmittelalter weiter intensiviert wurde. Auch politische Bedeutung konnte das Hochgebirge erlangen, ob als Grenzregion, gefährvoller Übergang für Pilger und selbst Könige auf dem Weg zur Kaiserkrönung nach Rom, und schliesslich als Dolomitenfront im ersten Weltkrieg. Das Hochgebirge war somit Grenze, Übergang, zumindest saisonaler Lebensraum, und für bestimmte Personengruppen sogar Existenzgrundlage. Zugleich barg das Gebirge auch nicht zu leugnende Gefahren, und auch geübte und erfahrene Menschen ereilte dort nicht selten ein jäher Tod.

Das Seminar versucht, eine Annäherung an diese grosse Bandbreite von Nutzungen und Bedeutungen aus archäologischer Perspektive zu erreichen, mit einem zeitlichen Schwerpunkt im Mittelalter und der Frühen Neuzeit (500-1750 n. Chr.). Speziell thematisiert werden Passübergänge, Hospize, Gletscherleichen, hochalpiner Bergbau und Alpnutzung. Am Rande gestreicht werden auch die Handelsrouten, die als Zubringer des Personen- und Warenverkehrs über das Hochgebirge fungierten.

Event Wasser, Feuer, Luft und Erde: Die vier Elemente im Spiegel der mittelalterlichen Sachkultur
06SE640-502a / Seminar / 4,070

Description:

Business event contents:

Im Zentrum des Seminars stehen die vier Elemente Wasser, Feuer, Erde und Luft, die sich in vielfacher Weise ganz direkt auf den Alltag vormoderner Menschen ausgewirkt haben. Dabei ist ihnen allen gemein, dass sie sowohl lebensnotwendig waren als auch potentielle Bedrohungen darstellten. So konnte Erde wertvolle Metalle enthalten, in Gestalt von Erdbeben aber auch Häuser und ganze Städte zum Einsturz bringen. Wasser wiederum war (und ist!) sowohl für die Nahrungserzeugung und -zubereitung, als Energielieferant und als Transportmedium unverzichtbar, kann und konnte in Form von Überschwemmungen und Springfluten aber auch Zerstörungen anrichten. Dieselbe Ambivalenz gilt für Feuer und Luft - auch sie waren und sind lebensnotwendig, haben aber ebenso zerstörerisches Potential. Im Seminar soll diese Ambivalenz anhand historisch überlieferter Fälle, archäologischer Befunde und konkreter Objekte aus dem europäischen Mittelalter ausgelotet werden. Mögliche Themen sind: vormoderne Brandschutzmassnahmen, Umgang mit Katastrophen im Mittelalter, Nutzung der vier Elemente als Energielieferanten (Mühlen, Töpferöfen, Kachelöfen) etc.

Notes:

Der Aufbau des Seminars besteht aus einer Einführungslektion, 2 gemeinsamen Lektürelektionen, 2 Konsultationsblöcken und den Referaten der Studierenden. Die Referatsthemen werden in der ersten Lektion vorgestellt und verteilt.

Event Vorlesung: Kunst der Frühen Neuzeit. Medien – Themen – Methoden
06VL640p010a / Course / 5,156

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Vorlesung bietet einen systematischen Überblick über die materielle, mediale und thematische Vielfalt der frühneuzeitlichen Kunst sowie über die methodisch-theoretischen Grundzüge ihrer fachspezifischen Erforschung. Charakteristika gestalterischer Strategien, ästhetische Eigenlogiken und funktionale Zusammenhänge werden exemplarisch vor dem historischen Hintergrund der politischen, konfessionellen und sozioökonomischen Entwicklungen vom ausgehenden 15. bis zum beginnenden 19. Jahrhundert erläutert. Die Vorlesung verfolgt das Ziel, ein differenziertes Verständnis der Kunst der Frühen Neuzeit als heterogenen Kommunikations- und Aushandlungsraum zu vermitteln, in dem sich die komplexen Wechselwirkungen zwischen kulturellen Kontinuitäten und tiefgreifenden Innovationen sowie zwischen lokalen Praktiken und globalen Verflechtungen auf paradigmatische Weise verdichten.

Event Forschungskolloquium
06KO640p011a / Colloquium / 5,118

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Kolloquium wendet sich dezidiert an fortgeschrittene Studierende und Doktorand:innen mit Arbeitsfeldern im Bereich der Frühen Neuzeit. Die Veranstaltung bietet die Möglichkeit, Arbeitsvorhaben zu präsentieren und zur Diskussion zu stellen. Der intensive Austausch soll dazu anregen, die eigene Forschungsarbeit im breiteren Rahmen von Positionen und Zugängen kunsthistorischer Forschung zu verorten, und dabei helfen, strukturelle und methodische, aber auch praktische Schwierigkeiten zu überwinden.

Event Artist in East Asia

06SE642-521a / Seminar / 5,175

Description:

Business event contents:

The course "Artist in East Asia" examines how the concept of the artist has been historically constructed and transformed across East Asian cultures. Rather than assuming the category of "artist" as universal or self-evident, the course approaches it as a historically contingent and culturally specific formation shaped by social practices, institutions, aesthetic theories, economic structures, and systems of patronage.

Beginning with premodern East Asia, the course investigates the diverse practitioners involved in visual culture production from court painters and literati amateurs to workshop artisans, print designers, and monk-artists. These figures operated within complex hierarchies of artistic labor and cultural value that differed significantly from the modern Western idea of the autonomous artistic genius. The course then considers the transformations brought by modernity and globalization, when the encounter with Western artistic models and the emergence of new institutions such as art academies, exhibitions, museums, and markets, reshaped artistic identities and professional practices. Finally, it examines contemporary developments, including the global art market and the emergence of the "art celebrity" examining how contemporary artists from East Asia negotiate visibility, and cultural identity within transnational artistic networks.

Through historical case studies and visual analysis, students will explore how artistic identities are formed, negotiated, and redefined within changing cultural, social, and institutional contexts across East Asia.

Event Konstantinopel (330-1453): Eine Weltstadt zwischen Imperien, Kulturen und Religionen (Byzantinisches Kolloquium)
06KO322p005a / Colloquium / 5,341

Description:

Business event contents:

Konstantinopel war über Jahrhunderte hinweg das politische, kulturelle und religiöse Zentrum der oströmisch-byzantinischen Welt und damit ein bedeutender Schauplatz und zugleich ein Schmelztiegel für unterschiedlichste Kontakte zwischen Ost und West. Im Rahmen des Kolloquiums soll die facettenreiche Geschichte der Stadt von ihrer Gründung unter Kaiser Konstantin I. (330), während der Islamischen Expansion und der Kreuzzüge bis zu ihrer Einnahme 1453 durch osmanische Truppen untersucht werden. Dabei werden nicht nur ausgewählte politische Ereignisse und militärische Konflikte der Stadt- und Reichsgeschichte betrachtet, sondern vor allem auch die kulturellen, religiösen und sozialen Aspekte städtischer Lebenswelten.

Das Kolloquium richtet sich insbesondere an Studierende der Geschichtswissenschaften, der Klassischen Philologien, der Archäologie, der Altertumswissenschaften und der Kunstgeschichte. Mittels des vertieften Studiums ausgewählter Quellenzeugnisse literarischer und dokumentarischer Natur im Rahmen von Gruppenarbeiten und Referaten sollen fokussierte Einblicke in die Geschichte dieser faszinierenden Stadt vor dem Hintergrund aktueller Forschungsdebatten erfolgen.

Event Colloquium for MA and PhD Candidates
06KO642-510a / Colloquium / 5,178

Description:

Business event contents:

Research Colloquium in East Asian Art History offers a platform for MA students, doctoral candidates and postdoctoral researchers to develop their individual research projects. Participants will engage in the process of formulating research questions, identifying pertinent research materials and methodologies, and exploring relevant theoretical frameworks. They will have the opportunity to present their works in progress and receive feedback from their peers.

Additionally, the colloquium will facilitate discussions on secondary sources relevant to both individual research projects and the broader field of East Asian Art History.

Event Critical Thinking and 21st-Century Skills: Education, Work, and Society
06SE226p546a / Seminar / 581

Description:

Business event contents:

When generative AI can produce a convincing, fluent argument for any position in seconds, critical thinking becomes more important than ever. This seminar is a working space for thinking carefully about what critical thinking means, and how this plays out in this new AI-mediated context, how to develop it in oneself, and how to assess it. The course explores: how can we think critically under conditions of information abundance, especially in the AI-mediated landscape? Drawing on current research in critical thinking, cognitive science, and AI literacy, we examine how generative AI affects reasoning - through mechanisms such as cognitive offloading, trust in AI, and the critical appraisal of AI outputs - and what this means for learning critical thinking. Students complete three individual critical-thinking tasks and reflect on their own results. They engage with current Swiss federal initiatives as material for reasoning, and design - in small groups - a performance task of critical thinking on an upcoming initiative of their choice. Groups produce argument maps, curated document libraries, rubrics, and decide their own AI-use policy. They exchange tasks with peers and analyze the responses they collect. Across the semester, students keep a brief AI-use journal, develop an AI-use protocol for their project, and at the end of the course write a final reflection on their learning and on their own critical thinking.

Notes:

Short, curated readings from current research. Active in-class work, with workshop-style sessions. The course is in English but German contributions are welcome and can be translated in class.

Event Topics in the Cognitive Sciences of Morality (Ringvorlesung)
06VL160p019a / Course / 5,519

Description:

Business event contents:

Die moralischen Kognitionswissenschaften sind ein interdisziplinäres Forschungsfeld, das untersucht, wie menschliche Moralvorstellungen im Gehirn entstehen und verarbeitet werden. An der Schnittstelle von Psychologie, Neurowissenschaften, Philosophie und Evolutionsbiologie wird analysiert, welche kognitiven Mechanismen hinter unseren Urteilen über "Gut" und «Böse» stehen. In den letzten Jahren widmen sich die moralischen Kognitionswissenschaften zusehend konkreten Anwendungsproblemen.

In dieser Vorlesung wollen wir uns einige Themen aus der aktuellen Debatte näher anschauen. Zu diesem Zweck werden internationale Gäste Vorträge zu ihrer Forschung halten.

Die Vorlesung folgt folgendem Schema:

- Einführung in ein Thema und Diskussion von Grundlagenliteratur.
- Vortrag eines Gasts zu eben diesem Thema.
- Einführung in ein Thema und Diskussion von Grundlagenliteratur.
- Vortrag eines Gasts zu eben diesem Thema.

Alle Gastvorträge finden über Zoom statt und ermöglichen eine flexible Teilnahme von überall. Nur die Einführungssitzungen finden in Person im Seminarraum statt

Event Data Visualisation in Finance (L)

03VL22MO0225 / Course / 607

Description:

Business event contents:

We believe in applying mathematical knowledge with success in the world of finance and our purpose is to help students with a quantitative background to build an outstanding career.

Our dreams are achieved when we complement our knowledge with the trust of the people around us. During this class you will strengthen the soft skills needed to succeed as a quant in the world of finance. You will also get familiar with the technical tools needed to apply such skills in a working environment.

Organizations are growing larger and becoming more diverse. Inspirational storytelling is essential to assure the cooperation of people towards a common goal. For example, a successful quant needs to simultaneously convince a scientific audience of the model's soundness and a business audience of its practical benefits. In this class you will develop the storytelling skills needed to present complex information to diverse audiences in an inspiring way.

The management level is always looking for ways to take decisions faster and smarter. Arguments based on data are very persuasive and a well-chosen visualization transmits complex information in a fast and efficient way. You will learn how to build clear arguments based on data, how to design compelling visualizations and how to consolidate trust as a presenter.

The background of the module is rooted in real life examples from the banking industry regarding the implementation of regulatory models in the business decision process. In this working environment, you will use the most established tools for data visualization and understand their strengths and limitations.

In our opinion, the skills and practical know-how accumulated during this class will contribute to a successful career, independent of the organization you will choose to work for in the future.

Event Seminar on Responsible Leadership (S)
03SE22MO0080 / Seminar / 2,711

Description:

Business event contents:

A globalized business world poses numerous challenges for business leaders, decision makers, managers, and employees. In particular, leading in a responsible and sustainable manner has become one of the major challenges managers need to deal with. Triggered by recent developments including high-scale business scandals and an ever increasing societal pressure for companies to operate responsibly and sustainably, those working in organizations frequently feel the need for guidance when it comes to simple questions like "What does responsibility mean?", "Why be responsible?" or "How can I be responsible?", etc. At the same time, being able to deal with these challenges, pressures, and questions offers a wide range of opportunities for business leaders to develop sound strategies, create long-term value and sustainability, and to have a positive impact which makes a difference. The objective of this course is to familiarize students with the challenges and opportunities of responsible leadership.

Notes:

The seminar is limited to a maximum of 18 students. To apply, please send your CV, an overview of attended courses and a short motivation for your participation (max 1 page) until August 26, by email to Christian Vögtlin (voet@zhaw.ch).

The seminar will take place onsite on the following dates:

Introduction and assignment of presentation topics:

- Wednesday, 16 September 2026, 14:00-18:00

Block 1:

- Wednesday, 21 October 2026, 12:15-18:00

- Thursday, 22 October 2026, 08:00-13:45

Block 2:

- Wednesday, 25 November 2026, 12:15-18:00

- Thursday, 26 November 2026, 08:00-13:45

Event Über Recht und Ordnung: Einführung in die Kriminalitätsgeschichte
06VL600p004a / Course / 3,116

Description:

Business event contents:

Mord und Totschlag verkaufen sich gut in den Medien. Ob sonntäglicher Tatortfilm, Schlagzeile in der Boulevardpresse oder cold crime case im Netz, das Thema Kriminalität zieht. Während solche medialen Vermarktungen unsere Unterhaltungsbedürfnisse befriedigen, zielt historische Kriminalitätsforschung auf die Erforschung gesellschaftlicher, historisch variabler Zustände. Was betrachtet eine Gesellschaft als verfolgungswürdiges Delikt, welches Verhalten wird als deviant eingestuft, wie geht eine Gesellschaft mit denjenigen um, die bestimmte Verhaltensnormen brechen? Solche Fragen zu verfolgen, heisst zu analysieren, worauf die soziale Ordnung einer Gesellschaft beruht. Dass die Herstellung bzw. Aufrechterhaltung von "Recht und Ordnung" auf weit mehr basiert als auf die Verfolgung von Mord und Totschlag wird die Vorlesung zeigen, wenn sie an Beispielen wie der Ehrbeleidigung, dem Kindsmord, der Gotteslästerung, der sexualisierten Gewalt, des Diebstahls, des Gefängnisses oder der Todesstrafe Interpretationen und methodologische Diskussionen der europäischen Kriminalitätsgeschichte der Frühen Neuzeit und Sattelzeit vorstellt.

Event Human Rights and Business

02VL90WM10-1 / Course / 4,019

Description:

Business event contents:

The course will focus on the existing and emerging rules on corporate responsibility for human rights and the environment. After an introduction covering the basic instruments in the field of responsible business conduct, including the UN Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights and the OECD Guidelines on MNEs, we will discuss the intersection of business with all aspects of society, with a more detailed look on human rights and environmental impacts and sector-specific risks.

Course Materials:

The course is partially based on the following books: Illias Bantekas / Michael Ashley Stein (eds.), The Cambridge Companion to Business and Human Rights Law, Cambridge 2021; Dorothee Baumann - Pauly / Justine Nolan (eds.), Business and Human Rights - From Principles to Practice, London 2016; Nicole Bonucci / Catherine Kessedjian (eds.), 40 Years of the OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises, Paris 2018; Surya Deva / David Birchall (eds.), Research Handbook on Human Rights and Business, Cheltenham 2020; Robert McCorquodale, Business and Human Rights, Oxford 2024; Peter Muchlinski, Advanced Introduction to Business and Human Rights, Cheltenham 2022; Peter Muchlinski, Multinational Enterprises and the Law, 3rd ed., Oxford 2021; John Ruggie, Just Business: Multinational Corporations and Human Rights, New York 2013.

Additional reading material will be announced with the course programme.

Event International Organisations
02VL90IL12-1 / Course / 3,914

Description:

Business event contents:

The course addresses the role of international organizations in public international law. It starts with a general part on the theory and law underlying international organizations. It then discusses the UN, the EU as an example of a supranational organization, regional organizations such as the OSCE and the Council of Europe, further the WTO, and the Bretton Woods Institutions, as well as the role of NGOs.

Students will gain expertise in the law of international organizations and an understanding of the role and functions of international organizations.

Notes:

Preparation of the classes as per the course syllabus is required. It is helpful to have basic knowledge of public international law.

Course Materials: Further information and course materials will be available on OLAT ("International Organisations (Marro)").

Event Die Herrschaft des Augustus – ein goldenes Zeitalter für Rom?

06UE322-001a / Exercise Group / 1,256

Description:

Business event contents:

Augustus' Herrschaft (27 v. Chr.-14 n. Chr.) wird von der Nachwelt oft als ein goldenes Zeitalter (saeculum aureum) für das Römische Reich erinnert. Rom selbst sei unter ihm von einer «Stadt aus Ziegelsteinen» in eine «Stadt aus Marmor» verwandelt worden (Suet. Aug. 28). In der modernen Geschichtswissenschaft diskutiert man die Zeit kontrovers, betont aber stets deren revolutionär-transformativen Charakter für das Imperium Romanum. Vor diesem Hintergrund wird sich das Basismodul kritisch mit Augustus und seiner Regierung auseinandersetzen und dabei auf Voraussetzungen, Formen und Folgen derselben für die Form und Geschichte des römischen Staates achten. Insbesondere wird es darum gehen, die Zeit durch ein vertieftes Studium literarischer, epigraphischer, papyrologischer, numismatischer und archäologischer Quellenzeugnisse zu studieren und in den wissenschaftlichen Umgang mit der modernen Forschungsliteratur einzuführen. Das Modul richtet sich an Studierende am Beginn ihres Studiums, die die Nutzung von Quellen und Forschung der Altertumswissenschaften anhand eines spannenden Zeitabschnitts innerhalb der Alten Geschichte erlernen sowie Einblicke in die Funktionsweise und Geschehnisse der res publica romana im Übergang von Republik zu Kaiserzeit im Allgemeinen erhalten möchten.

Event Vergleichende Politik
06VL615-023a / Course / 3,736

Description:

Business event contents:

Diese Veranstaltung setzt die zentralen Themen der vergleichenden Politikwissenschaft, die im Rahmen der Systeme und Theorien in einer breiten vergleichenden Perspektive dargestellt wurden, voraus und vertieft diese. Dabei baut die Vorlesung auf den vermittelten Inhalten der Systeme und Theorien auf und erweitert diese sowohl theoretisch als auch durch die Analyse einer Reihe von Fallstudien von Akteuren und Institutionen. Das Semester wendet sich den Theorien der vergleichenden Politikwissenschaft zu, und wendet sie anhand von Länderanalysen an. Dabei werden vier theoretische Perspektiven erarbeitet: die makro- historische Soziologie, der Institutionalismus, die politische Kulturforschung und der "Rational Choice" Ansatz. Weitere Theorien (z.B. Systemfunktionalismus oder feministische Theorien des Staates) werden in der Einleitung ebenfalls vorgestellt. Diese theoretischen Ansätze bilden die Struktur für die Veranstaltung und werden anhand empirischer Untersuchungen zu den wichtigsten Elementen von politischen Systemen präsentiert (Parlamente, Föderalismus, direkte Demokratie, Parteien, Wahlsysteme, usw.). Klassische Texte werden als wöchentliche obligatorische Lektüre die Vorlesung begleiten. Die Lehrveranstaltung betrachtet den Zeitraum von Mitte des 19. Jahrhunderts bis heute, setzt sich aber nicht nur mit westlichen, demokratischen Industriestaaten auseinander, sondern auch mit der Demokratisierung von Schwellen- und Entwicklungsländern.

Event Demokratietheorien
06VL615-032a / Course / 4,361

Description:

Business event contents:

Dieses Modul bietet eine Vertiefung im Bereich der Demokratieforschung an und besteht aus vier thematischen Blöcken. Der erste Block behandelt die grundsätzliche Frage, was Demokratien sind, woher sie kommen und wohin sie gehen. Hier werden also Prozesse der Demokratisierung und Autokratisierung sowohl in der Theorie als auch an praktischen Beispielen beleuchtet. Im zweiten Block gehen wir auf verschiedene Ausprägungen und Visionen von Demokratie ein, wie beispielsweise partizipative oder deliberative Demokratie. Im dritten Block fokussieren wir uns auf die Rolle und Perspektiven von Bürger_innen in Demokratien und beschäftigen uns mit politischer Partizipation und demokratischen Einstellungen. Im letzten Block analysieren wir zukünftige Herausforderungen wie Krieg, Terrorismus, Klimawandel und interne Bedrohungen durch autoritäre Eliten und diskutieren mögliche Wege zur Stärkung und Erneuerung demokratischer Systeme.

Sylvia Yanagisako's Producing Culture and Capital: Family Firms in Italy (2002) explores how kinship, gender, inheritance, and culture shape capitalist production in family-owned silk firms in northern Italy. Her ethnography shows how desires, sentiments, and engagements motivate capitalistic drives, rather than solely market forces. Returning to theories of Karl Marx and Max Weber, the book acknowledges their important contributions to understanding capitalism while arguing that both gave limited attention to kinship and gender, and failed to propose a compelling cultural understanding of capitalistic desire. Yanagisako ultimately reveals how culture and capital are mutually constitutive processes, showing how class formation and reproduction are embedded in the material realities of her interlocutors through kinship and gender relations.

Event Fachdidaktik Deutsch II (Wampfler)
06SE090De2b / Seminar / 894

Description:

Business event contents:

In der Auseinandersetzung mit Fragestellungen aus der Unterrichtspraxis, der Germanistik und der Fachdidaktik werden die Teilnehmenden befähigt, eigene Vorstellungen von gutem Deutschunterricht zu entwickeln, überprüfen und umzusetzen. Zentral ist die Arbeit an Problemen und Fällen, welche die Teilnehmenden projektartig und kollaborativ bewältigen. Sie bilden so ihre fachwissenschaftlichen Stärken aus, erhalten aber gleichzeitig die nötige Sicherheit, um administrative, planerische und politische Belastungen an einer Schule meistern zu können.

Kursaufbau und mögliche Themen: - Evaluation von Lehrbüchern und -materialien - Aspekte der Bewertung und Benotung - Medienkompetenz - Einsatz von Neuen Medien im Deutschunterricht - Methoden der Grob- und Feinplanung von Unterrichtssequenzen - Vorbereitung auf die Fachdidaktik-Prüfung - Themen aus dem Feedback auf den Kurs Fachdidaktik I

Event Politische Partizipation: An die Urne oder auf die Straße?

06SE615-014a / Seminar / 2,210

Description:

Business event contents:

In diesem Seminar befassen wir uns mit verschiedenen Formen der politischen Partizipation. Wir stellen uns dabei unter anderem die grundlegende Frage, weshalb sich Personen überhaupt an Wahlen und Abstimmungen oder an Demonstrationen und Boykotten beteiligen. Zudem diskutieren wir wie verschiedene Akteure versuchen die politische Partizipation der Bevölkerung zu steigern und ob sie damit erfolgreich sind: Lassen sich mehr Personen an die Urne locken, wenn Parteien besonders aggressive Kampagnen fahren? Hilft ein Ausbau der politischen Bildung in der Schule? Oder braucht es Anpassungen am Wahlsystem? Im Verlaufe des Seminars werden die Teilnehmenden ausserdem darauf vorbereitet eine möglicherweise erste quantitative Seminararbeit zum Thema der politischen Partizipation zu verfassen.

Notes:

Für diesen Kurs werden grundlegende Statistik-Kenntnisse sowie erste Erfahrungen mit R und R Studio (bspw. im Rahmen von Methoden-Vorlesungen) empfohlen.

Nach Absolvierung dieses Seminar können die Studierenden...

- verschiedene Formen von politischer Partizipation miteinander vergleichen.
- individuelle und strukturelle Faktoren, die das Ausmass an politischer Partizipation beeinflussen, beschreiben.
- Strategien zur Förderung von politischer Beteiligung kritisch diskutieren
- komplexe wissenschaftliche Texte und Konzepte verständlich und interessant präsentieren
- mithilfe von Datenanalysetechniken eine Forschungsfrage aus dem Gebiet der politischen Partizipation bearbeiten

Course Materials:

Den Studierenden wird anfangs des Semester eine Literaturliste mit Pflichtlektüren bereitgestellt. Folgend zwei Beispiele für im Seminar behandelte Literatur zu politischer Partizipation:

Blais, André, and Jean-François Daoust. (2020). The Motivation to Vote: Explaining Electoral Participation. Vancouver: UBC Press. S. 3-29

Event KI als neuer Informationsintermediär
06SE254p103a / Seminar / 2,674

Description:

Business event contents:

Künstliche Intelligenz (KI), insbesondere grosse Sprachmodelle wie GPT, haben das Potenzial, die Produktion, Vermittlung und Rezeption von Kommunikation und Wissen in digitalen Informationsgesellschaften grundlegend zu verändern. Im Seminar widmen wir uns der Rolle generativer KI als neuem Informationsintermediär. Hierfür erarbeiten wir theoretische Ansätze, den aktuellen Forschungsstand sowie methodische Zugänge im Bereich der Human-Machine-Kommunikation. Studierende entwickeln und bearbeiten in Gruppen eigene kleine empirische Forschungsprojekte, etwa dazu, wie KI wissenschaftliche Informationen für unterschiedliche Zielgruppen aufbereitet, wie verschiedene KI-Systeme Informationen präsentieren oder wie generative KI auf problematische oder irreführende Anfragen reagiert.

Event Green Chemistry

07VUCHE328.1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 5,600

Description:

Business event contents:

This course will give an insight into the field of green and sustainable chemistry. The qualitative aspects of sustainability will be discussed in the framework of the Twelve Principles of green chemistry. The course will also emphasize a quantitative approach, through the use of Life Cycle Assessment (LCA). We will use Simapro LCA software (<https://simapro.com/>) in the classroom to investigate a chemical process (all students are expected to bring their own laptop with internet access for connecting to the Simapro servers).

Event The Politics of Work in Advanced Capitalism
06SE615-001c / Seminar / 5,486

Description:

Business event contents:

In this seminar, we study the politics of work in advanced capitalist democracies from a variety of angles. Labor and labor politics are central to the economy, to democracy, and to the everyday experience of virtually every member of society. Consequently, we will consider the phenomenon of work in its social, economic, and political aspects. After an introduction to the macro-trends shaping work in the current historical period (globalization and financialization, sectoral and technological change), we will first focus on the development of occupations and labor markets over the recent decades. Next, we study how firms have evolved as organizations, sites of social interaction and management styles; and consider key issues in the realm of individual work experience and working conditions. We will dedicate ourselves to labor market and work-related policies. Finally, we will discuss how work shapes democracy both by shaping the political views of working people and through parties politicizing it in various ways.

Seminar sessions consist in ca. 50% lecture, 20% discussion, and 30% presentations. Every session will include the presentation of one research paper from the seminar's selective bibliography by participants. In the last session, we will stage model labor negotiations (either collective bargaining negotiations or a parliamentary policy debate). Every participant is required to submit a final essay by December 11, 2026.

Description:

Business event contents:

In diesem Kurs lesen wir die Monographie Veiled Sentiments: Honour and Poetry in a Bedouin Society von Lila Abu-Lughod (2016, University of California Press)

In Veiled Sentiments zeichnet Lila Abu-Lughod ein eindrückliches Bild vom intimen Alltagsleben des beduinischen Stammes der Awlad 'Ali in Ägypten. Als Frau arabischer Abstammung erhielt sie Zugang zur Privatsphäre ihrer Gastfamilie und deren Verwandtschaft auf eine Weise, die früheren Ethnograph*innen verwehrt geblieben war. Ihre Ethnographie zeigt, wie das Vortragen von ghinnāwas (kurzen Alltagsgedichten), insbesondere durch Frauen und Männer mit niedrigerem Status, dazu dient, bestehende Machtdynamiken zu navigieren und auszuhandeln.

Dank ihrer detaillierten Schilderungen des Alltagslebens und der zwischenmenschlichen Beziehungen im Lager, in dem sie lebte, fordert ihre Arbeit dazu auf, Geschlechterverhältnisse, den Ehrenkodex und den Begriff des Widerstands neu zu denken, fernab orientalistischer Perspektiven.

Veiled Sentiments gilt heute als Klassiker der Anthropologie und als zentraler Bezugspunkt in zahlreichen Debatten der Disziplin, insbesondere in den Subaltern Studies und der feministischen Anthropologie.

Keywords: Ehrenkodex, Geschlechterverhältnisse, Widerstand, mündliche Poesie, Awlad 'Ali-Beduinen

Event The Everyday in Theory: An Introduction to Ethnographic Methods
06SE240p022a / Seminar / 4,895

Description:

Notes:

Students will be expected to bring their own laptop, to prepare a short reflective piece on set texts, and to participate in a short 'field trip'. Additionally, students will be encouraged to 'practice ethnography', which - where possible - will contribute to their final paper. Overall, students will be encouraged to bring their own thematic and research interests to the course.

