Event Spezialisierung: Digital Public Governance
06SE615p005a / Seminar / 3,734

Description:

Business event contents:

This course builds on key debates about digital governance and translates them into concrete research practice. Its main aim is to support students in designing and conducting a Bachelor's thesis on a specific case of data-driven governance, while connecting that case to broader theoretical and political discussions. The course starts from the observation that public authority increasingly operates through databases, digital identifiers, interoperability standards, predictive systems, and platform infrastructures. These arrangements render individuals legible as data subjects and transform political judgment into rule-based or probabilistic decision logics in areas such as welfare, security, taxation, or mobility. Students will learn how to move from broad diagnoses of digital transformation to clearly defined research puzzles, theoretically grounded arguments, and feasible empirical strategies, resulting in a coherent and methodologically sound BA thesis proposal.

Event Capstone: Klimapolitik in den Kantonen – Akteurskonstellationen und Narrative
06SE615p513a / Seminar / 5,371

Description:

Business event contents:

Dieser Capstone-Kurs wird in Zusammenarbeit mit Clima Now durchgeführt.

Die Klimapolitik in der Schweiz hat sich in den letzten rund 15 Jahren stark entwickelt, wobei die kantonale Ebene eine zentrale, bislang jedoch wenig erforschte Rolle spielt. Während nationale Entscheidungen im Fokus stehen, ist oft unklar, wie klimapolitische Massnahmen in den Kantonen konkret ausgestaltet, politisch verhandelt und umgesetzt werden.

Ziel des Projekts ist die Erstellung einer vergleichenden Politikfeldanalyse der kantonalen Klimapolitik. In einem ersten Schritt werden kantonale klimapolitische Gesetzesvorlagen identifiziert und Volksabstimmungen darüber in den vergangenen 15 Jahren systematisch erfasst und quantitativ analysiert, um Unterschiede zwischen Kantonen, zeitliche Entwicklungen, zentrale Einflussfaktoren sowie typische Muster sichtbar zu machen. Darauf aufbauend werden in ausgewählten Kantonen qualitative Fallstudien durchgeführt, um die zugrunde liegenden Dynamiken sowie Abweichungen (Outliers) vertieft zu untersuchen. Im Zentrum der Analyse stehen die Darstellung von Akteurskonstellationen, politischen Koalitionen und Policy Belief Systems (Narrative).

Ziel ist es, die Dynamiken kantonalen Klimapolitik systematisch zu erfassen und zu erklären. Die Analyse trägt damit auch zum Verständnis föderaler Politikdynamiken sowie der Rolle kantonalen Arenen in der schweizerischen Klimapolitik bei.

Auf der Grundlage dieser Studie möchte Clima Now besser verstehen, (1) welche Faktoren dazu beitragen, dass ambitionierte klimapolitische Vorlagen auf kantonaler Ebene verabschiedet werden können, und (2) welche Faktoren dazu beitragen, dass klimapolitische Vorlagen in den Kantonen vom Stimmvolk angenommen werden.

Notes:

Das Projekt wird von einer Gruppe von maximal fünf fortgeschrittenen Masterstudierenden des Instituts für Politikwissenschaft der Universität Zürich durchgeführt. Die Studierenden sind für die sach- und termingerechte Bearbeitung des Projekts sowie für die Berichterstattung zuhause von Clima Now verantwortlich.

Die Projektgruppe wird von Prof. Dr. Daniel Kübler und Dr. Palmo Brunner zusammengestellt und betreut. Prof. Kübler übernimmt die Betreuung im HS 2026, Dr. Brunner im FS 2027.

Clima Now stellt den Studierenden relevante Dokumente und gegebenenfalls Interviewpartner zur Verfügung, steht für Auskünfte bereit und beteiligt sich an den Besprechungen gemäss dem unten aufgeführten Terminplan.

Die Veranstaltung findet im AFL-F-150 statt.

Event Spezialisierung: Global Party Systems
06SE615p007a / Seminar / 3,913

Description:

Business event contents:

The focus of the seminar is the transformation of global party systems, their differences and commonalities. Global party systems are defined as domestic party systems in various world regions and are analysed in their long-term historical development. Global party systems include democratic party systems such as those of Europe, Israel, Japan and the United States, but also those of democratizing or unstable democracies in Brazil, Indonesia and India. It includes also the party systems of modernizing countries like Mexico South Africa and Turkey and the dominance of secular modernizing parties. The seminar addresses the nature of party systems in authoritarian states such as China (a complex one-party system), Egypt and Russia. Historically, it analyses authoritarian party systems during fascist periods. Finally, the seminar addresses the unique case of a supra-national party system, namely that of the European Union. Overall, the goal is to compare broadly global historical development and understand the fundamental transformations in democracies and authoritarian states.

The seminar take a long term perspective and addresses phases from democratization in the 19th century through the fascist and communist phases between the world wars, and the divergence after World War II. Transformations include the challenge to dominant modernizing and established parties by populists (left- and right-wing) but also by new religious parties as in India, Israel, Turkey and Egypt, but also the impact of Evangelism in the United States and Brazil. The goal of the seminar is to introduce students to a literature that goes beyond Western cases and also to a literature on measures of transformation of party systems, such as fragmentation, volatility, declining trust and participation, and polarization. Other measures include indicators about the commonalities of steps in the development of party systems, the simultaneity of change and converging patterns. What is the balance between similarities and differences between party systems in different parts of the world? To what extent are there global transformations that affect all party systems? Data and documentation are made available for presentations, alongside the texts used for the case studies and comparisons.

In the Fall Semester the seminar provides a basic and encompassing introduction to global party systems and analyses single countries in their historical development. Weekly sessions are based on case studies or group cases according to world regions, but some sessions are reserved to party families, namely the role of modernizing, fascist, communist and liberal parties. In the Spring Semester the seminar accompanies participants in their research for the BA dissertation. Sessions are planned on a weekly base to follow participants' research steps from research question and research design to the drafting of title and abstract, theoretical framework and literature review, method and data collection, analysis and interpretation of results. Dissertations can be based on qualitative or quantitative methods, be case studies or comparative. Guidelines for the rigorous application of all types of methods are provided to participants.

The final grade for the Fall Semester is composed of 70% by research design that prepares their dissertation in the Spring Semester and 30% by the presentation in class. The final grade for the Spring Semester is 100% on the dissertation.

Event Was ist Animation? Positionen, Genealogien und aktuelle Fragen
06KO255p018a / Colloquium / 5,761

Description:

Business event contents:

Dass die Animation in der Filmtheorie eine eigentümliche Randstellung einnimmt, hat nicht zuletzt mit der Schwierigkeit zu tun, überhaupt eindeutig zu bestimmen, was unter Animation zu verstehen ist. Dies wird dadurch verstärkt, dass die vermeintlich klare Unterscheidung zwischen Real- und Animationsfilm angesichts der Vielfalt animierter Bildformen zunehmend relativiert wird. Das ästhetische Spektrum der Animationskunst ist ebenso weit gefächert wie die technischen Verfahren, mit denen sie hervorgebracht wird: Es reicht von vollständig abstrakten Kompositionen bis hin zu hyperrealistischen Welten, von "rohen" und materialnahen bis zu ephemeren-sublimen Bildsprachen. Entsprechend lässt sich die Frage, was einen Animationsfilm ausmacht, kaum über bestimmte technische Verfahren oder ästhetische Merkmale beantworten. Der Versuch, Animation über spezifische Verfahren einzugrenzen, führt in Anbetracht ihrer grossen Bandbreite zu Ausschlüssen und nicht selten zu reduktionistischen Definitionen.

Im Kolloquium Filmtheorie wird eine Auswahl von Ansätzen von den 1920er Jahren bis in die Gegenwart diskutiert, die sich mit der Bestimmung dieser Spezifität des Animierten und ihrer Genealogie auseinandersetzen. Ein besonderer Schwerpunkt liegt dabei auf den historischen und diskursiven Relationen zwischen den verschiedenen Ansätzen. Während einige Beiträge Fragen der Medienspezifik, Ästhetik oder Technologiegeschichte in den Mittelpunkt stellen und dabei wiederholt das Verhältnis von Film und Animation beziehungsweise Fotografie und Animation thematisieren, entwickeln andere eigene Begrifflichkeiten, die auf unterschiedliche Disziplinen und theoretische Traditionen verweisen und den Animationsfilm etwa als magisch, metamorphisch, plasmatisch oder animistisch charakterisieren.

Ziel des Kolloquiums ist es, ausgewählte Positionen zum Themenkomplex der Animation kennenzulernen und produktiv miteinander in Beziehung zu setzen. Dabei soll auch der Blick auf die Gegenwart gerichtet werden, um anhand aktueller Tendenzen zu überlegen, wie und warum eine Auseinandersetzung mit dem Animationsbegriff heute notwendig ist. In der vertieften Beschäftigung mit den Texten werden zentrale Begriffe, Thesen und Konzepte erschlossen und in den Gesprächsrunden kritisch diskutiert. Zugleich werden Kompetenzen im Umgang mit unterschiedlichen theoretischen Positionen entwickelt.

Event Complex Molecule Assembly
07VUCHE436.1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 559

Description:

Business event contents:

The goal of this course is to develop a detailed understanding of the tactics and strategies used in complex molecule assembly. Specifically, the students will learn to develop and refine hypotheses for the preparation of a complex natural product. The students will learn to apply their chemical knowledge in the context of the requirements posed by complex organic molecules, and students will learn to address different constraints encountered in such endeavors. Additional learning outcomes will be critical method selection in the context of the full range of methodology in organic synthesis, and the use of modern tools for route selection, both database-oriented and by machine learning. As part of the examination procedure, students will learn to analyze a complex molecule, and will develop a proposal for its synthesis. A term paper will be written by the students documenting their analysis, and the solution to the challenges given in the context of a potential synthesis of the target molecule. Submission of the term paper to the instructor within the deadline is required. The term paper will be graded based on Scientific content of the route selection (feasibility, originality, creativity), Scientific quality of the methods selection (feasibility, originality, creativity), and technical quality of the paper (style, format, spelling). A detailed orientation of the goals, learning outcomes, and the term paper examination will be given in the introductory lecture.

Event Menschen nach Mass: Geschichte und Gegenwart von Differenz und Normalität
06SE226p543a / Seminar / 1,916

Description:

Business event contents:

Menschen unterscheiden sich voneinander oder werden unterschieden - und diese Unterschiede haben häufig Konsequenzen. Doch wer legt fest, was als normal gilt, und was passiert mit denen, die davon abweichen? In diesem Seminar nähern wir uns der Geschichte und Gegenwart von Differenz und Normalität entlang drei Blöcken: Theorien des Unterscheidens - Wie funktionieren Praktiken des Zählens, Klassifizierens und Kategorisierens? Sind so machtvollen Differenzkategorien wie Geschlecht, _race_ oder Klasse sozial konstruiert und wenn ja, wie? Doing Difference - Warum und in welchen Kontexten werden Menschen nach Alter, Klasse oder Intelligenz unterschieden und wie verändern sich damit verbundene Vorstellungen von Normalität? Welche Rolle spielt die Geschichte dieser Praktiken und wo hört das Menschsein auf? Wann gilt jemand als Mensch, wann als Maschine, und warum sind Tiere keine Menschen? Diversität statt Differenz? - Was versprechen Konzepte wie Diversität, Inklusion oder Dekategorisierung? Und können halten sie tatsächlich einen Ausweg bereit? Das Seminar verbindet die Lektüre soziologischer, philosophischer und erziehungswissenschaftlicher Theorien mit historischen und gegenwärtigen Fallbeispielen, um Fragen Differenz und Normalität analytisch zugänglich zu machen.

Event Römisches Privatrecht I Gruppe 1
02VL60PM5-1 / Course / 3,486

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Modul Römisches Privatrecht dient der Einführung in das Studium des Privatrechts. Entsprechend werden grundlegende Institute, wie Eigentum und Vertrag, Rechtsfiguren, wie Stellvertretung und Auftrag, und Rechtsprinzipien, wie Formalismus und Typenzwang, am historischen Beispiel vorgestellt und analysiert. Das Römische Privatrecht bildet die gemeinsame Grundlage der europäischen Privatrechtsordnungen und war auch für die Entstehung des schweizerischen Obligationenrechts und Zivilgesetzbuchs massgeblich, weshalb diese Regelungen ebenfalls vergleichend vorgestellt und gewürdigt werden. Im Einzelnen erhalten die Studierenden Einblick in die Institute und Prinzipien des Personenrechts, des Sachenrechts und vor allem des Obligationenrechts in Form des Vertrags- wie des Haftpflichtrechts. Ein besonderer Schwerpunkt liegt dabei auf der Analyse von römischrechtlichen Quellentexten (in deutscher Übersetzung), die bestimmte Problemlagen und Fallgestaltungen veranschaulichen und es erlauben, Gemeinsamkeiten und Unterschiede zwischen dem antiken römischen Recht und der heutigen Rechtslage zu erfassen und herauszuarbeiten.

Notes:

Inhaltlich sind die beiden Gruppen vollständig aufeinander abgestimmt und verwenden die gleichen Quellentexte (in Übersetzung). Beide Veranstaltungen finden in deutscher Sprache statt.

Zur Prüfungsvorbereitung wird auf die E-Learning-Plattform Lst. Babusiaux verwiesen.

Course Materials: Skript 2025/26 in gedruckter Form bei Schulthess, Juristische Medien AG, erhältlich.

Event Urban Ecologies: London Literature, 1660-1800
06SE440p505a / Seminar / 2,944

Description:

Business event contents:

This MA-research seminar will engage with London as an space and as a literary subject during one of the most fascinating chapters of its existence, the long eighteenth century. Beginning with the near-destruction by fire and plague in 1665/1666, we will chart the fascinating cultural and literary history of London's growth into a modern metropolis. Instead of treating the city as a mere setting, we will approach it as an urban ecology - an interactive network composed of human and non-human beings, material buildings and infrastructures, pleasure gardens and wastelands - and we will ask how literary texts functioned as guides to navigate this bewildering environment.

Drawing on a variety of archival sources, including historical maps and online databases, we will study a wide range of genres that captured the experience of city life in the long eighteenth century, including diaries, journals, essays, poetry, satire, and journalism. Core texts include Samuel Pepys' "Diary", which offers an intimate, day-to-day account of Restoration London, and Daniel Defoe's "A Journal of the Plague Year", a hybrid work that blends history, fiction and reportage. We will read Wycherley's "The Country Wife", a Restoration comedy that pitches the seemingly idyllic, innocent life in the country against the corrupting pleasures of the city. We will also explore periodical writing in Richard Steele and Joseph Addison's magazines "Tatler" and "Spectator", which helped shape a new urban reading public that assembled in the fashionable coffee houses. Attention will be given to poetic and visual satire, such as John Gay's "Trivia, or The Art of Walking the Streets of London" and his famous "Beggar's Opera", as well as William Hogarth's engravings, which vividly depict social types, moral disorder, and everyday street life. Finally, we will see how the city becomes the playground of the novel, with texts like Defoe's "Moll Flanders" and Fanny Burney's "Evelina" raising questions about gender, class and (social) mobility.

Event Geschichte der Schweiz, Teil 1 (1798-1914)
06VL600p001a / Course / 1,221

Description:

Business event contents:

Mit gutem Grund hat Jürgen Osterhammel sein Buch über das 19. Jahrhundert mit dem Titel "Die Verwandlung der Welt" versehen. Vieles, ja fast alles änderte sich innerhalb von hundert Jahren. Die Industrialisierung revolutionierte die Wirtschaft, Europa kolonisierte die Welt, Verfassungen wurden zur Grundlage von Politik und Recht, die Ständegesellschaft wich der Klassengesellschaft, die Geschlechterbeziehungen konstituierten sich neu, eine moderne Massenkultur bildete sich heraus - und vieles mehr.

Die Vorlesung stellt die Geschichte der Schweiz in den Kontext dieser grossen Trends und untersucht die Frage, wie ein europäischer Kleinstaat wie die Schweiz die "Verwandlung der Welt" erlebte, verarbeitete und gestaltete.

Die Vorlesung beginnt mit der Analyse der Helvetischen Revolution von 1798 und endet mit einem Porträt der "Belle Époque".

Der zweite Teil der Vorlesung im FS 2027 wird die Geschichte vom Ersten Weltkrieg bis zur Gegenwart behandeln.

Event Konzepte frühmittelalterlicher "Herrschaft"
06SE600-512a / Seminar / 1,608

Description:

Business event contents:

«Herrschaft» und «Staat» sind Begriffe, die für das frühe Mittelalter äusserst kontrovers diskutiert werden. Der deutsche Begriff "Herrschaft" beispielsweise, lässt sich kaum in andere Sprachen übersetzen. Insbesondere in verschiedenen nationalen Forschungstraditionen fällt die Verständigung schwer, da sich die verwendeten Begriffe in ihrem Bedeutungsgehalt zum Teil massiv unterscheiden. Oft wird auch in Frage gestellt, ob für das Frühmittelalter überhaupt von Staat gesprochen werden kann. Dies erschwert die Untersuchung der Entwicklung frühmittelalterlicher Gemeinwesen massiv. Das Seminar wird sich daher zum einen mit der Verwendung relevanter Begriffe in der Forschung auseinandersetzen, zum anderen versuchen, unter Berücksichtigung der begrifflichen Schwierigkeiten, nach konzeptionellen Vorstellungen von «Herrschaft» in frühmittelalterlichen Gesellschaften zu suchen.