Course Materials:

Event Jenseits der Nation: Migration – Exil – Diaspora
06KO255p504a / Colloquium / 3,378

Description:

Business event contents:

Das 20. und 21. Jahrhundert sind von massiven Migrationsbewegungen geprägt. Krieg, Verfolgung und Armut, oft unmittelbar verbunden mit kolonialistischen Machtverhältnissen, haben Millionen von Menschen dazu gezwungen, ihre Herkunftsländer zu verlassen und anderswo Schutz zu suchen. Was bedeutet dies für die Produktion, Distribution und Rezeption von Filmen? Theoretiker*innen haben verstärkt seit den 1990er Jahren begonnen, die Besonderheiten der Migrationserfahrung zu berücksichtigen und ins Zentrum konzeptueller Überlegungen zu stellen. So hat Hamid Naficy vor gut 25 Jahren unter dem Begriff des «Accented Cinema» filmische Artikulationen von «diaspora, exile, and ethnicity» zusammengefasst. In detaillierten Fallstudien zu Filmen aus dem Nahen Osten und Nordafrika, diasporischen Filmemacher*innen aus Fernost und vielen anderen Regionen identifiziert er ästhetische Besonderheiten, die mit der «cultural and linguistic diversity» und der «global dispersion» der entstehenden Filme zusammenhängen. Laura M. Marks hat in The Skin of the Film, ebenfalls um die Jahrtausendwende, eine besondere Affinität des «intercultural cinema» zu sinnlichen Erinnerungsmodi des Berührens und Schmeckens ausgemacht, die sie als «haptic visuality» fasst. Neben diesen inzwischen klassischen Vorschlägen, über Migration, Exil und Diaspora nachzudenken, werden wir neuere Texte aus diesem Feld lesen und diskutieren. Besondere Aufmerksamkeit gilt dabei auch den Herausforderungen, die diasporisches Filmemachen für die etablierten und oft limitierenden nationalen Grenzziehungen darstellt.

Event Gruppe 02, Proseminar 1: Krieg, Kollaps und Umweltkatastrophen vom Mittelalter bis zur Gegenwart
06SE600-007b / Seminar / 401

Description:

Business event contents:

Krisen sind transformative Momente auf verschiedenen Ebenen der Kultur, Gesellschaft und der «natürlichen» Umwelt. Im 21. Jahrhundert, in dem verschiedene Erscheinungsformen des globalen Klimawandels den menschlichen Lebensraum in einem noch nie dagewesenen Ausmass bedrohen, werden Katastrophenabwehr, Katastrophenbewältigung und die Ursachen von Katastrophen selbst zunehmend als Auswirkungen kollektiver Entscheidungen wahrgenommen. Wie haben sich Wahrnehmung, Verständnis und Lehren aus gesellschaftlichen Krisen im Wandel der Zeit verändert?

Durch das Studium diverser Primär- und Sekundärquellen tauchen wir ein in verschiedene Realitäten vom Mittelalter bis zur Gegenwart und untersuchen die Anatomie von Kriegen, Hungersnöten und Pogromen als politische Prozesse. Anhand diverser Fallbeispiele, die von den Kreuzzügen bis zum Grossen Sprung nach Vorn, oder von der Pest bis zur Kernschmelze von Fukushima reichen, analysieren wir die Zusammenhänge von Ideologie und Technologie, Wirtschaft und Umwelt, Wissen und Verdrängung. Wir analysieren, wie Krisen erlebt und gedeutet werden und wie kollektives Wissen und die Erinnerung an vergangene Krisenmomente Institutionen, Identitäten und Infrastruktur in der Gegenwart prägen.

06SE600-007g / Seminar / 409

Description:

Business event contents:

In diesem Basismodul beschäftigen wir uns mit zentralen historischen Themen rund um Migration sowie Expansion, die die Entwicklung unserer Welt massgeblich beeinflussten.

Im Proseminar I befassen wir uns mit kriegerischen Expansionen, Gesandtschaften an fremde Völker und dem Zusammentreffen verschiedener Religionsgemeinschaften.

Im Proseminar II setzen wir uns abseits populistischer Betrachtungsweisen mit unterschiedlichen Migrationsformen und entscheidenden transnationalen Migrationsbewegungen auseinander.

Das Basismodul I dient vor allem auch dem Erwerb grundlegender Kenntnisse wissenschaftlichen historischen Arbeitens: Die Schwerpunkte des Proseminars I liegen im Bereich des Umgangs mit Forschungsliteratur, während sich das Proseminar II hauptsächlich auf die Arbeit mit Quellen konzentriert.

Notes:

Im Proseminar I besteht der Leistungsnachweis aus einem Vortrag und einem Forschungsbericht.

Im Proseminar II wird für den Leistungsnachweis die Ausarbeitung eines Konzepts zur Proseminararbeit und eine Proseminararbeit gefordert.

In beiden Proseminaren wird die Teilnahme an den Exkursionen (Zentralbibliothek, Museum/Archiv) und mündliche Beteiligung erwartet.

Event Gruppe 11, Proseminar 1: The Making of Us and Them: Inclusion and Exclusion in Ancient and Early Modern Societies
06SE600-007k / Seminar / 417

Description:

Business event contents:

Pre-modern communities were built around a set of social and legal categories from which many were systematically excluded. At the same time, both ancient and early modern sources demonstrate an enduring fascination with the figure of the 'outsider', whose existence was used to define a social community and to police the criteria of inclusion as well as boundaries of acceptable behaviour. How did political, legal, social, and religious criteria facilitate and limit participation? To what extent was social mobility possible? How did communities account for the foreign, the sick, the poor, the heretical, the criminal and the enslaved, and to what extent were those who were understood in this way accommodated within pre-existing political, legal, and social structures? What did it mean to live on the margins of society in ancient and early modern times? In this course, we will not only look at the means and marks of exclusion and stigmatisation (distinctive signs, segregation, insults, expulsion) but also at the implicit and explicit reasoning behind such dynamics, as well as, wherever possible, sources from such 'outsiders' themselves.

Within the framework of these questions, the basic module familiarizes students with the fundamental tools and methods of historical work. It will equip students to approach and critically assess historical scholarship, to use a range of research techniques and forms of citation, and to analyze historical sources, including examples from historiography, philosophy, literature, law, epigraphy and archaeology.

Notes:

Proseminar 1 (taught by Schneider in German): Presentation, research report (3-5 pages), minor written assignments and active oral participation.

Proseminar 2 (taught by Gutnick Allen in English): Proseminar paper (8-10 pages) together with an outline submitted in advance, minor written assignments and active oral participation. Papers, assignments and presentations may be submitted / delivered in English or German.

Event Gruppe 12, Proseminar 1: Geschlecht verhandeln: Rollen, Normen und Macht von der Antike bis zur Neuzeit
06SE600-007I / Seminar / 419

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie werden Geschlecht und Geschlechteridentitäten definiert, verstanden und bewertet? Welche Vorstellungen, Idealbilder und Abwertungen von Geschlechterrollen prägten und prägen unterschiedliche Gesellschaften? Wie werden geschlechterspezifische Eigenschaften, Verhaltensnormen und Handlungsspielräume definiert, erwartet oder in Frage gestellt? Wie wurden Debatten gesellschaftlich, politisch und administrativ geführt? Ausgehend von diesen Fragen widmet sich dieses Basismodul der Vielfalt und Aktualität von Vorstellungen von Geschlechterrollen und -identitäten in antiken und modernen Gesellschaften. Anhand ausgewählter historischer Fallstudien aus der griechischen Antike, der Kolonialzeit sowie postkolonialen Staaten wird aufgezeigt, wie Geschlechterrollen konstruiert, verhandelt und verändert wurden.

Durch die Diskussion historischer Quellen und aktueller Forschungsdebatten entwickeln wir ein Verständnis für die Vielfalt und Wandelbarkeit von Geschlechtervorstellungen im historischen Verlauf.

Das Basismodul I bietet weiter eine umfassende Einführung in das geschichtswissenschaftliche Arbeiten. Eingeübt werden das Lesen, Verstehen und Schreiben wissenschaftlicher Texte, Techniken der Literatur- und Quellenrecherche sowie die Analyse historischer Quellen.

Event Gruppe 09, Proseminar 2: Memory and Propaganda
06SE600-007v / Seminar / 414

Description:

Business event contents:

The ancient Greek historian Thucydides famously wrote that history is a "possession forever". However, history is not just a record of past events, but rather a battleground of memory and power, where the force of propaganda is embedded in several political decisions and social phenomena. In this Basismodul 1, we will trace different forms of memory and propaganda in the Graeco-Roman world and the Twentieth Century.

The Proseminar 2 explores how ancient Greeks and Romans have shaped their collective memory to define identity and reinforce power structures. Although the term "propaganda" is often anachronistic when referred to Graeco-Roman antiquity, the practice of controlling historical narratives was well established across the centuries. More specifically, we will investigate the ways in which history is remembered, forgotten, and rewritten to serve ancient political agendas. We will therefore analyse how the practice of damnatio memoriae ("condemnation of memory") has been developed both in classical and Hellenistic Greece and in imperial Rome to marginalise problematic testimonies and, ultimately, provide a new narration of history.

In the Proseminar 1, we will explore propaganda beyond memory. How did propagandists try to persuade people in the 20th century and how was propaganda assessed? The term propaganda became widely used in the first half of the twentieth century, when the new media radio and film created a mass audience. In the eyes of communication scientists and propagandists people thus became a moldable mass. We will examine concrete examples of propaganda, ranging from totalitarian to supposedly democratic propaganda, as well as scientific debates about it.

Based on these key topics, the introductory module provides an introduction to historical work: The focus is on research and reading techniques, citation styles, and, in particular, working with academic texts and historical sources.

This Basismodul 1 will be held in English.

Notes:

Assessment:

Proseminar 1: Research Paper: 3-5 pages, 7,500-12,500 characters (including text, footnotes, and spaces, excluding bibliography). Input Presentation with PowerPoint (5-10 minutes).

Proseminar 2: Concept note for the Proseminar paper: 2-3 pages; project outline as continuous text, research question, provisional table of contents, source and literature list. Proseminar Paper: 8-10 pages, 20,000-25,000 characters (including text, footnotes, and spaces, excluding bibliography).

Proseminare 1 and 2: Active participation in class discussions; regular completion of smaller assignments given by lecturers.

Event Gruppe 13, Proseminar 2: Perlen, Zucker, Porzellan: Materielle Kultur von Antike bis Neuzeit
06SE600-007z / Seminar / 422

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie verändert sich materielle Kultur im Laufe der Geschichte? Welche historischen Ereignisse und Entwicklungen beeinflussen Handelswirtschaft und Konsumverhalten nachhaltig? Was ist und wann beginnt Kolonialismus? Mit dieser Fragestellung werden wir uns der Expansionspolitik der griechischen Stadtstaaten und des Römischen Imperiums (PS 2), sowie der europäischen Kolonialmächte (PS 1) annähern. An Fallbeispielen aus unterschiedlichen Geschichtsepochen erforschen wir die Auswirkungen des Kolonialismus auf maritimen Handel und materielle Kultur. Zudem beleuchten wir, welche Einzelakteure und Akteursgruppen in das koloniale Handelssystem involviert waren und stellen breit etablierte Geschichtsnarrative in Frage. Im Proseminar 1, das der frühneuzeitlichen Epoche gewidmet ist, folgen wir den transatlantischen Handelsrouten für Warenimport und erkunden, wie dieser die lokale Güterproduktion prägte. Den Einfluss auf das Konsumverhalten untersuchen wir etwa an neuen Luxusgütern, die zum zeitgenössischen Statussymbol wurden.

Das Thema Wirtschaft in der Antike geht mit der Entwicklung der griechischen und römischen Gesellschaften einher. Nach einer Übersicht wichtiger wirtschaftlicher Akteure antiker Gesellschaften (Bürger, Frauen, Soldaten und Sklaven) konzentriert sich das Proseminar 2 auf die Grundlagen der antiken Wirtschaft, die Verwaltung öffentlicher Unternehmen in Griechenland und Rom und die Rolle von Grossereignissen bei der Veränderung antiker Wirtschaftssysteme. Wir werden uns mit antiken Definitionen der Wirtschaftswissenschaften, der Funktionsweise des griechischen und römischen Handels, der materiellen Kultur wie Münzprägung, der Verwaltung grosser Bauwerke sowie den finanziellen und sozialen Auswirkungen bedeutender Ereignisse wie der griechischen Kolonisierung, der römischen Provinzialisierung und den Folgen von Epidemien befassen.

Zudem bietet das PS 1 eine Einführung in das Studium von Forschungsliteratur und das PS 2 in die Analyse historischer Quellen.

Notes:

Proseminar 1: Referat (15. Min.) und Forschungsbericht (Deutsch oder Englisch, 3-5 Seiten).

Proseminar 2: Konzept der Proseminararbeit (ca. 2 Seiten; Projektbeschreibung als Fliesstext, Forschungsfrage, vorläufiges Inhaltsverzeichnis, Quellen- und Literaturverzeichnis, Zeitplan für den Arbeitsprozess).

Proseminararbeit (8-10 Seiten, 20.000-25.000 Zeichen, einschliesslich Text, Fussnoten und Leerzeichen, ohne Literaturverzeichnis).

Proseminar 1 und 2: Aktive Teilnahme an den Diskussionen im Kurs und Abgabe kürzerer schriftlicher Arbeiten. Die Unterrichtssprachen sind Deutsch (PS 1) und Englisch (PS 2).

Event Social and Human Capital in the Internet Age
06SE254p602a / Seminar / 2,753

Description:

Business event contents:

This seminar examines foundational theories of social capital (the access and resources derived from personal networks, relationships, and trust) and human capital (learned skills and knowledge), and applies them to contemporary research on Internet use and its social consequences (and benefits). Core questions will be guided by media studies and digital sociology. These include: Does internet use create, reproduce, or displace existing social capital? Under what conditions does digital connectivity translate into meaningful benefits (or consequences)? How do inequalities frame access to social networks in the Internet age?

Students will engage with the evolving theoretical and empirical literature throughout the course, lead one discussion session, and develop an original research paper on a topic within the seminar's scope.

06VL615-033a / Course / 3,731

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Modul zielt auf eine politikwissenschaftliche Verortung, Analyse und Beurteilung des Schweizerischen politischen Systems und seiner Funktionsweise. Im Modul "Einführung in die Schweizer Politik" des ersten Studienjahres lernen die Studierenden die Grundbegriffe (Akteure und Institutionen) der Schweizer Politik kennen. In diesem Modul vertiefen wir theoretisch und empirisch ihr Zusammenspiel und ihre Konsequenzen im vergleichenden Kontext. Zu diesem Zweck a) werden grundlegende und aktuelle politikwissenschaftliche Theorien (zu politischem Verhalten, Repräsentation, Institutionen, Prozessen und Politikgestaltung) auf die Schweiz angewendet, b) stellt die Vorlesung konkret die Frage nach der demokratischen, substanziellen und prozeduralen Performanz des Schweizerischen politischen Systems und c) werden grundlegende und aktuelle Forschungsbeiträge zur Schweizer Politik besprochen (Pflichtlektüre).

Course Materials: Präsentationsfolien und aktuelle Fachliteratur als Pflichtlektüre (ab Semesterbeginn auf OLAT verfügbar)

Event Gelehrtes und Höfisches: Dänische und schwedische Texte des Mittelalters
06SE360p611a / Seminar / 1,123

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie erzählte man sich in Schweden im 14. Jahrhundert die Geschichte von Ivan dem Löwenritter und anderen fremden Helden? Wie wurde in grossangelegten volkssprachlichen Reimchroniken im 15. Jahrhundert die Forderung eines Königsreichs Schwedens artikuliert? Und wie dichtete man am dänischen Königshof im 16. Jahrhundert über die Liebe? Dieses Seminar widmet sich der oftmals im Vergleich zur isländischen Tradition stiefmütterlich behandelten ostnordischen Textüberlieferung des Mittelalters. Auf der Grundlage ausgewählter Texte werden wir Prozesse des Kulturtransfers literarischer Traditionen aus anderen europäischen Regionen untersuchen, Besonderheiten von Zentren der dänischen und schwedischen Schriftkultur identifizieren, und ästhetische Charakteristiken der ostnordischen Literatur herausarbeiten. Ausgehend von Vorkenntnissen des Altnordischen und moderner skandinavischer Sprachen werden dabei zu Beginn des Seminars gemeinsam Grundkenntnisse der ostnordischer Sprachen erarbeitet.

Notes:

Kenntnisse des Altdänischen und Altschwedischen sind keine Voraussetzung. Altländischkenntnisse sind von Vorteil.

Course Materials: Einschlägige Primär- und Sekundärliteratur wird zu Kursbeginn auf OLAT und in einem Handapparat zur Verfügung gestellt.

Event Discussing the Issue of 'Diversity'

06SE290-123a / Seminar / 640

Description:

Business event contents:

In the context of ageing population, stagnating economy and raising immigration, diversity has become in the last decades an increasingly relevant and discussed topic in Japan. The concept of diversity is multifaceted, encompassing categories such as ethnicity and nationality, gender and sexuality, and disability, as well as questions of political representation, employment status, and the urban-rural divide.

This seminar examines the issue of "diversity" within the spheres of Japanese politics and economics. It will explore issues such as policies promoting gender equality, the increase of foreign workers, the representation of women in politics, the emergence of diverse forms of (un)employment like NEETs and freeters, LGBT issues etc. The seminar enables students to delve deeper into chosen research topic in the form of their own contribution (presentation and paper).

Event Armut im frühen Mittelalter

06SE600-013a / Seminar / 305

Description:

Business event contents:

Armut war im gesamten Mittelalter ein verbreitetes Phänomen. In Zentraleuropa führte die Verbreitung des Christentums zunächst zu einer Armenfürsorge, die als eine karitative Pflicht für das Gemeinwohl wahrgenommen wurde. Durch die Entwicklung der christlichen Jenseitsvorstellungen und der Vergeltungslehre veränderte sie sich zu einem Mittel, mit dem das eigene Seelenheil zu gewinnen war. Ab dem 4. Jahrhundert übertrug der römische Staat der Kirche wichtige Aufgaben innerhalb der öffentlichen Armenfürsorge, welche sie auch nach dem Zusammenbruch des römischen Reiches weiterführte. Es soll danach gefragt werden, wer überhaupt als arm wahrgenommen wurde und wie es zur Verarmung kommen konnte. Dann sollen die kirchlichen und weltlichen Massnahmen gegen Armut sowie ihre Organisation und Zielsetzung untersucht werden. Dabei stellt sich auch die grundlegende Frage nach Funktionalisierung und Ritualisierung der Armenfürsorge im herrschaftlichen Kontext. Alle Quellen werden in deutscher Übersetzung zur Verfügung gestellt.

Course Materials:

Literatur: Michel Mollat, Die Armen im Mittelalter, München 1984; Egon Boshof: Armenfürsorge im fränkischen Reich des 9. Jahrhunderts, in: Archiv für Kulturgeschichte 58 (1976) S. 265-339; Philip Zimmermann, Armut und Bischofsherrschaft. Bischöfliche Fürsorge in der Merowingerzeit (Vorträge und Forschungen, Sonderband 63), Ostfildern 2022.

Event Literatur- und Kulturgeschichte des skandinavischen Mittelalters
06VL360-202a / Course / 1,703

Description:

Business event contents:

Diese Vorlesung führt ein in zentrale Themen und Fragestellungen der skandinavistischen Mediävistik. In einem Rundgang durch die wichtigsten Medien und Gattungen der altnordischen Kulturgeschichte werden wir uns auch dem kulturhistorische Kontext und den materiellen Bedingungen der Dicht- und Schreibkunst im vormodernen Norden zuwenden. Der Fokus wird dabei auf der westnordischen (isländischen und norwegischen) Überlieferung liegen; in Seitenblicken werden wir aber auch Entwicklungen in Schweden und Dänemark mit in dem Blick nehmen.

Course Materials: Begleitende Lektüre wird auf OLAT zur Verfügung gestellt.

Event Advanced Catalysis

07VUCHE323.1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 203

Description:

Business event contents:

Catalysis is a cornerstone of modern chemistry, enabling the efficient and sustainable synthesis of essential chemicals, pharmaceuticals, and materials. This course explores the fundamental principles of catalysis, starting with an introduction to standard mechanisms that are commonly operational in modern catalytic reactions while highlighting their industrial and environmental significance. Next, the course will cover various topics in transition metal catalysis (hydrogenations, alkene and alkyne functionalization reactions, cross-coupling reactions, alkene and alkyne metathesis, C-H activation, photoredox catalysis, etc.) and organocatalysis (nucleophilic catalysis, aminocatalysis, Brønsted acid catalysis, phase-transfer catalysis, N-heterocyclic carbene catalysis, asymmetric counterion directed catalysis, etc.). from a synthetic and a mechanistic point of view. Through case studies and real-world applications, students will gain insight into how catalysis drives innovation.

Course Materials: Scripts provided prior to the lectures. Original literature.

Support materials:

Event Advanced Chemical Data Science
07VUDSA103.1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 204

Description:

Business event contents:

Data science is an integral part of modern life sciences. This course will cover core topics of multivariate data analytics in the life sciences both in theory and practice. Key topics include:

- Core concepts in data science
- Molecular descriptions
- Data types
- Sources of data sets
- Data processing and transformation
- Exploring data: Multivariate data analysis
- Data reporting

Course Materials:

OLAT will be used for basic information and course communication, all course materials will be shared via the course repository linked in OLAT. Students must bring their own PC to the course. Some free software will be used, which we recommend to install before the first lecture. Details and information you can find on OLAT.

Event Environmentally Safe Chemicals

07VUCHE711.1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 801

Description:

Business event contents:

In this course, the overall goal is to explore the opportunities for developing chemicals and materials that are environmentally safe besides fulfilling the desired functionality, which is the major goal of many recent sustainability and green chemistry strategies at the Swiss, European and global level. To this end, you will first be introduced to the key concepts of environmental safety assessment for chemical products. Second, you will learn about databases, computational tools and experimental testing strategies that support the consideration of environmental safety at the early stage of research and development in chemical industry. Last, we will look at concrete "benign-by-design" examples and investigate success stories and challenges in implementing environmental safety considerations in the design of new chemicals and chemical products. You will deepen these concepts and experience the use of specific tools by developing your own case study as part of the course.

Non-routine NMR techniques for elucidation of structure, symmetry and dynamic of organometallic compounds in solution and solid state will be presented on the basis of classical and non-classical transition metal hydrides.

keywords:

- classical and non-classical hydrides
- (D)- and (D2)-ligands
- NMR-Spectroscopy with Quadrupol nuclei
- relaxation mechanisms
- longitudinal vs. transversal relaxation
- Inversion Recovery
- Bloch equation
- Introduction to solid state-NMR
- solid state vs. solution-NMR
- Magic Angle Spinning
- Cross polarization
- WAHUHA-decoupling
- Solid state-NMR with Quadrupol nuclei

Description:

Business event contents:

Specific lab exercises will enable students practicing learned theoretical concepts introduced in GEO442.1. Students will collect their own in situ data over land and water. Afterwards, they will receive specific tasks and instructions to analyze specific aspects of data quality and effects superimposing the intended data information content. Students will work with specific the programming language Python, use provided and write their own scripts. Students work independently and are supported by tutors and lecturers.

Course Materials: Scripts and lab exercises are provided via OLAT.

Event Economic Foundations for Finance (E)
03UE22MO0039 / Exercise Group / 692

Description:

Business event contents:

The course explains the basics of decision theory and general equilibrium theory which belong to the two main foundations for financial theory. Decision theory is needed for modeling investors' behavior in financial markets. General equilibrium theory is needed for asset pricing and valuation.

Notes:

The Midterm examination of the module will take place on site on Wednesday, November 4, 2026, 10:15-12:00am.

The final grade for the course will be computed by taking the average of the midterm and final exam grades, with equal weight given to both assessments.

(Each exam will contribute 50% to the final grade.)

Course Materials: 1. Slides and lecture notes

Event Physische Geographie III: Geomorphologie und Glaziologie
07VLGEO231.1 / Course / 1,138

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Modul bietet eine Einführung in Geomorphologische Prozesse welche unsere Landschaft prägen und wird durch Übungen ergänzt. Neben allgemeinen Themen der Geomorphologie, fokussiert dieses Modul speziell auf glaziologische und periglaziale Prozesse sowie die dazugehörige quartäre Landschaftsentwicklung und die Prozesse werden anhand von 2 Exkursionen (Steingletscher und Uetliberg) veranschaulicht. Neben alpinen Landschaften werden auch Eisschilde sowie Eiszeitvergletscherungen behandelt.

Notes:

- Die obligatorischen zwei 1-tägigen Exkursionen finden tendenziell am 2ten Wochenende nach Semesterbeginn (Steingletscher) und an einem Wochenende Ende Oktober (Uetliberg) statt. Die genauen Termine werden getrennt bekannt gegeben.

- Die Termine der Übungsstunden werden getrennt bekannt gegeben.

- Einzelne Teile der Veranstaltungen können auf Englisch durchgeführt werden.

Course Materials: - Vorlesungsfolien werden auf OLAT zur Verfügung gestellt.

Event Biografie und Diktatur
06SE612-502a / Seminar / 3,365

Description:

Business event contents:

Welche Rolle spielen Menschen in einer Diktatur - und wie prägt eine Diktatur das Leben der Menschen? Das Seminar untersucht, wie Individuen die kommunistische Herrschaft in der Sowjetunion deuteten, erlebten und aktiv mitgestalteten.

Im Zentrum steht die Frage nach dem sozialistischen Ideal des «Neuen Menschen»: Welche Erwartungen verband die Revolution mit ihm, und wie wurden diese im Alltag umgesetzt, angepasst oder unterlaufen? Anhand biografischer Zugänge analysieren wir zudem, welche Auswirkungen Ideologie, Gewalt und Repression auf individuelle Lebenswege und auf nachfolgende Generationen hatten.

Gleichzeitig vermittelt das Seminar methodische Einblicke in die biografische Forschung zur Geschichte von Diktaturen und reflektiert die Möglichkeiten und Grenzen historischer Quellen.

Event Datenbanken, Regesten, KI - Innovative Papsttumforschung heute
06KO600p012a / Colloquium / 3,366

Description:

Business event contents:

Dieses Kolloquium ist für BA- und MA-Studierende geeignet!

Die Erforschung des mittelalterlichen Papsttums ist aufgrund der herausragenden Quellenlage durch Tausende von erhaltenen päpstlichen Briefen und Urkunden eine unverzichtbare Grundlage zur Erforschung der mittelalterlichen Geschichte überhaupt. Die verschiedenen Herangehensweisen, um diese Überlieferungsflut zu bewältigen und der wissenschaftlichen Öffentlichkeit zugänglich zu machen, nämlich entweder chronologisch oder nach Empfängern oder nach Dokumententyp geordnet, haben die Papsttumforschung in den letzten Jahrzehnten jedoch zu einem Spezialgebiet werden lassen. In diesem für BA- und MA-Studierende offenen Kolloquium sollen nicht nur die verschiedenen Zugangsweisen verständlich gemacht werden, sondern auch der Einsatz von Datenbanken und KI als nützliche Hilfsmittel eingeübt werden.

Event Europa im 12. Jahrhundert
06VL600p011a / Course / 3,369

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Kreuzzugsbewegung im Süden der Iberischen Halbinsel und im Orient, das Ende des Investiturstreits, die stauisch-päpstlichen Konflikte, das spannungsreiche englisch-französische Verhältnis, die Entstehung neuer Königreiche an den Rändern des christlichen Europa sowie die Formierung der ersten Universitäten sind herausragende Beispiele für politische und geistesgeschichtliche Umwälzungen im 12. Jahrhundert, die nur durch ihre Einordnung in den gesamteuropäischen Zusammenhang verständlich werden. In der Vorlesung werden diese Entwicklungslinien verfolgt.

Event Strategische Kommunikation in Zeiten Künstlicher Intelligenz
06SE254p106a / Seminar / 2,825

Description:

Business event contents:

In diesem Forschungsseminar untersuchen wir, welchen Wert strategische Kommunikation im Zeitalter der Künstlichen Intelligenz (KI) für Kommunikationsabteilungen, Agenturen und Unternehmen noch besitzt - und wie sich dieser Wert künftig sichern und weiterentwickeln lässt. Dabei steht die Frage im Mittelpunkt, wie KI zentrale Tätigkeitsbereiche wie Analyse, Content-Erstellung, Planung, Beratung und Entscheidungsprozesse verändert und welche Konsequenzen dies für Rollenprofile, professionelle Logiken und Arbeitsweisen in der Kommunikationspraxis hat.

Auf Grundlage zentraler theoretischer Konzepte sowie aktueller wissenschaftlicher und berufspraktischer Debatten entwickeln die Teilnehmenden ein gemeinsames empirisches Forschungsprojekt. Dieses Projekt beleuchtet sowohl die Perspektive von Kommunikationsverantwortlichen und Agenturen als auch jene von Bildungsinstitutionen und Studierenden. So entsteht ein umfassendes Bild darüber, wie strategische Kommunikation im KI-Zeitalter neu gedacht, gestaltet und vermittelt werden sollte.

Event Speech and language disorders
06SE440p510a / Seminar / 2,773

Description:

Business event contents:

In this course, students examine theories, causes and characteristics of speech and language disorders throughout the entire lifespan of human development from early childhood through older adulthood and critically examine evidence related to linguistic theories advanced to account for such disorders. Issues addressed include cultural variation in perceptions of neurotypical vs. neurodivergent development, prevalence and risk factors, rationales and methods of early identification, and principles of clinical assessment and evidence-based intervention, emphasizing the importance of understanding such disorders as a part of the fuller picture of human behavior (and also in relation to the foreign language classroom).