Description:

Business event contents:

Erzählen ist ein menschliches Grundbedürfnis, und Erzählungen finden sich in mehr oder weniger ausgeprägter Form in fast allen Alltagsgesprächen wieder. Insbesondere die Konversationsanalyse hat den zentralen Stellenwert des Erzählens für das menschliche Erleben früh erkannt und bereits in ihren programmatischen ersten Studien Erzählprozesse in den Blick genommen. Bis heute zählt die Erzählforschung zu ihren zentralen Gebieten. In diesem Seminar beschäftigen wir uns zunächst mit einigen Grundbegriffen und elementaren Strukturen konversationeller Erzählaktivitäten. Dazu gehören ihre grundsätzliche Interaktivität, ihre Einbettung und Entwicklung aus dem Turn-by-Turn-Talk heraus sowie ihre interpersonellen Ziele und Funktionen. Darauf aufbauend werden wir uns mit einigen spezifischen Aspekten des Erzählens beschäftigen: der Herstellung von Erzählwürdigkeit, der Kommunikation einer Haltung ("Stance") mittels Erzählungen sowie den Strukturen und Funktionen von Erzählungen in institutionellen Kontexten, beispielsweise in der Psychotherapie. Auch der Erzählerwerb von Kindern wird thematisiert. Ein besonderes Augenmerk werden wir dabei auf multimodale Aspekte des Erzählens (Blick und Gestik) legen.

Der Besuch des Seminars setzt die Bereitschaft zur Aufnahme eigener Gesprächsdaten voraus.

Course Materials: Werden in der 1. Sitzung bekanntgegeben.

Event „nIChtig und wIChtig“. Das Ich in der Literatur des Mittelalters und der Frühen Neuzeit
06SE360-510a / Seminar / 3,181

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Seminar fragt nach dem in der Literatur des Mittelalters und der Frühen Neuzeit inszenierten Erzähler-Ich. Dieses stellt sich einmal in eine Abhängigkeit von göttlicher Inspiration, ein andermal setzt es sich selbstbewusst in den Text, dessen Kunst diejenige der Konkurrenten übertreffe. Es führt die Rezipient:innen spielerisch an der Nase herum, nimmt aber auch allfällige Fehler auf seine Kappe oder bittet darum, diese zu korrigieren. Manchmal gibt sich dieses Ich einen Namen, manchmal bleibt es schillernd unbestimmt. An ihm macht sich die Erzählstimme fest, figuriert sich ein Könner als Autor, als Wissender, Lesender, Erzählender oder Bittender. In diesen Text-Ichs kippt die Performanz des Erzählens in die Reflexion des Erzählten und hakt die Kommunikation mit dem Publikum ein. In diesem Ich konkretisiert sich die Spannung zwischen Unfähigkeit und Grössenwahn, zwischen Demut und Hochmut, Wissen und Unwissen. Anhand verschiedener Text(ausschnitt)e werden wir diese Kunst der Ich-Inszenierungen analysieren.

Course Materials: Die Texte werden auf Olat bereitgestellt.

Event Introduction to Neuroinformatics

07VLIN401.1 / Course / 3,540

Description:

Business event contents:

This course considers the structure and function of biological neural networks at different levels. The function of neural networks lies fundamentally in their wiring and in the electro-chemical properties of nerve cell membranes. Thus, the biological structure of the nerve cell needs to be understood if biologically-realistic models are to be constructed. These simpler models are used to estimate the electrical current flow through dendritic cables and explore how a more complex geometry of neurons influences this current flow. The active properties of nerves are studied to understand both sensory transduction and the generation and transmission of nerve impulses along axons. The concept of local neuronal circuits arises in the context of the rules governing the formation of nerve connections and topographic projections within the nervous system. Communication between neurons in the network can be thought of as information flow across synapses, which can be modified by experience. We need an understanding of the action of inhibitory and excitatory neurotransmitters and neuromodulators, so that the dynamics and logic of synapses can be interpreted. Finally, the neural architectures of feedforward and recurrent networks will be discussed in the context of co-ordination, control, and integration of sensory and motor information in neural networks.

Event Wissenschaftliche Fundillustration
06UE683p001a / Exercise Group / 3,580

Description:

Business event contents:

Schwerpunkt des Kurses bildet die zeichnerische Funddokumentation, welche für die wissenschaftliche Dokumentation und Publikation von archäologischen Fundobjekten essenziell ist. Über die Zeichnung werden Material, Form und Dimension eines Objekts auf systematische Weise festgehalten, die den Vergleich mit anderen Objekten vereinfacht. Für Archäologieschaffende ist es daher unverzichtbar, die Eigenschaften dieser Darstellungsform zu verstehen und noch besser, diese selbst anwenden zu können. Im Kurs behandeln wir die zeichnerische Dokumentation mit analogen und digitalen Medien und werden einen Exkurs in die 3D-Dokumentation machen. Höhepunkt des Moduls bildet eine individuelle Abschlussarbeit, bei der die Studierenden ihr frisch erworbenes Wissen vertiefen und beweisen können.

Notes:

Die Veranstaltung findet grösstenteils in der archäologischen Studiensammlung des Landesmuseums Zürich statt.

Allfällige Zusatztermine sind: 10.12 und 17.12 (dies wird im Verlauf der Veranstaltung kommuniziert).

Course Materials: Zeichnungsutensilien und weiteres Material werden bereitgestellt. Literatur im Handapparat. Grafikrechner und Scanner in der Bibliothek PRA stehen zur Verfügung.

Event Politisierter Aussenraum: Medien und Öffentlichkeit im 20. Jahrhundert
06SE600-018a / Seminar / 3,594

Description:

Business event contents:

Nicht nur das Internet ist ein Ort politischer Auseinandersetzungen, auch auf der Strasse streiten gesellschaftliche Gruppen über Macht, Einfluss und Ansehen. Sichtbarkeit ist dabei entscheidendes Kriterium: Wer gesehen wird, etwa als Politiker:in auf einem Wahlplakat an einem stark frequentierten Ort oder als Gruppe von Demonstrant:innen, die es mit ihrem Transparent auf die Frontseite einer Zeitung schaffen, kann die Meinungsbildung der Bevölkerung mitbestimmen. Öffentlichkeit findet in den Köpfen, in den Herzen - und an der Häuserwand statt. Dabei konkurriert Politik mit kommerziellen Agenturen, mit Kunst und Kultur und mit allen anderen Akteuren, die die Bevölkerung erreichen wollen. Im BA-Seminar wollen wir die Politisierung des Aussenraums in der Schweiz in der zweiten Hälfte des 20. Jahrhundert untersuchen. Dabei konzentrieren wir uns auf vielseitig einsetzbare Medien wie das Plakat und Graffiti: Wer ist an der Herstellung dieser Medien beteiligt und wer nutzt sie für die politische Kommunikation? Wie kann diese Kommunikation konzeptuell und methodisch erschlossen werden? Wie lässt sich ihre symbolische Bedeutung und gesellschaftliche Wirksamkeit bemessen? Archivarbeit wird für uns eine wichtige Rolle spielen: Wir werden mit Beständen aus dem Schweizer Sozialarchiv, des Museums für Gestaltung Zürich und der Plakatsammlung der SfG Basel arbeiten. Geplant ist ein Ausstellungsbesuch im Oktober und eine zweitägige Exkursion nach Stuttgart im November.

Event Arbeit, Konsum und soziale Beziehungen im Mittelalter
06VL600p014a / Course / 3,591

Description:

Business event contents:

Als das «Andere» der Moderne, beansprucht das Mittelalter eine zentrale Stellung in Modellen über den Verlauf der westlichen Geschichte und über die sogenannte Modernisierung, wie sie auch in der Ökonomie und in den Sozialwissenschaften immer wieder angerufen wird. Allerdings ist die Forschung der letzten Jahrzehnte zu ganz neuen Einsichten über das Funktionieren der Wirtschaft und der Gesellschaft im Mittelalter gelangt. Zusammen mit der Kritik der postkolonialen Geschichtsschreibung rütteln solche Ergebnisse an verbreiteten Vorstellungen darüber, was Modernisierung überhaupt heisst. Die Vorlesung bietet eine Einführung in die Grundzüge der mittelalterlichen Wirtschaft und Gesellschaft. Sie konzentriert sich auf in letzter Zeit neu bewertete Themen, z. B. zur Geschichte Arbeit, der Sklaverei und der Care, zu Konsum und häuslicher Produktion, zu Klimawandel, Familie, von sozialen Hierarchien und der Entstehung von Rassen.

Event Koloniale Verflechtungen der Schweiz in der Vormoderne
06KO600p016a / Colloquium / 3,593

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Geschichte von Personen aus dem Raum der heutigen Schweiz, die sich an der kolonialen Expansion Europas beteiligten, beginnt nicht erst im 18. Jahrhundert. Sie reicht zurück bis in die Anfänge des europäischen Kolonialismus im 16. Jahrhundert mit der Expansion nach Übersee. Diese frühe Kolonialgeschichte ist für die Schweiz noch kaum erforscht. Pionierhaft sind die neuen Forschungen des Stadtarchivs der Ortschaftsgemeinde St. Gallen zu St. Galler und Konstanzer Kaufleuten, die sich an kolonialen Unternehmungen in Venezuela und im transatlantischen Sklav:innenhandel betätigten.

Im Kolloquium beschäftigen wir uns unter Einbezug von Quellen mit diesen Verflechtungen von St. Galler Akteuren, des Bodenseeraums und der Ausbeutung der Neuen Welt im 16. Jahrhundert.

Darüber hinaus diskutieren wir Konzepte des Begriffs «kolonial» und befassen uns mit der Rolle der Schweiz in der frühen Kolonialgeschichte. Teil des Kolloquiums ist zudem eine eintägige Exkursion. Die Veranstaltung findet statt in Kooperation mit Dr. Nicole Stadelmann, Co-Leiterin von Stadtarchiv und Vadianischer Sammlung der Ortschaftsgemeinde St. Gallen.

Event Ethische Herausforderungen in Schule und Unterricht
06SE222EHSU / Seminar / 855

Description:

Business event contents:

In diesem Seminar geht es um ethische Herausforderungen, denen Schule und insbesondere Unterricht ausgesetzt sind, und mit denen Lehrpersonen wie auch andere Beteiligte einen Umgang finden müssen. Im Zentrum steht die Analyse der komplexen Struktur dieser Herausforderungen sowie deren Verständnis.

Course Materials:

Wir werden relativ viel Zeit in die Diskussion der eigenen Rolle, Funktion und Selbstverständnis als Lehrperson sowie uns der eigenen Praxis stecken. Zugang zu Schulpraxis (sei es die eigene oder die von jemand anderem) ist Voraussetzung für den Besuch dieses Seminars, da teilnehmende Beobachtungen ein Teil des Leistungsnachweises sein werden. Ebenso ist die Bereitschaft wichtig, die eigene Lernbiographie und das eigene Selbstverständnis als Lehrperson mit sich selbst, aber auch gemeinsam mit anderen zu reflektieren.

Event Genre et langue française
06VL390p006a / Course / 1,129

Description:

Business event contents:

Dans ce cours nous aborderons les interactions entre le genre et la langue française. Nous passerons en revue plusieurs travaux de linguistique, de psycholinguistique et de sociolinguistique afin d'éclairer la façon dont le français encode le genre social dans sa grammaire et dans son lexique, de même que les enjeux sociaux et politiques qu'amène la question du genre dans la langue. Nous nous intéresserons également aux évolutions anciennes ainsi qu'aux changements plus récents de ce système. Enfin, nous étudierons la façon dont le genre influence aussi la parole en français.

Event Le due Veneri: idee rinascimentali sull'amore
06UE410p504a / Exercise Group / 1,650

Description:

Business event contents:

Attraverso la lettura di due capolavori influenti della letteratura rinascimentale, gli Asolani di Pietro Bembo e i Dialoghi d'amore di Leone Ebreo, si esplorano i concetti e le rappresentazioni relativi all'amore intorno al 1500. Cercheremo di ricostruire la dimensione filosofica della questione, ma anche quella sociale, con particolare riguardo al ruolo della donna. Riferimenti alle arti visive e alla poesia coeva permetteranno di arricchire le nostre analisi.

Event Lorenzo de' Medici e l'invenzione del Rinascimento
06VL410p004a / Course / 1,717

Description:

Business event contents:

Poeta, mecenate, uomo politico, banchiere: «In realtà», così sosteneva nel 1975 H. R. Williamson nella sua biografia dedicata al Magnifico, «Lorenzo era lui stesso il Rinascimento e niente dell'arte o del pensiero del suo tempo può essere realmente compreso senza riferirsi a lui e alla sua esistenza». Fra ritratti contrastanti - del dittatore illegittimo, da un lato, e del lungimirante e generoso principe promotore di arti e lettere, dall'altro - Lorenzo (1449-1492) si pone innegabilmente come una figura chiave per capire la ricchezza culturale del Rinascimento italiano.

Il corso intende fornire un'introduzione ai concetti chiave dell'arte e del pensiero rinascimentale, esemplificando e commentando nozioni quali: ordine, misura, proporzione, imitazione, verosimiglianza, ecc. Per questo motivo, pur concentrandosi sulla produzione letteraria del Magnifico, del quale si ripercorreranno le opere principali, la materia verrà inserita, anche con l'ausilio di supporti audiovisivi, in un costante dialogo con altre espressioni artistiche (in particolare pittura, scultura e architettura).

Course Materials: Il testo di riferimento per il corso, disponibile in biblioteca di presenza, è l'edizione: Lorenzo de' Medici, Opere, a cura di Paolo Orvieto, Roma, Salerno, 1992, 5 voll.

Event La biblioteca di Ariosto
06VL410p005a / Course / 1,619

Description:

Business event contents:

In questi anni fervono gli studi sulla biblioteca di Ludovico Ariosto, in vista del nuovo commento all'Orlando Furioso previsto per il 2032, in corrispondenza dei cinquecento anni dalla terza e ultima edizione del poema che ha costituito uno dei massimi capolavori della letteratura del Rinascimento italiano.

Nel corso delle lezioni cercheremo anche noi di ricostruire l'ipotetica biblioteca del poeta, una biblioteca cioè idealmente costituita da quei volumi che hanno alimentato la memoria culturale di Ariosto e che hanno ispirato le pagine del suo capolavoro: le opere dei grandi modelli classici e volgari, da Virgilio a Ovidio, da Dante, a Boccaccio, a Petrarca, e soprattutto le opere della letteratura cavalleresca di materia carolingia e arturiana. Al contempo, leggeremo insieme le pagine più significative dell'Orlando Furioso, confrontandole con i libri di maggiore successo nel fiorentino mercato editoriale di inizio Cinquecento.

Course Materials: Tutte le necessarie indicazioni bibliografiche saranno fornite nel corso delle lezioni. Vari materiali saranno messi a disposizione delle studentesse e degli studenti sulla piattaforma OLAT.

Event Literatur und Musik
06SE504p501a / Seminar / 1,701

Description:

Business event contents:

Musik und Literatur haben einen gemeinsamen Ursprung, was sich u.a. am Epos und an der Poesie erkennen lässt, die in ihren Anfängen gesungen wurden. In der Moderne kommt es zur Ausdifferenzierung der Künste; dennoch gibt es auch hier Berührungspunkte, z.B. in Gestalt der Oper, der Comédie-Ballet oder des Kunstlieds. Im 19. Jahrhundert entwickelt Wagner die Idee des Gesamtkunstwerks, auf die Dichter wie Baudelaire oder Mallarmé reagieren. In diesem Seminar wollen wir einerseits über die semiotische Verfasstheit von Musik und Literatur nachdenken (für einen ersten Zugang s. Steven Paul Scher (Hg.), Literatur und Musik. Ein Handbuch zur Theorie und Praxis eines kompositorischen Grenzgebietes, Berlin 1984), andererseits bestimmte Beispiele und Texte betrachten bzw. studieren. Mögliche Texte und Werke: Jean-Jacques Rousseau, «Lettre sur la musique française», «Essai sur l'origine des langues», Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, «Le nozze di Figaro» (Beaumarchais, Lorenzo da Ponte), Franz Schubert, «Winterreise» (Wilhelm Müller), Robert Schumann, «Dichterliebe» (Heinrich Heine), Claude Debussy, «Ariettes oubliées» (Paul Verlaine), Auszüge aus Marcel Prousts «À la recherche du temps perdu» und Thomas Manns «Doktor Faustus». (Die genaue Auswahl erfolgt in der ersten Sitzung des Seminars in Absprache mit den Teilnehmerinnen und Teilnehmern.)

Event Aufgabenkultur und komplexe Lehr- Lernumgebungen

06SE222ALL / Seminar / 314

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Kernelement des Lehrberufs ist der Unterricht. Dieser soll zu selbstorganisiertem Lernen anleiten und für lebenslanges Lernen vorbereiten. Ziel dieser Veranstaltung ist, zahlreiche Inputs für Arbeitsblätter, Aufgabenstellungen und Unterrichtsmethoden zu erhalten und umzusetzen, bei denen die Schüler und Schülerinnen möglichst passend zu ihrem Vorwissen kognitiv aktiviert werden und die Lernfreude aufrecht erhalten oder entwickelt wird. Der Fachbegriff dazu ist innere Differenzierung, welcher im heutigen Maturitätsunterricht anzustreben ist und besonders in komplexen Lehr-Lernumgebungen erreicht werden kann. Zudem werden im Seminar etliche Methoden kooperativen Lernens angewendet (z.B. Gruppenpuzzle, strukturierte Kontroverse und Multiinterview), denn diese sind eine grundlegende Methode, um innere Differenzierung zu ermöglichen. Die Auswahl der vorgestellten Lernumgebungen wird anhand von Fachliteratur theoretisch begründet. Der Leistungsnachweis besteht aus einem Portfolio mit mündlichen und schriftlichen Anteilen.

Event Fachdidaktik Philosophie III
06SE090Phi3 / Seminar / 917

Description:

Business event contents:

Textarbeit, Begriffsanalyse und Gespräch stehen traditionellerweise im Zentrum des gymnasialen Philosophieunterrichts, so dass ein im weitesten Sinne hermeneutisches Paradigma vorherrscht, unabhängig vom bestimmenden Bild von Philosophie oder von der thematischen Ausrichtung. Demgegenüber wollen wir im Kurs andere Zugänge kennen lernen, die von diesem Paradigma abweichen oder es ergänzen. Wir werden sie gemeinsam diskutieren und damit experimentieren. Sie lassen sich in den Aktivitäten Sehen, Hören, Schreiben, Zeichnen, Spielen zusammenfassen.

Notes:

Voraussetzung für die Teilnahme ist, dass Interessierte bereits das erste, allenfalls auch beide Semester des Grundkurses in allgemeiner Philosophie-Fachdidaktik besucht haben (Fachdidaktik I und II).

Event Grenzen der Meinungsfreiheit. Historische Zugänge zu einer ambivalenten Geschichte
06KO600p503a / Colloquium / 1,254

Description:

Business event contents:

Gegenwärtig wird permanent über Meinungsfreiheit und ihre Einschränkung gestritten - wie es auf den ersten Blick scheint, in einem nie dagewesenen Maß. Solche Kontroversen sind allerdings alles andere als neu. Sie sind jedoch jeweils historisch spezifisch, mit ihren je eigenen Problemlagen, Konflikten und Machtverhältnissen. Schaut man sich die Entwicklung seit 1945 in Westeuropa an, kann man in den meisten Ländern sehen, dass die Gesetzgebung der freien Rede zunehmend Grenzen setzt, so etwa in Deutschland durch den Tatbestand der Volksverhetzung, in der Schweiz durch die Rassismus-Strafnorm, oder in Frankreich durch ein Gesetz zur Verhinderung von rassistischen, antisemitischen und ausländerfeindlichen Taten.

Doch wodurch kamen diese Gesetze zustande - mit welchen Argumenten, in welchen Konflikten und in welchen politischen Kontexten? Warum haben sich jeweils spezifische Lösungen zur Einschränkung der freien Rede herausgebildet? Wer legitimierte die Einschränkung der Meinungsfreiheit wann und auf welche Weise? Und welche grundlegenden historischen Verschiebungen lassen sich anhand dieser im Einzelnen verschiedenen Prozesse erkennen? Das Kolloquium geht diesen Fragen nach, um heutige Kontroversen, vielleicht auch ihre Spezifik, einordnen und verstehen zu können. Der Fokus liegt dabei auf der Bundesrepublik im europäischen Kontext.

Event Reading Literary and Critical Theory (Group 3)
06SE450-550e / Seminar / 5,778

Description:

Business event contents:

The subject of this course is Ernest Hemingway's 1929 novel, A Farewell to Arms. Hemingway's second novel, A Farewell to Arms was immediately recognized as a landmark of Anglo-American modernism and continues to be regarded as one of the most important literary treatments of the First World War. For all its canonical status, however, Hemingway's semi-autobiographical tale of an American ambulance driver and a British nurse of the Italian front raises timely questions about the boundaries between fact and fiction, about total war and empty language, about the representation of trauma, the ethics of style, the performance of gender... about stoic heroes, able bodies, and "good" women.

We will explore these questions from multiple perspectives, familiarizing ourselves with a range of interpretive schools and critical vocabularies. Our survey of the theory will move chronologically: we will begin with New Critical readings of novel from the 50s and 60s, proceed through the formalist, marxist, and feminist criticism of the 70s, 80s, and 90s, and conclude with recent interpretations that draw conceptual resources from queer theory and disability studies.

Event Der Einfluss der Digitalisierung auf Medienunternehmen und Handlungsoptionen aus ökonomischer Sicht
06SE254p102a / Seminar / 611

Description:

Business event contents:

Der Medienmarkt durchläuft seinen bisher grössten Wandel. Die Digitalisierung hat die Art und Weise, wie Medien genutzt werden, grundsätzlich verändert. So stehen den Medienkonsumenten heute eine Vielzahl von Inhalten, Plattformen und neuen Anbietern zur Auswahl, die zu jeder Zeit und an jedem Ort verfügbar sind. Intelligente Algorithmen ermöglichen zudem ein, auf die persönlichen Interessen der Medienkonsumenten zugeschnittenes Angebot.

Diese Entwicklung fordert auch die Schweizer Medienunternehmen. Es gilt, die Bedürfnisse der Medienkonsumenten antizipieren und in diesem digitalen Medienmarkt bestehen zu können. Insbesondere in der Verbreitung von Medieninhalten stehen die Medienunternehmen auch ganz neuen und finanziell viel potenteren Mitbewerbern gegenüber. Die Digitalisierung erfordert für die Schweizer Medienunternehmen deshalb nicht nur Investitionen in die digitalen Kompetenzen des Personals und in neue publizistische Angebote, sondern auch Investitionen in die technische Infrastruktur, in neue Verbreitungswege und in digitale Plattformen. Weil gleichzeitig die kommerziellen Erträge aus der Werbung sinken, müssen diese Investitionen aus neuen Geldern oder aus Einsparungen im bestehenden Angebot finanziert werden.

In diesem Seminar erhalten die Studierenden einen Überblick über die wesentlichen Herausforderungen der Digitalisierung aus Sicht eines Medienunternehmens. Ein spezielles Augenmerk widmet der Lehrplan auch der Verbreitung von digitalen Medieninhalten, welche die Medienunternehmen aufgrund neuer Wettbewerbs-teilnehmer (Technologieunternehmen) ganz besonders fordern. Schwerpunkt bildet die Transformation von klassischen Medienunternehmen. Die Studierenden verstehen die Problemstellungen und Handlungsoptionen, sowie die nötigen Planungsschritte einer ganzheitlichen digitalen Transformation. Zum Abschluss erfolgt auch eine kurze politische Einordnung der Marktregulierung und Medienförderung im Kontext der Digitalisierung, inklusive Blick in den EU-Raum. Das Seminar versteht sich als Wissenstransfer aus der Praxis.

> Die Studierenden verstehen die betriebswirtschaftlichen Herausforderungen von klassischen Medienunternehmen im Kontext der Digitalisierung.

> Die Studierenden wissen um die wesentlichen Problemstellungen, Handlungsoptionen und Planungsschritte der digitalen Transformation eines Medienunternehmens und können solche Vorhaben auch kritisch beurteilen.

> Die Studierenden verstehen die Herausforderungen in der Regulierung und Förderung des Medienmarktes im Kontext der Digitalisierung

Event Protest in digitalen Öffentlichkeiten
06SE254p112a / Seminar / 2,288

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Auftreten und der Erfolg von Protest hängen neben vielen Faktoren auch von den Medien ab, die über Protest (nicht) berichten, und von den Medien, die von Protestakteur:innen selbst eingesetzt werden. In zunehmend digitalen Öffentlichkeiten lässt sich dabei ein komplexes Wechselspiel zwischen traditionellen, journalistischen Medien und den sozialen Medien und Plattformen beobachten. Generelles Ziel des Forschungsseminars ist, die Rolle der Medien und der Plattformen mit Blick auf Protest differenziert zu beschreiben. Erstens werden mögliche Qualitätsmassstäbe der Protestberichterstattung diskutiert. Zweitens werden häufige Thesen kritisch geprüft, zum Beispiel dass die Kommerzialisierung der Medien Protest-Akteur:innen begünstigt (Protest als Spektakel) oder dass digitale Medien zu mehr «digitalem Aktivismus» und insgesamt mehr Protest in Gesellschaften führen.

Event Krisenkommunikation von Organisationen
06SE254p127a / Seminar / 1,610

Description:

Business event contents:

Krisen stellen die Kommunikation von Organisationen wie Unternehmen, Hochschulen oder NGOs vor Herausforderungen. Eine gute Krisenkommunikation kann die Schäden von Krisen mildern; eine falsche Strategie hat oft weitreichende negative Folgen für die Organisation. Die digitalisierte Öffentlichkeit stellt dabei die Organisationen vor neue Herausforderungen und Chancen für ihre Krisenkommunikation.

Das Seminar vermittelt zentrale Theorien der Krisenkommunikation mit Fokus auf digitalisierte Öffentlichkeiten. Sie lernen, wie Organisationen kommunikativ auf Krisen reagieren, wie Akteure die Darstellung von Organisationen in den Medien beeinflussen und welche Auswirkungen neue Kommunikationsmittel wie Social Media und Künstliche Intelligenz (KI) haben. Darauf aufbauend werden in Simulationen Fallbeispiele durchgespielt und diskutiert.

Event Übersetzen, Übertragen, Übernehmen.
06SE360p127a / Seminar / 3,117

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Literatur des Mittelalters und auch der Frühen Neuzeit ist eine Literatur des Übernehmens, Übersetzens, Übertragens fremder Texte. Was das für die deutsche Literatur heisst, für ihr Selbstverständnis, ihre stilistische, rhetorische und kulturelle Formung, aber auch für die Ermöglichung und Reflexion eines interkulturellen Austausches, wird uns anhand von ausgewählten Beispielen beschäftigen. Dabei stellen wir auch die Frage nach der kulturellen Dimension des Übersetzens, gekoppelt mit der Frage nach Unterschieden in Übersetzungs- und Adaptationsprozessen.

Notes:

Die Texte werden auf Olat bereitgestellt.

Event «König der Könige, König der Länder» – Das Perserreich der Achämeniden
06VL600p008a / Course / 3,114

Description:

Business event contents:

Die persische Dynastie der Achämeniden herrschte seit 550 v. Chr. über mehr als zwei Jahrhunderte über ein Weltreich, das sich in seiner grössten Ausdehnung von der Donau bis an den Indus erstreckte. Nie zuvor war eine vergleichbare Vielfalt von Ländern, Völkern, Sprachen und Kulturen politisch in einem einzigen Herrschaftsverband vereint worden. Das moderne Bild der Perser und ihres Reiches war lange Zeit von griechischen Autoren geprägt, die die Perser als Barbaren und ihre Könige als herrschsüchtige und zugleich verweichlichte Despoten beschrieben. Diese von aussen entworfene Perspektive bildet den Ausgangspunkt der Vorlesung.

Im Zentrum steht der Versuch, das Achämenidenreich aus unterschiedlichen Blickwinkeln von innen zu erschliessen: ausgehend von zentralen historischen Momenten wie der Eroberung Babylons durch Kyros II., der Machtergreifung des Dareios I., den Perserkriegen oder dem Ende des Reiches unter Dareios III.; über die Betrachtung von Machtzentren wie Naqš-e Rostam und Persepolis ebenso wie von Regionen an den Rändern des Reiches; bis hin zur Analyse einzelner Personen und Überlieferungen zwischen historischer Faktizität und literarischer Fiktion.

Die Vorlesung fragt danach, wie ein Vielvölkerreich organisiert und repräsentiert wurde, wie Hof und Verwaltung funktionierten und wie sich Herrschaft im Alltag in Kleinasien, Ägypten, Judäa oder am Hindukusch konkret auswirkte. Zugleich wird reflektiert, wie das Bild der Achämeniden in der antiken und modernen Überlieferung entstand und bis heute nachwirkt.

Notes:

Die Vorlesung wird aufgezeichnet und als Podcast zur Verfügung gestellt.

Event Leben an der Grenze? Die Römer und andere am Hadrianswall
06KO600p010a / Colloquium / 1,654

Description:

Business event contents:

Ende des 1. Jahrhunderts beginnt das Imperium Romanum im Norden Englands zwischen Newcastle und dem Solway Firth eine Grenzlinie zu etablieren. Nach ihrem Ausbau zu einem Festungswall unter Hadrian wird diese von einem kurzen Intermezzo abgesehen für lange Zeit die Nordgrenze römischer Herrschaft in Britannien. In dem Kolloquium wollen wir uns mit der Etablierung dieser Grenze und der römischen Herrschaft im Norden Britanniens beschäftigen, vor allem aber mit dem Leben der Menschen in diesem Raum. Hierfür stellen vor allem die sogenannten Vindolanda tablets eine einzigartige Quelle dar, die das Leben der Frauen und Männer dort detailliert erkennen lassen.

Event Medien- und Internet-Governance: Aktuelle Herausforderungen und Lösungsansätze
06SE254p604a / Seminar / 1,906

Description:

Business event contents:

Braucht es Netzneutralität oder einen Service Public? Soll Medienvielfalt gesichert werden? Kann und soll KI reguliert werden? Wie können persönliche Daten geschützt werden? Solche Governance-Fragen stehen zunehmend im Zentrum politischer Aushandlungsprozesse und beschäftigen aktuell Regulierungs- und Wettbewerbsbehörden. Im Seminar entwickeln Sie auf Grundlage wissenschaftlicher Literatur und mit Blick auf politische Entscheidungsprozesse in der Schweiz und im Ausland ein eigenes Forschungsprojekt. Im Zentrum stehen Forschungsfragen zu einem selbst gewählten Regulierungsproblem, die mit geeigneten Methoden bearbeitet werden. Dabei setzen Sie sich mit rechtlichen Grundlagen und Steuerungszielen auseinander und diskutieren diese vor dem Hintergrund von Trends wie Globalisierung, Konvergenz und Plattformisierung.

06UE506p503a / Exercise Group / 3,039

Description:

Business event contents:

Empirisch-kulturwissenschaftliches Forschen vollzieht sich im Flux der Praktiken und in situativ sich verändernden, materiell-körperlich vielgestaltigen Arrangements. In diesen situativen, kollaborativen Wissensproduktionen wird «Wissen» performativ hervorgebracht, machtvoll ausgehandelt und auf spezifische Weise inszeniert. Dabei sind sowohl historisch gewachsene Dispositive als auch deren gegenwärtige eigenlogische Aneignungen wirkmächtig. Wenn die empirische Kulturwissenschaft machtvolle Wissensanordnungen zu dekonstruieren versucht und dabei Selbstverständlichkeiten hinterfragt, gilt es auch, die flüchtigen Situationen, in denen Forschende ihre Felder erkennen und analysieren oder mit Theorien arbeiten, diese entwickeln oder präsentieren, selbstreflexiv und hinsichtlich ihrer praxeologischen Mikropolitiken zu erforschen.

Eine solche Perspektive legt formative Seiten von Forschungs- und Wissenschaftspraktiken frei: Wissenschaftliche Praxis ist stets aktiv gestaltend. Sowohl Felder als auch Inhalte werden durch die Forschung als bewegte, performative und szenografische Praxis mit-hervorgebracht. Nach welchen Kriterien oder mit welchen Mitteln dies geschieht oder geschehen könnte bzw. müsste, wird im Kurs offen diskutiert.

Im Modul werden deshalb das performativ-szenografische Gestalten als Element empirischen Forschens sowie mögliche spezifische kulturwissenschaftlich-empirische Modalitäten dieser Praxis befragt. Der Kurs kann als praktisches Training verstanden werden, in dem erlernt wird, Praxiskonventionen zu hinterfragen und multiple Möglichkeiten performativ-szenografischen Gestaltens zu erkennen.

Notes:

Die «Sitzungen» dieses Kurses können zum Teil bewegt sein. Eine gewisse Bereitschaft zur praktischen Mitarbeit (u.a. Theaterübungen) ist daher in diesen Kurs mitzubringen. Gleichwohl wird versucht, allen Interessierten die Möglichkeit zu bieten, so teilnehmen zu können, wie es individuell passt.

Event Irdische Fremde & Himmlische Heimat? - Politische Freiheit und Bürgerschaftlichkeit in der Spätantike
06SE600-003a / Seminar / 1,476

Description:

Business event contents:

Christinnen und Christen treten in der neuen Welt der Spätantike ein doppeltes Erbe imperialer, autokratischer Herrschaft und lebendiger, kommunal verwurzelter Bürgerschaftlichkeit an. Im Prozess der Verwandlung der griechisch-römischen Welt in eine christliche geht diese Saat regional ganz unterschiedlich auf; konkurrierende Konzepte christlicher Freiheit und notwendigen Gehorsams in Bezug auf Gott und seinen Herrscher entstehen. Im Seminar untersuchen und vergleichen wir bedeutende Entwürfe. Wir lesen einflussreiche Autoren - u.a. Augustinus von Hippo, Shenoute von Atripe, Julianus von Eclanum, Johannes Chrysostomos und Johannes von Ephesos - mit- und gegeneinander und wagen auch einen Ausblick auf frühe islamische Entwicklungen eines konkurrierenden imperialen Monotheismus, der bürgerschaftliche Gleichheits- und Freiheitsvorstellungen mit der Unterwerfung unter den einen Gott zu versöhnen sucht.

Methodisch entwickeln wir die Fähigkeiten zum Umgang mit literarischen Genres verschiedenster Art, z.B. Streitschriften, Briefwechseln, kanonischen heiligen und apokryphen Texten; auch papyrologische Grundlagen werden im Rahmen einer Sitzung zu griechischen und koptischen Quellen aus Ägypten vermittelt. Inhaltlich arbeiten wir nicht allein mit einem religionshistorischen Schwerpunkt. Auch politisch-theoretisch wird - auch durch die Einbindung geeigneter Literatur - auf zentrale Probleme zugegriffen. Ein besonderer Wert des Seminars liegt in der Sensibilisierung für die Bedeutung koptischer, syrischer und arabischer Quellen für die Erforschung des östlichen Mittelmeerraums in der Spätantike, sowie der Bedeutung theologischer Entwicklungen der Spätantike für neuzeitliche politische Traditionen.