Topics include, but are not limited to:

- Normal and disordered language acquisition: Study of cognition and language (modularity) in terms of Downs Syndrome, Williams Syndrome, autism and savants; social deprivation in early childhood development; Developmental Language Disorder (DLD).
- Fluency disorders: Introduction to the linguistic management of adults and children who stutter, including the measurement of stuttering, the design of stuttering treatments, and the application of empirical and theoretical literature.
- Dyslexia: Extending the proficiency of students in developmental language disorders. The course also introduces students to factors uniquely relevant to the Swiss educational context, including cultural considerations in assessment and intervention, bilingual educational settings and relevant legislation and government initiatives.
- Aphasia: Overview of the neuroanatomy related to speech and language, methods of evaluation and diagnosis of acquired disorders in adults.
- Attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD) as a learning difficulty and its impact on language processing and learning.
- Deafness: Analyzing the language of people who are born and grow up without the faculty of hearing as members of a minority, who are not bound together by a medical condition but by a shared language and culture.

Notes:

1. Activity (field work, experiments) - 17%
2. Oral presentation - 17%
3. Final paper - 66% (deadline: March 12, 2027)

ad 1-2: Course participants will carry out small-scale research projects in order to gain hands-on experience with methods and techniques covered in class and in order to critically assess the advantages and disadvantages of each method. Afterwards they will present the results of their projects in class.

Event Slavery and Industrialization

06SE600-601a / Seminar / 2,748

Description:

Business event contents:

Ever since Eric Williams published his pathbreaking book "Capitalism and Slavery" (1944), historians have debated whether and to which extent slavery caused the Industrial Revolution: Were profits from Caribbean slave plantations re-invested in technology that gave rise to industrialization? What role did financial innovations play? More recently, this debate has extended to US history as part of the New History of Capitalism: Was slavery in the South crucial to economic growth in the North? Or was it, on the contrary, a drag on growth? And what implications do the answers have for the historiography of the American Civil War? These are some of the questions that will be examined in this seminar.

Event Exploration and the Environment in Children's Literature

06SE440-229b / Seminar / 888

Description:

Business event contents:

In this seminar, we are exploring the environment through the lens of children's media. The history of children's literature as a medium through which children should learn important moral and behavioral lessons begs an important question: what can we learn about the relationship we are supposed to have to the great outdoors through children's lit? To investigate this questions we will consider both canonical children's literature as well as contemporary media.

In the twenty-first century, stories for children can be found in a great variety of different media, therefore this seminar will move beyond written literature and we will experience "exploration and the environment" in video games, television, and even with our own bodies in addition to the books we will be reading. In our paeen to the stories that shape us in some of our most formative years, we will encounter such works as Tolkien's the Hobbit, Cynthia Leitich Smith's Sisters of the Neversea, the video game Alba: A Wildlife Adventure, and the animated television series Over the Garden Wall.

For one of our seminars, we will go on a hike ourselves to explore the environment, think about our relationships and histories with nature, and about how children's media shape the way that we think, see, and feel about the world we are entangled in.

Notes:

More information about the hike will follow shortly before the start of the semester. Students with special needs please reach out to the instructor in due time to make necessary alterations to the hiking plans.

The video game does not require prowess in gaming as it is meant for young children.

Essay deadline: March 26th at midnight.

Portfolio deadlines will be announced in the syllabus and during the first session.

Course Materials: Please organize the following works independently:
J.R.R. Tolkien's The Hobbit
Cynthia Leitich Smith's Sisters of the Neversea
Alba: A Wildlife Adventure
Over the Garden Wall

Event Zeitungen als historische Quellen: Mediengeschichte, Quellenkritik, methodische Zugänge
06SE600-025a / Seminar / 3,083

Description:

Business event contents:

Lässt sich die Geschichte Osteuropas über Zeitungen erschliessen? Welche Aspekte können mithilfe dieser Quellengattung untersucht werden, welche Besonderheiten weisen Zeitungen als historische Quellen auf, und was gilt es quellenkritisch zu beachten?

Diesen Fragen widmen wir uns anhand ausgewählter Fallbeispiele aus Zeitungen aus und über Osteuropa mit einem Schwerpunkt auf dem 19. und 20. Jahrhundert - der Hochphase dieses Mediums. Dabei untersuchen wir, wie sich Zeitungen historisch entwickelten, unter welchen Produktionsbedingungen sie entstanden, wie sie ihr Publikum erreichten und welche gesellschaftliche Rolle ihnen zukam.

Heute sind zahlreiche historische Zeitungsbestände digitalisiert zugänglich - darunter auch viele deutschsprachige Titel - und bieten einen reichen Fundus an Informationen aus und über Osteuropa. Ziel der Lehrveranstaltung ist es jedoch, Zeitungen und ihre Berichterstattung nicht lediglich als leicht verfügbare und mitunter verführerische Ressource zu nutzen, sondern kritisch nach dem spezifischen Erkenntniswert dieser Quellen zu fragen: Für welche Fragestellungen sind Zeitungen besonders ergiebig, wo liegen ihre Grenzen?

Anhand konkreter Beispiele untersuchen wir unter anderem, welche Einsichten sich über die Verschleierung muslimischer Frauen im habsburgischen Bosnien, über Alltagsleben und Modetrends im Baltikum der Zwischenkriegszeit oder über den Umgang mit Abtreibung im sozialistischen Rumänien gewinnen lassen.

Event Irish Thresholds: Spaces, Boundaries, Identities
06VL440p504a / Course / 1,477

Description:

Business event contents:

In a 2023 poem, Margaret Kanjee explores how Britain's departure from the European Union might affect the inter-Irish border. Giving a voice to the border sign marking the threshold between north and south, the poem asks whether the border will be "soft" or "hard," ultimately concluding that "Dialogue must take precedence [...] / And break down borders in our hearts and minds." Like other literary texts, Kanjee's poem thus reflects how debates about Ireland's division have led to reconsiderations of the political, legal, social, and cultural boundaries shaping Irish society on both sides of the border.

Taking an interdisciplinary approach, this lecture series explores the connections between space and identity in Ireland past and present. It considers both literal and metaphorical boundaries, including those related to language, religion, migration, rural and urban identities, class divisions, and regional economic disparities. Speakers will pay particular attention to thresholds as spaces of both anxiety and transformation, discussing key historical moments that have led to transitions in Ireland, representations of the Irish border, experimentation with genre, and the boundaries that individuals cross, be they in terms of gender, class, or sexuality.

This course is the sixth instalment of the Lecture Series in Irish Studies organized by the Swiss Centre of Irish Studies (SCIS), featuring invited international scholars and creative writers as well as SCIS members based at the English Department and the Zurich James Joyce Foundation.

Event Linguistische Forschung 101: Skillseminar für empirisches Arbeiten, praktische Rhetorik und wissenschaftliches Schreiben
06SE360-105b / Seminar / 1,687

Description:

Business event contents:

«Wie plane ich eine ethische Studie und welche Richtlinien gilt es dabei zu beachten?»

«Welche Effekte gibt es bei Experimenten und wie kann ich sie verhindern?»

«Wie erstelle ich einen objektiven und validen Fragebogen für meine Untersuchung?»

Diese Fragen bilden den Ausgangspunkt für den ersten Teil dieses praxisorientierten Seminars. In diesem erhalten fortgeschrittene Bachelorstudierende einen fundierten Einblick in die theoretischen, methodischen und praktischen Grundlagen der empirischen Linguistik. Das Modul konzentriert sich darauf, den Studierenden die erforderlichen Fähigkeiten zu vermitteln, um eigenständig sprachwissenschaftliche Untersuchungen durchführen zu können, z. B. für eine Seminar- oder Bachelorarbeit. Dazu beschäftigen wir uns in diesem Seminar mit den grundlegenden Konzepten der empirischen Forschung, wie der Formulierung präziser Forschungsfragen, der Auswahl geeigneter Forschungsmethoden, der Suche und Evaluierung bestehender Forschungsliteratur und der Interpretation und den Darstellungsmöglichkeiten der erzielten Ergebnisse. Zum Seminar gehört auch die Bereitschaft, sich mit eigenen Arbeiten auseinanderzusetzen und diese kritisch zu reflektieren.

Ein besonderer Fokus liegt weiter auf der Vermittlung praktischer Fertigkeiten, damit die Studierenden die erlernten theoretischen Fähigkeiten in die Praxis umsetzen können. Dazu planen sie während der Unterrichtszeit eigene kleine Untersuchungen (Forschungsfragen, Thesen, Forschungsdesign, Methoden), die sie am Ende des Seminars präsentieren. Im Zusammenhang mit ihren eigenen Studien erlernen sie im zweiten Teil dieses Seminars rhetorische Vortragstechniken, üben sich in kritischen Diskussionen, designen wissenschaftliche Plakate und erhalten Hinweise zum Formulieren verschiedener akademischer Textsorten (z. B. Abstracts, Seminararbeiten etc.).

Ziel ist es, nicht nur einen theoretischen Einblick in das empirische Arbeiten in der Linguistik zu erhalten, sondern besonders auch praktische Fähigkeiten zu erwerben, welche die Studierenden befähigen, ihr Skillset für ihr universitäres Forschen und Arbeiten zu fundieren und weiter auszubauen.

Notes:

Zielgruppe: Das Seminar richtet sich an Bachelor-Studierende, die ein Verständnis für die Grundlagen der empirischen Linguistik erlangen möchten und lernen wollen, wie man eine empirische Untersuchung und anschliessende - schriftliche oder mündliche - Präsentation der Daten konzipiert und durchführt. Mittleres oder fortgeschrittenes Bachelorstudium. Als Voraussetzung dafür gilt, dass bereits schriftliche Arbeiten in der Linguistik und/oder der NDL/ÄDL verfasst wurden.

Description:

Business event contents:

Im Herbstsemester 2026 basiert das Modul auf einer Vorlesung, die in 14 wichtige Literaturtheorien einführt: von Philologie über Postcolonial und Critical Race Studies hin zu Affect Studies. In genauer Analyse der Medea-Trilogie von Franz Grillparzer wird für jede einzelne Theorie vorgeführt, wie konkrete Forschungsansätze systematisch begründet werden können.

Notes:

Behandelt werden folgende literaturtheoretische Paradigmen:

1. Philologie
2. Medientheorie
3. Fiktionstheorie
4. Hermeneutik/Dekonstruktion
5. Strukturalismus/Poststrukturalismus
6. Intertextualität/Intermedialität
7. Raumtheorie
8. Figurentheorie
9. Diskursanalyse
10. Gender und Queer Studies
11. Postcolonial und Critical Race Studies
12. Eco Criticism
13. Affect Studies
14. Psychoanalyse

Event Die Entdeckung des Imaginären in der deutschen Literatur
06SE360-509a / Seminar / 621

Description:

Business event contents:

Volkssprachliche Literatur entdeckt seit dem 12. Jahrhundert zunehmend die Möglichkeit, imaginäre Szenarien zu gestalten: im Bereich intensiver Affekte, neuer Lebensformen, ferner Länder oder fremder Völker. Im Seminar greifen wir eine Auswahl von Texten aus dem höfischen Roman und der Lyrik auf und untersuchen, wie sich die Gestaltung imaginärer Dimensionen bis zum Ende des 13. Jahrhunderts verändert.

Event Literarische Ursprungsphantasmen
06KO360-511a / Colloquium / 1,695

Description:

Business event contents:

Ursprünge sind ein zentrales Phantasma der mittelalterlichen Kultur und Literatur. Sie spielen fast überall eine Rolle, ob es um Genealogien oder Dynastien, um Herrschaft oder Recht, Sitten, Sprachen oder Dinge geht. Im Seminar greifen wir unter anderem Artus- und Gralsgeschichten, Erzählungen von Lohengrin und Melusine heraus und fragen danach, welches Potenzial Ursprungsphantasmen für die narrative Gestaltung besitzen.

Description:

Business event contents:

Course topics include the identification of research questions and the definition of experimental approaches to tackle these questions. The course introduces strategies to combine different observational data and process models (e.g. data quality assessment, data harmonization, local sensitivity analysis), and several analytical concepts to unravel spatial and temporal dynamics of earth system processes (e.g. variogram and time series analysis) and causality between environmental driver and processes (e.g. generalized additive models, anomaly detection).

Event Introduction to Data Analytics and Python
07VUDSA101.1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 1,443

Description:

Business event contents:

Data analysis is an essential component of both physical and life sciences. In this course, we cover theory and practical applications in data analytics. Key topics include experimental design, selecting control studies, replication, data visualization, hypothesis testing, significance, power, data modeling, and data integrity. In the final lectures, these core concepts will be used to provide a brief introduction into advanced methods in data collection and analysis. The course will cover entry level Python programming using Jupyter notebook for data visualization, statistical analysis, and introductory large- scale data analysis.

Course Materials:

Materials and information will be shared using OLAT
Students must bring their own laptop to the course. The following free software will be used: anaconda & jupyter notebook. Information f installing this software is supplied in OLAT, and it is recommended that you do so before the first lecture.

Event Sprachvertiefung Polnisch Lektüre: Gedichte aus der Zwischenkriegszeit (1918-1939)
06SK480p006a / Sprachkurs / 3,577

Description:

Business event contents:

In diesem Kurs vertiefen Sie Ihre Kenntnisse der polnischen Sprache durch die Lektüre ausgewählter Gedichte der Zwischenkriegsjahre (1918-1939). Sie lesen Texte in Originalsprache, bearbeiten Aufgaben zum Textverständnis, analysieren sprachliche und stilistische Besonderheiten und üben die aktive Auseinandersetzung mit literarischen Inhalten. Dabei wird sowohl das Verstehen als auch das eigene Sprechen und Schreiben gefördert.

Wir lesen Gedichte von den bedeutendsten polnischen Dichter:innen dieser Epoche, darunter Gałczyński, Leśmian, Tuwim und Pawlikowska-Jasnorzewska. So lernen Sie nicht nur die sprachlichen Besonderheiten kennen, sondern erhalten auch einen Einblick in einen bedeutsamen Aspekt der polnischen Kultur und Literatur.

Die Arbeit mit Gedichten dient als Grundlage, um den Wortschatz zu erweitern, idiomatische Wendungen kennenzulernen und stilistische Nuancen der polnischen Sprache zu verstehen. Gleichzeitig werden grammatische Strukturen im Kontext der Texte systematisch wiederholt und geübt. Ein weiterer Schwerpunkt liegt auf der Verbesserung der Aussprache und der aktiven mündlichen Ausdrucksfähigkeit, sodass Sie die Texte nicht nur verstehen, sondern auch korrekt, flüssig und selbstbewusst vortragen können.

Notes:

Der Kurs fördert autonomes Lernen und die Entwicklung eigenständiger Lernstrategien.

Die Studierenden werden angeleitet, ihren Lernprozess aktiv mitzugestalten und Verantwortung für den eigenen Lernerfolg zu übernehmen.

Regelmässige Vor- und Nachbereitung (z. B. Wortschatzarbeit, Grammatikübungen) ist Bestandteil des Kurses.

Course Materials:

Im Kurs werden verschiedene Lehrmittel eingesetzt.

Darüber hinaus kommen überwiegend eigens erstellte Unterrichtsmaterialien der Dozentin zum Einsatz, die auf die Lernziele und das Sprachniveau der Studierenden abgestimmt sind. Die Kursmaterialien werden im Unterricht ausgehändigt und ergänzend in digitaler Form auf der Lernplattform OLAT hochgeladen.

Event Gruppe 05, Proseminar 1: Kolonialismus durch Kunst und Kultur
06SE600-007e / Seminar / 3,602

Description:

Business event contents:

Kann Kunst Herrschaft legitimieren? Wie wurde und wird »Fremdheit« in Kunst und Kultur produziert und vermittelt? Welche Bedeutung hatte Architektur im Kontext kolonialer Repräsentation und Machtausübung? Wie prägen materielle »Objekte« koloniale Erinnerungskultur bis heute? Können visuelle und kulturelle Mittel als Widerstand genutzt werden? In unserem Basismodul I werden diese und ähnliche Fragen im Zentrum stehen, die wir in beiden Proseminaren aus unterschiedlichen Perspektiven beleuchten wollen.

Das Proseminar I behandelt hauptsächlich die Verhältnisse zwischen dem Kolonialismus, den kolonisierten und kolonisierenden Gesellschaften, und Kunst/Architektur/Städtebau. Durch die Einführung ins historische Arbeiten auf Deutsch sowie auf Englisch wird der Umgang mit Fachliteratur gepflegt und die grundlegende Erkenntnis und Recherchetechniken fürs weitere Studium werden erlernt.

Im Proseminar II steht die Arbeit mit historischem Quellenmaterial im Fokus. Dabei untersuchen wir, wie materielle Kultur zur Konstruktion von »Fremdheit« genutzt, aber auch wie »Kunst« als Form von Widerstand eingesetzt wurde. Das Erlernen und Anwenden der historisch-kritischen Methode sowie Techniken der Recherche und des Schreibens legen die Basis historischen Arbeitens.

Ziel ist es, ein kritisches Verständnis für die Verflechtung von Ästhetik und Macht aus einer historischen Perspektive zu entwickeln und aktuelle Debatten um Restitution, Repräsentation und kulturelles Erbe einzuordnen. Im Laufe des Semesters werden wir gemeinsam ein Archiv oder ein Museum besuchen sowie Führungen in der Zentralbibliothek und in der Unibibliothek Geschichte durchführen.

Event Gruppe 09, Proseminar 1: Memory and Propaganda

06SE600-007i / Seminar / 413

Description:

Business event contents:

The ancient Greek historian Thucydides famously wrote that history is a "possession forever". However, history is not just a record of past events, but rather a battleground of memory and power, where the force of propaganda is embedded in several political decisions and social phenomena. In this Basismodul 1, we will trace different forms of memory and propaganda in the Graeco-Roman world and the Twentieth Century.

The Proseminar 2 explores how ancient Greeks and Romans have shaped their collective memory to define identity and reinforce power structures. Although the term "propaganda" is often anachronistic when referred to Graeco-Roman antiquity, the practice of controlling historical narratives was well established across the centuries. More specifically, we will investigate the ways in which history is remembered, forgotten, and rewritten to serve ancient political agendas. We will therefore analyse how the practice of damnatio memoriae ("condemnation of memory") has been developed both in classical and Hellenistic Greece and in imperial Rome to marginalise problematic testimonies and, ultimately, provide a new narration of history.

In the Proseminar 1, we will explore propaganda beyond memory. How did propagandists try to persuade people in the 20th century and how was propaganda assessed? The term propaganda became widely used in the first half of the twentieth century, when the new media radio and film created a mass audience. In the eyes of communication scientists and propagandists people thus became a moldable mass. We will examine concrete examples of propaganda, ranging from totalitarian to supposedly democratic propaganda, as well as scientific debates about it.

Based on these key topics, the introductory module provides an introduction to historical work: The focus is on research and reading techniques, citation styles, and, in particular, working with academic texts and historical sources.

This Basismodul 1 will be held in English.

Event Einführung in die Musikgeschichte bis 1600

06UE760-007a / Exercise Group / 747

Description:

Business event contents:

Diese Veranstaltung besteht aus zwei Unterrichtseinheiten. Die Einheit am Mittwoch vermittelt einen Überblick über die europäische Musikgeschichte von ihren Anfängen bis um 1600 (Gregorianik, frühe Mehrstimmigkeit, Renaissancepolyphonie, Instrumentalmusik), wobei auch die Funktionen der wesentlichen musikalischen Gattungen erläutert werden. Flankierend dazu gibt es am Donnerstag das scriptorium, in welchem die entsprechenden musikalischen Notationen erläutert, transkribiert und praktisch umgesetzt werden.

Event A: Functional approaches to language
06SE440-124c / Seminar / 183

Description:

Business event contents:

This course introduces students to a family of approaches that emerged in reaction to the generative tradition and are broadly referred to as functional approaches to language. In contrast to the Chomskyan view, which posits that humans possess a unique and innate language faculty, functional approaches argue that language is grounded in general cognitive abilities used (both consciously and unconsciously) in everyday activities, such as categorisation, pattern recognition, and metaphorical thinking.

Throughout the course, students will explore the core principles shared by various functional frameworks, engaging with topics that range from language acquisition to the organisation and representation of linguistic knowledge in the mind, as well as the mechanisms underlying language change. Particular emphasis will be placed on the relationship between language and cognition, enabling students to develop a deeper understanding of what our capacity for language reveals about human nature.

Event Bildung und Erziehung im Wandel
06VL226-004a / Course / 458

Description:

Business event contents:

In der Veranstaltung betrachten wir Bildung, Erziehung und Pädagogik als Phänomene und untersuchen deren Entstehung, Entwicklung und wiederkehrende Themen. Wir beleuchten die charakteristischen Ziele und entwickeln ein Bewusstsein für historische Analysen. Ein Schwerpunkt liegt auf den zentralen Akteuren im Bildungswesen im Laufe der Zeit. Wir analysieren Machtausübungen, Positionen der Akteure sowie die Agenden und Technologien, die Veränderungen im Bildungswesen bewirkten und bewirken. Zudem betrachten wir die Gestaltung und Entwicklung der Bildung in der Schweiz im europäischen und globalen Kontext. Ein wesentlicher Bestandteil des Kurses ist die Analyse von Bildungspolitiken. Wir bieten eine Kartierung des konzeptionellen Werkzeugkastens der Bildungspolitikanalyse an und stellen verschiedene Ansätze anhand von Beispielen vor. Darüber hinaus werden wir besonders einflussreiche Phänomene wie Assessment und Accountability untersuchen. Wir erforschen das Zusammenspiel zwischen Zeit und Governance in Bildungseinrichtungen sowie die Politik und politischen Systeme, die an der Geschichte der vergleichenden Bildung beteiligt sind, und erweitern unser Verständnis der Auswirkungen auf die Bildungspolitik. Abschließend beleuchtet der Kurs den Lehrplan als wesentlichen Bestandteil der Bildung, untersucht dessen Entwicklung und führt in die umfangreiche Literatur der Lehrplanforschung ein.

Die Fähigkeit zum selbstregulierten Lernen (SRL) ist eine zentrale Voraussetzung für den Erwerb fachlicher Kompetenzen und ein wichtiger Prädiktor für erfolgreiches Lernen über die gesamte Lebensspanne. Entsprechend gewinnt die Förderung von SRL im schulischen Kontext zunehmend an Bedeutung. In diesem Seminar setzen Sie sich sowohl mit den theoretischen Grundlagen als auch mit zentralen empirischen Befunden zum SRL auseinander. Der Fokus liegt dabei auf einem mehrperspektivischen Zugang: Wir betrachten SRL aus Sicht der Schüler:innen, der Rolle der Lehrpersonen sowie der institutionellen und schulischen Rahmenbedingungen. Das Seminar bietet Einblicke in aktuelle Forschungsprojekte und ermöglicht es, zentrale Konzepte kritisch zu diskutieren. Ziel ist es, theoretisches Wissen mit praxisnahen Ansätzen zu verknüpfen und zu reflektieren, wie SRL im Schulalltag nachhaltig gefördert und verankert werden kann. Im Rahmen des Moduls entwickeln Sie eigene Konzepte und konkrete Lernmodule für Schüler:innen und Lehrpersonen. Diese werden im Seminar präsentiert und gemeinsam kritisch diskutiert sowie weiterentwickelt.

Description:

Business event contents:

Familien leisten einen grossen Teil der gesellschaftlich notwendigen Care-Arbeit. Gleichzeitig stehen sie in der Schweiz vor widersprüchlichen Erwartungen: Eltern sollen erwerbstätig sein, während die Verantwortung für Betreuung und Fürsorge weiterhin bei den Familien selbst liegt. Diese Doppelbelastung bringt viele Eltern an ihre Grenzen und rückt familiäres Wohlbefinden ins Zentrum der sozialwissenschaftlichen Forschung. In dieser Übung setzen wir uns mit den Begriffen Familie, Fürsorge und Wohlbefinden auseinander und tauchen in das aktuelle SNF-Forschungsprojekt «Parental Wellbeing - Parents between Reward and Overload» ein. Wir fragen: Wie erleben Eltern ihre Care-Arbeit? Mit welchen Bedürfnissen und Anforderungen sind Familien konfrontiert? Was fördert oder hindert familiäres Wohlbefinden im Alltag?

Dafür arbeiten wir mit narrativen Paar-Interviews aus dem Projekt, diskutieren öffentliche Debatten und analysieren aktuelle Texte. Studierende gewinnen so einen konkreten Einblick in empirische und theoretische Zugänge zur Familienforschung und in die Frage, was Familien heute brauchen, um sich wohlfühlen.

Description:

Business event contents:

Der neue Rahmenlehrplan Maturitätsschulen von 2024 verlangt, dass Schüler*innen nicht nur in den einzelnen Fächern, sondern auch fächerübergreifend lernen. Ein zentrales Gestaltungselement des Seminars ist es, dass die Studierenden in interdisziplinären Tandems fächerübergreifende Unterrichtseinheiten entwerfen, den Mitstudierenden vorstellen bzw. sie mit ihnen erproben und diskutieren. Dadurch sollen die Studierenden Wissen und Können erarbeiten, auf dem sie in der eigenen Unterrichtspraxis aufbauen können. Die Tandems erbringen ihren Leistungsnachweis zeitlich gestaffelt über den Verlauf des Semesters. Themen (Auswahl): Bildungswert von fächerübergreifendem Unterricht, Qualitätskriterien, Themenwahl, Formen der Fächervernetzung, Praxisbeispiele, Methoden und Arbeitsformen, Leistungsnachweise im fächerübergreifenden Unterricht.

06VL390p005a / Course / 1,676

Description:

Business event contents:

Les fabliaux sont des "contes à rire en vers", selon la célèbre définition de Joseph Bédier. Souvent drôles, mettant en scène des couples adultères et des voleurs astucieux, ils sont comme le miroir en creux de la littérature courtoise. Le cours présentera le corpus des ca. 120 fabliaux et abordera, entre autres, la question du comique médiéval, des rapports entre hommes et femmes, ainsi que le dossier de la transgression et de la subversivité de ces textes.

Course Materials: Le matériel nécessaire sera mis à la disposition des participant-e-s sous forme de PDF sur Olat.

Event Fundamentos de la Narratología (grupo 2)
06SE427-001b / Seminar / 1,074

Description:

Business event contents:

¿Qué es un texto literario? ¿Cómo funciona y cuáles son las diferencias con otro tipo de textualidades? ¿Cómo se desarrolla el proceso de lectura y de producción de sentido? Estas son algunas interrogantes con las que abriremos este módulo sobre análisis literario, cuyo primer curso (Semestre de otoño) estará dedicado al análisis narratológico.

Tras un primer acercamiento general a la literatura, nos adentraremos en el campo de la narratología. Partiremos también de algunas preguntas clave: ¿De qué hablamos cuando hablamos de narración o de narrativa? ¿Qué es un autor, un lector, un texto? ¿Cuáles serían sus características, sus recursos y sus elementos? Y sobre todo, ¿Cómo y a través de qué herramientas podemos analizar el discurso narrativo?

En clases discutiremos una serie de textos teóricos sobre literatura y narratología, y pondremos en práctica los conceptos discutidos con ejercicios durante cada sesión.

Event Temi, forme, modi, teorie e storie di letteratura italiana (gruppo 2)
06SE410-006b / Seminar / 2,844

Description:

Business event contents:

Il seminario offre un'introduzione alla letteratura italiana nella quale si intrecciano lezioni di carattere storico-letterario e approfondimenti di carattere teorico, metodologico e critico. Le unità didattiche si articolano da una parte attorno alle principali categorie e strumenti dell'analisi letteraria, come i generi letterari, la stilistica, l'intertestualità, la relazione tra il testo e il suo pubblico, dall'altra introducono a nuclei tematici quali il rapporto tra letteratura e la società, letteratura e scienza, il rapporto tra la letteratura e le altre arti. Le lezioni offriranno alle e ai frequentanti uno sguardo critico sulle peculiarità dello sviluppo della letteratura italiana dalle origini ai giorni nostri e uno strumentario teorico e metodologico di base.

Event Lire et éditer des manuscrits du Moyen Age. Les Fables de Marie de France
06SE390p505a / Seminar / 1,691

Description:

Business event contents:

Vers la fin du XIIe Marie de France écrit un ensemble de fables, pour la plupart de tradition ésopique. Cette collection rassemble généralement 102 fables et nous est parvenue dans un grand nombre de manuscrits d'Angleterre et de France, qui présentent souvent des différences notables tout en racontant la même histoire. Dans ce cours, on apprendra à passer du manuscrit médiéval et du livre imprimé ancien à la l'édition scientifique, opération fondamentale quand on travaille sur des textes du Moyen Age. On apprendra à déchiffrer les manuscrits et à procéder à l'élaboration de toutes les composantes d'une édition. Surtout, on réfléchira aussi aux implications scientifiques de nos choix.

Course Materials: Un dossier de PDFs et de numérisations sera mis à disposition des participant-e-s sur Olat.

Event Poeti del Novecento. Un'introduzione
06VL410p006a / Course / 2,203

Description:

Business event contents:

Dopo aver trattato dei "padri fondatori" della poesia moderna in Italia, D'Annunzio e Pascoli, il corso presenta, attraverso un'antologia di testi, alcuni dei maggiori poeti del Novecento, da Saba, Montale e Ungaretti a Vittorio Sereni, Franco Fortini, Giovanni Raboni, Andrea Zanzotto e Amelia Rosselli. Oltre a letture tematiche, incentrate tra altri aspetti sulla dimensione politica, il corso propone una riflessione sulla metrica e le forme della poesia del Novecento.

Course Materials:

I testi analizzati in classe verranno messi a disposizione su OLAT. Si consiglia tuttavia di leggere anche altri testi. L'antologia "Poeti del Novecento" a cura di P.V. Mengaldo (Mondadori) rimane un ottimo punto di riferimento. Una ristampa è sempre in commercio ma purtroppo il volume non è economicissimo (28 Euro).