Event Filmkultur im Zeitalter digitaler Plattformen und Ökosysteme
06SE255p011a / Seminar / 947

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Vertiefungsseminar «Filmkultur im Zeitalter digitaler Plattformen und Ökosysteme» untersucht grundlegende Veränderungen filmischer Produktion, Distribution, Präsentation und Rezeption im Kontext digitaler Plattformen wie Streamingdiensten, Social-Media-Ökosystemen und datengetriebenen Infrastrukturen. Ausgangspunkt ist die Beobachtung, dass Filme und Serien nicht nur als Einzelwerke, sondern als Elemente komplexer Plattformlogiken zu verstehen sind, die ökonomische, technologische und kulturelle Bedingungen der Filmkultur neu ordnen. Das Seminar führt in zentrale Debatten zu Plattformisierung und Plattformkapitalismus ein und verbindet sie mit Perspektiven auf die Distributionsordnung internetbasierter «Portale», globale Katalog- und Lokalisierungslogiken sowie Fragen algorithmischer Kuratierung, Sichtbarkeit und Kanonbildung. In der ersten Hälfte werden zentrale Konzepte gemeinsam erarbeitet, darunter Filmerfahrung im digitalen Zeitalter, Interface-Design und Zugangslogiken, Reputations- und Award-Ökonomien, Festivalzirkulationen sowie neue Formen der Eventisierung und Serialität. Anhand ausgewählter Filme und Serien werden diese Aspekte exemplarisch analysiert und in Beziehung gesetzt. Ab der zweiten Hälfte entwickeln die Teilnehmenden individuelle Themenschwerpunkte, die im Seminar diskutiert, theoretisch geschärft und zu tragfähigen Forschungsfragen für die Seminararbeiten ausgebaut werden. Ein Schwerpunkt liegt darauf, Filmkultur als Erfahrung und Praxis des Umgangs mit audiovisuellen Medien zu begreifen und die jeweiligen Konfigurationen und Dispositive als aktive Bedingungen filmischer Erfahrung sichtbar zu machen. Das Seminar arbeitet mit film-, text- und medienanalytischen Verfahren sowie mit kulturtheoretischer Kritik (Sichtbarkeits- und Wertungsregime, Geschmack, Öffentlichkeit). Studierende lernen, Werke kontextsensibel und theoriegeleitet zu analysieren, Plattformbedingungen argumentativ zu rekonstruieren und eigene Forschungsfragen sowie wissenschaftliche Argumente zum Wandel audiovisueller Kulturen im (post-)digitalen und post-kinematografischen Zeitalter zu entwickeln. Jede Sitzung umfasst eine obligatorische Film- bzw. Episodensichtung (12.00 bis 14.00 Uhr) sowie vorbereitende Textlektüre. Die Teilnehmer*innen verfassen kurze Lesekarten. Zudem halten sie im Semesterverlauf mindestens ein Impulsreferat als Grundlage für die individuelle Seminararbeit. Abgabetermin der Seminararbeiten ist der 3. Mai 2027.

Event Gruppe 08, Proseminar 2: Geschlechter, Rollen und Räume: Historische Perspektiven vom Mittelalter bis zur Neuzeit
06SE600-007u / Seminar / 412

Description:

Business event contents:

Geschlechterrollen und -identitäten sind auch heute noch ein hochaktuelles Thema. Doch wie gestaltete sich das Verhältnis der Geschlechter in der Vergangenheit? Lange standen in der Geschichtsschreibung Männer im Mittelpunkt - Rittern und Könige des Mittelalters, koloniale Eroberer und Industriearbeiter. In den letzten Dekaden haben Historiker*innen dieses Bild korrigiert und neue Perspektiven auf historische Geschlechterrollen eröffnet. In diesem Proseminar behandeln wir zentrale Fragestellungen, Konzepte und methodische Ansätze zur Analyse von Geschlecht als sozialer, kultureller und politischer Kategorie und untersuchen anhand ausgewählter historischer Fallstudien, wie Geschlechterrollen konstruiert, verhandelt und verändert wurden. Neben inhaltlichen Schwerpunkten vermittelt das Seminar grundlegende geschichtswissenschaftliche Arbeitstechniken wie Recherche- und Lesemethoden, korrektes Zitieren sowie den Umgang mit wissenschaftlichen Texten und historischen Quellen.

Event Evolution and Biodiversity I

07VLBIO113.1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 5,194

Description:

Business event contents:

Dieser Kurs besteht aus zwei Teilen. Der erste Teil (donnerstags) führt in die Artenvielfalt lebender und ausgestorbener Wirbelloser und Wirbeltiere ein, wobei der Schwerpunkt auf makroevolutionären Mustern, morphologischer und ontogenetischer Evolution und Interaktionen zwischen den Arten liegt. Im zweiten Teil (der freitags unterrichtet wird) werden die evolutionären Konzepte vorgestellt, die jeder Biologe kennen sollte. Dazu gehören die Prozesse der Evolution auf dem phänotypischen und genetischen Niveau sowie die Evidenz der Evolution von Fossilien bis hin zur experimentellen Evolution. Bio113 bildet die Grundlage für EEE103 Evolution II und ist eng mit diesem abgestimmt. Im Praktikum werden Themen selektiv vertieft.

Event KI und Persuasion: Wie persuasiv sind Systeme mit künstlicher Intelligenz?
06SE254p105a / Seminar / 1,551

Description:

Business event contents:

Persuasion bezeichnet den gezielten Versuch, Überzeugungen, Einstellungen oder Verhalten von Personen durch Kommunikation zu beeinflussen. Formen sozialen Einflusses begegnen uns in alltäglichen Gesprächen, im Arbeitskontext, in Werbung und Marketing, in der institutionellen Kommunikation sowie in der Politik.

Mit der fortschreitenden Entwicklung künstlicher Intelligenz (KI) ist Persuasion jedoch nicht mehr ausschliesslich menschlichen Akteur:innen vorbehalten. Auch technische Systeme sind zunehmend in der Lage, kommunikativ auf Menschen einzuwirken. Dieses Forschungsseminar befasst sich daher mit der Frage, inwiefern KI-Systeme persuasiv wirken. Wir betrachten Persuasion aus einer kommunikationswissenschaftlichen und sozialpsychologischen Perspektive, und Vergleichen die Wirksamkeit KI-basierter Persuasion mit klassischer, menschlicher persuasiver Kommunikation.

Im Rahmen dieses Forschungsseminars werden wir gemeinsam ein Experiment durchführen, an dem alle Studierenden mit eigenen (Teil-)Forschungsfragen mitwirken.

Notes:

Das Forschungsseminar orientiert sich bereits an einem experimentellen Plan, der durch die Seminarleitung vorgegeben ist. Dieser wird gemeinsam im Seminar noch verfeinert und ergänzt, dass alle Teilnehmenden innerhalb des Projekts eine eigene Forschungsfrage beantworten können. Es ist wichtig anzumerken, dass Sie nur die Möglichkeit haben, eine Bachelorarbeit innerhalb dieses übergreifenden Projekts zu schreiben. Der Vorteil dieser Organisation ist jedoch, dass wir den Aufwand der Datenerhebung untereinander aufteilen können.

Event Zeit und andere Temporalitäten in mittelalterlichen japanischen Erzählungen
06SE290p616a / Seminar / 5,655

Description:

Business event contents:

Auffällig häufig wird das Phänomen der Zeit in japanischen Erzählungen des Mittelalters (Muromachi jidai monogatari), wie sie zwischen dem vierzehnten und siebzehnten Jahrhundert verfasst wurden, thematisiert und zu einem zentralen narrativen Element. So fließt die Zeit mitunter schneller, wie in der bekannten Erzählung des Urashima Tarō, mitunter langsamer, abhängig davon, wo sich der Protagonist befindet. Zugleich zeichnen sich andere Bereiche des Kosmos durch einzigartige zeitliche Merkmale und eigene Temporalitäten aus. In dieser Veranstaltung sollen solch literarisch hervorgehobene ungewöhnliche Raum-Zeiten anhand von ausgewählten Erzählungen genauer untersucht und die Darstellung von Zeit darin erörtert werden. Massgeblich stellen sich dabei die Fragen, welche Vorstellungen von Zeit unter Bezugnahme auf die Weltanschauung vorherrschen und welche Rückschlüsse die phantastisch überzogenen, nicht-normativen Aspekte, die in den Narrativen eine Rolle spielen, auf die mittelalterliche Konzeption des Phänomens der Zeit erlauben.

Event Close Viewing: TAUSENDSCHÖNCHEN
06SE255p007a / Seminar / 538

Description:

Business event contents:

Im Zentrum des Seminarformats «Close Viewing» steht jeweils ein einziger Film, der ein Semester lang Gegenstand der Analyse ist. Dies soll eine vertiefte Auseinandersetzung mit dem Werk ermöglichen, für die in traditionellen Seminaren meist die Zeit fehlt. Dieses Semester fällt die Wahl auf Věra Chytilová's SEDMIKRÁSKY (TAUSENDSCHÖNCHEN/DIE KLEINEN MARGERITEN/DAISIES) von 1966. Chytilová's überdrehte Satire gilt als eines der herausragenden Werke der tschechoslowakischen Neuen Welle sowie als Klassiker sowohl des experimentellen wie auch des feministischen Kinos.

Im Rahmen des Seminars setzen wir uns mit zahlreichen Facetten des Films auseinander, wobei unterschiedliche filmtheoretische Herangehensweisen zum Einsatz kommen. Unter anderem soll der Film im Œuvre Chytilová's sowie im breiteren Kontext der Neuen Wellen der 1960er-Jahre situiert werden. Wir werden uns mit Filmen beschäftigen, die als Vorläufer gelten können, aber auch mit später erschienenen Werken, die auf SEDMIKRÁSKY Bezug nehmen wie zum Beispiel Pipilotti Rists PEPPERMINTA (CH/AT 2009).

Ein weiterer Schwerpunkt werden Theorien zu Satire und Komödien sowie zum feministischen Film bilden. Die Lehrveranstaltung verfolgt somit ein doppeltes Ziel: die detaillierte Analyse eines einzelnen Werks, an dem zugleich der Umgang mit verschiedenen Theorien und methodischen Ansätzen geübt werden soll.

Event Computational Approaches to Stylistics and Pragmatics
06SE523p005a / Seminar / 5,366

Description:

Business event contents:

Computational linguistics approaches focussing on semantic content are used widely, but they can also be used to describe stylistic and pragmatic differences. Applications include genre detection, author profiling, forensic linguistics, political framing and argumentation, pragmatics, learner language, linguistic variation, language and health, and hate speech detection among others.

Because content words and embeddings focus on the semantics, very different features are needed, such as function words, syntactic features, complexity measures and stylistic embeddings, which make the task particularly challenging, because content-related features easily distract classifiers. LLMs like GPT often achieve very good performance, but they do not always transfer to different domains, as they may take shortcuts, which means that explainable AI, robustness and plausibility play especially important roles.

We discuss further related topics from pragmatics such as situational knowledge.

Event Applied Natural Language Processing: Using Large Language Models in a Political Context
06SE615p521a / Seminar / 5,683

Description:

Business event contents:

This course introduces students to the application of advanced NLP methods in political science, with a particular focus on Swiss politics. Students will work with real-world data from Swiss political institutions and campaigns, learning how computational methods can be used to analyze legislative discourse, political communication, and parliamentary activity.

The course is organized around two core applications of NLP in political analysis. The first block focuses on multimodal NLP, combining textual data with visual or audio material to study political communication. The second block introduces conversational AI and retrieval-based systems, showing students how to build a political chatbot that enables the interactive exploration of legislative debates and parliamentary activity. Where possible, the second block builds directly on the data and outputs produced in the first block.

1. Multimodal NLP - Analyzing Textual and Visual Political Communication

Students will analyze political communication by combining textual data, such as parliamentary speeches or campaign messages, with visual or audio material, such as video recordings of MPs, parliamentary appearances, or campaign posters. This block introduces students to methods for studying how political actors communicate across different formats and media.

2. Conversational AI - Building a Political Chatbot for Parliamentary Debates

Students will learn how to build a simple retrieval-based conversational AI system for the structured exploration of legislative debates. The chatbot will allow users to search and summarize parliamentary activity, identify key actors, track discussed bills, and explore party positions and arguments. For example, it could answer questions such as: "Which parties supported the latest climate bill?" or "What were the main arguments in the healthcare reform debate?"

Notes:

The course will be held in AFL-F-150

06VU523p004a / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 5,347

Description:

Business event contents:

This course will give an overview of methods used for model analysis and interpretability. Analysing and interpreting the inner workings of NLP models is important for various use cases. Insights may be used by developers to design specific interventions to improve models; users may benefit from explanations to verify whether outputs are trustworthy; in some settings, regulations require transparency and safety of AI decisions, and interpretability methods help to address these concerns.

Description:

Business event contents:

Im Forschungsseminar üben wir anhand eines konkreten Forschungsprojektes das Schreiben eines wissenschaftlichen Beitrages, welcher in der Forschungsarbeit mündet. Die Themen dürfen selbst gewählt werden; gern machen wir aber auch konkrete Themenvorschläge. Das Projekt kann empirisch quantitativ, empirisch qualitativ oder theoretisch sein. Vorhandene Datensätze aus verschiedensten Themengebieten stellen wir gern zur Verfügung. Auch ist eine Mitarbeit in bereits laufenden Forschungsprojekten möglich. In manchen Jahren vertiefen wir am Anfang des Seminars auch ein gemeinsames Thema, um wissenschaftliche Arbeit, Theorie- und Hypothesenbildung und Datenerhebung zu üben. Dieses Thema kann - muss aber nicht - für die Forschungsarbeit genutzt werden.

Nach Vorankündigung via OLAT werden einzelne Termine nur online (und nicht in Präsenz) stattfinden. Auch in diesen Fällen erfolgt eine Aufzeichnung.

Event Freundschaft in der modernen Literatur
06SE360-112c / Seminar / 1,061

Description:

Business event contents:

Seit der Antike stiftet Freundschaft Verbindungen zwischen Menschen. Freundschaft hat sowohl politische als auch soziale, sowohl öffentliche als auch private Dimensionen. Das, was als Freundschaft bedeutet, wer ihre Akteur*innen sind und welche Praktiken Freundschaft konstituieren, verändert sich im Laufe der Zeit. Literatur ist das Terrain, wo Freundschaft erzählt, bezeugt und nicht zuletzt erzeugt wird. In der Moderne stehen die Gattung des Essays im Zentrum, in dem über Freundschaft nachgedacht wird, sowie die Gattung des Briefes, in dem Freundschaft aufgeführt wird. Freundschaft ist deshalb nicht bloß ein Motiv, sondern prägt zugleich literarische Schreibweisen. Wie werden im Seminar Freundschaftsdiskurse und -praktiken in der modernen Literatur behandeln. Auf der Grundlage ausgewählter Texte und Theorien werden wir analysieren, welche Medien Freundschaft vermitteln, welche Affekte Freundschaft prägen und in welche Höhen und Tiefen der Seele sie führt.

Notes:

Grundlegende Kenntnisse in der Erzähltextanalyse werden vorausgesetzt. Zur vorbereitenden Lektüre in dieser Hinsicht ist empfohlen: Matías Martínez, Michael Scheffel: Einführung in die Erzähltheorie. 12., aktualisierte Aufl. München 2025.

Event Insektenpoesie der Gegenwart
06KO360p551a / Colloquium / 1,397

Description:

Business event contents:

«Imkern ist [...] Schreiben ohne Text», so notiert Marcel Beyer 2012. Der deutsche Schriftsteller und Büchner-Preis-Träger macht damit nicht nur auf die enge Verbindung zwischen Insekten und Literatur aufmerksam, die seit der Antike bekannt ist, seitdem Platon die Arbeit des Dichters einmal mit derjenigen einer Biene verglichen hat. Beyers Diktum kann auch als Beleg dafür gelten, dass diese Tradition im Bereich der deutschsprachigen Gegenwartsliteratur ungebrochen ist. In der Tat beschäftigt sich diese in vielfacher Hinsicht mit Insekten, in poetologischer, in politischer und ökokritischer Hinsicht, wie etwa beim Blick auf die populären Erfolgsromane von Maja Lunde, "Die Geschichte der Bienen" (2015) oder von Laline Paull, "Die Bienen" (2016) evident wird. Im Seminar wollen wir der aktuellen Konjunktur der Insektenpoesie in einer Vielzahl von Texten nachgehen und dabei einen Schwerpunkt auf die Lyrik der Gegenwart setzen: Thomas Kling, Marcel Beyer, Jan Wagner, Monika Rinck, Nico Bleutge, Durs Grünbein u.a. werden im Vordergrund stehen.

Course Materials: Die Unterrichtsmaterialien werden rechtzeitig vor Semesterbeginn auf OLAT bereitgestellt.

Die interaktionale Linguistik untersucht die Struktur und Verwendung von Sprache in sozialer Interaktion. Event Shifting Perspectives: South African Photography and the 'Born Free' Generation
06SE640-512a / Seminar / 4,981

Description:

Business event contents:

Conceived as a complement to the lecture course Protest and Counter-Representation: An Introduction to South African Photography (1900-2024), this seminar will introduce students to photographic practices associated with the so-called 'born free' generation in South Africa.

The term 'born free' emerged in the context of South African politics, particularly around the 2014 presidential election, when for the first time individuals born shortly before or after the official end of apartheid in 1994 reached voting age. While the term suggests a generation 'liberated' from apartheid's laws, persistent socio-economic inequalities, structural exclusions, and the disjunction between political promises and lived experiences have led many to question the notion of 'freedom' itself. This seminar critically engages with the term as both a political construct and a site of cultural and artistic negotiation.

Particular attention will be given to the student-led movements #FeesMustFall and #RhodesMustFall, whose protests against rising tuition fees and colonial legacies in higher education sparked national and international debates in public and online domains. The 2015 removal of the Cecil John Rhodes statue at the University of Cape Town will be examined as a key moment in the reconfiguration of collective memory and representations of South African colonial history across educational and institutional spaces.