Event Curso preparatorio para el Examen de Lecturas de Literatura Española
06UE427-006a / Exercise Group / 594

Description:

Business event contents:

El objetivo de este módulo es el de apoyar y facilitar la preparación para el examen de la lista de lecturas en Literatura española (Leseliste Spanische Literaturwissenschaft, Modul 492). En él trabajaremos sobre los aspectos a tener en cuenta en algunas obras escogidas: contexto histórico-literario y génesis de la obra, evolución vital y poética del autor y análisis discursivo del texto. Desde las coplas de Jorge Manrique, pasando por la Celestina, el Quijote, las Leyendas de Bécquer, los versos del Romancero gitano de Lorca hasta llegar a Delibes y Martín Gaité, realizaremos un recorrido por la historia de la literatura española y descubriremos y disfrutaremos de algunas de sus obras más apasionantes y emblemáticas, así como de algunos de los autores más renombrados.

Course Materials:

Ediciones recomendadas que deberá procurarse la/el estudiante antes del comienzo del curso:

- Jorge Manrique, Coplas a la muerte de su padre, ed. de Carmen Díaz Castañón, Madrid, Castalia, 2008.
- Fernando de Rojas, La Celestina, ed. de D. S. Severin, Madrid, Cátedra, 2000.
- Garcilaso de la Vega, Poesía, ed. de B. Morros, Barcelona, Crítica, 1995.
- Miguel de Cervantes, Don Quijote de la Mancha, ed. de F. Rico, Madrid, Alfaguara-RAE, 2004, 2 vols.
- Gustavo Adolfo Bécquer, Rimas y leyendas, ed. de López Estrada y López García-Berdoy, Madrid, Espasa-Calpe, 2000.
- Antonio Machado, Campos de Castilla, en Poesías completas, ed. de M. Alvar, Madrid, Espasa-Calpe, 1997.
- Federico García Lorca, Romancero gitano, ed. de A. Josephs y Juan Caballero, Madrid, Cátedra, 2003.
- Miguel Delibes, El camino, Barcelona, Destino, 1995.

El material de las clases estará disponible en la plataforma OLAT.

Event Literatura y sonoridad en la literatura latinoamericana
06SE427-513a / Seminar / 1,704

Description:

Business event contents:

En los últimos años, la pregunta por la voz y la escucha dentro de la literatura ha puesto en evidencia que toda textualidad es también un espacio de vocalidades múltiples: un espacio donde la palabra suena, desborda la escritura e impone su escucha. En América Latina, donde la oralidad, las tradiciones indígenas/negras y la "ciudad letrada" han configurado históricamente las formas de producción y legitimación literaria, este enfoque adquiere especial relevancia, como revelan investigaciones recientes en estudios materiales, sonoros, y pensamiento decolonial.

El curso se organiza en dos momentos: una primera parte dedicada a enfoques teórico-culturales sobre la vocalidad y la escucha en la literatura, y una segunda centrada en el análisis de tres novelas que tensionan estas cuestiones. Sin embargo, desde el primer día estaremos leyendo y comentando textos literarios para abordar la literatura como un espacio donde se juega lo sonoro y lo audible.

El curso se despliega en dos movimientos que rehúyen el cierre: una primera fase que ensaya un horizonte teórico-cultural para pensar las políticas de la voz y de la escucha literaria, y un desplazamiento posterior hacia tres novelas que trabajan esas tensiones desde sus propias materialidades. Desde el primer día leeremos y comentaremos textos literarios, dejando que la escucha -y sus desvíos, sus restos- oriente la deriva de cada análisis.

Course Materials: Trabajaremos con material teórico y cultural, con cuentos, novelas (3) y fragmentos de textos literarios y poesía. Se recomienda la compra de la novela Austral de Carlos Fonseca.

Event La lingüística del texto
06VL427p002a / Course / 1,623

Description:

Business event contents:

¿Qué es un texto? ¿Cómo se caracteriza, estructura, comprende? La respuesta nos la da la lingüística del texto, una disciplina relativamente joven que se ocupa, por un lado, de los aspectos de la gramática que van más allá del nivel de la oración, es decir, la gramática "transfrástica"), y, por otro lado, de otras particularidades de los textos: sus estructuras, sus tradiciones, sus mecanismos. El análisis textual acerca la lingüística a la crítica literaria, aunque en la lingüística no se trata de ver los valores estéticos de los textos sino más bien su construcción formal y la construcción del sentido textual. El curso tiene un enfoque teórico, metodológico y empírico, y trabajaremos con textos de los más diversos tipos.

Course Materials: Se pondrán a disposición de las / los participantes a inicios del semestre a través de OLAT.

Event Didaktik des Immersionsunterrichts an Maturitätsschulen (Englisch)

06SE090Imm / Seminar / 620

Description:

Business event contents:

The course's aim is to provide a basis for future CLIL teachers in order to reflect upon and to implement the methodological and pedagogical dimensions of teaching a subject immersively in English. Participants will get an insight into the basics of CLIL, working on theoretical as well as practical materials, to be prepared for the challenge of having to teach a subject in a - presumably - foreign language. Apart from theoretical inputs and practical work, there will be guest speakers as well as opportunities to talk to immersion students. Course participants are expected to be active in class and in groupwork. During the course they will be required to produce their own hands-on materials, written assignments and will have to be willing to reflect critically upon them. In addition to this, participants are expected to do a set number of hospitation and trial lessons.

Notes:

Der Kurs ist zweisemestrig und beginnt jeweils im Herbstsemester. Im Frühlingssemester findet der zweite Teil statt, und es werden keine neuen Teilnehmer aufgenommen.

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Übung setzt sich mit der Offenen Jugendarbeit in der Schweiz als professionelles Handlungsfeld der Sozialen Arbeit auseinander. Dabei wird auf theoretische Grundlagen sowie empirische Einblicke in das Handlungsfeld Bezug genommen. Im ersten Teil werden zentrale Grundlagen behandelt: die Prinzipien der Offenen Jugendarbeit, ihre strukturellen Merkmale sowie ihre historische Entwicklung. Anschliessend richtet sich der Blick, exemplarisch am Beispiel des Jugendtreffs, auf das, was im Jugendtreff passiert: Welche Praktiken lassen sich aufseiten der Jugendlichen beobachten? Wie gestaltet sich das professionelle Handeln der Fachpersonen? Wie gestaltet sich das Verhältnis zwischen Jugendlichen und Professionellen? Und welche weiteren Akteur:innen sind in dieses Handlungsfeld eingebunden? Abschliessend werden ausgewählte Spannungsfelder der Offenen Jugendarbeit diskutiert. Im Zentrum stehen dabei Fragen von Diversität, das Verhältnis von Ermöglichung und Kontrolle sowie die Spannung zwischen fachlicher Orientierung und Wirkungs- bzw. Effizienzlogiken. An diesen Spannungsfeldern wird sichtbar, dass Offene Jugendarbeit von unterschiedlichen, teils widersprüchlichen Erwartungen geprägt ist.

Description:

Business event contents:

In dieser Übung widmen wir uns informellen Sozialisations- und Bildungsprozessen in jugendlichen Peerkontexten wie Peergroups, jugendkulturellen Szenen, digitalen Räumen und Formen der Selbstorganisation. Diese werden klassischerweise nicht der Sozialpädagogik zugerechnet, gewinnen jedoch zunehmend an Bedeutung als relevante Kontexte sozialpädagogischer Prozesse. In der Übung setzen wir uns sowohl mit theoretischen Verständnissen dieser Prozesse auseinander als auch mit empirischen Beispielen aus verschiedenen Jugendkontexten. Im Zentrum stehen dabei folgende Fragen: Welche Praktiken zeigen sich in diesen Kontexten? Welche Bedeutung haben sie für Jugendliche (z. B. in Bezug auf Zugehörigkeit, Teilhabe und Selbstpositionierung)? Und in welche gesellschaftlichen Bedingungen sind sie eingebettet (z. B. Macht- und Ungleichheitsverhältnisse)? Entlang dieser Fragen erarbeiten sich die Studierenden ein inhaltliches Grundverständnis sozialpädagogischer Prozesse. Ebenfalls eignen sie sich analytische Denkfähigkeiten an, in dem sie die Übungsliteratur im Selbststudium bearbeiten und an den gemeinsamen Auseinandersetzungen in den Übungssitzungen teilnehmen.

Event Qualitative Sozialforschung
06VL254-052a / Course / 2,500

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Vorlesung führt in die qualitative Sozialforschung ein, wobei Problemstellungen aus der Kommunikationswissenschaft und Medienforschung im Zentrum stehen. Verschiedene Formen der Datenerhebung (z.B. Interviews, Beobachtung, Online-Daten) und der Datenaufbereitung werden vorgestellt und in Bezug zu den Auswertungsmethoden gesetzt. Dabei wird der Unterschied zwischen kategorisierenden und rekonstruktiven Auswertungsverfahren erläutert. Der Schwerpunkt liegt auf kategorisierenden Methoden, insbesondere verschiedenen Formen der qualitativen Inhaltsanalyse.

Die Studierenden lernen, für unterschiedliche Forschungsvorhaben qualitative Forschungsfragen zu formulieren und passende qualitative Forschungsmethoden auszuwählen. Sie kennen verschiedene Formen der Erhebung, Aufbereitung und Auswertung qualitativer Forschungsdaten, können diese vergleichen und hinsichtlich ihrer unterschiedlichen Erkenntnismöglichkeiten einordnen sowie sinnvoll miteinander kombinieren.

Notes:

Die Veranstaltung verbindet Vorlesungsinputs mit praktischen Übungen, in denen das Gelernte an konkretem Material angewendet wird. Gearbeitet wird mit der Software MAXQDA.

Event Film Sounds: Theorien zu Stimme, Gesang, Klang, Frequenz, Vibration
06KO255p004a / Colloquium / 943

Description:

Business event contents:

Zu den einschlägigen theoretischen Schriften zur Stimme im Kino (Michel Chion, La voix au cinéma, 1982; Kaja Silverman, The Acoustic Mirror, 1988) und Anthologien zum Filmton (Elisabeth Weis, John Belton, Hg., Film Sound, 1985; Rick Altman, Hg., Sound Theory Sound Practice, 1992) sind gerade in jüngerer Zeit andere Arbeiten hinzugekommen, die die Dimensionen des Tons aus einer nicht-anthropozentrischen Perspektive erschliessen. Über Fragen nach der Stimme als Instrument der politischen Repräsentation, der Teilhabe am Diskurs oder des vokalen Ausdrucks sowie nach der Evolution filmischer Tonverfahren und den Feinheiten des Sounddesigns geraten damit auch Aspekte in den Blick, die über die menschliche Stimme und das menschliche Gehör hinaus reichen in kybernetische, elektromagnetische, ozeanische, ökologisch submergente oder musikalisch subversive Klangräume und Frequenzbereiche. Zu diesen jüngeren theoretischen Arbeiten gehören unter anderem Alexis Pauline Gumbs Dub (2020), Dominic Pettmans Sonic Intimacy (2017), Nina Sun Eidsheims Sensing Sound (2015), Douglas Kahn's Earth Sound Earth Signal (2013) oder Steve Goodman's Sonic Warfare (2012). Ausgehend von Odysseus' Begegnung mit den Sirenen, die als «Szene» einer theoretischen Herausforderung im Zentrum des Kolloquiums steht, versuchen wir uns diesen Schriften gemeinsam zu nähern. Begleitend zum Kolloquium findet eine Filmreihe im Stadtkino Basel zu «Sirenica Sounds» statt, die dazu einlädt, die theoretisch gewonnenen Erkenntnisse mit der eigenen Filmerfahrung abzugleichen.

Event Japan in the Heisei Era (1989-2019)
06SE290-024a / Seminar / 1,506

Description:

Business event contents:

The proseminar explores how Japanese society, culture, politics, and economics have changed (or not) during the Heisei era (1989-2019). The course examines major developments that shaped this period, including the burst of the economic bubble and the emergence of the so-called "lost generation"; the introduction of early policies promoting gender equality; rising immigration and new visa schemes designed to address labor shortages in the context of an aging society and declining fertility rates; the 1995 Aum Shinrikyō terrorist attack; the decline and temporary loss of power of the Liberal Democratic Party (LDP); the 2011 triple disaster and the evolving debate over nuclear energy; the emergence of new social movements; and the growing global popularity of Japanese culture. Through assigned readings, in-class discussions, and student presentations, participants will develop a nuanced understanding of the complexities of Japan during the Heisei era. Students will also select a topic of their choice to explore in greater depth for a presentation and a final research paper.

Event Sprachvertiefung BKMS Lektüre: Märchen - bajke
06SK480p005a / Sprachkurs / 3,576

Description:

Business event contents:

Im Kurs lesen wir mehrere Märchen in der Originalsprache, sowie ein Märchen der Gebrüder Grimm in der BKMS-Übersetzung. Wir bemühen uns ums Verstehen der Texte und analysieren ihre Struktur sowie die Unterschiede zwischen den mündlich überlieferten, verschriftlichten Texten und den modernen, von den bekannten Autoren verfassten Märchen. Zugleich interessieren uns die kulturologischen Aspekte und gesellschaftlichen Implikationen.

Der Kurs wird in Kooperation mit den herkunftssprachlichen Schüler:innen der BKMS-HSK-Schule «Zmaj» durchgeführt. In der Zusammenarbeit mit ihnen wollen wir kreativ werden und selber Märchen schreiben.

Notes:

Der Kurs eignet sich für alle Interessierten, die ausreichende BKMS-Sprachkenntnisse mitbringen (etwa B1+).

Course Materials: Sämtliche Materialien werden im Kurs-Pressbook und auf Olat zur Verfügung gestellt.

Event Reading Literary and Critical Theory (Group 2)

06SE450-550d / Seminar / 1,090

Description:

Business event contents:

The subject of this course is Ernest Hemingway's 1929 novel, A Farewell to Arms. Hemingway's second novel, A Farewell to Arms was immediately recognized as a landmark of Anglo-American modernism and continues to be regarded as one of the most important literary treatments of the First World War. For all its canonical status, however, Hemingway's semi-autobiographical tale of an American ambulance driver and a British nurse of the Italian front raises timely questions about the boundaries between fact and fiction, about total war and empty language, about the representation of trauma, the ethics of style, the performance of gender... about stoic heroes, able bodies, and "good" women.

We will explore these questions from multiple perspectives, familiarizing ourselves with a range of interpretive schools and critical vocabularies. Our survey of the theory will move chronologically: we will begin with New Critical readings of novel from the 50s and 60s, proceed through the formalist, marxist, and feminist criticism of the 70s, 80s, and 90s, and conclude with recent interpretations that draw conceptual resources from queer theory and disability studies.

Event Understanding Signals: Lecture
07VLGEO442.1 / Course / 5,499

Description:

Business event contents:

The lectures deal with detailed and advanced concepts of remote sensing measurements and signals. Students will learn about i) the different intended and unwanted information inherent to in situ and airborne remote sensing signals, ii) about concepts to assess and quantify data errors and quality, iii) about advanced methods to extract and compensate atmospheric, anisotropy, and other effects. Students will apply the learned theoretical knowledge in specifically designed labs in GEO442.2.

Course Materials:

Lecture slides are provided on OLAT. Students are encouraged to bring along electronic devices (laptop, tablet, smart phones) to make notes and comments on these slides during the lecture.

Event Literatur der Dinge
06SE504p001a / Seminar / 1,696

Description:

Business event contents:

"Wie aber west das Ding? Das Ding dingt." (Martin Heidegger, "Das Ding", 175)

Literarische Texte erzählen nicht nur von Menschen, sondern immer auch von den Dingen, die sie umgeben. Von Alltagsgegenständen über einzigartige Artefakte bis hin zu spekulativen Materialien verhandeln literarische Texte Fragen nach Dinghaftigkeit, Materialität und der "Agency" der materiellen Welt, die seit den 2000er-Jahren auch in den Kulturwissenschaften zunehmend an Bedeutung gewinnen. Anhand literarischer Texte, in denen Dinge auf verschiedenste Weisen zentral werden, sowie theoretischer Positionen aus der "Thing Theory" (Bill Brown), dem "New Materialism" (z.B. Jane Bennett und Bruno Latour) und deren Vorläufern (z.B. Martin Heidegger oder Gaston Bachelard) untersuchen wir in diesem Seminar Fragen wie:

Inwiefern lässt sich Literatur als ein Ort begreifen, an dem Dinge eine eigene 'Agency' entfalten? Welchen ontologischen Status haben literarische Dinge überhaupt (d. h. welche Rolle spielt es, dass ein Ding in und durch einen Text hervorgebracht ist)? Welche ethischen oder epistemologischen Implikationen ergeben sich aus der literarischen Aufmerksamkeit für Dinge? Wie reflektiert Literatur Verflechtungen zwischen Menschen und Dingen, insbesondere auch im Kontext des Anthropozäns?

Event Sehnsucht in der Sackgasse: Retromanie und Zukunftskrise(n) als narrative Devisen gegenwärtiger Populärkultur
06KO506p404a / Colloquium / 5,295

Description:

Business event contents:

«2026 Is The New 2016» heisst es aktuell parolenähnlich in den Sozialen Medien. Paradigmatisch bündelt sich darin eine Zeitdiagnostik mit Wiederholungscharakter, die seit 2016 in leitmotivischem Gestus in der transatlantischen Mainstream-Medienlandschaft vertreten ist. Zwischen politisch-ökonomischer Prekarität, weltweit umstrittener Zukunft/-losigkeit sowie weitervererbten (Dauer-)Krisen, suchen insbesondere gegenwärtige populärkulturelle Phänomene wie Stranger Things, Westworld oder Bridgerton Halt (oder Zuflucht) in einem retro-nostalgisch inszenierten und (hyper-)ästhetisierten 'Früher'. Das Abrufen, Referenzieren, Revidieren und Ummodellieren altbewährter Narrative sowie wiedererkennbarer visueller Schemata geschieht vor dem Hintergrund einer Phase des sozialgesellschaftlichen Umbruchs. Das Kolloquium widmet sich ebendieser massenmedialen Entwicklung innerhalb eines hochpolitisierten und konfliktären Klimas. Gemeinsam werden wir eine Varietät an audiovisuellen (Para-)Texten diskutieren, und diese unter Berücksichtigung von Theorien wie Derridas 'Hauntologie' oder den Schriften Hannah Arendts, Umberto Ecos, Bell Hooks etc. kritisch beleuchten.

Die Studierenden erhalten eine erste Orientierung im Fach Religionen, Kulturen, Ethik und seinen Anforderungen. Das Fach RKE wird dabei in seiner Genese und aktuellen Ausrichtung in den gegenwärtigen Debatten und gesellschaftlichen Entwicklungen eingeordnet und in Beziehung gesetzt zu diesen. Die Studierenden erhalten einen ersten Überblick über die religiöse Vielfalt in der gegenwärtigen schweizerischen Gesellschaft und lernen verschiedene Religionskonzepte und Zugänge zu Religion kennen.

Ebenso findet eine erste kurze Einführung in die Perspektiven Ethik und Gemeinschaft statt. Verschiedene sozial- und kulturwissenschaftliche Theorien und Konzepte werden vorgestellt und an Beispielen erläutert. Die Studierenden arbeiten dabei mit und an Ihren Präkonzepten und Beliefs um eine professionelle Haltung zum Fach zu entwickeln.

Event Bad News? Ursachen und Wirkungen negativer Nachrichten
06SE249p501a / Seminar / 392

Description:

Business event contents:

Negative Nachrichten wohin man schaut und alles wird immer nur noch schlimmer? Gibt es mehr Kriege, Krisen, Katastrophen oder übertreibt der Journalismus? Oder ist alles gar nur ein menschlicher Wahrnehmungsfehler? In welchen Medien finden wir besonders viel Negativität und ist das gut oder schlecht? Welche individuellen, gesellschaftlichen und medialen Effekte gehen damit einher? Braucht die Demokratie "bad news" oder können wir uns vorstellen, dass Nachrichtenberichterstattung und/oder Nutzung auch anders aussehen könnte? Das Seminar nimmt "Bad News" als Ausgangspunkt, um grundlegende Dynamiken der Nachrichtenproduktion und -rezeption zu untersuchen. Im Zentrum stehen theoretische und empirische Perspektiven auf Nachrichtenwerte, mediale Selektionsprozesse sowie psychologische und soziale Wirkungen negativer Berichterstattung.

Event Social Support and Internet Use
06SE254p120a / Seminar / 2,752

Description:

Business event contents:

From the early days of Internet research, social support has been recognized as a key factor shaping people's digital engagement, access, and skills. The availability and quality of support from one's social network can influence how someone uses digital media, what they gain from it, and the extent to which they are included or excluded from full digital participation. At the same time, digital media play a key role in shaping how people seek, obtain, and provide support, introducing opportunities for connection while also creating barriers.

This seminar explores the reciprocal relationship between social support and digital media use, examining how different forms of support (e.g., emotional, informational, instructional) affect and are accessed by various populations, including older adults, people with disabilities, and other marginalized groups. We will also consider the challenges that arise with social support in digital contexts. Through theoretical and empirical readings, class discussions, and presentations, students will critically analyze how social support and digital participation interact and evolve together.

Event Inhaltsregulierung auf Internetplattformen
06SE254p121a / Seminar / 1,392

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Verbreitung des Internet eröffnet neue Möglichkeiten für freie Meinungsäußerung, führt aber auch zur Verbreitung von illegalen und gefährlichen Inhalten wie Kindesmissbrauchsdarstellung, Hassrede und Desinformation. Speziell die großen Internet-Plattformen wie TikTok und YouTube etablieren deshalb komplexe Systeme zur Inhaltsregulierung, um problematische Inhalte zu identifizieren, zu löschen, Sichtbarkeit einzuschränken oder zu kennzeichnen. Die Lehrveranstaltung beleuchtet die verschiedenen Formen der Inhaltsregulierung in ihrem sozialen, technischen und politischen Kontext. Berücksichtigt werden aktuelle Aspekte der Inhaltsregulierung wie Community Standards, upload-filter zum Urheberrecht und brisante aktuelle Fallbeispiele im Spannungsfeld von Sicherheit und Meinungsfreiheit.

Event Ich weiss, dass du weisst: Informationsstruktur der germanischen Sprachen im Wandel
06SE360p131a / Seminar / 1,362

Description:

Business event contents:

In jedem Satz deuten Sprecher*innen an, mit welchen Informationen Hörer*innen vertraut sind und mit welchen nicht. Neben Lexik und der Grundfolge im Satz werden bekannte Informationen auch anhand von grammatischen Kategorien wie Definitheit und Tempus und Aspekt ausgedrückt.

In diesem Seminar untersuchen wir, wie die Informationsstruktur in den heutigen germanischen Sprachen funktioniert sowie, wie sich ihr Ausdruck in den letzten Jahrhunderten gewandelt hat. Neben ausgewählten modernen schriftlichen und gesprochenen Texten in modernen nord- und westgermanischen Sprachen werden wir analysieren, wie alte und neue Informationen mit der Morphosyntax in Urkunden, Gebrauchsliteratur und Briefen im Mittelhochdeutschen und Frühneuenglischen interagieren.

Notes:

Nach Bedarf kann Englisch als Unterrichtssprache verwendet werden.

Event Politische Systeme und Theorien I, Tutorat Gr. 01
06TT615-015a / Tutorat / 4,673

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Modul gibt eine Einführung in Theorien, Systeme und Prozesse, mit denen sich die Politikwissenschaft befasst. Ausgehend von der Frage, was Politik ist, werden verschiedene Ansätze vorgestellt (Strukturalismus, Kultur, Rational-Choice und Spieltheorie, Institutionalismus). Darauf aufbauend werden verschiedene Themenkomplexe erörtert, u.a. Macht, Souveränität, Staat, Nation, politische Regime, Demokratie, demokratische Institutionen, politische Akteure, Wahlsysteme und Abstimmungsprozesse.

Event West and Central Africa from the 15th to the 19th Centuries: An Introduction
06VL600p002a / Course / 3,024

Description:

Business event contents:

West and Central African societies were (and continue to be) characterized by pronounced political, religious, and ecological diversity, as well as by multiple forms of global entanglement. While some were part of large kingdoms, others were organized as micro-states, and still others did not develop state structures at all. Some societies adopted the Arabic script, whereas others functioned without writing. Islam arrived via trans-Saharan connections, Christianity from the Atlantic Ocean. While both were appropriated and embedded within regional cultures, so-called "pagan" belief systems continued to flourish. From the fifteenth century onward, coastal regions entered into regular contact with European ships and traders - much as Sahelian regions had interacted with North Africa for centuries -, yet prior to the nineteenth century only a few circumscribed territories experienced colonial rule. Rediscovering the past of these societies is crucial for a fuller understanding of world history.

Event Rom zwischen Chaos und Charisma – der Übergang von einer Republik zu einer Alleinherrschaft
06VL600p009a / Course / 2,578

Description:

Business event contents:

"Die Republik stirbt nicht an einem Tag" - aber sie kann schleichend verschwinden. Die römische Geschichte zwischen dem späten 2. Jh. v. Chr. und Augustus zeigt, wie Reformdruck, Polarisierung, Gewalt und politische Inszenierung eine alte Ordnung unterhöhlen und zugleich Neues hervorbringen. Die Vorlesung fragt nach den Mechanismen des Machtwandels: Welche Rolle spielten Heer, Geld und Loyalitäten? Wie wird aus Konkurrenz Herrschaft - und wie lässt sich dieser Wandel als "Rettung" verkaufen? Dabei geht es auch um die Frage, wie politische Sprache, Regeln und Erwartungen sich verändern, wenn Krisen zum Normalzustand werden.

Wir lesen die antiken Stimmen (u. a. Cicero, Sallust, Caesar, Augustus) kritisch und quellennahe, ergänzt durch Inschriften und Bildmedien, und verbinden Ereignisgeschichte mit Themen wie Legitimation, Emotionen, Medienöffentlichkeit und dem Verhältnis von Freiheit und Sicherheit. Wer verstehen will, wie Ordnungen kippen, ohne dass alle Beteiligten es sofort merken - und warum gerade Übergangszeiten die politischen Grundfragen besonders scharf stellen -, ist hier richtig.

Event Schwarze Literaturen in der Schweiz. Kulturwissenschaftliche Perspektiven auf das literarische Feld
06SE506p005a / Seminar / 2,660

Description:

Business event contents:

Literatur ist ein Aushandlungsort zeitspezifischer gesellschaftlicher Fragen und Verhältnisse und gestaltet Gesellschaft mit. Besonders sichtbar wird dies etwa in (dem Umgang mit) Literatur von Schwarzen Künstler*innen. Während Schwarzes Schreiben in der Schweiz Mitte des 20. Jahrhunderts vor allem von Stimmen aus dem US-amerikanischen Raum geprägt war (James Baldwin, Vincent O. Carter), hat es sich mittlerweile breit ausdifferenziert. Heute umfasst es neben Romanen (Max Lobe, Nora Osagiobare, Melara Mvogdobo) und autobiografischen Texten (Anja Nunyola Glover, Angélique Beldner) u. a. auch Spoken Word (Fatima Moumouni, Burni Aman, Anna Chiedza Spörri), Theater (Mbene Mwambene, Zainab J Lascandri), Gedichte (Meloe Gennai, Mohamed Wa Baile) und Kurzgeschichten (Amina Abdulkadir).

Im Seminar beschäftigen wir uns mit ausgewählten Akteur*innen, Performance- und Publikationspraktiken sowie Rezeptionsweisen. Diese betrachten wir nicht nur vor dem Hintergrund historischer sowie aktueller Formen Schwarzer Selbstorganisation und Archivierung in der Schweiz, der Schwarzen (Frauen*)Bewegung in Deutschland und transnationaler Perspektivierungen afrodiasporischer Literaturen, sondern diskutieren sie auch im Kontext (post-)kolonialer Verflechtungen der Schweiz sowie hegemonialer Machtverhältnisse im literarischen Feld.

Event Kulturwissenschaftliche Vortragsreihe: „Studying the Popular“ – ein Update für Grundbegriffe der Populärkulturforschung
06KO506p403a / Colloquium / 1,617

Description:

Business event contents:

"Die Populärkultur ist einer der Orte, an denen der Kampf für und gegen eine Kultur der Mächtigen ausgetragen wird" (Stuart Hall)

In dieser Vortragsreihe setzen sich Vortragende aus dem ISEK und externe Gäste aus dem In- und Ausland mit Grundbegriffen und Denkfiguren der "Popular Culture Studies" auseinander - zum Beispiel mit dem aktiven Publikum und der Produsage, mit der Unterscheidung von Popular-, Populär- und Popkultur, mit Visualität und Multimodalität, mit dem Genre-Begriff und der Idee des Generischen, mit Medienpraktiken und cultural industries. Sie fragen, wie diese in der EKW und darüber hinaus verändert und ergänzt werden sollten, um zu aktuellen Debatten über die medientechnischen, ökonomischen, ästhetischen und politischen Umbrüche der Gegenwart beitragen zu können.