Focusing on a selection of contemporary photographers, including Lebohang Kganye, Phumzile Khanyile, Tshepiso Moropa, Zenaéca Singh, Sethembile Msezane, Sipho Gongxeka, Sibusiso Bheka, Vuyo Mabheka, Alice Mann, Dimakatso Mathopa, Lindokuhle Sobekwa, and Thembinkosi Hlatshwayo, the seminar will examine how this young generation engages with, reworks, and challenges the visual legacy of apartheid and its aftermath.

Students will be encouraged to analyse photographic works in relation to their socio-political contexts, visual strategies, and modes of display and circulation. Particular emphasis will be placed on how this generation of practitioners revisits archival material and South Africa's documentary tradition, while remaining rooted in the digital age, to articulate forms of disillusionment, critique, and imaginative reconfiguration of the present.

Notes:

Please note that there will be no class on Thursday 26 November 2026.

Course Materials:

Students are strongly advised to follow the companion lecture course Protest and Counter-Representation: An Introduction to South African Photography (1900-2024); however, a general bibliography on the history of South African photography will be provided to ensure accessibility for all participants.

Event NT Reading Course: Kingdom of God: Challenge and Hope in the Gospel according to Luke
01UE15SU014 / Exercise Group / 2,040

Description:

Business event contents:

Der Kurs bietet eine vertiefte Lektüre zentraler lukanischer Texte zum Reich Gottes. Die dafür ausgewählten Perikopen bieten ein breites Spektrum hinsichtlich Form und Inhalt. Durch Übersetzung und gemeinsame Analyse soll anhand dieser Texte ein erster Einblick davon gelingen, wie Lukas das Wirken Jesu deutet, welche Anforderungen das Reich stellt, und welche Perspektiven es eröffnet.

Notes:

Es besteht die Möglichkeit, parallel zu diesem Lektürekurs, die "Liturgik Übung: Evensong" (Fachbereich PT) mittwochs bei Prof. Dr. Ralph Kunz zu besuchen. Im Evensong wird jeweils der Text aus dem Neuen Testament im Zentrum stehen, den wir in der vorangehenden Lektüre gemeinsam lesen und diskutieren werden. Es handelt sich hierbei um ein Angebot, das nicht verpflichtend ist; die beiden Veranstaltungen können auch unabhängig voneinander besucht werden.

Während der Reading Week vom 12.-16.10.2026 finden keine Lehrveranstaltungen an der TRF statt.

Event ST Seminar Dogmatics: Political Theologies in history and present
01SE23SS055 / Seminar / 2,614

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie sich das Christentum zu seiner politischen und gesellschaftlichen Umgebung verhält, ist eine zentrale Frage der christlichen Theologie seit ihren Anfängen. Diese stellt sich sowohl für die einzelnen Christ*innen, aber auch für religiöse Gemeinschaften und ihre Institutionen. Mit zunehmender politischer Bedeutung der institutionalisierten Kirche stand diese Frage nicht nur im Kontext des religiösen Selbstverständnisses, vielmehr wurden die Kirche und religiöse Sprache zu einem politischen Faktor (im Gegenüber zu, mit oder über den staatlichen Institutionen). Angesichts der derzeit sinkenden gesellschaftlichen Bedeutung von institutionalisierten Kirchen und zugleich erkennbaren politischen Instrumentalisierung religiöser Sprache verschiebt sich dieses Gefüge erneut. Das Seminar führt im ersten Teil in zentrale historische Konzepte und Linien politischer Theologie ein. Im zweiten Teil wird die gegenwärtige Ausdifferenzierung des Feldes (z.B. öffentliche Theologien, Black theologies, postkoloniale Theologien) exemplarisch diskutiert und für eine eigene theologische Urteilsbildung reflektiert.

01VL28SV004 / Course / 2,996

Description:

Business event contents:

This course will explore examples of the intersection of religion, popular culture and speculative fictions - including science fiction, horror, and fantasy. Employing approaches from literary criticism, narratology, and communication studies, this course will also look for expressions of the ideas discussed in the real world, drawing on ethnographic examples from fandom studies and the study of new religious movements. The kinds of intellectual properties considered include Star Trek, Star Wars, Harry Potter, World of Warcraft, Dungeons and Dragons, Game of Thrones, the books of Stephen King, and H.P Lovecraft. This course will empower students to explore their own research into the representations and reception of religion in speculative fictions and popular culture.

Darauf aufbauend werden verschiedene Themenkomplexe erörtert, u.a. Macht, Souveränität, Staat, Nation, politische Regime, Demokratie, demokratische Institutionen, politische Akteure, Wahlsysteme und Abstimmungsprozesse.

Event Neo-Victorian Fictions of Empire
06SE440-228b / Seminar / 3,694

Description:

Business event contents:

Even more than a century removed from the end of the Victorian period, we see its echoes all around us, as a result of the world-spanning legacy of the British Empire. In this course, we will look at how texts from the 20th and 21st century engage with this legacy. Are such texts simply an exercise in nostalgia or do they manage to critically engage with the Empire? We will look at questions of identity and knowledge that have grown out the Victorian age and how the neo-Victorian texts, including novels, movies and TV shows, refashion them for our own age. Concepts to be discuss include knowledge production, colonial expansion, power, race, and sexuality. Students will be introduced to neo-Victorian and postcolonial theory and engage with both classics and lesser known texts.

Notes:

The essays are due on 4 March, 2027, at noon.

Course Materials:

These are the texts that will be discussed in the seminar that students should procure:

Catton, Eleanor. The Luminaries. 2013. Granta, 2014.

Collins, Sara. The Confessions of Frannie Langton. Penguin, 2019.

Kajganich, David, creator. The Terror. Scott Free Productions, Entertainment 360 and EMJAG Productions, 2018.

Rhys, Jean. Wide Sargasso Sea. 1966. Penguin, 2000.

"The Blind Banker." Sherlock, written by Stephen Thompson, directed by Euros Lyn, BBC, 2010.

Secondary reading will be made available on OLAT.

Event Spezialisierung: Direkte Demokratie Schweiz im 21. Jahrhundert (DDS-21)
06SE615p008a / Seminar / 5,013

Description:

Business event contents:

Die regelmässig durchgeführten Volksabstimmungen sind ein charakteristisches Merkmal der Schweizer Politik. Diese Spezialisierung widmet sich der Analyse des Abstimmungsverhaltens der Stimmenden. Wie kommen die Stimmenden zu ihrem Entscheid? Welche Rolle spielt dabei die Abstimmungskampagne? Wie erklärt sich die Höhe der Stimmbeteiligung? Diese und weitere Fragen stehen im Fokus dieser Spezialisierung. Für Ihre Arbeiten werden den Studierenden Daten aus repräsentativen Nachabstimmungsbefragungen des aktuellen Nationalfondsprojekts 'Direkte Demokratie Schweiz im 21. Jahrhundert (SDD-21)' zur Verfügung gestellt.

Im ersten Semester des Seminars diskutieren die Studierenden die relevante Literatur im Bereich der Abstimmungsforschung, befassen sich mit Fragen der (vorwiegend quantitativen) Methoden und den Datensätzen, und erarbeiten ein Design für die persönliche Forschungsarbeit. Im zweiten Semester verfassen die Teilnehmenden eigene Forschungsarbeiten.

Course Materials: Werden auf OLAT bereitgestellt.

Event Social Contract Theory
06SE160p014a / Seminar / 3,989

Description:

Business event contents:

What makes political authority legitimate? What do citizens owe each other? these are questions we ask, either directly or indirectly, all the time. This course examines one of the most influential traditions of political philosophy that provides a comprehensive answer to these questions - social contract theory. We explore how philosophers have used the idea of a hypothetical agreement to justify political authority, explain the origins of society, and define the rights and obligations of citizens and governments.

This course examines some of the main thinkers of social contract theory. This will include theorists such as Thomas Hobbes, John Locke, and Jean Jacques Rousseau. At the same time, it will try to 'improve' upon this legacy by looking at contemporary theorists, namely John Rawls. Finally, it will take a critical lens of this approach from non-Western perspectives.

Event Introduction to Life Course and Generations
06SE240-501a / Seminar / 5,089

Description:

Business event contents:

The life course refers to age-graded roles, behavioral trajectories, and transitions as they reflect and also change social institutions and demographic composition. An implication of this definition is that, within and between cohorts of people in a society (e.g., people born in 2001 versus people born in 1960), biographical patterns will emerge. We seek to use the conceptual ideas of the life course to empirically identify and explain these biographical patterns. We will examine the interplay between institutions and biographies, how biographies may vary through historical time and across geo-political units, and "micro" aspects of the life course that help us to describe people's movements through social institutions. Across all of these topics, one issue is cross-cutting: inequality.

Event Statistik I

06VL240-006a / Course / 5,232

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie sind Einkommen und Armut in der Schweiz verteilt? Verändert sich mit zunehmendem Alter die Bereitschaft zu nachhaltiger Lebensweise? Wie sicher können wir auf Basis einer Zufallsstichprobe von 100 Personen Wahlergebnisse voraussagen? Um solche Fragen schlüssig und prägnant zu beantworten, benötigen wir Statistik. Die Veranstaltung baut zunächst eine Brücke von den erhebungstechnischen Grundlagen quantitativer Sozialforschung zum Kernelement der Statistik: Der Variable. Das zentrale Motiv der Statistik, die Verdichtung von Information, führt dann zur Suche nach geeigneten univariaten Statistiken (Mittelwerte, Streuungsmaße, Häufigkeiten), zur Auseinandersetzung mit Techniken der Zusammenhangsanalyse (Tabellenanalyse, Mittelwertvergleich, Regressionsanalyse) und den wahrscheinlichkeitstheoretischen Grundlagen statistischer Verallgemeinerungen sowie Hypothesentests.

Notes:

Zur Veranstaltung werden vier frei wählbare Tutorate angeboten. Sie finden wöchentlich ab der 3. Vorlesungswoche (KW40, 28. September-2. Oktober 26) statt.

Die Buchung eines Tutorats erfolgt im Rahmen der Modulbuchung.

Event Film, Radio, Datacenter. Einführung in die Mediengeschichte
06SE600-001a / Seminar / 944

Description:

Business event contents:

Medien- und Kommunikationswissenschaftliche Ansätze von Theoretiker*innen wie Marshall McLuhan, Friedrich Kittler, Niklas Luhmann, Jonathan Sterne, Lisa Gitelman, Cornelia Vismann oder Brian Larkin haben das theoretische Selbstverständnis der Geschichtswissenschaften und die Methoden der Quellenkritik theoretisch herausgefordert und methodisch erweitert. Im Seminar werden wir uns erstens anhand der Lektüre von medientheoretischen Texten seit den 1920er Jahren bis in die Gegenwart mit diesen Ansätzen auseinandersetzen und sie in Bezug zur historischen Arbeitsweise setzen. Anhand von historischen Fallstudien - etwa zum Buchdruck, zum Phonographen (bzw. Plattenspieler), zur Fotografie, zum Film, zum Radio, zum Fernsehen, zum Video, zum Walkman, aber auch zu digitalen Infrastrukturen wie dem Data Center - sollen zweitens die medialen Eigenschaften, sozialen Gebrauchsweisen und politischen und ökonomischen Kontexte diskutiert werden, die bei medienhistorischen Untersuchungen ins Blickfeld genommen werden, und die Fähigkeit zur kritischen Auseinandersetzung mit aktuellen medienpolitischen Fragen erworben werden.

Am 29. und 30. Oktober 2026 werden wird gemeinsam die vom Zentrum für Künste und Kulturtheorie der UZH veranstaltete Tagung «Im Maschinenraum der Cloud: Perspektiven für eine demokratische Digitalisierung» im Cabaret Voltaire besuchen.

Notes:

Der Leistungsnachweis basiert auf einem Portfolio. Die Studierenden schreiben im ersten Semester kurze Quellenessays zu konkreten Bildquellen oder audiovisuellen Dokumenten, welche durch die Seminarleitung zur Verfügung gestellt werden. Abgabe der Quellenessays bis zum 11. November 2026. Der Essay zählt 25%. Die Seminararbeiten haben dann zum Ziel, mit Hilfe von medientheoretischen Perspektiven konkrete medienhistorische Fallstudien anhand von Quellenmaterial zu verfassen. Die Seminararbeit zählt 75%. Abgabe bis zum 20. Juni 2027.

Course Materials: Das Unterrichtsmaterial wird auf OLAT bereitgestellt.

Event Formen ohne Inhalt? Politische Kultur in Südosteuropa, 19.-21. Jahrhundert
06KO612p001a / Colloquium / 969

Description:

Business event contents:

«Formen ohne Inhalt» haben rumänische Intellektuelle die Modernisierung ihres Landes im 19. Jahrhundert genannt: äusserer Hüllen ohne Substanz. Wie ist dies mit Blick auf die seitherige Entwicklung des Politischen in Südosteuropa einzuschätzen? Was zeichnet die politische Kultur Südosteuropas aus?

Neben formellen Institutionen ist die politische Sphäre ebenso geprägt von informellen Praktiken, habitualisierten Handlungsmustern sowie von konkreten Erfahrungen. Historische Prägungen spielen daher eine zentrale Rolle für die Ausgestaltung politischer Praxis.

Wir fragen danach, welche Formen politischen Handelns in Südosteuropa seit dem 19. Jahrhundert verbreitet waren und als legitim galten. Inwiefern gehörten Widerständigkeit oder Opportunismus, Gewaltanwendung, Wahlboykotte oder Proteste, Konsens und Konfrontation zu etablierten politischen Praktiken? Welche Akteure bestimmten die Politik und auf welche Weise? Welche Formen politischer Einflussnahme waren verbreitet - und wie wurden sie bewertet?

Regional liegt der Schwerpunkt auf Rumänien, Albanien, Kosovo sowie den südslawischen Ländern, ergänzt durch punktuelle Blicke auf angrenzende Regionen. Der Untersuchungszeitraum umfasst den Übergang von der (Vor-)Herrschaft imperialer Grossmächte - des Osmanischen, Habsburger und Russländischen Reiches - hin zu nationalstaatlichen Ordnungen. Zugleich war diese Epoche von tiefgreifenden Umbrüchen geprägt: von rechtsautoritären Regimen der Zwischenkriegszeit über den Sozialismus nach dem Zweiten Weltkrieg bis hin zu vielfältigen Formen der Orientierung an westeuropäischen politischen Modellen.

Neben Quellenlektüre schauen wir exemplarisch politische Ereignisse an und vergleichen Interpretationen lokaler Analyst:innen mit aktuellen Forschungsdebatten. Schliesslich bleibt zu fragen: Können wir überhaupt von einer "politischen Kultur Südosteuropas" reden und falls ja: Was macht sie aus?

Event Theorien der Internationalen Beziehungen: Herausforderungen für Forschung und wissenschaftliche Politik
06SE615p508a / Seminar / 3,474

Description:

Business event contents:

Ausgangspunkt ist die für sozialwissenschaftliche Disziplinen typische Koexistenz und Konkurrenz unterschiedlicher theoretischer Perspektiven und deren Kampf um Deutungshoheit. Am Beispiel der IB werden 4 ausgewählte Frage- und Problemstellungen über das Konzept des vernetzten Lernens miteinander verzahnt: Wissenschaftsphilosophische Grundlagen: Welche ontologischen, epistemologischen und methodologischen Grundannahmen sowie sogenannte - wissenschaftliche Weltbilder sind entscheidend für die spezifische Art der Konstruktion einer Theorie?

Theoretisches Denken über globale Politik: Inwieweit widerspiegeln die einflussreichsten Theorien der IB unterschiedliche wissenschaftsphilosophische Annahmen?

Vergleich: Welche a) forschungspraktische und b) praktisch- politische Relevanz haben die Gemeinsamkeiten und Unterschiede der Perspektiven? Welche Anforderungen ergeben sich aus den gewonnenen Erkenntnissen für die wissenschaftliche Politikberatung?

Event The language of power and the power of language
06SE440p511a / Seminar / 3,713

Description:

Business event contents:

Language is never neutral. From political discourse and institutional communication to everyday interactions and digital platforms, language both reflects and constructs power relations. This research seminar examines how language serves as an instrument of power - shaping public opinion, maintaining social hierarchies, legitimizing authority - and how power shapes language itself through who gets to speak, whose voices are heard, and what ways of speaking are valued.

In an era of political polarization, algorithmic content moderation, and AI-generated text, questions about linguistic power have urgent contemporary relevance. How do political actors frame debates and construct narratives? How do institutional discourses include or exclude particular groups? How does language used to signal and reproduce social inequalities? How are new technologies redistributing communicative power? Students will develop their own research projects, collecting and analysing their own data. Whether examining political speeches, social media discourse, institutional language policies, media representations, or everyday interactions, students will apply appropriate analytical methods to uncover the mechanisms through which language and power intersect.

In the final week of the semester, there will be a poster session where students present preliminary findings from their research. This session will take place in conjunction with the interdisciplinary lecture series "Macht der Sprache - Sprache der Macht," providing an opportunity to engage with broader scholarly conversations about language and power across disciplines and to receive feedback from the wider academic community.

Event Benjamin Britten
06SE760p009a / Seminar / 436

Description:

Business event contents:

Benjamin Britten (1913-1976), dessen Todestag sich am 4. Dezember 2026 zum fünfzigsten Mal jährt, gilt nicht nur als einer der bedeutendsten britischen Komponisten des 20. Jahrhunderts, sondern auch als ein wichtiger Exponent jener 'gemäßigten' westeuropäischen Moderne, die sich nach der Jahrhundertmitte in kritischer Distanz zur sogenannten Avantgarde ihre vielfältigen individuellen Sprachen suchte. Das Seminar versteht sich als Einführung in Brittens Werk, dessen beträchtlicher Umfang jedoch zu einer radikalen Auslese zwingt. Schwerpunktmässig werden wir uns mit Brittens Opernschaffen befassen, ohne jedoch die Instrumentalmusik oder konzertante Vokalwerke - wie insbesondere das War Requiem op. 66 (1961) - ganz zu vernachlässigen.

Event Global South Perspectives on Global Inequality
06SE615-009a / Seminar / 3,726

Description:

Business event contents:

This course critically examines global inequalities through the lens of the Global South, focusing on the political, historical, and social factors that contribute to and perpetuate these inequalities. While the discourse on global inequality often emphasizes economic disparities, this course centers on the political decisions, governance structures, and institutional dynamics that shape inequality across regions.

The course will explore post-colonial and empirical-analytical perspectives, analyzing how colonial histories have influenced contemporary political and economic systems in the Global South. It will also look at global institutional asymmetries, particularly the roles of international organizations and emerging political alliances like BRICS, in shaping global governance. Additionally, the course will examine migration policies, climate justice, and political representation as key areas in understanding how global inequalities are experienced and challenged in the Global South.

Key themes include:

- Different theoretical perspectives on global inequalities, focusing on the legacy of colonialism and its impact on governance and political institutions.
 - Global institutional asymmetries, with an emphasis on the influence of international organizations and emerging political entities like BRICS on global inequality.
 - Migration, climate justice, and political representation, analyzing how the Global South's voices shape and are shaped by global policies on migration, climate change, and political representation.
- Through empirical studies, theoretical frameworks, and global south authors, students will critically engage with Global South scholarship, integrating theoretical, empirical, and comparative perspectives on global inequalities.

Event Preparation for the Research Seminar: The Politics of Global Inequalities
06SE615-505b / Seminar / 3,718

Description:

Business event contents:

In recent years, national inequality has dominated headlines, yet opportunities, wealth, and political rights remain far more unequally distributed on a global scale than within any single nation-state. This course introduces students to the philosophical debates and international political economy analyses that shape our understanding of global inequalities.

We begin from the premise that the distribution of wealth and social rights is inherently political and cannot be explained solely through economic mechanisms. While there is broad consensus on the moral imperative to alleviate extreme poverty, determining the "optimal" level of inequality both within and between nations raises far more contentious political questions.

The course proceeds in two main steps. First, we examine power relations within national and international regimes and explore how they shape social and economic inequalities. Second, we analyze how globalization affects different countries, regions, and segments of society. Along the way, we consider how globalization has influenced gender equality, whether political participation rights are expanding worldwide, who benefits economically from increased global integration, who is left behind, and how climate change is generating new forms of inequality.

Secondly, we investigate various attempts to reduce global inequalities with a particular focus on the structural challenges of redistribution at the international level. Unlike national contexts where welfare states and tax systems can facilitate redistribution, there is no global equivalent, which makes efforts to close global gaps uniquely complex.

In the following spring semester (2027), students will have the opportunity to write a research paper as part of the Forschungsseminar. This seminar is a core course for the MA Track in Philosophy and Political Economy.

Course Materials:

The readings for the seminar can be accessed via OLAT.

The following three texts give a flavor of the seminar and should be read before the first session:

Lockwood, E. (2021). The international political economy of global inequality. Review of International Political Economy, 28(2), 421-445.

Milanovic, B. (2016). Global inequality: A new approach for the age of globalization. Harvard University Press., Chapter "Inequality between countries, p. 118-154.

Event Allgemeines Staatsrecht
02VL120WM14 / Course / 3,746

Description:

Business event contents:

Das «Allgemeine Staatsrecht» bzw. die Allgemeine Staatslehre wird an der Universität Zürich seit Jahrzehnten gepflegt. Anders als bei den staatsrechtlichen Vorlesungen des ersten Studienjahres stehen weniger die geltenden Bestimmungen des schweizerischen Verfassungsrechts im Vordergrund als vielmehr die historische und vergleichende Analyse grundlegender Problembereiche der Staatslehre: z.B. Allgemeine Staatsformenlehre, Föderalismus in einer breiteren Perspektive, Demokratische Beteiligungsformen, Ausgestaltungen der verschiedenen Staatsorgane. Zunächst wird jeweils die Theorie erarbeitet, bevor diese in vertiefenden Fallanalysen (mit zusätzlichen Lesematerialien) veranschaulicht wird.

Course Materials: Walter Haller/Alfred Kölz/Thomas Gächter, Allgemeines Staatsrecht, 6. Auflage, Zürich/Basel/Genf 2020; zusätzliche Lesematerialien, die online zur Verfügung gestellt werden.

Event The Economics of Human Capital (S)
03SE22MO0100 / Seminar / 2,853

Description:

Business event contents:

This seminar examines (theoretically and empirically) the processes of skill (or human capital) formation throughout an individual's life. The theory of human capital applies generalized cost-benefit analysis to the investment in skills. In light of this theory, we will discuss in detail who would be willing to invest in socially productive skills, and under what conditions. Our discussion will not be limited to investments in cognitive skills (via investment in education, for example) but also will include investments in non-cognitive (or "soft") skills. We will examine the evidence about the relative importance of these skills to labor market outcomes and the optimal timing of investments.

Notes:

Please note, the number of students that can participate in this seminar is limited. To determine who is allowed to participate, each interested student will be asked to prepare a short assignment. Students who are interested in taking the seminar should e-mail Professor Segal (carmit.segal@business.uzh.ch) before September 14, 2026. Students will be notified of the acceptance decision on September 15, 2026.

Course Materials: Papers will be distributed electronically.

Nicht zuletzt kommen aber auch die Möglichkeiten und Grenzen der analytischen Nutzung von Aggregatdaten zur Sprache. Das Erlernete wird im Rahmen eines kurzen Analysetextes angewendet, dessen Resultate in einer Kurzpräsentation im Plenum diskutiert werden.

Notes:

Basiskompetenzen in der Beschaffung, Aufbereitung und Veranschaulichung von Datenmaterial sowie in den Methoden der beschreibenden und schliessenden Statistik werden vorausgesetzt.

Event Rechtsphilosophie
02VL90GL18-1 / Course / 3,794

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Vorlesung behandelt zentrale Probleme der Rechtsphilosophie. Dazu gehören Fragen wie die Folgenden: Was hat Recht mit Gerechtigkeit zu tun? Was heisst überhaupt Gerechtigkeit? Was sind die Grundlagen von Menschenrechten? Welches sind die philosophischen Grundlagen der Verfassungsstaatlichkeit? Welche internationale Ordnung ist legitim? Was sind die theoretischen Grundlagen des Völkerrechts? Was heisst menschliche Schuld und Verantwortung? Welchem Zweck dienen Strafen? Was heisst Privatautonomie und welche Bedeutung hat sie für die Privat- und Wirtschaftsrechtsordnung? Welche anderen normativen Prinzipien sind für diese relevant? Diese Probleme werden historisch informiert und systematisch vertieft diskutiert. Dabei wird auf kulturübergreifende Perspektiven Wert gelegt. Die theoretischen Überlegungen werden durchgehend an aktuellen Rechtsproblemen erprobt.

Notes:

Die Vorlesung wird voraussichtlich von einem Proseminar begleitet, dessen Besuch freigestellt ist.

In der Gruppe 1 werden anhand aktueller Fälle aus der Rechtsprechung die Grundlagen des Gesellschaftsrechts wiederholt und der Fallaufbau trainiert. Die Teilnehmer entwickeln die Lösung der Fälle unter Anleitung selbst. Am Ende der Veranstaltung gibt es eine Lösungsskizze zu jedem Fall.

In der Gruppe 2 wird der in der Vorlesung «Gesellschaftsrecht» behandelte Stoff anhand von Gerichtsurteilen repetiert und vertieft. Das Ziel ist es, den Studierenden den Vorlesungsstoff anhand konkreter Fälle verständlich zu machen und sie in die Analyse und Diskussion von Urteilen einzuführen.

Das Kolloquium verfolgt folgende Lernziele:

- Erlernen der Falllösungstechnik im Gesellschaftsrecht
- Erlernen des Aufbaus von Falllösungen
- Verbesserung der Fähigkeit zur mündlichen Argumentation
- Wiederholung des Stoffes der Vorlesung Gesellschaftsrecht
- Kenntnis der aktuellen Rechtsprechung des BGer zum Gesellschaftsrecht

Event PhD Course: Normative Economics
03VLDOEC1223 / Course / 2,148

Description:

Business event contents:

The overarching question of normative economics is, what is the objective that policymakers should pursue? People usually treat this as a matter of opinion or personal preference. Normative economics aims to obtain rigorous answers to this question using principled mathematical deduction, starting from first principles. The approach is axiomatic: we begin by formalizing certain axioms, that characterize basic moral and logical principles. Then, we use the tools of mathematics to study the implications of combining different axioms.

Event Anwaltsrecht

02VL90WM86-1 / Course / 3,997

Description:

Business event contents:

Anwältinnen und Anwälte bewegen sich in einem Spannungsfeld: Einerseits sind sie unabhängige, unternehmerisch tätige Berufsleute, die entgeltliche Dienstleistungen erbringen. Andererseits spielen sie für den Zugang zur Justiz

- und damit für die Verwirklichung der Rechtsordnung - eine wichtige Rolle.

Anwältinnen und Anwälte haben insofern besondere Pflichten, aber auch Rechte.

Der Ausgleich dieser teilweise gegenläufigen Interessen ist Gegenstand des Anwaltsrechts, das seinerseits zwei Pole aufweist: Es ist teilweise öffentlich-rechtlicher Natur (Zulassung, Berufsregeln, Aufsicht, Freizügigkeit), teilweise privatrechtlich geregelt (Mandatsverhältnis zur Klientschaft). Die Darstellung dieser komplexen Rechtslage ist Gegenstand dieser Vorlesung.

Event Römisches Privatrecht I Gruppe 2
02VL60PM5-1 / Course / 3,487

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Modul Römisches Privatrecht dient der Einführung in das Studium des Privatrechts. Entsprechend werden grundlegende Institute, wie Eigentum und Vertrag, Rechtsfiguren, wie Stellvertretung und Auftrag, und Rechtsprinzipien, wie Formalismus und Typenzwang, am historischen Beispiel vorgestellt und analysiert. Das Römische Privatrecht bildet die gemeinsame Grundlage der europäischen Privatrechtsordnungen und war auch für die Entstehung des schweizerischen Obligationenrechts und Zivilgesetzbuchs massgeblich, weshalb diese Regelungen ebenfalls vergleichend vorgestellt und gewürdigt werden. Im Einzelnen erhalten die Studierenden Einblick in die Institute und Prinzipien des Personenrechts, des Sachenrechts und vor allem des Obligationenrechts in Form des Vertrags- wie des Haftpflichtrechts. Ein besonderer Schwerpunkt liegt dabei auf der Analyse von römischrechtlichen Quellentexten (in deutscher Übersetzung), die bestimmte Problemlagen und Fallgestaltungen veranschaulichen und es erlauben, Gemeinsamkeiten und Unterschiede zwischen dem antiken römischen Recht und der heutigen Rechtslage zu erfassen und herauszuarbeiten.

Notes:

Inhaltlich sind die beiden Gruppen vollständig aufeinander abgestimmt und verwenden die gleichen Quellentexte (in Übersetzung). Beide Veranstaltungen finden in deutscher Sprache statt.

Zur Prüfungsvorbereitung wird auf die E-Learning-Plattform Lst. Babusiaux verwiesen.

Event Sprachnormen und Sprachgebrauch: Niederländisch im 18. und 19. Jh.
06SE360-308a / Seminar / 2,792

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie viel Einfluss haben Sprachnormen auf den tatsächlichen Sprachgebrauch? Und was bewirken Standardisierungsmassnahmen 'von oben' (etwa durch die Regierung oder im Schulsystem)? Inwieweit können gängige Schreibkonventionen selbst zur Normendiskussion beitragen und die Festlegung von Regeln und Vorschriften beeinflussen? Diesen und anderen Fragen zur Wechselwirkung zwischen sprachlicher Normierung, Standardisierung und Sprachpraxis wollen wir uns in diesem Seminar widmen.

Im Fokus steht dabei das Niederländische des 18. und 19. Jahrhunderts, einer Epoche der neueren Sprachgeschichte, in der neben traditioneller Standardisierung auch (sprach)politische und (sprach)ideologische Belange eine immer grössere Rolle einnehmen. Die Entwicklungen zwischen ca. 1700 und 1900 haben entscheidend dazu beigetragen, welche Formen und Varianten (z.B. Lexik, Grammatik, Orthografie) im modernen Niederländisch als 'richtig' oder 'falsch' bzw. als standard- oder nicht standardsprachlich angesehen werden. Anhand von handschriftlichen und gedruckten Textsorten wie Briefen, Zeitungen und Pamphleten sollen ausgewählte linguistische Merkmale vor dem Hintergrund normativer Entwicklungen des 18. und 19. Jahrhunderts besprochen und analysiert werden. Zudem werden die Studierenden auch praktisch an den Umgang mit historischen Wörterbüchern, Grammatiken und Korpora des Niederländischen herangeführt.

Notes:

Die Veranstaltung findet im Prinzip auf Niederländisch statt. Abhängig von der Zusammensetzung der Teilnehmenden sind in Absprache jedoch auch Deutsch oder ein mehrsprachiges Format denkbar. Die Unterrichtsmaterialien sind auf Niederländisch, Deutsch und Englisch.

Course Materials: Benötigte Unterrichtsmaterialien werden auf OLAT zur Verfügung gestellt.

Event Brenzlige Begegnungen. Räume und Figuren in vormodernen Erzähltexten
06SE360-118b / Seminar / 492

Description:

Business event contents:

In Erzähltexten der Vormoderne begegnen sich Figuren in vielfältiger Weise und an verschiedenen Orten. Kämpfe und Liebesnächte, Fremderfahrungen oder dämonische Erscheinungen bilden wesentliche Elemente von Texten. Brenzlig sind derartige Begegnungen nicht nur für die involvierten Figuren, ebenso setzen sie Erzählungen in Gang, markieren Wendepunkte und bergen narratives Sprengpotenzial. Dabei verleihen die Orte, an denen die Figuren aufeinandertreffen, der jeweiligen Begegnung ihre Brisanz und betreffen das Gefüge der erzählten Welt. Am Hof sowie im Wald, auf der Landstrasse oder an der Schwelle zum Jenseits stossen auch soziale Regeln, kulturelle Codes, metaphysische Vorstellungen und nicht zuletzt narrative Muster aufeinander.

Anhand ausgewählter Texte aus der Literatur des Mittelalters und der Frühen Neuzeit widmet sich das Seminar diesen brenzligen Begegnungen und ihren Schauplätzen. Vier thematische Blöcke fokussieren die spannungsvollen Raumsemantiken von Ordnung und Wildnis, Intimität und Sichtbarkeit, Transit und Fremde sowie Jenseits und Anderswelt. Auszüge aus dem 'Nibelungenlied' und den höfischen Romanen, aus dem 'Ulenspiegel' und dem 'Faustbuch' bilden u.a. die Grundlage des Seminars.

Methodisch wird die Auseinandersetzung mit den literarischen Texten durch moderne Raumtheorien perspektiviert, u.a. von J. Lotman und M. Bachtin. In der Lektüre reflektieren wir dadurch unsere eigene Begegnung mit der Alterität älterer Texte.

Notes:

Die Module 'Einführung in die Ältere deutsche Literaturwissenschaft' und 'Grundlagen und Methoden' sollten absolviert worden sein.

Course Materials: Textauszüge werden auf OLAT zur Verfügung gestellt.

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Initiierung und Umsetzung notwendiger Veränderung in Unternehmen stellt Führungskräfte häufig vor grosse Herausforderungen. Einerseits wird die Notwendigkeit eines Wandels häufig zu spät erkannt, andererseits wird den Umsetzungsbemühungen oft mit Widerstand von Seiten der Mitarbeiter begegnet. Wie Organisationen vor diesem Hintergrund organisationalen Wandel gestalten können, wird im Rahmen der Veranstaltung "Change Management" behandelt. Ausgehend von den theoretischen Grundlagen des Change Managements werden in der Vorlesung verschiedene führungs- und organisationsbezogene Aspekte des geplanten Wandels behandelt und die Leistungsfähigkeit entsprechender Massnahmen diskutiert.

Event Post-Realismus

06KO255p005a / Colloquium / 2,228

Description:

Business event contents:

Unter der Bezeichnung «postrealistisches Kino» entwickelt die Regisseurin Jill Godmilow einen praktisch wie theoretisch fundierten Gegenentwurf zur «Pornografie des Realen», die sie als weit verbreitete und lang tradierte Konvention des Dokumentarfilms ausmacht. Mit politischer Intention und analytisch-kreativem Werkzeug zerlegt sie in «Kill the Documentary. A Letter to Filmmakers, Students and Scholars» dominierende Prämissen und Methoden dokumentarischen Filmschaffens, um eine für die Gegenwart nützliche und wirksame Praxis des nicht-fiktionalen Films vorzustellen. Dabei problematisiert sie insbesondere das Zusammenspiel eines unhinterfragten Wahrheitsanspruchs mit dem expliziten Einsatz eines deskriptiven Realismus und fingierten Annahmen über die adressierte Zuschauer*innenschaft. Stattdessen plädiert sie unter Einbezug zahlreicher Filmemacher*innen und Theoretiker*innen in ihrem als Brief untertitelten Handbuch für die Notwendigkeit, sich durch poetische Übungen von der unreflektierten Verbindung zu Kamera und Mikrofon zu lösen und das Kino als kompromisslosen Ausdruck von Widersprüchen zu nutzen.

«I hope you can learn from this letter, and enjoy it. Be sure to watch many of the alternative forms of postrealist films I discuss. Write some poems too.» Im dialogischen Austausch, der Theorie und Praxis in ein gestaltendes wie diskursives Verhältnis zueinander setzt, werden wir in diesem Theorie-Kolloquium bei gemeinsamen Lektüren, Analysen und Diskussionen über inhaltliche und formale Aspekte des Post-Realismus nachdenken und sprechen.