Event Classroom Cinema: Filmische Konfigurationen von Orten und Kontexten des Lernens
06SE255p002a / Seminar / 537

Description:

Business event contents:

Ob Hito Steyerls filmisch-installativer Versuch, einem Mythos um die Wandfarbe in Adornos Frankfurter Hörsaal nachzugehen, Frederick Wisemans Institutionenfilme wie HIGH SCHOOL (USA 1968) oder AT BERKELEY (USA 2013), historische Projekte wie die britische Open University, die Universität als audiovisuellen Medienverbund gänzlich neu aufzustellen, oder die wortwörtlich filmische Auflösung unserer Seminarräume während der Pandemie ab 2020 - Beispiele für wechselseitige Befragungen und Irritationen der beiden Begriffe «classroom» und «cinema» finden sich viele. Gegenüber seinen enger gefassten Entsprechungen im Deutschen kann ein «classroom» vieles sein. Über den konkreten Seminarraum oder Hörsaal hinaus können damit ganz unterschiedliche Lernsituationen und soziale Zusammenhänge bezeichnet sein, die nicht notwendigerweise an eine konkrete Raumordnung gebunden sind. Entsprechend interessiert sich das Aufbauseminar für Filme und andere audiovisuelle Medien, die Lehr- und Lernzusammenhänge initiieren und strukturieren, für filmische Beobachtungen von Orten und Kontexten des Lernens sowie für die spezifischen Formen der Bedeutungsproduktion, die der «classroom» allererst möglich macht. In den Blick rückt damit nicht zuletzt auch unser eigenes Seminar als ein Zusammenhang, in dem «Film» überhaupt erst zu einem filmwissenschaftlichen Gegenstand wird.

Event Blutige Unterhaltung? Die Schauspiele im antiken Rom
06SE600-006a / Seminar / 484

Description:

Business event contents:

Gladiatorenkämpfe und Wagenrennen gehören - nicht zuletzt wegen Filmen wie Gladiator oder Serien wie Those who are about to die - zu den Kernbereichen der modernen Wahrnehmung der römischen Kultur. Während sich die populäre Rezeption oft im Bereich des "Pfui! - Wie interessant!" abspielt, waren die römischen Spiele in der historischen Forschung lange Bestandteil eines Dekadenz-Narrativs, das in ihnen Zeichen des Verfalls der römischen Kultur sah.

Im Seminar soll zunächst ein Überblick über die verschiedenen Formen der Spiele und die Kontexte ihrer Abhaltung erarbeitet werden. In einem weiteren Schritt soll dann nach der Funktion der Spiele in der römischen Kultur gefragt und die antike und die neuzeitliche Rezeption in den Blick genommen werden.

Event Making Inequality: Social Stratification and Socialization in Contemporary East Asian Societies
06SE290p720a / Seminar / 5,638

Description:

Business event contents:

This MA-level seminar examines how social inequality in Japan, China, and South Korea is produced and reproduced through everyday practices, institutional arrangements, and cultural frameworks. Moving beyond static accounts of stratification, the course focuses on the dynamic interplay between macro-structures (education systems, dualistic labour markets, citizenship, and migration regimes) and processes of socialization (interactional norms, moral orders, and neoliberal subjectivities).

Drawing on sociological literature, particular attention is given to the tension between state narratives of social cohesion or meritocracy and the empirical realities of stratification along class, gender, and migrant status. By integrating macro-level analysis with ethnographic and interactional studies, students will develop a multi-scalar understanding of inequality in East Asia, situating it within broader theoretical debates on social reproduction, cultural sociology, and the neoliberal transformation of the self.

Notes:

By the end of the course, students will be able to:

- Critically analyse key theories and empirical case studies of social stratification and social reproduction in East Asian contexts (Japan, China, and South Korea).
- Understand how institutions (education, labour markets, and family systems) structure inequality.
- Examine how everyday practices (interaction, language, and social norms) reproduce inclusion and exclusion.
- Apply sociological theories to empirical case studies from East Asia.
- Present and communicate complex sociological arguments effectively.

Course Materials:

Course materials consist of academic articles and selected book chapters made available by the instructor via the course's online repository.

Event PhD Course: Development Economics I
03VLDOEC0795 / Course / 2,143

Description:

Business event contents:

This course introduces students to core issues in development economics, drawing from both theoretical and empirical research. Topics include household economics, market failures, technology adoption, and private sector development.

The PhD courses Development Economics I–IV are offered as a full sequence. Students may take a single course or all four, and courses may be taken out of sequence, but we encourage the whole series for a full preparation to do research in the field.

Event Sprachvertiefung Russisch und/oder Belarusisch Lektüre: Ein anonymes Tagebuch aus Minsk
06SK480p008a / Sprachkurs / 3,585

Description:

Business event contents:

Im Rahmen des Lektürekurses lesen wir gemeinsam das belarusisch-russischsprachige Tagebuch einer Autorenperson und LGBTQ-Aktivist:in aus Belarus, die sich entschied, nach der niedergeschlagenen Revolution im Land zu bleiben. Das Tagebuch entstand in den Jahren 2021-2022 und wurde anonym veröffentlicht, da weder Selbstzensur noch die Veröffentlichung unter einem Pseudonym in Frage kam. So bleibt die Stelle, wo der Name der Autorenperson stehen sollte, leer. Diese Ellipse kann stellvertretend auch als Autorschaft von vielen anderen Belarus:innen gelesen werden. Die Revolution, die Ausreise, die Zerstörung von Netzwerken sind wichtige, aber nicht die einzigen Themen in diesem Tagebuch. Auch Themen wie Liebe, die Beziehung zu den Eltern, Selbstachtung, die eigene Integrität verschwinden in der Revolution nicht, sondern werden noch virulenter. Die Tagebucheinträge zeigen das Ringen um Freiräume, in denen Bewegung noch möglich ist, Freiräume in einer erstarrten Situation, in der jede Bewegung eine Gefahr sein kann. Das Schreiben des Tagebuchs wird zu einer lebenserhaltenden Bewegung.

Bei der Lektüre beschäftigen wir uns unter anderem mit der abwechselnden Zweisprachigkeit des Tagebuches, die der Sprachsituation in Belarus entspricht, mit den im Tagebuch verwendeten verschiedenen Möglichkeiten der gendersensiblen Sprache im Belarusischen und Russischen und mit der belarusischen Variante des Russischen. Die Lektüre ist somit allgemein eine Annäherung an die Sprachsituation in Belarus.

Notes:

Hauptunterrichtssprache ist Russisch, situativ und nach Bedarf auch Belarusisch.

Event Organizational Culture: Cultivating Great Workplaces (L)
03VL22BO0155 / Course / 2,093

Description:

Business event contents:

This course introduces students to organizational culture as a central lens for understanding how people think, feel, and behave at work. Drawing on classic and contemporary theories, students learn how cultures form, how they are communicated and maintained, and how they vary across organizations and other contexts. Modern topics like creating a "failure culture" or a "growth mindset culture" will be tackled, so that students can connect scientific evidence to ongoing dialogues.

By the end of the course, students will be able to describe and compare organizational cultures, diagnose cultural strengths and challenges, and formulate evidence-based strategies for cultivating great workplaces through organizational culture.

Event Grammatiken lesen

06SE360-106b / Seminar / 1,253

Description:

Business event contents:

Für Information zu jeglichem Thema, das die Struktur des Deutschen, historischer Sprachstufen oder Dialekte betrifft, sind grammatische Beschreibungen unverzichtbar. Das Auffinden von relevanter Information und die Einschätzung ihrer Relevanz ist keine triviale Aufgabe und verlangt Übung -- u.a. deshalb, weil Grammatiken in unterschiedlichen Zeiten verfasst worden sind und, je nach Zielpublikum, verschiedenen Konventionen in Terminologie und Strukturierung folgen. Man kann aber mit der richtigen Arbeitstechnik z.B. den Phonembestand eines Dialekts ermitteln selbst auf Grundlage einer Grammatik, die aus der Zeit vor der Entdeckung des Phonems als linguistische Grösse stammt. Man kann syntaktisch relevante Information finden selbst in einer Grammatik, die gar keinen Syntaxteil enthält. Das Seminar verfolgt zwei Ziele: (i) Praktische Handhabung im Umgang mit Grammatiken, (ii) einen Überblick über unterschiedliche Arten, wie eine Grammatik verfasst sein kann.

Notes:

Teilnahmevoraussetzung ist bestandenes Modul Einführung in die Germanistische Linguistik A (oder eine äquivalente linguistische Einführung in einem anderen sprachwissenschaftlichen Fach bzw. an einer anderen Universität).

Event Narrating Place: The Spatial Imaginaries of Literature
06VL440p006a / Course / 3,711

Description:

Business event contents:

During the final quarter of the twentieth century, the humanities and social sciences underwent what has since been termed the "spatial turn." As a result of this shift, space is no longer understood as a mere backdrop or neutral container within which history unfolds, but as a shaping force in social and cultural processes. From that perspective, space is a contested social construction that cannot be separated from power relations.

Although - or perhaps because - imaginative literature offers fictionalized representations of space and place, the insights of the spatial turn encourage us to rethink the role of literary "settings." As this lecture course will argue, literature accomplishes important cultural work by both reinforcing and challenging the shifting meanings attributed to space and place, and by reflecting the experience of lived space from the perspective of a wide range of characters, including marginalized and oppressed groups.

The course is organized into three sections. The first, theoretical section reconstructs key moments in the spatial turn and also considers earlier approaches to space in literature that predate - and arguably prefigure - this development, such as Bakhtin's concept of the chronotope and Lotman's spatial theory of narrative. The second section examines historical case studies from the late nineteenth century, showing how the peak of urbanization and imperial expansion fostered an increasing awareness of space and its social significance in texts as diverse as the Sherlock Holmes stories, the Gothic novel "Dracula," and colonial literature. In the final section, I explore contemporary writings by authors from former colonies, many of which reflect the experiences of migrants and challenge the hegemonic readings of space established during colonialism.

Event Reading Romance: Two Centuries
06SE440p508a / Seminar / 2,520

Description:

Business event contents:

Fiction about romantic love has formed one of the most popular literary genres since the rise of the novel and the invention of modern notions of love. The past two decades or so have seen an even more intense fascination with romance as part of a new reading culture. What is the appeal of the romance genre and how can we account for its enduring popularity and current boom? How is modern love defined? What is the social character of our most intimate feelings and erotic yearnings? How does love intersect with economic interests? What is the sexual politics at stake in this genre, which is primarily written by women for women and includes both straight and gay romance? What do readers do with these texts? How can they be used as sources of empowerment in a patriarchal and/or homophobic society?

In this seminar we will examine these and related questions by reading classic nineteenth-century texts by writers such as Jane Austen and the Brontë sisters alongside contemporary romance novels by bestselling authors such as Colleen Hoover, Emily Henry, Ali Hazelwood, and Rachel Reid. Our material will also include the TV series "Heated Rivalry", based on two Reid novels, and the new "Wuthering Heights" adaptation directed by Emerald Fennell and starring Margot Robbie, music and lyrics by Charli xcx and Taylor Swift as well as theoretical texts by thinkers ranging from Roland Barthes to Eva Illouz.

In our analyses and discussions, we will trace the recurring romance tropes that are used to narrate romantic love across periods. After all, one of the appeals of the genre lies in its patterns and genre conventions that allow authors and readers to tell and read the same (love) stories again. What are these patterns and tropes, and how do they make us fall in love with love?

Notes:

The seminar papers (8000 words +/- 10%) will be due by 31 March 2027.

Course Materials:

The seminar will include the following texts (in any reliable edition):

Austen, Jane. Pride and Prejudice. 1813. Penguin, 2003.
Charlotte Brontë. Jane Eyre. 1847. Penguin, 2006.
Emily Brontë. Wuthering Heights. 1847. Penguin, 2003.
Hazelwood, Ali. The Love Hypothesis. Little Brown, 2021.
Henry, Emily. Book Lovers. Penguin, 2022.
Hoover, Colleen. It Ends with Us. Simon & Schuster, 2016.
Reid, Rachel. Heated Rivalry. Harper Collins: 2024.

Additional texts will be announced on OLAT. Please note that this is a seminar for avid readers!

Event Political Persuasion in a Digital Reality
06SE615p516a / Seminar / 5,568

Description:

Business event contents:

When influencers engages in political discussions, do they influence the political attitudes of their followers? And if so, what mechanisms drive such influence? Understanding political persuasion, who influences whom, and how is central to understanding how political opinions are formed and has long been studied in political science. However, in an era of digital media, the landscape of political communication has changed, and new types of actors are increasingly important in the media diet of ordinary people. But how should we understand these actors and their political influence? These are some of the questions we try to answer in this course.

To do so, we move through three parts. The first covers the classical literature on political persuasion, examining the persuasive power of parties, friends, the media, and nontraditional sources of influence such as reality TV and celebrities. The second introduces qualitative and critical contemporary diagnoses of "the digital" as a space, providing students with the theoretical grounding needed to analyse political persuasion in online environments. The final part examines contemporary digital actors, such as influencers, YouTubers, and streamers. Drawing on current scholarship on their political influence, we discuss whether existing frameworks adequately capture the mechanisms at play. The course ends with group presentations and a written assignment in which students develop a theoretical argument, a research question, and a research design for an empirical study.

Room: AFL-F-150

Course Materials:

The seminar is reading-based; i.e., 3-4 papers will be assigned per session. Students are expected to read the assigned text prior to the lecture. A full list of papers will be provided in the detailed course syllabus.

Event Seminar: Gender and Space in the Context of Islamic Religious Education
01SE54SS048 / Seminar / 2,724

Description:

Business event contents:

Geschlechterstereotype und Ungleichheitsverhältnisse wirken nicht nur in Lernräume hinein, sondern werden oft auch durch die Räume selbst hervorgebracht. Das Seminar untersucht, wie in formalen, informellen und non-formalen Räumen islamisch-religiöser Bildung (etwa in digitalen Lernumgebungen, im islamischen Religionsunterricht, in Schulbüchern oder in Moscheen) Geschlechterbilder konstruiert, verhandelt und reproduziert werden.

Hierfür werden geschlechtertheoretische und religionspädagogische Perspektiven miteinander verknüpft. Auf der methodisch-methodologischen Ebene nutzt das Seminar einen rekonstruktiven Ansatz, der es ermöglicht, empirische Materialien systematisch zu analysieren und deren Zusammenhänge kritisch zu reflektieren. Die empirischen Analysen werden anschließend mit den theoretischen Zugängen zusammengeführt. Daran anknüpfend wird die Frage bearbeitet, wie sich religionspädagogische Räume gendersensibel gestalten lassen und wie eine gendersensible islamische Religionspädagogik gedacht werden kann.

Event Lecture: Religious authorities in Islam. Negotiation processes in religious educational spaces
01SM54VL016 / Course / 2,998

Description:

Business event contents:

Räume islamischer Bildung und Erziehung befinden sich in tiefgreifenden Transformationsprozessen, die eng mit Generationenverschiebungen, damit einhergehenden Normen und Wertkollisionen sowie breiteren gesellschaftlichen Entwicklungen verbunden sind. Diese Veränderungen wirken sich nicht nur auf pädagogische Praktiken aus, sondern verschieben zugleich die Erwartungen an religiöse Autoritäten und deren Rollenverständnisse. In diesem Zusammenhang werden Fragen religiöser Autorität, Professionalität und Legitimität in islamischen Bildungsräumen neu ausgehandelt. Die Vorlesung untersucht diese Dynamiken anhand verschiedener Kontexte (insbesondere Moscheen, schulische Bildungssettings und digitale Räume) und rekonstruiert zentrale Entwicklungen und Aushandlungsprozesse im Spannungsfeld von Tradition, Institutionalisierung und gesellschaftlichem Wandel.

Event Vorlesung: Protest and Counter-Representation: An Introduction to South African Photography (1880s-2020s)
06VL640p006a / Course / 4,983

Description:

Business event contents:

Articulated around the notions of protest and counter-representation, this course will introduce students to the history of photographic practices in South Africa from the early twentieth century to the present, and their entanglement with socio-political struggles. It approaches these practices not as a bounded national tradition or a linear chronological progression, but as part of a network of transnational exchanges, shaped by and contributing to global visual and artistic discourses. The course is structured around tensions between photography as a tool of domination and as a site of resistance, and between claims to documentary truth and their critical re-evaluation.

Beginning with an overview of ethnographic practices and studio portraiture, the course will trace the development of South Africa-based photographic practices through the colonial and apartheid periods. Particular attention is given to photography's contested status as a 'truth-telling' medium and to the notions of 'social documentary' and 'struggle photography', examining its role both in sustaining systems of power and in resisting the violence of the apartheid regime. It will then consider the photographic narratives shaping the South African post-apartheid, globalised, and digital landscape.

Photographic series from the pre- and post-apartheid periods will be selected for discussion, and their activist and political stakes critically analysed. Key works by photographers such as David Goldblatt, Ernest Cole, Santu Mofokeng, Jo Ractliffe, Jodi Bieber, Sabelo Mlangeni, Zanele Muholi, and Lebohang Kganye will highlight both the diversity of South African photographic production and a set of shared artistic concerns.

The course engages with what 'protest', activism, and counter-narratives mean in photographic terms, and how such images have shaped representations of South Africa both within and beyond its borders, while also considering how younger generations of photographers engage with this visual heritage.

Students will be encouraged to 'read' photographic images in relation to their historical and geographical specificities and visual traditions, drawing on photography theory, sociology, gender studies, and postcolonial frameworks, particularly those rooted in South African scholarship, to examine the capacity of photography to fix, unfix, and contest assigned identities and power structures, as well as to reimagine collective narratives.

Event ST Seminar Ethics: Ethics and Religions. Introduction to Ethics
01SE23SS129 / Seminar / 2,615

Description:

Business event contents:

This seminar appears in the BA Theology and Religious Studies module catalogue under the title "Ethics and Religions: Introduction to Ethics."

This course introduces students to the study of ethics as it is shaped by religious traditions, with a particular focus on Christian social ethics and Islamic bio- and medical ethics. It explores how religious moral frameworks engage with contemporary ethical challenges in pluralistic societies, such as social justice, human dignity, healthcare decision-making, and public policy.

Students will examine classical sources and modern interpretations, learning how ethical reasoning is developed within religious traditions and how it interacts with secular ethical theories. The course emphasizes comparative perspectives, interdisciplinary dialogue, and the practical relevance of ethics in real-world contexts. Through case studies, textual analysis, and discussion, students will develop tools to critically assess ethical arguments grounded in religion.

Notes:

This seminar will be held online. Students will receive the Zoom link by email and can also find it on OLAT.

Während der Reading Week vom 12.-16.10.2026 finden keine Lehrveranstaltungen an der TRF statt.

Course Materials: Literature will be available on OLAT.

Description:

Business event contents:

Aus der im Laufe der Jahrhunderte stetig grösser gewordenen Masse der theologischen Texte stechen doch einige Texte besonders hervor. Sie haben die Theologie nicht nur ihrer Zeit geprägt oder sogar umgewälzt, sie prägen auch heute unser theologisches Nachdenken. Darum ist es gut, einige dieser Texte gleich zu Beginn des eigenen dogmatischen Nachdenkens an der Universität zu lesen und zu verstehen. Darum geht es in der Übung "Grundtexte der Dogmatik". Der inhaltliche Focus wird dabei auf Texten der 'neueren' Theologiegeschichte seit der Reformation liegen, auch gegenwärtige Beiträge sollen gemeinsam diskutiert werden. Neben dem Kennenlernen zentraler dogmatischer Texte ist es auch Ziel der Veranstaltung, Methoden zur ertragreicheren Lektüre einzuüben.

Event ST Lecture Dogmatics: Hamartologies and Soteriologies
01VL23SV023 / Course / 2,620

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Rede von der Sünde und ihre Überwindung sind zentrale Lehrstücke der reformatorischen Theologie: Menschen sind erlösungsbedürftig und aus eigener Kraft nicht fähig, Gemeinschaft mit Gott zu schaffen oder zu erhalten. Aber warum eigentlich nicht? Auf diese Frage antwortet die Sündenlehre (Hamartologie). Ob und wenn ja, warum alle Menschen sündig sind (allgemeine Sünde), wie sich diese Sünde zwischen Menschen fortsetzt (Erbsünde oder strukturelle Sünde) und im Denken und Handeln der Menschen niederschlägt (Tatsünden), sind Grundfragen, denen im ersten Teil der Vorlesung historisch und im Blick auf gegenwärtige Debatten in ökumenischer Perspektive nachgegangen wird. Der zweite Teil der Vorlesung widmet sich der mit der Sündenlehre verbundenen Lehre vom Bösen: Vorstellungen des personifizierten Bösen oder bösen Mächten werden ebenfalls historisch und im Blick auf gegenwärtige Debatten bearbeitet. Im dritten Teil kommt die Lehre vom Heil (Soteriologie) in den Blick: Rechtfertigung, Erlösung oder Versöhnung beschreiben, wie in Jesus Christus die Sünde überwunden ist. Wie dieses Geschehen gedeutet werden kann, wird in Auseinandersetzungen mit ökumenischen Konzepten aus der Tradition und Gegenwart vorgestellt.

01SE23SS053 / Seminar / 2,612

Description:

Business event contents:

Im Kontext der Digitalisierung, insbesondere im Bereich der Informationstechnologie (KI und Robotik) und im Trans- und Posthumanismus, sind Menschenbilder und anthropologische Konzepte entstanden, die die Grenzbestimmungen zwischen Mensch und Maschine verwischen. Sie erfassen Natur, Mensch und Technik vorrangig in naturwissenschaftlichen und informationstheoretischen Begriffen. Erfahrungen konkreter körperlich-leiblicher Existenz und Lebendigkeit drohen damit zur illusorischen Begleiterscheinung des naturwissenschaftlich Mess- und Modellierbaren und technisch Reproduzierbaren reduziert zu werden. - Das Seminar geht der Frage nach, wie diese Menschenbilder aus der Sicht der theologischen Anthropologie zu beurteilen sind. Dazu werden klassische und neuere theologisch-anthropologische Entwürfe gelesen.

Event Revision course on ethics
01UE23LM102 / Repetitorium / 2,627

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Repetitorium Ethik richtet sich an Studierende in der Endphase ihres Studiums und bietet einen kompakten Überblick über grundlegende Inhalte und Fragestellungen theologischer Ethik. Thematisiert werden ethische Grundbegriffe, zentrale ethische Theorien sowie Modelle ethischer Urteilsbildung in evangelischer Perspektive. Einen besonderen Schwerpunkt bilden materiaethische Fragestellungen. Anhand ausgewählter Themenfelder – darunter Sexualethik, Wirtschaftsethik, Friedensethik oder auch Sportethik – wird erarbeitet, wie ethische Konzeptionen auf konkrete gesellschaftliche und individuelle Konflikte angewendet werden können. Ziel ist es, die Fähigkeit zu stärken, ethische Probleme strukturiert zu analysieren, normative Positionen kritisch zu vergleichen und eigenständig begründete ethische Urteile zu formulieren.

Description:

Business event contents:

Im Grundseminar PT geht es einerseits darum, die Teildisziplinen des Faches kennenzulernen und andererseits praktisch-theologisches Nachdenken anhand eines konkreten Leitbegriffs zu üben. In diesem Semester fragen wir, wie die Botschaft vom nahenden Himmelreich christliche Lebens- und Glaubenspraxis orientiert (und irritiert). Wir beschäftigen uns mit Texten aus dem Lukasevangelium, die in der NT-Lektüre übersetzt und über die im Evensong gepredigt wird.

Event An Introduction to the Philosophy of Embodied AI
06SE160p017a / Seminar / 4,841

Description:

Business event contents:

This course investigates the role of embodiment within the discourse on language-focused artificial intelligence («Language AI»), centered around a fundamental question: Is an entity such as a Large Language Model (LLM)- which is non-embodied and non-living-capable of speaking or understanding language? This is essentially a conceptual inquiry, revolving around the precise meanings of specific pivotal concepts, especially the concepts of living being and language.

Designed as an introduction, the course is intended for undergraduate philosophy students as well as students from other disciplines with an interest in the subject matter.

The two central concepts of the course are living being and language. The significance of language manifests in two ways:

The Course's Technological Focus: An examination of AI systems that process natural language, specifically LLMs.

The Course's Conceptual Focus: An emphasis on the notions of linguistic understanding and the act of speaking.

We begin by examining what it means to be alive, building on the Neo-Aristotelian position of PMS Hacker.

Next, we focus on language, drawing upon the fundamental pragmatic insight that language is essentially a rational, norm-governed social practice, as highlighted by Robert Brandom.

This will be followed by a theoretical and practical introduction to LLMs.

Building upon these three sections, the fourth and final part of the course addresses our guiding question: Can a non-embodied, non-living being-specifically an LLM-engage in speech or truly understand language? This concluding section will be informed by current relevant academic literature, including research by David Chalmers and Thomas Fuchs.

Event Mystik und (weibliche) Autorschaft im Mittelalter
06SE360-118a / Seminar / 2,028

Description:

Business event contents:

»Das Fliessende Licht der Gottheit« gilt als einer der ersten Texte in deutscher Sprache, die von einer Frau verfasst wurden: Mechthild von Magdeburg. Als »ungelehrter Mund, der die gelehrten Zungen lehrt«, entwickelt sie innovative literarische Formen, die sich im Spannungsfeld zwischen Orthodoxie und Heterodoxie bewegen. Das Sprechen von und mit Gott wird in der mystischen Literatur unterschiedlich ausgestaltet: Ausgehend vom »Fließenden Licht« fragen wir nach Parallelen und Differenzen zu anderen mittelalterlichen Autor:innen (Meister Eckhart, Marguerite Porete).

Wir diskutieren Fragen, die auch die Forschung nachhaltig beschäftigen: Geben mystische Texte Aufschluss über eine »andere Ästhetik« des Mittelalters, die von modernen Vorstellungen von Literatur und Autorschaft abweicht? Was sind die wechselnden historischen Bedingungen, die (weibliches) Sprechen und Schreiben ermöglichen? Wie lässt sich eine kollektive oder plurale Autorschaft denken, und wie gehen wir mit der historischen Gegebenheit anonymen Überlieferung um?

Gegen Ende des Semesters sprechen wir auch über Aktualisierungen mystischer Literatur in der Gegenwart.

Notes:

Kenntnisse des Einführungsmoduls und von »Grundlagen und Methoden« werden vorausgesetzt.

Course Materials: Die Texte werden auf OLAT zur Verfügung gestellt.

Event Grundlagen der Soziologie

06VL240-001a / Course / 5,182

Description:

Business event contents:

Denken Sie, dass in Zukunft eine künstliche Intelligenz (KI) über die Verwendung knapper Umweltressourcen bestimmen wird? Erfüllt Sie diese Vorstellung mit Zuversicht oder sträuben sich Ihre Haare?

Moderne Gesellschaften stehen vor unzähligen Herausforderungen, vom legitimen Einsatz moderner Technologien wie KI, über den Klimawandel, bis hin zu neuen Formen sozialer Macht und Ungleichheit. Diese Herausforderungen können wir nur meistern, wenn wir durchschauen, wie Gesellschaften ticken. Wir brauchen die Soziologie. Sie gibt uns die Werkzeuge an die Hand, um das Zusammenleben von Menschen - von persönlichen Beziehungen über Organisationen bis zur Weltgesellschaft - systematisch beschreiben und erklären zu können.

Deshalb lade ich Sie dazu ein, sich diese Werkzeuge gemeinsam anzueignen. Anhand brennender Herausforderungen und konkreter Alltagsbeispiele diskutieren wir zentrale Theorien und aktuelle Befunde der Soziologie.

Event Emotionspsychologie
06VL200-001b / Course / 787

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Emotionspsychologie befasst sich mit einem zentralen psychischen Phänomen, das sich durch die Komponenten Erleben, kognitive Einschätzung, physiologische Erregung sowie Ausdrucksbewegungen beschreiben lässt und das Implikationen für Motivation, Kognition und Verhalten hat. Der Facettenreichtum des Konstrukts "Emotion" spiegelt sich in zahlreichen theoretischen Ansätzen wieder, die den Fokus auf jeweils ausgewählte Aspekte legen. In der Vorlesung werden folgende Inhalte vermittelt: Definitionen und Grundbegriffe der Emotionspsychologie; historische und aktuelle theoretische Ansätze (evolutionsbiologische, behavioristisch-lerntheoretische, psychophysiologische Emotionstheorien sowie kognitive Bewertungstheorien); Methoden der Emotionsforschung; vorauslaufende Bedingungen und Konsequenzen von Emotionen; Emotionsregulation.

Event Entwicklungspsychologie (Teil 1)
06VL200-002b / Course / 797

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Vorlesung "Entwicklungspsychologie 1" ist die erste zweier Grundlagenvorlesungen zur Entwicklungspsychologie der Lebensspanne. In dieser Vorlesung werden Grundlagen und Anwendungen von Theorien, spezifischen Methoden behandelt. Es wird zudem ein vertiefter Einblick in aktuelle Forschungsthemen und -richtungen geben. Der spezifische Fokus dieser ersten Grundlagenvorlesung Entwicklungspsychologie liegt auf der Entwicklung der frühen Kindheit (ab der Geburt) bis in das Jugendalter und behandelt die für dieses Altersspektrum zentralen Aspekte wie zum Beispiel die Entwicklung der Wahrnehmung, Motorik, Emotionen und Bindung.

Notes:

Es wird ein Podcast aufgezeichnet, Zugang über OLAT. Hinweis: Es ist möglich, dass einzelne Vorlesungen nicht oder nicht störungsfrei aufgezeichnet werden. Studierende verzichten deshalb auf eigenes Risiko auf den Besuch einer Veranstaltung oder auf das Erstellen eigener Notizen. Bei inhaltlichen Widersprüchen haben die als prüfungsrelevant deklarierten Materialien (z.B. Folien) Vorrang vor den Podcasts. Event Mexiko 1910-1968, von der sozialen Revolution zum kapitalistischen Wirtschaftswunder
06SE600-024a / Seminar / 3,085

Description:

Business event contents:

In Mexiko fand ab 1910 die erste soziale Revolution des 20. Jahrhunderts statt, welche den modernen mexikanischen Staat begründete. Die Mexikanische Revolution, welche je nach Zählweise bis 1940 dauerte, brachte die erste sozialdemokratische Verfassung der Welt hervor und führte zu einer grossangelegten Landumverteilung und Bildungsinitiative. Ab 1940 erlebte das neue Mexiko ein postrevolutionäres Wirtschaftswunder, das Milagro Mexicano, welches in den olympischen Spielen von 1968 seinen Höhepunkt fand. Diese vermeintliche Erfolgsgeschichte lässt sich allerdings auch anders erzählen: Als Geschichte eines blutigen Bürgerkrieges, einer korruptierten Revolution, und eines autoritären Einparteiensstaates, der kurz vor den Olympischen Spielen von 1968 hunderte protestierende Studierende brutal massakrierte.