Event Seminar: Right-Wing Politics and Religion - Extreme and Populist Movements

01SE55SS027 / Seminar / 2,722

Description:

Business event contents:

Im rechten politischen Spektrum steckt viel «Religion», von Verschwörungsnarrativen, Feindbildern und Heilsversprechen bis hin zu transnationalen Netzwerken mit religiösen Akteuren. Das gilt von der religiösen Rechten in den USA, über den Hindunationalismus in Indien bis hin zu entsprechenden (?) Entwicklungen in Deutschland und der Schweiz.

Das Seminar widmet sich aus einer sozialwissenschaftlichen Perspektive den vielfältigen Verbindungen zwischen rechten Bewegungen, religiösen Diskursen, Symbolen, Ritualen und Narrativen. Wir werden uns einerseits soziologischen, politik- und religionswissenschaftlichen Begriffsklärungen widmen und aktuelle Forschungsliteratur kennen lernen. Wir werden anhand von konkreten Fallbeispielen arbeiten und uns kritisch der Frage stellen, welche Bedeutung wissenschaftliche „Neutralität“ im Umgang mit rechtsextremen Gruppierungen hat und wo ihre Grenzen liegen. Abschließend erarbeiten die Teilnehmenden eigene Case Studies, in denen sie theoretische Ansätze auf konkrete Beispiele anwenden und so ihre analytischen Fähigkeiten vertiefen.

Erik Harms. Luxury and Rubble: Civility and Dispossession in the New Saigon. Berkeley: University of California Press, 2016. 304 pp. $34.95, paper, ISBN 978-0-520-29251-2.

Summary:

Luxury and Rubble is the story of two planned, mixed-use residential and commercial developments that are changing the face of Ho Chi Minh City, Viet Nam's largest city. Since the early 1990s, such developments have been steadily reorganizing urban landscapes across the country. For many Vietnamese, they are a symbol of the country's emergence into global modernity and of post-socialist economic reforms. However, they are also sites of great contestation, sparking land disputes and controversies over how to compensate evicted residents. In this penetrating ethnography, Erik Harms vividly portrays the human costs of urban reorganization as he explores the complex and sometimes contradictory experiences of individuals grappling with the forces of privatization in a socialist country.

A physical copy of the book is recommended for this class. However, a free ebook version of this title is also available for reading through Luminos, University of California Press's Open Access publishing program for monographs. <https://luminosoa.org/books/m/10.1525/luminos.20>

Key words: urban anthropology, Viet Nam, land disposition, urban mega development, post-socialist reforms.

Event Arquitectura del cuento en la España del siglo XXI: del relato breve al ciclo narrativo
06VL427p001a / Course / 306

Description:

Business event contents:

En la España del siglo XXI, el cuento y el ciclo de cuentos han adquirido una presencia importante dentro de las formas narrativas contemporáneas. El curso ofrece una introducción teórico-práctica al relato breve y a las particularidades del short story cycle, explorando cómo estas formas articulan estrategias narrativas, poéticas y político-sociales en la literatura actual. A partir del estudio de diversas obras contemporáneas, analizaremos mecanismos de cohesión, fragmentación y polifonía, así como el modo en que el cuento y, especialmente, el ciclo de cuentos, se han convertido en un espacio privilegiado para representar situaciones marginales, identidades en conflicto y memorias silenciadas.

Course Materials:

El programa del curso, así como la bibliografía propuesta se publicarán en OLAT algunos días antes del inicio de las clases. Se recomienda la lectura previa de A escondidas (Iban Zaldúa, Páginas de Espuma: 2023), Casa de muñecas (Patricia Esteban Erlés, Páginas de Espuma, 2012) y Los girasoles ciegos (Alberto Méndez, Anagrama, 2004)

Event Language and society
06VL440p003a / Course / 1,632

Description:

Business event contents:

The lecture explores the dynamic relationship between how we speak and the social worlds we live in and shape. It introduces students to key questions in sociolinguistics: How does language shape identity? In what ways do power, culture, and inequality influence communication? And how do social factors such as class, gender, ethnicity, age, and geography affect the way language is used and perceived?

Through real-world examples - from everyday conversations and media discourse to multilingualism, dialects, and digital communication - the lecture examines language as a social practice rather than a rigid structural system. Students will engage with concepts such as language variation and change, code-switching, language attitudes, and linguistic discrimination, gaining insight into how "standard" and "non-standard" varieties are socially constructed, with a focus on language and social inequality.

The lecture also encourages critical reflection on contemporary issues, including language and education, migration, globalization, and the politics of language. By connecting theory with every-day sociolinguistic experience, students will develop tools to analyze how language both reflects and reinforces social structures, while also serving as a resource for creativity, identity-formation, and social change.

This course is suitable for students across the humanities and social sciences, and requires no prior background in linguistics.

Event Counterparty Credit Risk Management (L)
03VL22MO0034 / Course / 577

Description:

Business event contents:

One of the challenges that the financial industry is facing after the crisis is to reach consensus on how to correctly assess counterparty credit risk. In particular, the two following practices emerged as consequence of the 2008 breakdown: (a) the splitting of the LIBOR curve in multiple curves (so to account for the different levels of credit risk embedded) and (b) the explicit inclusion of credit risk in the price of the trades. Additionally, (c) the new Basel III legislation brought much tighter rules on capital, defining RWA as the key parameter to assess the feasibility of any business strategy. Here below, more details on a)-c):

a) Multi-curves pricing: the market participants realized after the financial crisis that the banks contributing to LIBOR can also default.

This fact brings a plethora of basis spreads which need to be considered when pricing financial instruments, e.g. a forward rate agreement (FRA) which is fully collateralized (i.e. risk free) cannot be priced as an uncollateralized one. In addition, banks charge differently tenors on the yield curve (e.g. 3m vs 6m) taking into account the higher probability of default over the longer period of re-payment. Given that every market participant has a main funding currency, cross currency swaps are required to fund transactions in other currencies. The credit risk present in this process is reflected in a further cross currency basis that is included in pricing the trades.

b) CVA / DVA: financial institutions should charge for the counterparty risk they are taking entering trades with defaultable counterparties. The so called Credit Value Adjustment (CVA) is this additional component of the product's price. When CVA is taken into account even linear instruments, for instance vanilla swaps, acquire option-like characteristics. In bilateral agreements the counterparty risk is charged by both counterparties to ensure symmetry in the price-payoff [Bilateral CVA, i.e. CVA and Default Value Adjustment (DVA)].

c) Basel III: the new regulation which focus on the counterparty risk space (through the introduction of a capital charge for CVA) needs to be examined in focus by financial institutions to ensure optimal capital allocation/management, where a risk-return analysis will be actively part of the daily work and exposure.

These aspects will be discussed in a multi-asset class framework, working on real trading examples and complex portfolios. Best practices on modelling Counterparty Credit Risk, pricing under CVA and capital management will be added to the module to stimulate students who want to follow a Risk Management/Trading Career in Investment Banking.

Event PhD Course: Market Design HS26
03VLDOEC1269 / Course / 2,147

Description:

Business event contents:

Market Design is an elective PhD course and is also open to motivated Master students. We will discuss topics in market design including auctions, matching, and boundedly-rational mechanism design. The course will give you a sense of this rich area, but it will not be a complete survey. We will focus on some background papers and selected parts of the current research frontier. My aim is to make the class research oriented: we will talk in class about research ideas. In particular, I intend to go through papers in a selective fashion trying to understand what is in a paper, where it comes from, and where it might lead. While there will be lecture elements, we will also spend time jointly looking at questions.

Description:

Business event contents:

This course is an introduction to macroeconomic theory at the PhD level. We develop tools that are commonly used in macroeconomics but also other areas of economics, notably recursive methods and discrete and continuous time dynamic optimization. We apply these tools to some of the most important topics of macroeconomics, including general equilibrium with complete and incomplete markets, consumption-savings problems, investment, dynamic contracts, fiscal policy, economic growth and climate macroeconomics.

Event Rousseaus politische Philosophie
06SE160p016a / Seminar / 3,987

Description:

Business event contents:

"Der Mensch ist frei geboren, und überall liegt er in Ketten." So schreibt Jean-Jacques Rousseau (1712-1778) zu Beginn seines Werks "Vom Gesellschaftsvertrag". In dem Seminar lesen und diskutieren wir dieses Buch sowie weitere Schriften Rousseaus zur politischen Philosophie, darunter den "Diskurs über die Ungleichheit unter den Menschen" sowie Auszüge aus "Émile". Diese Schriften sind überaus einflussreiche und bis heute aktuelle Untersuchungen von fundamentalen Fragen der politischen Philosophie, darunter: Wie - wenn überhaupt - kann es gerechtfertigt sein, dass einige über andere herrschen? Ist die Tatsache sozialer Ungleichheit mit dem Bestehen gleicher natürlicher Rechte vereinbar? Wie kommen Eigentumsrechte zustande? Welche Charaktereigenschaften müssen Menschen haben, um in einer freien Gesellschaft zusammen zu leben?

Event Focus course Speech: Neurocognition of speech and language
06SE523p001a / Seminar / 3,506

Description:

Business event contents:

In this seminar, we will address the functional neuroanatomy of speech and language processing in association with brain plasticity across the lifespan from multiple perspectives and highlight a wide range of relevant topics. In particular, after a general introduction to anatomy, physiology, and methods, we will illustrate neurological models of speech and language processing, discuss the unique challenges of language acquisition, and examine the neural dynamics underlying the encoding of linguistic units and word learning. We will also highlight the importance of predictive processing for speech and language and discuss the neural basis of foreign language learning. Other topics include multilingualism and transfer effects, functional and anatomical correlates of language expertise, sign language as well as aging, hearing loss and brain plasticity. Some topics in clinical neuropsychology such as dyslexia and aphasia are also discussed. It is not a must, but it is advantageous if the participants have already attended the lecture "The neural foundation of speech".

Course Materials: The teaching materials refer to current scientific publications in the above-mentioned areas and are uploaded to Olat in advance.

Event Machine Learning for Natural Language Processing 1

06VL523-505a / Course / 5,348

Description:

Business event contents:

The course develops a coherent perspective on the progression of neural NLP methods, from foundational machine learning and representation learning to sequence modeling and modern Transformer-based architectures. It introduces the main ideas that led to current large-context and generative approaches, including continuous word and text representations, recurrent and convolutional models, attention mechanisms, positional encoding and modern position embeddings, contextualized representations, and transfer learning. Building on these foundations, the course also addresses current topics such as large language models, generative AI, retrieval-augmented generation (RAG), and parameter-efficient adaptation methods.

Event Gegenwartsliteratur aus Skandinavien
06SE360p231a / Seminar / 1,122

Description:

Business event contents:

Im Seminar, das sich nicht nur an Skandinavist:innen, sondern bewusst auch an Studierende anderer Disziplinen richtet, wollen wir ausgehend von exemplarischen Texten versuchen, eine erste vorsichtige Bilanz zu aktuellen Entwicklungen in der skandinavischen Gegenwartsliteratur zu ziehen. Dabei wollen wir uns nicht nur mit der Frage beschäftigen, welche Themen in Texten von 2016 bis 2026 besonders relevant waren, sondern auch nach besonderen Schreibweisen Ausschau halten. Es werden auf jeden Fall Texte von Solvej Balle, Jonas Eika, Tomas Espedal, Aris Fioretos, Jonas Hassen Khemiri, Niviaq Korneliusssen, Karl Ove Knausgaard, Madame Nielsen, Sara Stridsberg, Olga Ravn und Hanna Ørstavik in die Veranstaltung einfließen.

Als integraler Teil der Veranstaltung ist eine Exkursion an die Buchmesse nach Kopenhagen vorgesehen. Die Detailplanung findet zu Vorlesungsbeginn gemeinsam statt.

Event Wer bin ich? Reflexionen des Selbst in der japanischen Geistes- und Literaturgeschichte 1000-1900.
06UE290-014a / Exercise Group / 3,022

Description:

Business event contents:

"Wer bin ich?" ist eine der grundlegenden Fragen des Menschseins und Zeichen unserer menschlichen Reflexivität: der Fähigkeit, das eigene Sein bewusst zu befragen. Während die Frage nach dem, was uns ausmacht, durchaus universell ist, könnten die Versuche, darauf eine Antwort zu finden, in ihrem Inhalt, ihrer Methode und ihrer Zielsetzung kaum unterschiedlicher sein. Seufzend befragen so dichtende Hofdamen ihren Stellenwert in einer Welt der Unbeständigkeit, während Buddhisten das "Ich" im Fluss der Substanzlosigkeit verschwinden lassen. Umgekehrt erblicken die Neokonfuzianer im vernünftigen "Ich" die Möglichkeit zur wahren Erkenntnis und Menschlichkeit. Oszillierend zwischen dem allgemeinen und dem partikulären "Ich", erlauben uns diese verschiedenen Auseinandersetzungen mit der Ichheit nicht nur, die japanische Geistes- und Literaturgeschichte besser zu verstehen, sondern uns auch einem allgemeineren Begriff des Menschseins anzunähern, der sich nicht nur auf das japanische Archipel beschränkt. Gegenstand der Lektüre und Übersetzungsübungen werden Ausschnitte aus Dichtung, Essayistik (zuihitsu), buddhistischen und neokonfuzianischen Schriften sowie philosophischen Abhandlungen der Neuzeit sein - von Sei Shōnagons Blütezeit in Heian um das Jahr 1000 bis zum Tod Nakae Chōmins 1901. Der Kurs soll dabei zugleich einen Überblick über den Wandel der japanischen Sprache über neun Jahrhunderte geben und für Fragen der Stilistik sensibilisieren.

Event Die Zeit in der japanischen Geschichte
06SE290-122a / Seminar / 628

Description:

Business event contents:

Zeit bestimmt unser Leben auf viele Weise- der Rhythmus von Tag und Nacht, Arbeit/Studium und Freizeit, zu wenig Zeit (Stress), zu viel Zeit (Langeweile). Zeit scheint unterschiedlich schnell zu vergehen, dabei wird sie gemessen mit Uhren, die gleichmässig gehen (sollen). Manches daran ist global, wie der Wechsel von Tag und Nacht. Anderes nicht - Jahreszeiten sind nach geographischer Lage verschieden; Uhren gehen unterschiedlich genau oder sind gar nicht vorhanden. Das Seminar untersucht das Phänomen Zeit in der japanischen Kulturgeschichte: Wo wurde Zeit thematisiert, wie wurde sie gesehen, was hatte das für Auswirkungen? Grundlage sind die Überlegungen von Maki Yūsuke in seiner «Vergleichenden Soziologie der Zeit», die wir mit den Entwicklungen in der japanischen Geschichte abgleichen. Wir üben dabei sowohl das Lesen von wissenschaftlichen japanischen Texten und öffnen ein Fenster auf die japanische Geschichte-nicht zuletzt auf den Alltag der gewöhnlichen Menschen.

Notes:

Das Seminar ist so aufgebaut, dass eine regelmässige Teilnahme für den Erfolg zentral ist.

Event Fabeln des Pañcatantra
06UE330-013a / Exercise Group / 3,302

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Pañcatantra ist das bekannteste indische Fabelbuch der klassischen Zeit. Seine amüsanten Geschichten von königlichen Löwen, Schakalen und Krähen sollen - so die Einleitung - "einfältigen" Prinzen politische Führungskunst und Menschenkenntnis auf unterhaltsame Weise nahebringen. Unsere Lektüre ausgewählter Fabeln dient dazu, Routine im Übersetzen von Sanskrit-Texten und in der Benutzung der wichtigsten Hilfsmittel zu gewinnen. Wir lesen den Text in Hertels kritischer Edition des Tantrākhyaṇika, der ältesten (bekannten) Fassung des Pañcatantra.

Event Der Tod und die Dinge: Antike Funerärobjekte in der Archäologischen Sammlung der Universität Zürich
06UE682-013a / Exercise Group / 4,043

Description:

Business event contents:

Der Umgang mit dem Tod und die Erinnerung an Verstorbene hatte in der griechisch-römischen Antike eine ausgeprägte materielle Komponente, die vielfältige archäologische Spuren hinterlassen haben. Diese können beispielsweise (bemalte) Keramik- und Glasgefässe, Ascheurnen bis hin zu Grabmarkern und -inschriften umfassen.

Um sich aus archäologischer Perspektive diesen Aspekten und den damit verbundenen Fragestellungen annähern zu können, ist es zunächst notwendig, die jeweiligen Artefakte zu erkennen und wissenschaftlich zu erschliessen. Deshalb werden wir uns in der Bestimmungsübung mit verschiedenen Objektgattungen der griechisch-römischen Funerärkontexte beschäftigen. Anhand von Artefakten aus den Beständen der Archäologischen Sammlung der UZH wollen wir nicht nur den praktischen Umgang mit teilweise fragiler und fragmentierter materieller Kultur einüben, sondern auch das "archäologische Handwerkszeug" des genauen Beschreibens und typologischen, chronologischen und funktionalen Bestimmens von intakten und fragmentierten Objekten aus verschiedenen Materialien erlernen.

Event Chronological debates in archaeology
06SE683p501a / Seminar / 3,423

Description:

Business event contents:

The journal club will focus on chronological debates in archaeology. Archaeological research is often confronted with conflicting chronologies, generating long (and sometimes fierce) debates among scholars. These debates sometimes focus on purely archaeological (and historical) material, but sometimes also imply conflicts between the results of "science-based" dating and more traditional archaeological approaches based on stratigraphy and typology. These debates raise fascinating epistemological questions on the reconstruction of the ancient past: should laboratory results have precedence over purely archaeological results? Or is it the other way round? And why do highly competent scholars sometimes reach contradictory chronological conclusions based on the same archaeological material? These questions will be examined in this journal club, through a series of readings concerning contemporary chronological debates, such as the Thera/Santorini eruption debate (and its implications for the synchronization of Bronze Age civilizations around the Mediterranean) and the Southern Levantine Iron Age chronological debate (and its implications on the dating of early territorial states in the region).