In diesem Seminar studieren wir anhand von verschiedenen Episoden aus der Zeit von 1910 bis 1968, wie das moderne Mexiko geschaffen wurde. Wir beschäftigen uns dabei mit den Perspektiven von Soldaderas, Muralistas, Eisenbahnarbeiter*innen, Filmstars, Kleinbäuer*innen, Präsidenten, sowie zahlreichen weiteren Akteur*innen, um diese prägende Periode der mexikanischen Geschichte mit all ihren Widersprüchen und Ambivalenzen zu verstehen.

Event Statistik III

06SE240-010a / Seminar / 5,237

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Veranstaltung knüpft an die Module Statistik I und II des Soziologischen Instituts an. Ein Schwerpunkt bildet die forschungspraktische Anwendung quantitativer Analyseverfahren im Rahmen schriftlicher Forschungsarbeiten. Die Veranstaltung baut somit die wichtige Brücke von der grundlegenden Statistik zur empirischen Forschungsarbeit. Sie bereitet insbesondere die Bachelorarbeit am Soziologischen Institut vor. Neben fortgeschrittenen Regressionsverfahren werden Techniken zur Darstellung und Analyse komplexer Zusammenhänge (Mediation und Moderation), zur Visualisierung von Daten und zur Kommunikation von Analyseergebnissen behandelt: Kompetenzen, die auch in vielen soziologisch geprägten Berufsfeldern (Markt- und Meinungsforschung, Amtliche Statistik, Politikberatung, Data Sciences) zentral sind.

Event Methoden und Konzepte der Contemporary History
06SE598-506a / Seminar / 1,934

Description:

Business event contents:

Was bedeutet es, Contemporary History zu betreiben? Welche Epochenkonzepte sind damit verbunden? Die (west)deutsche Zeitgeschichte hat sich ursprünglich auf «die Epoche der Mitlebenden und ihre wissenschaftliche Behandlung» (Hans Rothfels) bezogen. Auch vergleichbare Konzepte wie die Contemporary History oder die Histoire du temps présent haben sich oft auf die Epochengrenzen 1914/1917/1918 oder 1939/1945 berufen und das Zeitalter der Extreme (Eric Hobsbawm) und ihrer Aufarbeitung ins Zentrum gestellt.

Wir werden uns im Seminar grundsätzlich der Frage widmen, welche Zeitschichten jeweils ins Blickfeld gerückt werden müssen, um konkrete gesellschaftliche Konflikte, politische Auseinandersetzungen, mediale Umbrüche und wissenschaftliche Debatten der Gegenwart zu verstehen. Und wir werden dabei insbesondere auch darauf achten, welche (neuen) Archive und Quellenbestände wichtig werden und wie das Methodenspektrum der Geschichtswissenschaft hierfür erweitert werden müsste. Zudem sollen die Student:innen befähigt werden, historisch informierte Positionen zu aktuellen Gesellschaftskonflikten zu entwickeln. Das Seminar ist ein Lektürekurs, in dem verschiedene Methoden und Konzepte einer Contemporary History anhand von aufschlussreichen Monografien kritisch diskutiert werden. Auch gemeinsame Ausstellungs- und Kinobesuche zu zeithistorischen Themen sind geplant.

Event Political Campaign Strategy
06SE615p027a / Seminar / 3,972

Description:

Business event contents:

This seminar explores the dynamic and evolving world of political campaigns, examining how democratic participation is shaped by changing strategies, technologies, and institutions. As campaigning moves from traditional offline grassroots mobilisation to data-driven, consultant-led operations, students will investigate the origins, evolution, and modern realities of how elections are planned, executed and won. The course will provide an interdisciplinary approach that blends theory and practice. It covers key elements of campaign strategy, media management, message development, fundraising, and the role of consultants, candidates, and staff. We will situate these tools within the broader historical context of democratic governance, highlighting how electioneering reflects and reshapes the practice of democracy itself. A central feature of the course is a hands-on, learn-by-doing approach. Students will design and pitch their own campaign plans to develop written and oral skills in political communication, strategy, and mobilisation. This module is ideal for students interested in how democracy functions on the ground and for those eager to engage directly with the high-energy, high-stakes world of political campaigning.

Event Thesis Colloquium
06KO440p502a / Colloquium / 2,891

Description:

Business event contents:

The Thesis Colloquium is addressed to both MA students and PhD candidates, whether you are just beginning your thesis or already working on it. Its aim is to support you in the writing process. Participants will have the opportunity to share an excerpt from their work in progress, which will then be discussed in class, with moderation provided by fellow participants. These discussions provide a space to exchange ideas, reflect on common challenges, and develop strategies for navigating the complexities of academic writing. If you prefer not to present an excerpt, you may still earn credits by chairing a session or by writing minutes to support the presenter. The colloquium meets bi-weekly, or as needed.

Event Climate Targets in Europe
06SE615p023a / Seminar / 3,720

Description:

Business event contents:

Climate change and environmental degradation are existential threats to Europe and the world. With the European Green Deal, the EU aims to transition to a modern, resource-efficient, and competitive economy, but in which way? By using various optional topics, regional solutions are analysed, compared, and discussed.

Students will examine and compare climate targets in various European countries, with a focus on key policy areas such as renewable energy, carbon emissions reduction, and sustainable agriculture. The module provides comprehensive knowledge of the European Union Green Deal and detailed insights into past and current practical implementation using regional examples.

Critical reading and discussion of academic literature will further enhance understanding.

This intercultural module leverages the online environment to facilitate peer-to-peer learning and exchange.

Approaches to teaching and learning include active and task-based learning, group work and discussions, debates in class, and problem-based learning. Through collaborative projects and discussions, module participants will gain insights into the diverse strategies and policies employed across different nations, fostering a comprehensive understanding of European climate policies and their implementation.

Event Recht und Religion
02VL90GL16-1 / Course / 3,793

Description:

Business event contents:

Religionen waren und sind prägende Elemente sozialer Ordnungen. Es stellt sich in unserer Rechtsordnung deshalb die Frage, wie religiöse Gruppen, Überzeugungen und Praktiken rechtlich bewertet werden sollen. Die Vorlesung zeigt die völkerrechtlichen, verfassungsrechtlichen und gesetzlichen Grundlagen für den Umgang mit Religionen und widmet sich dem Verhältnis von staatlichem Recht und Religion - auch in rechtsvergleichender Perspektive. Der Blick richtet sich aber nicht nur auf die Positionen von Religionen und ihren Rechten im staatlichen Recht. Religiöse Traditionen werden immer wieder auch im Zusammenhang von religiösen Rechtsbildungen wirksam, führen doch religiöse Überzeugungen häufig zur Entstehung von Rechtsregeln insbesondere für die Angehörigen religiöser Gruppen. Daher wird auch das Thema des religiösen Rechts in der Vorlesung in den Blick genommen. Dazu wird etwa das Recht der christlichen und der islamischen Religion von seinen Grundlagen her betrachtet.

Event Law Clinic - Anwaltliche Praxis
02VL90WM20-1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 4,010

Description:

Business event contents:

In Zusammenarbeit mit dem Zürcher Anwaltsverband (ZAV) und dem Verband der Studierenden der Universität Zürich (VSUZH) wird die Master Lehrveranstaltung "Law Clinic - Anwaltliche Praxis" der Rechtswissenschaften angeboten.

Rechtsanwältinnen und Rechtsanwälte sowie andere Personen aus der Rechtspraxis geben Einblicke in die vielfältigen Tätigkeiten ihrer Berufe.

Weitere Informationen zum Ablauf finden Sie auf der Homepage des Lehrstuhls von Frau Prof. G. Godenzi.

Notes:

Die Veranstaltung bietet 50 interessierten Teilnehmenden Platz. Die Zuteilung der Plätze erfolgt nach der durch die Studierenden vergebenen Priorität und in zweiter Linie nach dem Zufallsprinzip. Die Veranstaltung richtet sich primär an Masterstudierende. Eine begrenzte Anzahl von Plätzen sind für Mitglieder der Rechtsberatung des VSUZH reserviert. Das Modul steht zudem Bachelorstudierenden als vorgezogenes Master-Modul offen. Voraussetzung hierfür ist gemäss § 39 der ab HS 2021 gültigen Rahmenverordnung, dass zuvor bereits mindestens 150 ECTS-Punkte an der Rechtswissenschaftlichen Fakultät im Rahmen des Bachelorstudiums erworben wurden. Die aktive Teilnahme bildet den Leistungsnachweis dieses Moduls. Die Teilnahme an den Lehrveranstaltungen sowie an einem der beiden Kolloquien ist verpflichtend und wird mittels Anwesenheitsliste überprüft. Grundsätzlich gilt eine strikte Anwesenheitspflicht. Ausnahmsweise ist eine einmalige Absenz aus entschuldbaren Gründen erlaubt. Jede weitere Absenz führt zum Nichtbestehen des Moduls. Die einmalige Absenz aus entschuldbarem Grund gilt nicht für das Kolloquium, welches zwingend zu absolvieren ist.

Bitte beachten Sie, dass aufgrund der Anwesenheitspflicht grundsätzlich leider keine Studierenden zugelassen werden, die im selben Semester das Modul "Volontariat bei einer Justiz- oder Exekutivbehörde" besuchen.

Die Anmeldung erfolgt über das Buchungstool (https://www.students.uzh.ch/de/studyadmin/booking/fristen_hs.html) der UZH. Für die Law Clinic gelten die Modalitäten für Anfragemodule.

Bei Fragen steht Ihnen der Lehrstuhl Godenzi unter lawclinic@ius.uzh.ch gerne zur Verfügung.

Event Fernerkundung & Geographische Informationswissenschaft III: Vom Signal zum Produkt
07VLGEO233.1 / Course / 2,988

Description:

Business event contents:

The lectures introduce theoretical concepts and underlying principles of remote sensing. During these lectures you will learn about a range of fundamental concepts for understanding, handling and manipulating remote sensing data and images. Contents of the lecture focus on an advanced understanding of the introduced concepts and foundations, which are illustrated by intriguing examples and applications. Further information on the lab assignment are provided by the end of the lecture, aiding to prepare for the lab exercise.

Course Materials:

Lecture slides are provided about one week in advance via Olat. Students are encouraged to bring along electronic devices (laptop, tablet, smart phones) to make notes and comments on these slides during the lecture.

Event Governance der Künstlichen Intelligenz
06SE254p104a / Seminar / 1,363

Description:

Business event contents:

Angesichts jüngster Fortschritte im Bereich der Künstlichen Intelligenz gewinnen Fragen zur Governance und Regulierung der Technologie an Relevanz. Die wachsende Anwendung und Bedeutung von KI-basierten Techniken erfordern Maßnahmen, um Risiken mit Chancen in Einklang zu bringen, während ethische Herausforderungen bewältigt werden müssen. Im Seminar werden technische Entwicklungen beleuchtet, Governance-Möglichkeiten und -Bedarfe diskutiert und allgemein ein Verständnis von Big Data, Digitalen Plattformen sowie grundlegenden digitalen Entwicklungen gefördert, wobei auch ihre sozialen, politischen und kulturellen Dimensionen beleuchtet werden.

Event Kommunikationsfreiheiten im Wandel
06SE254p124a / Seminar / 2,984

Description:

Business event contents:

Kommunikationsfreiheiten - darunter die Meinungs- und Informationsfreiheit sowie die Medienfreiheit - zählen zu den Grundrechten demokratischer Gesellschaften und sind universelle Menschenrechte. Dennoch sind sie nicht grenzenlos garantiert und unterliegen einem permanenten sozialen und rechtlichen Aushandlungsprozess. Angesichts des anhaltenden Medienwandels gewinnen Fragen nach dem Wert und den Schranken der Kommunikationsfreiheiten an Relevanz, wie beispielsweise gegenwärtige Debatten um den Umgang mit strittigen Inhalten in sozialen Medien zeigen. Vor diesem Hintergrund befasst sich das Seminar mit den Grundlagen und der Geschichte der Kommunikationsfreiheiten und analysiert aktuelle Konfliktfelder in der Schweiz und im Ausland.

Event Lire, mais comment ? Méthodes et théories littéraires

06VL390p001a / Course / 1,692

Description:

Business event contents:

Notre compétence clé, en tant que littéraires, est la lecture. Un truisme ? Nenni. Dans ce cours, nous passerons en revue les théories majeures qui ont marqué l'évolution des études littéraires aux XX^e et XXI^e siècles, depuis le formalisme russe jusqu'au tournant écologique, en passant par la sémiotique, le poststructuralisme et la déconstruction. Ce parcours nous permettra également de nous interroger sur la différence entre théorie littéraire et méthode littéraire.

Course Materials: Les textes à préparer pourront être téléchargés au cours du semestre.

Es wird ein Podcast aufgezeichnet, Zugang über OLAT. Hinweis: Es ist möglich, dass einzelne Vorlesungen nicht oder nicht störungsfrei aufgezeichnet werden. Studierende verzichten deshalb auf eigenes Risiko auf den Besuch einer Veranstaltung oder auf das Erstellen eigener Notizen. Bei inhaltlichen Widersprüchen haben die als prüfungsrelevant deklarierten Materialien (z.B. Folien) Vorrang vor den Podcasts. Bei Unklarheiten kontaktieren Sie bitte umgehend die Dozentin/den Dozenten. Die Aufnahmen dürfen nur für den Privatgebrauch verwendet werden. (G06)

Course Materials:

Podcast, Folien und weitere Unterrichtsmaterialien werden in einem OLAT- Kurs bereitgestellt. Ablauf und Unterrichtsmaterialien werden in der ersten Vorlesung besprochen. Die Studierenden bringen einen eigenen Laptop mit in die Veranstaltung. Falls Sie keinen eigenen Laptop haben, können Sie zu zweit einen Laptop verwenden, müssen dann aber die Aufgaben zuhause am PC nacharbeiten. Bitte suchen Sie sich in diesem Fall bereits VOR der ersten Veranstaltung einen Laptop-Partner/eine Laptop-Partnerin. Das Installieren der benötigten Software wird in der ersten Vorlesung besprochen und / oder vorab per Email erklärt.

Event After Howl: American Poetry Since 1956

06SE440-222b / Seminar / 3,699

Description:

Business event contents:

In this course, students will gain a comprehensive overview of the major developments in poetry of the last seventy years. We will start with two groundbreaking debut collections: Allen Ginsberg's Howl (1956) and John Ashbery's Some Trees (1956). How do these texts depart from the poetries that preceded them? Under what cultural contexts did these new texts arise? After studying these two turning points of 1956, we will turn to mid-century movements in poetry including the New York School, Black Mountain Poetry, and the Black Arts Movement (BAM). Moving to the 1970s and 80s, we will witness new poetic experimentation including L-A-N-G-U-A-G-E and the Native American Renaissance. We will then move to learn about poetic developments since the internet era, including the works of contemporary poets like Ben Lerner, Lyrae van Clief-Stefanon, and Ocean Vuong. While close reading, we will also consider the print history of these texts and its relation to poetics and politics: from mimeograph printings of 1956 to the online poetry journal of 2026. Ultimately, we will trace a lineage of poetic traditions while considering their relations to the 1956 canon rupture. In this poetry of late capitalism, what are the relations between poetics and politics? What have been this poetry's limits and what are its possibilities?

Event Nietzsche. Philosophie, Poetik, Rezeption
06SE360-516a / Seminar / 2,072

Description:

Business event contents:

Für das Selbstverständnis aller literarischen und philosophischen Avantgarden des 19., 20. und 21. Jahrhunderts stellt Nietzsches Werk zweifellos einen zentralen Bezugspunkt dar. Nietzsches Bedeutung für Dichtung und Kunst der Moderne und Postmoderne gründet dabei zum einen im Rückzug auf eine Position, von der aus Ratio, Geschichte, Philologie und Moral plötzlich als formative, mithin ästhetisch bewertbare und gestaltbare Phänomene zugänglich werden. Zum anderen ist dieser »Mysterienverrat« stets an poetische und rhetorische Verfahren gebunden, ohne deren Verständnis nicht nur Nietzsches Philosophie, sondern auch seine Schlüsselstellung für das radikale Denken und Schreiben bis heute rätselhaft bleibt.

Um uns diesem literarisch wie philosophisch monumentalen Gesamtkomplex instruktiv zu nähern, werden wir Nietzsche auf drei Wegen begegnen:

1. Wir werden uns mit Blick auf Nietzsches Argumentation und seine literarischen Verfahren, seiner Rhetorik und Metaphorik intensiv mit der »Geburt der Tragödie«, der »Genealogie der Moral« und »Ecce homo« befassen.
2. Wir werden mit Blick auf seine konsequente Poetisierung der Philosophie die »Dionysos-Dithyramben« als auch »Also sprach Zarathustra« ansehen.
3. Wir werden den Nietzsche-Rekurs der Moderne und Postmoderne bis in die Gegenwart verfolgen.

Event Anthropological Perspectives on Sustainable Development
01SE80LB001 / Seminar / 276

Description:

Business event contents:

This seminar introduces students to sustainability and development through the lens of social anthropology. It explores how concepts such as resilience, adaptation, modernity, and participation are shaped, negotiated, and contested in different cultural and political contexts. Drawing on ethnographic case studies from around the world, the course examines sustainability “from below,” focusing on lived experiences, local knowledge, and global inequalities. A full-day excursion to an institution engaged in sustainability and disaster risk reduction complements classroom discussions. Students learn to critically assess sustainability concepts, analyze power relations, and reflect on the potential and limits of transformative change at the local level.

Course Materials: Will be announced at the beginning of the course.

Event Open Science and Meta-Science for Communication Research
06SE254p605a / Seminar / 5,652

Description:

Business event contents:

This seminar introduces master's students in communication to open science and the broader reform movement that has reshaped psychology and related social science disciplines. Rather than treating open science as a checklist, the course examines key arguments about evidence, transparency, and research credibility, with attention to how they apply in communication research. Students will gain hands-on experience in preregistration, reproducibility, and meta-research. The course is designed to help students build the skills to design, document, and evaluate research according to contemporary standards of openness and rigor.

Event Prototyping Data Science Products (S)
03SE22MO0250 / Seminar / 2,290

Description:

Business event contents:

The main objective is to teach students how to transform their ideas and data science knowledge into a product prototype. During the seminar, the students will improve their programming skills in R or Python (at their choice), learn to apply machine learning techniques to a concrete problem, create a product prototype and run it on the cloud. All participants will receive free credits on the Google Cloud Platform (courtesy of a Google Educational Grant) that they can use to get familiar with the services and cover the cost of running their product prototype.

Description:

Business event contents:

This course is an introduction to continuous time models. We will focus on markets with a finite time horizon and a finite number of traded securities.

Uncertainty will be driven by Brownian motion. Next to the classical arbitrage pricing topics (Fundamental Theorems of Asset Pricing, completeness, etc), we intend to cover other selected topics such as dynamic programming with applications to finance.

Course Materials: Slides will be provided. A literature list will be provided in due time.

Event Contemporary Readings on Behavior in Organizations (S) HS26
03SEDOEC1267 / Doktorandenseminar / 570

Description:

Business event contents:

Participants will read, review, and discuss working papers to improve their ability to critically and constructively engage in the scientific writing process. The working papers can range from a first rough draft to papers at an advanced stage in the revise+resubmit process. The working papers will come from the participants, auditors and guests of the seminar themselves, and so students are encouraged to contribute a working paper of their own to our reading list. The seminar relies exclusively on the written word for input - there are no presentations. Thus, participants will read and review papers, and are expected to base their discussions solely on what they have read. The author of the paper is in the role of the listener and has the chance to benefit from the feedback. The purpose of this seminar is not to find all the problems in a working paper, but instead to develop ideas on how the problems could be fixed and the paper be improved as a whole to heighten its chances in the publication process.

Course Materials: Readings will be assigned in class.

01SM54VL015 / Course / 2,997

Description:

Business event contents:

Mit der Vorlesung "Frauen zur Zeit des Propheten Muḥammad. Zum theoretisch-methodischen Umgang mit religionsgeschichtlichen Textquellen" wird in die Analyse von Textquellen der Frühzeit des Islam eingeführt, die über Frauen im Umfeld des Propheten Muḥammad und in der entstehenden muslimischen Gemeinschaft berichten. Im Mittelpunkt steht hierbei nicht die Rekonstruktion „historischer Fakten“, sondern die Frage, wie Frauen in den Quellen dargestellt werden, welche Funktionen diese Darstellungen erfüllen und wie Erinnerung, Autorität und Geschlechterrollen in Texten produziert werden. Im ersten Teil der Vorlesung werden Entstehung, Kontext und Charakteristika ausgewählter Textquellen, methodische Zugänge sowie wissenschaftstheoretische Herausforderungen bei ihrer Erschließung behandelt. Im zweiten Teil werden Fallbeispiele weiblicher religiöser Autoritäten untersucht: Frauen im altarabischen Kult, im Umfeld Muhammads und frühe muslimische Akteurinnen. Im dritten Teil wird es um die Rolle von Kontext bei der Interpretation von Textquellen und um konstitutive Elemente von Geschlechterkonzeptionen gehen. Dabei wird unter anderem untersucht, warum bestimmte Darstellungen entstehen, welche Funktionen sie erfüllen und wie sie bis in gegenwärtige Diskurse hineinwirken. Die Studierenden lernen, historische Texte kritisch zu analysieren, ihre Aussagen einzuschätzen und theoretisch reflektiert mit ihnen zu arbeiten.

01VL15SV027 / Course / 2,044

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Markusevangelium (MkEv) ist die älteste Jesusgeschichte des Neuen Testaments. Sie verbindet erstmals die Überlieferungen vom vollmächtigen Wirken mit denen vom ohnmächtigen Leiden Jesu. Als erste umfassende Jesuserzählung schuf das MkEv die neue Literaturgattung Evangelium und bestimmte durch die Präsentation der Ereignisse, den erzählerischen Rahmen sowie die theologischen Einsichten wesentlich das Jesu-Christus-Bild des frühen Christentums. Lange Zeit unterschätzt, wird das erste Evangelium nun in der jüngeren Forschung in seiner theologischen und erzählerischen Bedeutung neu als innovativer Entwurf einer narrativen Theologie gewürdigt. Die Vorlesung knüpft an diese neuen Forschungen an, informiert über die Entstehungsbedingungen und Kontexte des Evangeliums, diskutiert theologische Leitlinien, beleuchtet verschiedene narratologische Zugänge und bietet eine fortlaufende Kommentierung des Textes.

Notes:

Die Vorlesung wird als Podcast aufgezeichnet. Es wird grundsätzlich eine regelmässige Präsenzteilnahme empfohlen, da es möglich ist, dass einzelne Veranstaltungstermine nicht oder nicht störungsfrei aufgezeichnet werden. Studierende verzichten auf eigenes Risiko auf die Veranstaltungsteilnahme oder auf das Erstellen eigener Notizen. Bei inhaltlichen Widersprüchen haben die als prüfungsrelevant deklarierten Materialien (z. B. Folien) Vorrang vor den Podcasts. Bei Unklarheiten kontaktieren Sie bitte die Dozierenden. Die Aufnahmen dürfen nur für den Privatgebrauch verwendet werden.

Die Übungen im Modul werden nicht aufgezeichnet. Da sowohl die Vorlesungs- als auch Übungsinhalte prüfungsrelevant sind, empfiehlt sich auch in den Übungen eine regelmässige Teilnahme.

Event Bildung, Arbeit, Wirtschaft

06VU226-505a / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 462

Description:

Business event contents:

Im HS26 wird das Modul «Bildung, Arbeit, Wirtschaft» auf das Themenfeld der Hochschulbildung angewandt. Hochschulische Bildung ist durch das Spannungsfeld von Professions-, Forschungs- und Arbeitsmarktorientierung geprägt. Erwerbsorientierung ist dabei ein möglicher und zunehmend bedeutsamer Bezugspunkt hochschulischer Bildung. Dabei lassen sich Tendenzen der Akademisierung wie auch der Verberuflichung hochschulischer Bildung gleichermassen beobachten. Hochschulbildung wird sowohl in der Schweiz wie auch international in unterschiedlichen Formen realisiert und verändert sich in Abhängigkeit des gesellschaftlichen, wirtschaftlichen und politischen Wandels. Der im Fokus der Veranstaltung stehende Zusammenhang von Hochschulbildung und Arbeitswelt wird anhand von aktuellen Herausforderungen und Entwicklungen vertieft, z.B. hinsichtlich sozialer Selektivität, Inklusion, Arbeitsmarktorientierung in der Hochschulbildung, Durchlässigkeit, dualer Hochschulbildung, Abgrenzung zur Höheren Berufsbildung, digitaler Transformation, wirtschaftlichem Strukturwandel oder der politischen Steuerung des Hochschulwesens.

Description:

Business event contents:

Welche Moleküle schaffen die Voraussetzung für das Leben? Wie funktionieren Zellen und deren Bestandteile? Was ist Stoffwechsel und Energiegewinnung? Wir beschäftigen uns mit den molekularen Grundlagen des Lebens bei Tieren und Pflanzen, studieren biologische Grundprinzipien über Lebensgemeinschaften, Biodiversität und Kommunikation und befassen uns mit der Entwicklung von Arten und Ökosystemen auf einem sich ändernden Planeten. Das Modul besteht aus Vorlesungen und Übungen.

Event Musik der Zwischenkriegszeit
06VL760p004a / Course / 2,024

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie lässt sich Musik in ihrer gesamten Erscheinungsvielfalt gerade in den «Goldenen Zwanzigern» (auch «Roaring Twenties») und den krisenhaften Dreissigern beschreiben? Wie kann die Epoche der zahlreichen disparaten «Ismen» in der Musik sinnvoll zusammengefasst werden? Diese Vorlesung unternimmt den Versuch, ganz unterschiedliche Entwicklungen als Teil einer, einheitlichen Musikgeschichte zu betrachten und sie vor dem Hintergrund wichtiger sozialer, politischer und kultureller Ereignisse zu beleuchten. Der Bogen spannt sich von Igor Stravinskis Sacre du printemps aus dem Jahr 1913 - einem der wichtigsten musikästhetischen Wendepunkte der Musikgeschichte des 20. Jahrhunderts - als Ausgangspunkt und reicht bis zu den musikalischen Werken, die während des Zweiten Weltkriegs entstanden sind. Es wird untersucht, inwieweit unterschiedliche und häufig gegensätzliche stilistische und kompositionstechnische Strömungen der Zeit als Emanationen eines ähnlichen musikästhetischen Denkens wahrgenommen werden könnten.

Das Ziel besteht darin, die auf den ersten Blick als unvereinbar geltenden Erscheinungsformen der Musik der Zwischenkriegszeit konzeptionell zu verbinden und somit eine zusammenhängende Beschreibung der musikalischen Moderne jenseits traditioneller Epochen- und Stilsignaturen zu erproben.

Course Materials:

Event Scientific programming for neuroeconomic experiments (S)
03SEDOEC0267 / Doktorandenseminar / 2,680

Description:

Business event contents:

Collection, analysis, and visualisation of neuroeconomic data depend crucially on proficiency with dedicated computer programs and programming environments. This course is aimed at researchers and students with little expertise in these areas but will also contain valuable tips for students who already have some programming experience. The course will provide a hands-on introduction and exercises to the Python and MATLAB programming languages as well as the PsychoPy and PsychToolbox frameworks, which are essential for conducting and publishing neuroeconomic experiments.

The first part of the course will provide a general introduction to programming in Python and MATLAB, covering basic data types, data import/export, and fundamental programming concepts. The second part will introduce PsychoPy and PSyChToolbox, powerful open-source libraries for designing and running behavioral experiments, including synchronizing data acquisition with external devices (e.g., fMRI scanners, eye trackers). The third part will focus on scientific data analysis and visualization using Python's scientific stack (NumPy, pandas, matplotlib, seaborn, etc.) and dedicated MATLAB toolboxes, as well as best practices for reproducible research and efficient programming workflows. By the end of the course, students will be able to program their own experiments, analyze and present their data, and use modern tools for scientific computing in Python and MATLAB.

Notes:

This course will take place in BLU-003 (Blümlisalpstrasse 10, 8006 Zürich).

If you wish to attend this course, please send an e-mail with your student ID number (Matrikelnummer) to cornelia.schnyder@econ.uzh.ch Students should bring their own notebook - if available - as we will be doing programming exercises in class (software will be provided).

Event Erkenntnis: Natur, Funktion und Wert
06SE160p008a / Seminar / 3,978

Description:

Business event contents:

In diesem Seminar werden wir klassische Texte zu grundlegenden Fragen der Erkenntnistheorie studieren. Was ist Wissen? Wozu dient es? Hat es einen Wert, und wenn ja, warum?

Wir werden uns hauptsächlich auf die neuere Literatur konzentrieren, die diese Fragen diskutiert (20. und 21. Jahrhundert). Ein Teil des Seminars wird einer der einflussreichsten Ideen der letzten zwanzig Jahre gewidmet sein, nämlich der Auffassung, dass Wissen ein nicht analysierbarer mentaler Zustand ist, der vielmehr zur Analyse anderer zentraler Begriffe der Erkenntnistheorie wie etwa Glaube, Rechtfertigung usw. herangezogen wird.

Event Sprachpraxis Schwedisch
06SK360-215a / Sprachkurs / 2,807

Description:

Business event contents:

In diesem Modul werden die bisherigen aktiven und passiven Kenntnisse in der schwedischen Sprache vertieft und ausgebaut. Die Studierenden befassen sich mit verschiedenen geschriebenen und gesprochenen Texten, wobei literarische Texte eine besondere Rolle spielen. So erweitern die Studierenden ihr Wortschatz und vertiefen ihre Grammatikkenntnisse. Die Lektüre wird durch weitere Medien (Film, TV, Podcast) ergänzt. In Gruppenarbeiten, Diskussionen und Spielen wird die kommunikative Kompetenz (Sprechen und Verstehen) gefördert. Die schriftliche Sprachkompetenz wird anhand von Kurzaufsätzen und anderen Übungen weiter geübt und verbessert.

Notes:

Studierende, welche z.B. durch einen Sprachaufenthalt in Schweden oder über entsprechende Vorkenntnisse verfügen, wollen sich bitte direkt mit der Dozentin in Verbindung setzen: anna.schaffner@ds.uzh.ch

Course Materials: Das Lehrmittel wird vor Kursbeginn bekanntgegeben. Ergänzende Unterrichts- und Übungsunterlagen werden auf OLAT bereitgestellt.

Event Computational cognitive modeling of language processing (Master's seminar)
06SE523p502a / Seminar / 5,423

Description:

Business event contents:

What cognitive mechanisms underlie human language processing, and how can they be modeled computationally? This seminar introduces computational cognitive models of language processing, with a focus on theories of sentence processing, i.e., computationally implemented theories that aim to explain what cognitive principles and mechanisms the human mind deploys for assigning meaning to sentences. We will examine how different modeling approaches capture psycholinguistic findings, compare their underlying assumptions about cognition, and evaluate them against experimental evidence.

Event NT Seminar: Seven Small and Important Letters? On the Theological Value of the Catholic Epistles
01SE15SS049 / Seminar / 2,042

Description:

Business event contents:

Die sogenannten „katholischen Briefe“ (Jak, 1–2 Petr, 1–3 Joh, Jud) fristen im Studium häufig ein Schattendasein – zu Unrecht. Im Seminar nehmen wir uns für eine Erstbegegnung Zeit, diese randständigen Texte als theologisch eigenständige Stimmen des Neuen Testaments zu entdecken. In 14 Sitzungen (jeweils zwei Doppelstunden pro Brief) arbeiten wir uns stichprobenartig an ausgewählten Schlüsselperikopen entlang und fragen: Welche Gottesbilder, Christusdeutungen und Gemeindekonzeptionen prägen die einzelnen Schreiben? Wie verhandeln sie Autorität, Identität und Konflikt (z. B. „falsche Lehrer“, innere Spaltungen, Abgrenzung von „Welt“)? Wie positionieren sie sich zu Paulus und den Evangelien (Stichwort: Glaube und Werke, Eschatologie, Leidensdeutung)? Welche Rolle spielen Sprache, Metaphern und Raumvorstellungen für ihre ethische und ekklesiologische Imagination? Methodisch verbinden wir close reading (auf Griechisch), kurze Inputreferate und gemeinsame Diskussion. Ziel ist es, die katholischen Briefe nicht nur als „Anhang“ der neutestamentlichen Briefliteratur kennenzulernen, sondern als dichte theologische Texte, die auch für heutige kirchliche und gesellschaftliche Fragen überraschend sprechfähig sind.

Notes:

Griechischkenntnisse notwendig.

Die konstituierende Sitzung findet in der ersten Semesterwoche am Donnerstag um 16:00 Uhr via Teams statt. Die darauffolgenden regelmäßigen Veranstaltungstermine im HS werden dort festgelegt und finden online statt.

Während der Reading Week vom 12.-16.10.2026 finden keine Lehrveranstaltungen an der TRF statt.

Event Economic Statecraft
06SE615-001a / Seminar / 694

Description:

Business event contents:

Aktuelle Entwicklungen - von westlichen Sanktionen gegen Russland über die Androhung und Verhängung von Zöllen durch die Vereinigten Staaten bis hin zur Belt-and-Road-Initiative Chinas - verdeutlichen die wachsende Bedeutung von Economic Statecraft in der internationalen Politik. Dieses Seminar untersucht, wie Staaten wirtschaftliche Instrumente gezielt einsetzen, um ihre geopolitischen Interessen zu verfolgen. Der erste Teil des Seminars konzentriert sich auf wirtschaftliche Anreize wie Entwicklungshilfe, Handelsabkommen und Auslandsinvestitionen, die als Mittel zur Einflussnahme und zum Aufbau langfristiger Partnerschaften dienen. Der zweite Teil des Seminars widmet sich wirtschaftlichen Druckmitteln wie Sanktionen, Embargos, Blockaden und finanziellen Beschränkungen und analysiert deren Auswirkungen, Effektivität und Limitationen. Das Seminar zielt darauf ab, den Studierenden einen breiten Überblick über die Forschung zu Economic Statecraft zu geben. Zudem lernen und üben die Studierenden das effektive Lesen wissenschaftlicher Literatur sowie die forschungsbasierte Analyse und Beantwortung konkreter Fragestellungen.

Event Gender, Citizenship and Democracy
06SE615-004a / Seminar / 4,385

Description:

Business event contents:

This seminar explores how democratic governance engages questions of gender and sexuality, and how gender and sexuality become politically relevant in debates over citizenship, rights, and participation. It introduces key theoretical approaches to the political analysis of gender and examines different models of citizenship. Building on this foundation, the seminar turns to selected issues and debates through with questions of membership, rights, participation and power are addressed and contested in democratic governance.

Event The China Dream: China Goes Global
06SE280p226a / Seminar / 2,852

Description:

Business event contents:

This course explores China's rise as a global power through the lens of the "China Dream" of national rejuvenation. Moving beyond theory, we unpack how this narrative is crafted, promoted, and challenged-both inside China and across the world.

From digital propaganda and political storytelling to the revival of leadership cults under Xi Jinping, we examine how the Chinese Communist Party shapes public opinion and global perceptions. The course also investigates China's expanding footprint-from the Belt and Road Initiative to influence operations and great power competition with the United States.

A key feature of the seminar is hands-on analysis: students will engage directly with propaganda videos, official media content, and interactive materials to understand how China presents itself internationally-and how it wants its story to be told.

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Modul «Japanische Geschichte» umfasst eine Einführung in die japanische Sozial-, Wirtschafts- und politische Geschichte sowie eine Einführung in die Kulturgeschichte Japans. Beide Einführungen bestehen aus je zwei Teilen:

1. einer Vorlesung, die als Podcast im OLAT zur Verfügung steht, und
2. einer Präsenzveranstaltung, in der Fragen zur Vorlesung besprochen und weiterführende Texte diskutiert werden.

Die Präsenzveranstaltungen der Einführung in die Sozial-, Wirtschafts- und politische Geschichte und der Einführung in die Kulturgeschichte finden vierzehntäglich alternierend statt.

Zusammen genommen bieten die Einführungen einen weiten Überblick über die japanische Geschichte von der Vorgeschichte bis ins 20. Jahrhundert. Dabei thematisiert die politische Geschichte den Wandel im politischen System, Aussenbeziehungen Japans, Fort- und Rückschritte in der wirtschaftlichen und demographischen Entwicklung sowie Transformationen in den Familien- und Sozialstrukturen. Die Kulturgeschichte nimmt den historischen Wandel in den Bereichen Religion, Philosophie, Literatur, Naturkunde, Recht, bildende und darstellende Kunst in den Blick und stellt die wichtigsten Medien, Gattungen und Werke vor.

Event Computational Approaches to Study Political Communication
06SE615p544a / Seminar / 3,971

Description:

Business event contents:

This course offers a focused exploration of political communication through the lens of computational social science. Students will engage with rich publicly-available Kaggle textual datasets, applying techniques from machine learning, natural language processing (NLP), network science, and time-series analysis to extract meaningful insights. By leveraging these computational tools, the course aims to provide a data-driven understanding of political communication dynamics, focusing on patterns in public sentiment, the spread of information and misinformation, and the evolution of discourse over time. The course will build on extensive computational social science literature to guide our understanding of political communication. This data-driven approach will equip students with practical skills in analysing large datasets, interpreting complex patterns, and understanding the role of social media in shaping contemporary political events.

Event Critical Perspectives on Urban India
06SE330p268a / Seminar / 3,383

Description:

Business event contents:

This course offers a critical introduction to urban India, with a strong emphasis on ethnographic scholarship to understand the social, political, and economic dynamics shaping Indian cities. Through grounded and empirically rich studies, students will gain a nuanced understanding of everyday life in urban India and the structures that produce inequality and exclusion.

The key themes and topics that will be explored in the course include the formal-informal divide; informal settlements (often labelled as "slums"); land rights and housing; informal and precarious labour, including emerging debates on the gig economy; welfare politics; critically examining the Indian urban middle class; and questions of environment, gender, and urban citizenship. The course draws on case studies from cities such as Delhi, Mumbai, Hyderabad, and Bengaluru to situate these issues within specific political economy contexts and also will enable comparative insights across urban India.

By engaging critically with narratives of urbanisation and development, the course encourages students to analyse how power and everyday practices shape urban experiences in Global South cities. It is particularly suited for students interested in urban studies, anthropology, sociology, development studies, social policy, and those considering academic research or professional engagement with urban issues.

Event Weltanschauung und Ritual

06SE682-010a / Seminar / 5,320

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Weltanschauung von Gesellschaften hat grossen Einfluss auf verschiedene Bereiche des alltäglichen Lebens. In dieser Veranstaltung beschäftigen wir uns mit grundlegenden Begriffen und Phänomenen wie Kosmovision, Ritualen, Festen und Bestattungssitten und betrachten, wie wir aus archäologischen Funden und Befunden Rückschlüsse auf diese Konzepte ziehen können. Dabei wird eine komparative Sicht angewandt, die Gesellschaften unterschiedlicher Perioden und Regionen miteinander vergleicht.

Event El poder del lenguaje y el lenguaje del poder
06SE427-528a / Seminar / 3,184

Description:

Business event contents:

Este seminario trata de un tema de gran actualidad: la relación entre lenguaje y poder, con foco particular en el lenguaje político. En tiempos de "fake news" y de unos antagonismos políticos que se reflejan lingüísticamente, nos preguntaremos por las herramientas lingüísticas para analizar el lenguaje político tanto en la actualidad como en la historia.

El curso se organiza paralelamente con un curso del instituto de inglés y uno del instituto de alemán. Además, cada jueves de 18-20h va a tener lugar un ciclo de conferencias sobre el tema: Die Sprache der Macht - die Macht der Sprache, con conferencias que discuten acerca del tema desde distintos puntos de vista disciplinares.

Course Materials: Se pondrán a disposición a inicios del semestre a través de OLAT.

Event Lebendigkeit als Bildkonzept der Frühen Neuzeit

06SE640-017b / Seminar / 5,059

Description:

Business event contents:

Formeln wie ad vivum, al vivo oder naer het leven ("nach dem Leben") begegnen in der Frühen Neuzeit in unterschiedlichen Kontexten. Sie umkreisen "Lebendigkeit" als einen der zentralen Topoi frühneuzeitlicher Kunst- und Bildtheorie und reklamieren eine besondere Nähe zum Leben, zur Natur und zur unmittelbaren Anschauung, ohne dabei eindeutig bestimmt zu sein oder auf bloße Augentäuschung reduziert werden zu können. Das Seminar befasst sich mit der Lektüre einschlägiger Forschungsliteratur sowie ausgewählter Quellentexte und untersucht anhand von Bildbeispielen jene epistemisch-ästhetischen Aushandlungsprozesse, in denen "Lebendigkeit" jeweils hervorgebracht und wirksam wird.

Notes:

Da die Referatsvergabe am ersten Sitzungstermin stattfindet, ist eine Anwesenheit obligatorisch.

Event Mittelalterliches Holz: Wald, Werkstatt, Skulptur
06UE640-019a / Exercise Group / 5,359

Description:

Business event contents:

Mittelalterliche Skulpturen in Museen werfen Fragen zu Stilentwicklung, Ikonografie, ursprünglicher Funktion und Musealisierungprozessen auf. Die Übung vor Originalen nimmt sich hingegen vor, Skulpturen aus dem Mittelalter in grössere Zusammenhänge von Extraktion und Verarbeitung einzuordnen, in denen das in Forsten und Wäldern gewonnene Holz im Zentrum der Fragestellung steht.

Nebst der Besprechung von holzsichtigen und bemalten Objekten im Landesmuseum Zürich und im Kunsthaus Zürich werden Sitzungen in der Xylothek (Holzbibliothek) der ETH Zürich (Campus Höggerberg) und im Sammlungszentrum des Schweizerischen Nationalmuseums (Affoltern am Albis) sowie Lektüren zu ökokritischen Ansätzen und technischen Verfahren unsere Auseinandersetzung mit diesen Werken bereichern und prägen. Ziel ist es, durch die Perspektive der Materialität neue Zugänge zu mittelalterlichen Holzobjekten zu erarbeiten und gemeinsam zu diskutieren.

Notes:

Die ersten zwei Sitzungen (17.09, 24.09) im Seminarraum dienen der Verteilung der Referate sowie der inhaltlichen Einführung in das Thema. Die restlichen Sitzungen finden in unterschiedlichen Zürcher Sammlungen und Institutionen statt.

Event Kunst. Fotografie. Psychiatrie
06SE640-504a / Seminar / 4,845

Description:

Business event contents:

Das künstlerische Schaffen in psychiatrischen Kliniken und Nervenheilanstalten ist ein etabliertes kunsthistorisches Thema. Weniger bekannt ist, dass in Kliniken und Sanatorien fotografiert wurde, nicht allein zur Erfassung/ Archivierung von Patient:innen, sondern auch von diesen selbst. Das Seminar untersucht sowohl die kreative wie auch die wissenschaftlich-medizinische Seite des Entstehens und des Einsatzes von Kunst und Fotografie im klinischen Alltag. Bildformeln der Erfassung von «kranken» Menschen stehen subjektiven Bilderzeugnissen gegenüber. Genügt uns heute diese Polarisierung in diskursiver und ethischer Hinsicht? Welche Bildpolitik wird von den Institutionen erwartet? Und was erwarten wir? Welche Fotografie-Projekte könnten wir uns im Miteinander von Kunst und Medizin in der Psychiatrie vorstellen?

Die Anstalt erhält als Raum durch diese Perspektiven verschiedene epistemologische Bedeutungen und symbolische sowie identitäre Funktionen, die mit entsprechenden Narrativen verbunden werden. Die Anstalt wird eine Art Atelier; sie wird aber auch in ihren Zwängen, Regeln und Beschränkungen wie auch diagnostischen Versuchen deutlich. Nicht zuletzt wird die Anstalt zu einem Raum, in dem Legenden entstehen, Erzählungen, die mittels der Fotografie visualisiert werden. Das Oszillieren zwischen Kunst und Wissenschaft ist ein Leitfaden des Seminars.

Lernziele sind:

Die historiographische Einordnung des Seminarthemas in der Kunst- und Fotografiegeschichte seit dem späten 19. Jahrhundert bis heute. Kenntnisse über die Anti-Psychiatriebewegung der 1960er und 1970er Jahre.

Notes:

In den ersten drei Wochen des Semesters werden gemeinsame Lektüren zu Inhalt und Methode des Seminars vorgenommen. Es ist konzeptionell zwingend, an diesen Sitzungen teilzunehmen, welche eine gemeinsame Wissens- und Diskussionsbasis für das Seminar während des Semesters bilden. Die Studierenden sind eingeladen, Themenvorschläge zu unterbreiten. Bitte senden Sie diese an desiree.marinelli\(at\)uzh.ch. - Es wird voraussichtlich ein bis zwei Gastvorträge von Psychiater:innen und Forschenden zum Thema des Seminars geben.

Portfolio. Der Leistungsnachweis besteht aus Referat (1/3) und schriftlicher Arbeit (2/3).

Zum Bestehen des Leistungsnachweis müssen alle Elemente des Portfolios absolviert werden. Die Abgabe der Hausarbeit ist der 7. Januar 2027.

Event Der Alpenraum in Spätantike und Frühmittelalter: Kunsthistorische und archäologische Aspekte
06VL640p003a / Course / 4,060

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Vorlesung widmet sich dem Alpenraum in seiner Rolle als wichtiger Transitraum zwischen Norden und Süden. Sie fragt nach den kulturellen Akteuren, die hier in der Spätantike und im Frühmittelalter wirksam waren, und wird dazu ihren Blick zunächst auf die römischen Städte richten, bei denen sich die Frage stellt, ob und in welcher Form sie im 5.-9. Jh. weiterexistiert haben und wie sich angesichts der Implantation der Kirche (als Institution) bzw. der Kirchen (als Bauten) das jeweilige Stadtbild transformiert hat. Eine besondere Rolle werden dabei die frühen Bischofssitze (Genf, Chur, Teurnia etc.) spielen. Weitere wichtige kulturelle und politische Player in der Übergangsphase zwischen Antike und Mittelalter waren Klöster wie Disentis, St-Maurice und Münstair, wobei gerade St-Maurice auch das Thema der siedlungsbildenden Potenz von Märtyrergedenkstätten thematisieren lässt. Beispiele wie Hemmaberg, Tomils und Domat-Ems lassen aber auch Themen wie die Deutung von Kirchenclustern in ein und derselben Siedlung sowie das Oszillieren frühmittelalterlicher Herrschaftsbauten zwischen profaner und sakraler Nutzung ansprechen. Thematisiert werden ausserdem spezifische Siedlungsformen wie die sog. Höhensiedlungen sowie Befunde wie die sog. Kulthöhle in Zillis, die interessante Einblicke in spätantik-frühmittelalterliche Lebenswirklichkeiten bieten.

Event Schaubilder. Visionsdarstellungen im Mittelalter
06VL640p005a / Course / 4,980

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Visionäre war im europäischen Mittelalter omnipräsent. Was man sah, erschöpfte sich nicht in dem, was vor Augen stand. Was hinter dem körperlich Sichtbaren lag, konnte mit den Augen des Geistes geschaut werden. In Träumen, Gesichten und Erscheinungen sprachen Heilige, Verstorbene, Engel zu den Menschen, verkündeten Bilder prophetische Botschaften. Die Vorlesung beschäftigt sich mit der Frage, welchen Ort das Visionäre in der mittelalterlichen Bildkunst hat. Sie gibt einen Überblick über die Geschichte visionärer Bildthemen und die unterschiedlichen Paradigmen des visionären Blicks in den Bildern. Die zentrale Annahme dabei ist, dass das Visionäre im Mittelalter keineswegs nur ein ikonographischer Gegenstandsbereich war, sondern das Bildverständnis der Zeit auf elementare Weise prägte.

Event Now Processing: Computergestützte Methoden und digitale Epistemologie in der Kunstgeschichte
06KO640p012a / Colloquium / 5,360

Description:

Business event contents:

Unter dem Titel «Now Processing» soll im Rahmen des Institutskolloquiums untersucht werden, wie sich computergestützte Methoden auf Forschung und Wissensproduktion in der Kunstgeschichte auswirken. Die Vortragsreihe im HS26 beleuchtet, wie digitale Tools nicht nur die traditionelle kunsthistorische Forschung erweitern, sondern auch wie sie die erkenntnistheoretischen Annahmen beeinflussen, die der Analyse von Kunstwerken, ihrer Geschichte und ihrer Produktionsweise zugrunde liegen. Sie bietet Einblicke in die Entwicklung der digitalen Kunstgeschichte und zeichnet deren Verlauf von frühen Digitalisierungsinitiativen und Datenbanken bis hin zu aktuellen Praktiken nach, die gross angelegte Datenanalysen, maschinelles Lernen und künstliche Intelligenz umfassen.

Die einzelnen Vorträge behandeln verschiedene Methoden, darunter Datenvisualisierung, Mapping und Räumliche Analyse sowie Netzwerkanalyse. Fallstudien aus verschiedenen Regionen werden veranschaulichen, wie diese Ansätze etablierte Kanons in Frage stellen, bisher übersehene Zusammenhänge aufdecken und neue Formen interkultureller und transregionaler Forschung ermöglichen. Da die traditionelle Kunstgeschichte lange von eurozentrischen Perspektiven und epistemologischen Rahmenbedingungen der westlichen Geschichtsschreibung geprägt war, reflektiert die Vortragsreihe kritisch, wie computergestützte Methoden diese Paradigmen sowohl reproduzieren als auch infrage stellen können. Insbesondere wird untersucht, inwiefern computergestützte Ansätze neue Möglichkeiten zur Berücksichtigung spezifischer kultureller und historischer Kontexte eröffnen.

Darüber hinaus betrachtet «Now Processing» die wachsende Bedeutung generativer künstlicher Intelligenz in der zeitgenössischen Bildproduktion und diskutiert, welche kritischen Ansätze die Kunstgeschichte entwickeln kann, um diese neuen Formen visueller Kultur zu analysieren und auf sie zu reagieren.

Folgende Termine sind geplant: 17.09.26 - Golnaz Sarkar Farshi, 24.09.26 - Paul Jaskot, 15.10.26 - Sunkyu Lee, 12.11.26 - Leonardo Impett, 10.12.26 - Nuria Rodríguez-Ortega

Notes:

Begleitend zum Institutskolloquium finden im Herbstsemester zwei Workshops im Rahmen der Übung «Now Processing» statt.

Course Materials: Es werden von den Vortragenden ausgewählte Texte vorab auf Olat zur einführenden und vertiefenden Lektüre geteilt.

Event Kunst auf Papier – Künstlerisches Handwerk und seine Ausdrucksmöglichkeiten 1450-1850
06UE640p002a / Exercise Group / 3,675

Description:

Business event contents:

Die wissenschaftliche Arbeit in einer Graphischen Sammlung ist geprägt durch den Umgang mit Originalen auf Papier und der Konzeption von Ausstellungen. Ungeachtet ob druckgraphische Werke von Dürer, Piranesi oder Goya bzw. anonyme oder sicher zuschreibbare Zeichnungen im Zentrum stehen, immer beginnt die Analyse mit der Erfassung des Objektes. Die Veranstaltung möchte den Teilnehmenden das wissenschaftliche Instrumentarium vermitteln, das im Umgang mit Werken auf Papier unerlässlich ist und ihnen Fragen im Zusammenhang mit Ausstellungsvorbereitungen nahebringen. Ein Schwerpunkt der Veranstaltung sind die Ausdrucksmöglichkeiten verschiedenster künstlerischer Techniken, seien es solche aus der zeichnerischen Praxis (Kreiden, Federn, Pinsel) oder Drucktechniken (Holzschnitt, Kupferstich, Radierung, Aquatinta, usw.). Die Erfahrung am und mit dem Original bietet sowohl Gelegenheit, Objekte als Primärquellen des Wissens verstehen und nutzen zu lernen als auch erste Erfahrungen in der Museumsarbeit zu sammeln. Wenn immer möglich von den Originalen ausgehend, werden die vielfältigen Fragen zu Papier, zeichnerischer Handschrift, zu Druckqualität, zu Druckstöcken und -platten, zum Verhältnis von Kopie und Vorlage, zur Konservierung und Restaurierung, aber auch zur Geschichte des Sammelns und der wissenschaftlichen Erschliessung behandelt.

Event Artificial Intelligence and/or the Social Sciences
06SE615p534a / Seminar / 5,494

Description:

Business event contents:

Escaping artificial intelligence has become a complex task. Escaping the discourse surrounding AI is even more so. Whether we see it as a promise of progress, a driver of dangerous regression, a passing trend, or simply a tool, discussions about AI are everywhere. And even when we try to ignore it, AI often shapes our lives in ways we don't even notice. Because AI has become deeply embedded in both the discourse and practices of contemporary societies, social scientists are increasingly urged to take a position on it.

The premise of this course is that to truly grasp what is at stake with AI, we must first understand what AI actually is. This means exploring its origins, its history, and the intellectual movements that have shaped it. It also requires a concrete understanding of what contemporary AI algorithms do. We need to intuitively grasp the difference between expert systems and connectionist approaches, understand why Transformer architectures have revolutionized content analysis, and why neural networks are often said to be "better at prediction than explanation." Familiarity with key concepts-such as RLHF, train/test/dev sets, AGI, and zero- and few-shot learning-is also essential for anyone seeking to study contemporary societies.

The idea is also to create a space where we can collectively discuss and reflect on AI to better understand its use, its possibilities, and its risks. The course is truly centered on collective discussion, fostering critical and in-depth exchanges on these issues.

To achieve this, the course follows an original structure. It alternates between (few) technical sessions, where we will examine how AI tools function, and specialized sessions, where we will analyze the role of AI in specific fields (work, politics, science) and domains (surveillance, algorithmic recommendation). Given their central role in many debates and their widespread use in the social sciences, particular attention will be paid to Large Language Models (LLMs).

It is important to note that this is not a course on AI or machine learning, and no prior computing or statistical skills are required. However, a willingness to engage with technical concepts will be beneficial.

Notes:

By the end of this course, students will be able to:

1. Understand

Explain the key concepts, historical developments, and technical foundations of AI in the context of the social sciences.

Differentiate between symbolic AI, connectionist approaches, and machine learning methodologies.

1. Apply

Identify which AI tools are best suited for different research problems in the social sciences.

Critically assess the impact of AI in domains like politics, work, and media using empirical examples.

1. Analyze

Evaluate the role of large language models (LLMs) in shaping discourse and decision-making.

Identify biases in AI systems and assess their implications for social research.

1. Evaluate

Debate the ethical and methodological challenges of AI in the social sciences.

Develop independent research arguments on the societal impact of AI.

Event Geographies of Resentment in Europe: Public Services, Left-Behind Places, and the Rise of the Far Right
06SE615-011b / Seminar / 5,476

Description:

Business event contents:

Why does the far-right vote tend to rise in places where post offices close, schools shut down, and hospitals disappear? This seminar examines one of the central questions in the study of contemporary European democracies: the relationship between the decline of public services, the experience of territorial abandonment, and shifts in political behaviour. The argument is not a deterministic one. Geography, on its own, explains little. What matters are the social characteristics of those who live in these places (social class position, biographical trajectory, cultural capital, the lived experience of relegation) and the ways in which territory and social structure interact. The question then becomes why certain places concentrate these profiles, and through which mechanisms material decline is translated into political grievance. Is it the loss of spaces where people used to meet and build everyday solidarities? A weakening of trust in institutions that are no longer visible? Or something more diffuse, having to do with recognition and dignity in places that feel forgotten?

The seminar draws on recent work in political science and economic sociology, including Cremaschi and colleagues on Italy, Bolet on the closure of British pubs and patterns of solitary drinking, and the broader literature on left-behind places and the geography of discontent. We will work through the mechanisms linking service decline to electoral change, and consider what policy responses, if any, have been put forward. Cases will be drawn from across Europe - rural France, post-industrial Britain, the Italian Mezzogiorno, eastern Germany - with attention to both common patterns and national specificities.

Event Penser la littérature aujourd'hui
06SE390p501a / Seminar / 2,125

Description:

Business event contents:

«Enseigner la littérature par temps mauvais» (Bruno Viard, 2019), «Faites-les lire ! Pour en finir avec le crétin digital» (Michel Desmurget, 2023), «La littérature embarquée» (Justine Huppe, 2023), «La littérature ça paye !» (Antoine Compagnon, 2024), «Que peut Littérature quand elle ne peut» (Édouard Glissant, 2025) - les publications réfléchissant sur la place de la littérature dans nos vies, tant individuelles que collectives, se multiplient depuis quelques années, signe certain de son statut fragile dans le monde d'aujourd'hui.

Dans ce séminaire nous dresserons une cartographie raisonnée des arguments avancés en faveur des textes littéraires dans les livres cités, auxquels s'ajouteront d'autres références. Ce faisant, nous réfléchirons ensemble à la valeur et au potentiel des textes littéraires pour affronter les problèmes posés par nos sociétés et, qui sait, pour faire bouger les choses.

Description:

Business event contents:

In diesem Semester wollen wir uns die grundlegenden kulturanalytischen Fähigkeiten und Fertigkeiten aneignen, indem wir kulturtheoretische Tiefenbohrungen vollziehen. Wir untersuchen den Kultur-Begriff, fragen danach, was Theorie, Lesen, Kritik heisst, und reflektieren darauf, was wir tun, wenn wir (Kultur) analysieren und was Kulturanalyse ist.

Die "Kulturanalytische Werkstatt" ist angelehnt an das Pflichtmodul "Kulturtheoretische Grundlagen" geplant und orientiert sich an dessen Seminarprogramm, kann aber auch unabhängig davon besucht werden.

Event Communicating Science in the Age of AI
06SE248-703a / Seminar / 5,541

Description:

Business event contents:

Science plays a central role in contemporary knowledge societies - in public debates about climate change, health, technologies and many other issues. Science communication helps make research accessible and relevant, not only by translating knowledge, but also by shaping how scientific expertise is debated, trusted, and used. At the same time, the rapid emergence of artificial intelligence - and generative AI in particular - is transforming how science is communicated and how people engage with scientific information.

AI is increasingly used by scientists to draft texts, visualize data, or interact with publics; by universities and research institutions for communication, marketing, and social media communication; by journalists, content creators, influencers and Wikipedians; and by citizens who turn to AI tools for information about health, nutrition, vaccination, or other science-related topics. These developments challenge established norms of accuracy, transparency, expertise, and accountability - but also open new opportunities for scaling participation and engagement.

In this seminar, you develop research projects examining how AI is reshaping science communication across these different actors and arenas. We discuss key theoretical approaches and empirical findings in science communication and AI research, and we critically assess opportunities and risks in the Swiss context. The course goes beyond theory: students will develop and conduct small research projects in collaboration with Swiss stakeholders - including researchers, communicators, journalists, and audiences - to empirically investigate how AI is changing science communication in practice.

Event Fintech, Blockchain & the future of international finance
02VL90WM44-1 / Course / 4,031

Description:

Business event contents:

DESCRIPTION OF THE COURSE

Finance is being reinvented in real time. From blockchain to decentralized finance, from tokenized assets to central bank digital currencies, new technologies are redrawing the boundaries of global markets—while regulators race to keep up. This course explores the frontiers of financial innovation, combining technical insights with legal, regulatory, and policy analysis.

Students will gain a solid grounding in the foundations of financial regulation, the mechanics of blockchain and smart contracts, and the rise of digital assets—from the ICO boom to today's tokenized funds and on-chain asset management. Through comparative study of landmark frameworks such as the EU's MiCA and emerging U.S. proposals, we will examine how different jurisdictions grapple with classification, licensing, custody, investor protection, and market stability in a fast-moving environment.

The course also investigates the disruptive forces of decentralized finance, the parallels between traditional shadow banking and crypto-based intermediation, and the policy challenges of shadow central banking. Special sessions on AML, RegTech, and SupTech will highlight how technology is transforming compliance.

Crucially, guest speakers from industry leaders, policymaking bodies, and regulatory authorities will join the course, providing invaluable real-world perspectives. This direct engagement will equip students to critically assess—and confidently navigate—the rapidly evolving landscape where technology, law, and finance converge.

COURSE STRUCTURE

The course will consist of lecture sessions that utilized the case law method and interactive discussion of key lecture topics derived from the readings and elaborated upon in class. The required readings and relevant documentation will be available to be downloaded from the course readings page on the course website (website link). Students should read the mandatory readings for each week's lecture and come to class ready to participate. The final lecture will include an examination review session that will cover relevant course themes and topics. The examination will be written and open book. Students will be encouraged to discuss course themes and materials in preparation for the examination.

Notes:

PODCAST

The lectures will be recorded and offered online as podcasts. Please note that due to technical difficulties not all classes may be recorded or there may be technical difficulties with the recordings. Students are encouraged to attend all lectures. If they miss lectures, they take the risk that technical problems or disturbances in the online recordings may make it difficult or impossible for them to access the lectures. The loss of access to the recordings is not sufficient cause for an appeal against the examination. Scripts or other materials declared as examination relevant take priority over the podcasts. In case of ambiguity contact the lecturer immediately. The recordings are for private use only. Redistribution in whatever form, in whole or in part, is not permitted without consent of the lecturer and may be punished by disciplinary measures or otherwise.

Event Institutional Diffusion in Global Politics

06SE615p015a / Seminar / 5,556

Description:

Business event contents:

Across the modern world, political institutions display a notable degree of similarity. Finance ministries, central banks, professional civil services, written constitutions, and central statistical agencies are nearly universal features of contemporary states. None of these institutions is more than three centuries old, and none was invented independently in most of the countries that now have them. They were transmitted, adopted, and adapted across borders. Political scientists describe this process as institutional diffusion.

This course examines the global diffusion of political ideas, institutions, and practices since the eighteenth century. Three questions structure the semester. First, what diffuses: modern states, regime types, economic institutions, normative frameworks, public policies. Second, how diffusion occurs: through learning, emulation, competitive pressure, coercion, and socialization. Third, why diffusion is uneven: under what conditions does adoption produce durable institutional change, and under what conditions does it produce symbolic or short-lived reform?

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Moderne, gekennzeichnet durch Individualisierung und Säkularisierung, ist der Relevanz von Ritualen abträglich. Diese These wird im Seminar kritisch geprüft. Dazu wird eine ritualtheoretische Perspektive ausgearbeitet, die auf verschiedene Fallbeispiele, religiöse und nicht-religiöse, angewandt wird: Unter anderem auf Amtseinsetzungen in der Politik, öffentliche Trauerrituale und individuelle magische Praktiken.

Event Fachdidaktik Biologie I
06SE090Bio1a / Seminar / 5,397

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Modul fokussiert inhaltlich auf Methoden der Unterrichtsvorbereitung und Unterrichtsdurchführung. Basis aller Inhalte ist die Praxisnähe. Zu den behandelten und beübten Themen gehören unter anderem Präparationsschemata, Lernziele formulieren, Unterrichtseinstiege, Unterrichtsformen (Frontalunterricht, Gruppenarbeiten etc.), Modelle im Biologieunterricht, Einsatz von Medien (z. B. Wandtafel, Visualizer, Tablet, Bücher), Mikroskopieren, verbales Lehrerverhalten sowie Exkursionsdidaktik. Zudem werden die dem Biologieunterricht zugrundeliegenden verpflichtenden Dokumente wie das MAR, der Rahmenlehrplan und Lehrpläne verschiedener Schulen unter die Lupe genommen.

Notes:

FD Biologie I wird in zwei themengleichen Kursen geführt, jeweils Do., 12:30-14:00 und Do., 16:00-17:30 entweder an der Kantonsschule Stadelhofen (im Gebäude der Hohen Promenade), Promenadengasse 11, 8090 Zürich, Raum 021 oder an der Kantonsschule Zimmerberg, Steinacherstrasse 101, 8804 Au ZH, Raum 124. Am ein und gleichen Donnerstag finden beide Kurse am gleichen Ort statt, also entweder in Zürich oder in Au ZH.

Die Kurse FD I in Zürich werden von S. Holtz, die Kurse in Au ZH von D. Meier gehalten. Das Eröffnungsseminar in der ersten Semesterwoche, findet für alle Teilnehmer/innen von FD Bio I und FD Bio III gemeinsam, beginnend um 14:00, an der Kantonsschule Stadelhofen (im Gebäude der Hohen Promenade), Promenadengasse 11, 8090 Zürich, Raum 021 statt. Wegen Exkursionen oder themenbedingt verlängerten Vorlesungen, kommt es da und dort zu Abweichungen gegenüber den publizierten Terminen und Zeiten. Die Dozenten werden Sie zu Kursbeginn über die Details informieren.

Event Banking and Insurance (VU)
03VU22BO0009 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 395

Description:

Business event contents:

Der Kurs Banking and Insurance gibt Bachelorstudierenden eine fundierte Einführung ins Bank- und ins Versicherungsgeschäft. Dabei erhalten die Studierenden eine theoretisch fundierte Übersicht über das Bankgeschäft mit Fokus Kredit- und Hypothekargeschäft sowie Bankenregulierung. Die theoretischen Konzepte werden mit Praxisvorträgen und einer Bank-Simulation ergänzt. Im zweiten Teil wird auf den Versicherungsmarkt eingegangen und aufgezeigt, wie Versicherungen funktionieren sowie sie reguliert werden.

Notes:

Dieses Modul findet vor Ort und online (Podcast) statt.
Bei Fragen zum Modul wenden Sie sich bitte an banking@df.uzh.ch.

Course Materials: Sämtliche notwendige Literatur (inkl. Skript) und Vorlesungsunterlagen werden auf OLAT zur Verfügung gestellt.

Event Critical Security Studies and Conflict
06SE615-003d / Seminar / 5,554

Description:

Business event contents:

This seminar introduces students to critical approaches to security and conflict by examining how security is made, assembled, and contested. Rather than treating security and conflict as fixed or self-evident phenomena, the course asks how particular issues, populations, spaces, and technologies come to be understood as security problems. The course seeks to put the "international" back into the study of security and conflict by foregrounding perspectives, cases, and debates from beyond the traditional centres of security studies. Throughout this seminar, students will engage with critical security studies, securitization theory, postcolonial and feminist approaches, human security, migration and borders, environmental security, and the role of technology in contemporary warfare, conflict, and governance.

Event Einführung in die Arbeit mit ethnologischen Texten Übungsgruppe D
06UE721-002d / Exercise Group / 5,168

Description:

Business event contents:

In diesem Kurs lesen wir die Monographie The Land of Open Graves: Living and Dying on the Migrant Trail von Jason De León (2015, University of California Press).

In The Land of Open Graves untersucht Jason De León die Folgen der US-amerikanischen Grenzpolitik an der Grenze zwischen Mexiko und den USA. Auf der Grundlage ethnografischer, archäologischer, linguistischer und forensischer Forschung zeigt er, wie die Strategie der "Prevention through Deterrence" Menschen auf lebensgefährliche Routen durch die Sonora-Wüste zwingt. Das Buch rekonstruiert die Erfahrungen von Migrant:innen, analysiert die im Wüstenraum zurückgelassenen Gegenstände und dokumentiert die tödlichen Konsequenzen einer Grenzpolitik, die natürliche Landschaften zu Instrumenten staatlicher Gewalt macht. Das Buch ist ein eindringlicher und erschütternder Bericht über eine Realität, die wir alle kennen sollten.

Keywords: Migration, Grenzpolitik, strukturelle Gewalt, US-Mexikanische Grenze

Event Lernende an der Berufsmaturitätsschule unterstützen und begleiten (LBM), Gruppe 1
06SE090LLB2a / Seminar / 5,603

Description:

Business event contents:

In dieser Veranstaltung werden anhand konkreter Fallbeispiele aus dem Unterricht an Berufsfach- und Berufsmaturitätsschulen pädagogische Prozesse analysiert. Hierbei steht einerseits die Biografie der Lehrperson andererseits die spezielle Situation des Berufslernenden im Vordergrund. Lern- und Sozialisationsprozesse werden diskutiert, Theoriewissen vertieft und durch Erfahrungswissen und Handlungsoptionen aus der Praxis ergänzt. Das Erkennen von Ressourcen bei den Berufslernenden und deren Unterstützung und Förderung bilden wichtige Bestandteile der Veranstaltung. Der Heterogenität (kulturell, schulisch, individuell) wird besondere Beachtung geschenkt und das Individuum ins Zentrum gestellt.

Event Lernende an der Berufsmaturitätsschule unterstützen und begleiten (LBM), Gruppe 2
06SE090LLB2b / Seminar / 5,604

Description:

Business event contents:

In dieser Veranstaltung werden anhand konkreter Fallbeispiele aus dem Unterricht an Berufsfach- und Berufsmaturitätsschulen pädagogische Prozesse analysiert. Hierbei steht einerseits die Biografie der Lehrperson andererseits die spezielle Situation des Berufslernenden im Vordergrund. Lern- und Sozialisationsprozesse werden diskutiert, Theoriewissen vertieft und durch Erfahrungswissen und Handlungsoptionen aus der Praxis ergänzt. Das Erkennen von Ressourcen bei den Berufslernenden und deren Unterstützung und Förderung bilden wichtige Bestandteile der Veranstaltung. Der Heterogenität (kulturell, schulisch, individuell) wird besondere Beachtung geschenkt und das Individuum ins Zentrum gestellt.

Event Explaining International and Civil Wars
06SE615-003b / Seminar / 3,196

Description:

Business event contents:

Wars remain a prevalent political phenomenon, with 2026 being the year with the highest number of active armed conflicts since systematic comparative records exist. After the end of the Cold War, the world experienced a surge in the number of civil wars. Despite policy efforts to contain and even reduce the incidence, severity and duration of violent conflicts, in recent years these civil wars have turned more internationalised. We have also observed a pronounced increase in the number of militarised disputes between countries, some of them escalating to war levels. Why do wars happen? This seminar introduces students to contemporary research on international and civil wars. During the seminar, we study the origins, dynamics, and termination of wars, including the role of the international community, policy responses to war, and post-conflict legacies.

Event Queere Schweiz. Eine Archivgeschichte
06SE600-016a / Seminar / 3,020

Description:

Business event contents:

In diesem Bachelorseminar möchten wir auf Spurensuche gehen nach Menschen, Lebensformen und Lebensentwürfen, die man heute als queer bezeichnen würde. Wir beschäftigen uns mit den Lebensgeschichten und Handlungsoptionen von Schweizer:innen, dem Ringen um die Sichtbarkeit und den Kampf gegen Diskriminierung und Ausgrenzung und verorten dies in der Geschichte der Schweiz. So behandelt dieses Seminar auch die Schweizer Geschichte der Emanzipationsbewegungen queerer Menschen seit ihren Anfängen bis zur Gegenwart. Gemeinsam werden wir im Sozialarchiv v.a. mit den Beständen der LOS und des Schwulenarchivs arbeiten.

Darüberhinaus geht es in diesem Seminar wie in jedem Bachelorseminar darum, anhand der vorgegebenen Thematik die Arbeitstechniken der Geschichtswissenschaft, d.h. die Suche nach Quellen und Literatur sowie die Bearbeitung des Quellenmaterials mit eigens entwickelten Fragestellungen zu üben und anzuwenden.

Event International Management (L)
03VL22BO0038 / Course / 1,440

Description:

Business event contents:

In today's business environment, companies face a wide range of choices regarding markets, locations for key activities, outsourcing and ownership modes, and organization and processes for managing across borders. This course provides students with a framework to understand the key challenges of international management and work effectively in today's global environment. The goal is to provide the foundations for taking effective action in the world of international business. The course will first cover frameworks for identifying and taking advantage of the opportunities presented in a dynamic global environment at the level of the country and industry. Next firm-level strategic choices will be covered regarding where to engage in which activities. Finally challenges of integrating the multiple perspectives, functions, and interests that constitute the multinational firm will be discussed.

Event Kate Manne: Misogynie
06TT160p020a / Tutorat / 5,646

Description:

Business event contents:

Verunsicherungen, Beschimpfungen und Gewalt gegen Frauen sind nicht Einzelfälle, sondern haben Struktur und ihre eigene Logik. Dies thematisiert Kate Manne in ihren Büchern Down Girl: The Logic of Misogyny und Entitled: How Male Privilege Hurts Women. Manne versteht dieses Verhalten als Misogynie, dass vorrangig als ein Kontroll- und Bestrafungsinstrument dient. Dieses sanktioniert Verhalten, was von patriarchalen Wertevorstellungen abweicht. Wenn sich also eine Frau nicht nach bestimmten Werten oder Vorstellungen verhält, begegnet ihr Misogynie in verschiedenen Formen; von sozialer Meidung bis zu Gewalt.

In dem Tutorat wird es darum gehen, zentrale Begriffe in Mannes Arbeit wie Misogynie, ihrem Begriff der «himpathy» und das damit verbundene Konzept der Täter-Opfer-Umkehr zu klären. Der Fokus wird auf dem Buch Entitled liegen, da in diesem die Hauptkenntnisse von Down Girl aufgenommen und zugänglicher diskutiert werden.

Event Körpergeschichte im Anthropozän
06KO600p013a / Colloquium / 3,380

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Anthropozän wird oft als geologisches und klimatisches Phänomen verhandelt. Im BA-Kolloquium "Körpergeschichte im Anthropozän" hingegen rücken menschliche und nichtmenschliche Körper ins Zentrum der Analyse. Wir fragen nach Körpern als Austragungsort, Speichermedium und historische Quelle dieser neuen Epoche. Im Kolloquium gehen wir der These nach, dass sich die tiefgreifenden, vom Menschen verursachten Umweltveränderungen im Anthropozän in die Körper einschreiben und diese zu einem entscheidenden Schauplatz des Anthropozäns machen. Grundlegend hierfür ist ein veränderter Körperbegriff, welcher den Körper nicht als abgeschlossene Einheit, sondern als permeabel, dynamisch und historisch versteht. Im Anthropozän wird dieser Körperbegriff spezifisch durch verschiedene Umweltgifte, aber auch durch soziale Ungleichheit und Umweltstress konkretisiert.

Das Kolloquium untersucht diese körper- und biohistorische Perspektive auf das Anthropozän auch als Macht- und Geschlechterfrage, denn die Lasten des Anthropozäns sind ungleich verteilt. Nicht alle Körper sind gleichermassen betroffen, einige sind besonders verwundbar. In methodischer Hinsicht diskutieren wir also den Körper als Archiv, welche materielle Spuren konserviert, wir fragen aber auch nach den subjektiven Erfahrungen von Körperlichkeit. Ziel ist es, den Körper als historischen Gegenstand ernst zu nehmen, in der sich Natur- und Kulturgeschichte, globale Prozesse und lokale Ungleichheiten verschränken.

Event Cluster- und Klassifikationsverfahren zur Analyse von Mediennutzungsmustern
06SE254p111a / Seminar / 539

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Mediennutzungsgewohnheiten von Bürgerinnen und Bürgern befinden sich in einem stetigen Wandel. In liberalen Demokratien führt die Zunahme an potenziell zugänglichen Informationsquellen dabei dazu, dass Individuen in heutigen «high-choice»-Mediensystemen zunehmend in der Lage sind, sich ihre eigenen Mediendiäten - sogenannte Medienrepertoires - nach ihren persönlichen Präferenzen zusammenzustellen. Gleichzeitig nimmt die Zahl der Personen, die sich bewusst oder unbewusst von journalistischen Informationsquellen abwenden und kaum oder überhaupt keine Nachrichten mehr nutzen, in vielen Demokratien zu.

In diesem Forschungsseminar lernen wir in einem ersten Schritt («hands on») zwei etablierte Verfahren kennen, mit denen sich Medien- und Nachrichtennutzungsmuster explorativ analysieren lassen: Clusteranalysen (CA) sowie latente Profilanalysen (LPA).

Mittels CA und LPA lassen sich anhand von öffentlich zugänglichen sowie vom Kursleiter zur Verfügung gestellten Datensätzen Gruppen von Menschen identifizieren, die ähnliche Mediennutzungsmuster aufweisen (Mediennutzertypen / Nutzer:innenprofile). Die Kursteilnehmenden lernen dabei anhand ausgewählter Studien die in der Literatur gängigen Verfahren zu verstehen und kritisch einzuordnen. Wir diskutieren dabei mögliche Vor- und Nachteile, wobei ein inhaltlicher Fokus auf der Auswahl der Mediennutzungs-Variablen liegt, die in bisherigen Studien berücksichtigt werden. Ein zweiter inhaltlicher Fokus liegt auf Faktoren, die Mediennutzungsmuster beeinflussen (z.B. Alter, Geschlecht, Bildung) und welche Folgen unterschiedliche Nutzungsgewohnheiten haben können (z.B. für das Aktualitätswissen und die politische Partizipation). In einem zweiten Schritt lernen die Studierenden selbstständig, mit der Statistiksoftware R bzw. RStudio, Clusteranalysen und latente Profilanalysen durchzuführen.

Ziel ist es, bis zum Ende des Semesters (eine) eigene Forschungsfrage(n) auf Basis des bisherigen Forschungsstands abzuleiten, diese durch Feedback weiterzuentwickeln und eine eigene empirische Arbeit zu konzipieren (Vorbereitung für Bachelorarbeit).

Event International Sales Law (CISG)

02VL90IL13-1 / Course / 3,970

Description:

Business event contents:

This course is designed to introduce students to the theoretical and practical problems of international sales law and the legal solutions served by the United Nations Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods (CISG), which entered into force in 1988 and counts today more than ninety contracting states. The course focuses mainly on the scope of application of the CISG, the hierarchy between the CISG and national sales law provisions, formation of the contract under the CISG, obligations of the parties and remedies in case of non- performance, and the liability regime of the CISG. The course aims also to use the CISG as a base to discuss differing approaches in Civil Law and Common Law jurisdictions, thereby facilitating students with international background to scrutinize their own national sales law system.

Course Materials: The PowerPoint presentations as well as the necessary reading will be available on the course website.

Event Gruppe 02, Proseminar 2: Krieg, Kollaps und Umweltkatastrophen vom Mittelalter bis zur Gegenwart
06SE600-007o / Seminar / 402

Description:

Business event contents:

Krisen sind transformative Momente auf verschiedenen Ebenen der Kultur, Gesellschaft und der «natürlichen» Umwelt. Im 21. Jahrhundert, in dem verschiedene Erscheinungsformen des globalen Klimawandels den menschlichen Lebensraum in einem noch nie dagewesenen Ausmass bedrohen, werden Katastrophenabwehr, Katastrophenbewältigung und die Ursachen von Katastrophen selbst zunehmend als Auswirkungen kollektiver Entscheidungen wahrgenommen. Wie haben sich Wahrnehmung, Verständnis und Lehren aus gesellschaftlichen Krisen im Wandel der Zeit verändert?

Durch das Studium diverser Primär- und Sekundärquellen tauchen wir ein in verschiedene Realitäten vom Mittelalter bis zur Gegenwart und untersuchen die Anatomie von Kriegen, Hungersnöten und Pogromen als politische Prozesse. Anhand diverser Fallbeispiele, die von den Kreuzzügen bis zum Grossen Sprung nach Vorn, oder von der Pest bis zur Kernschmelze von Fukushima reichen, analysieren wir die Zusammenhänge von Ideologie und Technologie, Wirtschaft und Umwelt, Wissen und Verdrängung. Wir analysieren, wie Krisen erlebt und gedeutet werden und wie kollektives Wissen und die Erinnerung an vergangene Krisenmomente Institutionen, Identitäten und Infrastruktur in der Gegenwart prägen.

Event Gruppe 03, Proseminar 2: Sexualität(en) und Begehren: Konzepte und Kontexte im Wandel
06SE600-007p / Seminar / 404

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie wurden Sexualität(en) und Begehren in unterschiedlichen historischen Kontexten gedacht, benannt und reguliert? Welche Begriffe standen zur Verfügung, um intime Praktiken, Identitäten oder Abweichungen zu beschreiben und was sagen diese Begriffe und Konzepte über die jeweiligen gesellschaftlichen Ordnungen aus? Zugleich stellt sich die Frage, wie Historiker:innen solche Vorstellungen rekonstruieren können, wenn sie häufig implizit bleiben und an zeitgenössisches Wissen gebunden sind.

Im Zentrum des Basismoduls stehen unterschiedliche historische Vorstellungen von Sexualität(en) und Begehren sowie die methodischen Herausforderungen, diese in der Retrospektive zu erfassen.

Im PS 1 beschäftigen wir uns mit den Konzepten der Antike. Welche Kategorien wurden hier verwendet und in welchen Kontexten wurde Sexualität wie verstanden? Die Andersartigkeit antiker Vorstellungen bietet die Möglichkeit unsere heutigen Vorstellungen zu hinterfragen und gibt einen Einblick in die Historizität von Konzepten. Die Studierenden analysieren Forschungsliteratur und untersuchen die Herangehens- und die Arbeitsweise von Historiker:innen.

Das PS 2 widmet sich der Begriffsgeschichte im 19. und 20. Jh. Anhand ausgewählter Begriffe werden deren Entstehung, Wandel und Verwendung in unterschiedlichen historischen Kontexten untersucht. Dabei stehen Fragen nach Normierung, Abweichung, Pathologisierung und Selbstbeschreibung im Vordergrund. Die Studierenden arbeiten mit Quellenmaterial, u. a. mit medizinischen, juristischen und literarischen Texten.

Im Basismodul erwerben die Studierenden grundlegende Kompetenzen der geschichtswissenschaftlichen Praxis. Dazu gehören Techniken der Literaturrecherche, die kritische Lektüre von Forschungsliteratur sowie die Analyse und Interpretation unterschiedlicher Quellentypen. Ziel ist es, ein Verständnis dafür zu entwickeln, wie historisches Wissen über Sexualität(en) und Begehren entsteht und welche Grenzen und Möglichkeiten dieser Erkenntnis bestehen.

Notes:

Erwartet wird die aktive Teilnahme an den Sitzungen, die fristgerechte Einreichung der Leistungsnachweise und weiterer kleiner schriftlichen Aufgaben.

Als Leistungsnachweis wird im Proseminar 1 eine Präsentation sowie ein schriftlicher Forschungsbericht verlangt.

Im Proseminar 2 wird ein schriftliches Konzept sowie eine Proseminararbeit verlangt.

Das Modul gilt als bestanden, wenn die Leistungsnachweise beider Proseminare als bestanden bewertet wurden.

Event Gruppe 07, Proseminar 2: Migration, Expansion und Begegnung
06SE600-007t / Seminar / 410

Description:

Business event contents:

In diesem Basismodul beschäftigen wir uns mit zentralen historischen Themen rund um Migration sowie Expansion, die die Entwicklung unserer Welt massgeblich beeinflussten.

Im Proseminar I befassen wir uns mit kriegerischen Expansionen, Gesandtschaften an fremde Völker und dem Zusammentreffen verschiedener Religionsgemeinschaften.

Im Proseminar II setzen wir uns abseits populistischer Betrachtungsweisen mit unterschiedlichen Migrationsformen und entscheidenden transnationalen Migrationsbewegungen auseinander.

Das Basismodul I dient vor allem auch dem Erwerb grundlegender Kenntnisse wissenschaftlichen historischen Arbeitens: Die Schwerpunkte des Proseminars I liegen im Bereich des Umgangs mit Forschungsliteratur, während sich das Proseminar II hauptsächlich auf die Arbeit mit Quellen konzentriert.

Notes:

Im Proseminar I besteht der Leistungsnachweis aus einem Vortrag und einem Forschungsbericht.

Im Proseminar II wird für den Leistungsnachweis die Ausarbeitung eines Konzepts zur Proseminararbeit und eine Proseminararbeit gefordert.

In beiden Proseminaren wird die Teilnahme an den Exkursionen (Zentralbibliothek, Museum/Archiv) und mündliche Beteiligung erwartet.

Event Gruppe 12, Proseminar 2: Geschlecht verhandeln: Rollen, Normen und Macht von der Antike bis zur Neuzeit
06SE600-007y / Seminar / 420

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie werden Geschlecht und Geschlechteridentitäten definiert, verstanden und bewertet? Welche Vorstellungen, Idealbilder und Abwertungen von Geschlechterrollen prägten und prägen unterschiedliche Gesellschaften? Wie werden geschlechterspezifische Eigenschaften, Verhaltensnormen und Handlungsspielräume definiert, erwartet oder in Frage gestellt? Wie wurden Debatten gesellschaftlich, politisch und administrativ geführt? Ausgehend von diesen Fragen widmet sich dieses Basismodul der Vielfalt und Aktualität von Vorstellungen von Geschlechterrollen und -identitäten in antiken und modernen Gesellschaften. Anhand ausgewählter historischer Fallstudien aus der griechischen Antike, der Kolonialzeit sowie postkolonialen Staaten wird aufgezeigt, wie Geschlechterrollen konstruiert, verhandelt und verändert wurden.

Durch die Diskussion historischer Quellen und aktueller Forschungsdebatten entwickeln wir ein Verständnis für die Vielfalt und Wandelbarkeit von Geschlechtervorstellungen im historischen Verlauf.

Das Basismodul I bietet weiter eine umfassende Einführung in das geschichtswissenschaftliche Arbeiten. Eingeeübt werden das Lesen, Verstehen und Schreiben wissenschaftlicher Texte, Techniken der Literatur- und Quellenrecherche sowie die Analyse historischer Quellen.

Event Vorbilder und Ideale in der Ethik
06SE160p012a / Seminar / 3,994

Description:

Business event contents:

Gibt es in der Ethik Raum für Ansprüche, die über die Erfüllung unserer Pflichten hinausgehen? Welche Rolle spielen dabei Ideale und Vorbilder, etwa Figuren wie Helden oder Heilige? Führt die Orientierung an Idealen eher zu Selbstüberforderung und Zynismus - oder inspiriert sie im Gegenteil zu Handlungen, die ohne hohe Selbstansprüche gar nicht möglich gewesen wären? Anhand von Texten aus der analytischen Philosophie der Gegenwart soll diesen Fragen im Seminar nachgegangen werden

Event Policy-Diffusion: Sind Policies ansteckend?

06VL615-028a / Course / 3,728

Description:

Business event contents:

Diese Lehrveranstaltung führt die Studierenden in Politikprozesse und öffentliche Politiken ein und vermittelt theoretische und empirische Kenntnisse über die Politikprozesse, die zur Entwicklung einer Policy führen sowie deren Umsetzung und Evaluation. Die Lehrveranstaltung fokussiert auf die Frage der Policy-Diffusion, d.h. wie Policies sich sowohl international als auch subnational verbreiten und somit als "ansteckend" wirken können. Die Lehrveranstaltung präsentiert die relevanten Theorien anhand empirischer Anwendungen zu verschiedenen Politikgebieten in der Schweiz und in anderen Ländern, u.a. in einer internationalen und vergleichenden Perspektive.

Event Internationale Politik
06VL615-030a / Course / 3,188

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Vorlesung «Internationale Politik» richtet sich an alle Studierenden, die ihr Studium im Bereich Internationale Politik vertiefen wollen. Die Vorlesung beginnt mit einem Überblick über die wichtigsten Akteure und Strukturen in den internationalen Beziehungen, wobei auch die zentralen Theorieschulen diskutiert werden. Im zweiten Teil geht es um internationale Kooperation und Institutionen, insbesondere internationale Verhandlungen, internationale Organisationen und die Weltordnung im Wandel. Im letzten Teil der Vorlesung werden einige konkrete Themen der internationalen Politik vertieft, wie zum Beispiel transnationale Umweltprobleme, internationale Wirtschaftsbeziehungen, oder die Rolle des Globalen Südens und von kleinen Staaten in der internationalen Politik. Die Vorlesung verbindet die Vermittlung von Grundlagenwissen und aktueller Forschung mit der praktischen Anwendung des Gelernten auf aktuelle Entwicklungen in den internationalen Beziehungen.