Event Switzerland in the Modern World: More than Cheese and Chocolate
06SE615p019a / Seminar / 5,488

Description:

Business event contents:

Switzerland today seems to have achieved many things other countries find desirable but very difficult to do: remain neutral and independent internationally (it is not a member of the EU, for example), address and resolve conflicts among domestic groups and regions that differ in significant ways, have a thriving economy and little poverty, and give its citizens sweeping forms of political self-determination. Many would like to copy its success, but to do that, the sources of Switzerland's success also need to be understood. This course provides an overview of key aspects of the country's history, politics, society, culture, and current role in the world.

Event Das Bild im Plural

06SE640-017a / Seminar / 4,964

Description:

Business event contents:

In Untersuchungen zu Fragen der Bildlichkeit figuriert "das" Bild oft als eine Größe im Singular. Das eine, künstlerisch oder ästhetisch komplexe Bild steht als Positivum gegen die (zu) vielen Bilder, die mit Techniken der schnellen Erzeugung und Multiplikation die Menschen überwältigen, überfordern oder überlisten. In dieser Entgegensetzung bleibt eine dritte Spielart ausgeklammert, die mehrere Bilder so zusammenführt, dass das Ganze mehr ist als die Summe seiner Teile. Ein einheitlicher Name fehlt für dieses Gesamt, in der Forschung sind dafür so unterschiedliche Begriffe wie Bildsumme, Bildsystem, Mehrfeldbild, Bilderraum, Bilderwand oder Hyperimage im Umlauf. Im Seminar soll an ausgewählten Beispielen methodische Ansätze der Forschung zum Bild im Plural diskutiert werden. Anhand von Werken des Mittelalters, der frühen Neuzeit und der Moderne soll der Versuch unternommen werden, eine Typologie verschiedener Gattungen von "Pluralbildern" zu erarbeiten.

Event Gruppe 06, Proseminar 1: Wissen und Macht
06SE600-007f / Seminar / 407

Description:

Business event contents:

Welches Wissen wurde und wird generiert, aufbewahrt und eingesetzt? Welche Akteur:innen und Institutionen waren an solchen Entscheidungsprozessen beteiligt und/oder auch exkludiert? In welchen historischen Kontexten zeigte sich Wissen als Machtfaktor?

Diese Fragen diskutieren wir anhand verschiedener Quellen/Beispielen aus der spätmittelalterlichen Eidgenossenschaft und der Neuzeit. Im PS1 analysieren wir u.a. wie materielle (Kanzlei/Archiv) und herrschaftliche Voraussetzungen mitformten, was wir heute über gesellschaftliche Ausgrenzung in der Vormoderne wissen. Im PS2 beschäftigen wir uns u.a. mit der Verknüpfung von Wissen und Wissenschaft und von Wissen und Kolonialismus, z.B. dem kolonialen Umgang mit nicht-europäischen Medizintraditionen.

Neben inhaltlichen Schwerpunkten vermittelt das Proseminar grundlegende geschichtswissenschaftliche Arbeitstechniken wie Recherche- und Lesemethoden, korrektes Zitieren sowie den Umgang mit wissenschaftlichen Texten und historischen Quellen.

Notes:

Im Proseminar 1 besteht der Leistungsnachweis aus einem Vortrag und einem Forschungsbericht.

Im Proseminar 2 wird für den Leistungsnachweis die Ausarbeitung eines Konzepts zur Proseminararbeit und eine Proseminararbeit gefordert.

In beiden Proseminaren wird die Teilnahme an den Exkursionen (Zentralbibliothek, Museum/Archiv), mündliche Beteiligung und kleinere schriftliche Arbeiten erwartet.

Event Kunsthandel: Mechanismen, Akteure, Theorien
06UE640p501a / Exercise Group / 3,676

Description:

Business event contents:

In der sozialen Realität der Kunst kommt dem professionellen Kunsthandel seit der frühen Neuzeit eine stetig wachsende Bedeutung zu, zugleich ist er durch technologische Neuerungen und Veränderungen der wirtschaftlichen Rahmenbedingungen dem Wandel unterworfen. So haben in jüngster Zeit digitale Innovationen wie Blockchain und NFTs nicht nur neue künstlerische Medien, sondern auch neuartige Formen des Handelns mit Kunst hervorgebracht. Trotz der zentralen Rolle des Handels im System der Kunst, finden sich einschlägige Studien eher in der Soziologie und Rechtswissenschaft als in der Kunstwissenschaft. Eine der Ausnahmen bildet das am Schweizerischen Institut für Kunstwissenschaft SIK-ISEA beheimatete Forschungsprojekt "Akteure und Akteurinnen des Kunsthandels in der Schweiz" (2022-2026), das sich der systematischen Erforschung des Schweizer Kunsthandels von den Anfängen in der frühen Neuzeit bis in die Gegenwart widmet. Die Übung hat zum Ziel, eine Einführung in die grundlegenden Formen des Kunsthandels zu geben und ein Basisverständnis für die Mechanismen des Kunstmarkts zu schaffen. Sie richtet sich ausdrücklich nicht nur an Studierende, sie sich den Kunsthandel als späteres Arbeitsfeld vorstellen können, sondern geht von der Prämisse aus, dass es für alle auf dem Feld der Kunstwissenschaft Tätigen von Vorteil ist, Einblicke in das Funktionieren des Kunstmarkts zu gewinnen.

Ein zentrales Element des Unterrichts bilden Beiträge von Fachleuten und Besuche in den Institutionen des Kunsthandels. Hierzu zählen nebst Unternehmen des Primär- und Sekundärmarktes auch Akteure, die nicht direkt zum Kunsthandel zählen, aber wichtige Voraussetzungen für diesen liefern, etwa bei der Authentifizierung von Kunstwerken oder der Abklärung von Provenienzen. Die Lektüre aktueller Literatur und der direkte Austausch mit Forschenden bilden weitere Elemente des Unterrichts.

Event Sensing New Worlds: Early Modern Travel Literature
06SE440-224b / Seminar / 2,513

Description:

Business event contents:

England's belated entry into the Age of Discovery produced travel writing steeped in anxiety and envy of its imperial rivals - emotions best understood through sensory language. Situated within the sensorial turn, this seminar explores the multifaceted nature of early modern travel literature by examining how writers translated sight, touch, taste, and smell into text. These embodied accounts were not merely descriptive; they articulated major historical shifts. By recording the visceral realities of global exploration, authors rationalised complex imperial goals and English mobility, shaping how foreign commodities, particularly spices and tobacco, were integrated into English households and medicine.

We will examine this sensory rhetoric across a range of genres, including personal letters, colonial charters, captivity narratives, shipwreck accounts, and travel plays. Discussions will centre on excerpts from Hakluyt's Principal Navigations (1589-1600), the foundational collection of early modern English travel accounts, and Robert Rich's Newes from Virginia (1610), celebrating the survival of the Sea Venture castaways in Bermuda. This shipwreck inspired Shakespeare's The Tempest (1611) - a play not ostensibly about travel, yet shaped by its sensory world of storm, strange smells, and island fruits. We will also analyse Raleigh's Discovery of Guiana, where lush landscapes and insect-tormented bodies serve the author's political self-fashioning, and Dampier's A New Voyage Round the World (1697), featuring a buccaneer-turned-scientist's descriptions of breadfruit, winds, and foreign customs. To get a woman's perspective, we will include Aphra Behn's fascinating account of Guiana in her novel Oroonoko (1688).

Following these historical travellers, we will "visit" China, where animals reportedly fled the odour of strangers; Roanoke Island, praised for its sweet-smelling soil; and the bustling horse markets of Ormus. Through these encounters with real and fantastic humans, animals, and plants, these texts open up entirely new perceptual landscapes. In this seminar, we will unpack these narratives to understand exactly how the wider globe was felt, tasted, and seen by early modern England.

Event The State, Democracy and the People: Switzerland and Modern Political Thought
06SE600p017a / Seminar / 5,495

Description:

Business event contents:

Early Modern and Enlightenment Europe was a hotbed of debates over the nature of the state, the value (and dangers) of democracy, and the problem of what it meant to be politically 'free'. Strikingly, both Swiss theorists and the example of Switzerland as a federated republic played an outsized role in how philosophers and political actors from the sixteenth through to the eighteenth centuries responded to these questions. Together, participants in this course will explore and how and why this occurred, and what impact this has had on how we talk about politics today. By working with texts by thinkers with roots in what is now modern Switzerland, including Jean-Jacques Rousseau, Emer de Vattel and Benjamin Constant, the module will introduce students to the historical development of key political concepts including the social contract, republican freedom, political representation, international law and military neutrality. We will also see how engagement with both Swiss political and social practices, and institutions such as the local publishing industry, exerted an influence on the work and reception of other European thinkers, such as Thomas More, Niccolo Machiavelli and Samuel Pufendorf. By the end of the module, students will not only have a stronger understanding of the history of political thought and its methods, but will also recognise that the history of these ideas is not, itself, 'neutral'.

Event Divergent Giants: State, Market, and Power in China and India
06VL278p500a / Course / 5,022

Description:

Business event contents:

The course is divided into two parts. The first reconstructs the historical foundations of post-imperial state-building in each country and examines their initial developmental models. While China relied on central planning and mass mobilisation until the late 1970s, democratic India pursued import-substitution industrialisation within a planning framework until the early 1990s. The course then analyses the distinct paths of economic liberalisation each country undertook and the political logics that shaped those transitions.

The second part turns to the contemporary period. It examines how each state now structures its relationship to the economy; how political accountability is constructed and contested through contrasting institutional arrangements, including electoral competition, judicial review, and media scrutiny in India, and intra-Party discipline, performance-based legitimacy, and controlled feedback mechanisms in China; and how each country positions itself within the international order. Throughout, the course foregrounds the comparative method as a means of understanding how regime type, institutional design, and historical legacies interact to produce divergent developmental outcomes.

Course Materials:

Readings for each week will be mainly in English and take the form of up to five academic articles/book chapters per week. PowerPoint presentations will be uploaded to OLAT after each seminar.

Event Immanuel Kant: Zum Ewigen Frieden
06SE160p015a / Seminar / 3,981

Description:

Business event contents:

Die erste Auflage von Immanuel Kants «Zum Ewigen Frieden» ist 1795 erschienen. In ihr entfaltet Kant die philosophischen Grundlagen für eine internationale Rechts- und Friedensordnung, u.a. für den Völkerbund. Gleichzeitig stellt er einen Ansatz für das Verständnis kultureller und ethischer Evolution bereit, und stellt sich Fragen nach der Beziehung zwischen Philosophie und Politik und, wie normative Theorie und politische Praxis vermittelt werden können. «Zum Ewigen Frieden» ist einer der wichtigsten klassischen Texte zu einer der dringlichsten, allerdings häufig vernachlässigten, Aufgaben der Politik.

Event Cruising the Global Archive: Art, Embodiment, and Erotics
06SE645-510a / Seminar / 5,072

Description:

Business event contents:

The archive has emerged as one of the most contested sites in contemporary art and critical theory. This seminar traces the emergence of artistic practices dealing with the archival as material, field of inquiry, and space of contestation since the 1990s. Working within different geographical and political contexts, artists such as Isaac Julien, Kader Attia, Satch Hoyt, Susan Hiller, Walid Raad, and Taryn Simon have approached historic collections under the sign of conditions of war, colonial repair, or gender marginalisation. The course situates the proliferation of artistic archival practices within a broader theoretical discussion surrounding the archive. Participants will be able to critically analyse archival strategies in contemporary art, situate them within concepts such as the "counter-archive," "archival turn," or "archive of feelings," and produce independent written research engaging primary sources.

The core objective is to critically reflect on the creative strategies underpinning archival art in relation to a wider discussion of what the archive can do, who it is for, and how we access it. Archives are increasingly called into question for their role in perpetuating systems of exclusion and marginalisation. Philosophers such as Michel Foucault or Jacques Derrida have described such power systems underpinning archives as "governing laws" or "domiciliation." In turn, the course asks not only how art lays bare these structures, but how it proposes potential alternatives to traditional ideas of the archive. Using the lens of contemporary art, what can we learn about the changing roles of archives today, and how do artistic reimaginings contribute to what the archive of the future might look like?

The course includes two archival visits to the Gosteli-Archiv (Worblaufen) and the archiv115 - feministische Archiv im Streikhaus (Zürich), as well as an exhibition visit. Students will get the opportunity to engage in conversation with archivists and activists building archives and managing their respective transformation processes.

Notes:

Please note the following dates for archival visits, which may require some extra travel time: 5.10; 26.10; 16.11.

Participation in the first seminar session is mandatory. Students are expected to prepare a discussion of their first draft in the second half of the seminar. The final paper is due on 31.12.2026.

Event OT Lecture: "Forgiveness in narrative and legal texts of the Hebrew Bible"

01VL14SV034 / Course / 194

Description:

Business event contents:

In der hebräischen Bibel ist Vergebung ein wichtiges Thema in Texten verschiedener literarischer Gattungen (z.B. Vätererzählungen, Gesetzestexte sowie theologische Reflexionen). Subjekt der Vergebung ist entweder der Mensch oder Gott. YHWH wird tatsächlich oft als vergebende Gottheit erwähnt. In früheren Epochen (Zeit der Monarchie) scheint jedoch die Vergebung von Übertretungen, sei es des Einzelnen oder der Gemeinschaft, nicht im Mittelpunkt der jahwistischen Religion gestanden zu haben. Eine wichtige Funktion der Gottheit bestand damals hingegen darin, Konflikte zu schlichten. Die Rechtsschlichtung zwischen Streitparteien fand in Heiligtümern statt und wurde von Priestern anhand von gesetzlichen Bestimmungen und Orakeln durchgeführt. In der Vorlesung werden verschiedene alttestamentarische Texte behandelt, die sich entweder mit der Vergebung durch Menschen befassen oder verschiedene Vorstellungen von der Schlichtung und Vergebung durch JHWH widerspiegeln.

02VL90IL3-1 / Course / 3,948

Description:

Business event contents:

The course offers a systematic introduction to the field of European Criminal Law combining European Union Law and Council of Europe Law. The course will cover substantive criminal law (e.g. money laundering, terrorism) as well as criminal procedure (most importantly mutual legal assistance and law enforcement institutions). In the first part, particular attention will be paid to the structures and constitutional foundations of European Criminal Law and its fundamental rights framework. The powers and limits of law- and policy-makers in the European realm will be subjected to critical analysis. The second part of this course continues with an overview of the main substantial and procedural issues in the field of European criminal law before turning to more in-depth explorations of selected up-to-date topics. Among others, innovations in the EU will be studied (EPPO, mutual recognition, e-evidence) and discussed in terms of their compatibility with human rights, traditional tenets of criminal procedure and basic concepts of justice. Finally, the delicate position and options of Non- EU-countries will be addressed.

01GK56LB017 / Course / 1,273

Description:

Business event contents:

Zarathustra: Prophet, Kunstfigur und Religionsgründer, Inspiration für Nietzsche und Mozart - auf ihn führt sich eine der grossen und bis heute einflussreichen religiösen Traditionen zurück.

Der Kosmische Dualismus und Kampf von Gut und Böse, eine endzeitlichen Erlöserfigur, die Motive Feuer und Licht und die ethische Verantwortung des Individuums - damit beeinflusste der Zoroastrismus religiöse Traditionen (Judentum, Christentum, Islam ...), Opern und Filme (Dune, Matrix, Star Wars ...).

Der Herrscher Kyros der Grosse, der Sänger Freddy Mercury, der Dirigent Zubin Mehta, der Industrielle Ratan Tata und die Menschenrechts- und Umweltaktivistin Zerbanoo Gifford, sie alle waren und sind Teil dieser Tradition.

Die Vorlesung bietet eine Einführung in den Zoroastrismus. Behandelt werden die historischen Ursprünge im altiranischen Raum ebenso wie die Entwicklungen bis heute auch in der weltweiten Diaspora, insbesondere auch in Indien. Zentrale Konzepte sowie religiöse Praktiken/Rituale werden vorgestellt, darunter insbesondere auch die spezielle Form der Luftbestattung. Ein weiterer Schwerpunkt liegt auf den sozialen Herausforderungen und Konflikten der letzten Jahrzehnte, mit denen sich die Gemeinschaft konfrontiert sieht.

- strategic rivalry and order transition;
- sovereignty and territorial politics;
- memory and geopolitical narratives;
- Eurasia and the post-Cold War order;

Description:

Notes:

This course is taught in a "flipped classroom" format. This means that the lectures are used exclusively for interactive learning (e.g., Kahoot quizzes, group work, solving assignments together). Students are expected to prepare the topic in advance of the lectures (individually or in self-organized learning groups). Lecture notes will be provided, containing an outline of the concepts that are relevant for each week.

Event Linguistik und Posthumanismus

06SE360-541a / Seminar / 5,605

Description:

Business event contents:

Posthumanistische Ansätze stellen zentrale Prämissen der Sprachwissenschaft infrage. Sie lösen Sprache aus der Vorstellung eines primär kognitiven, im Individuum lokalisierten Systems und begreifen sprachliches Handeln als relationales, materiell und medial eingebettetes Geschehen, das über Menschen, Körper, Artefakte, Technologien und Räume verteilt ist.

Das Seminar führt in posthumanistische Perspektiven auf Sprache und Kommunikation ein und diskutiert den Posthumanismus als theoretischen Rahmen für linguistische Fragestellungen. Im Zentrum stehen Konzepte wie distributed cognition, spatial repertoires, languaging und semiotic assemblages, die etablierte Annahmen der Linguistik herausfordern und neu perspektivieren. In einer anwendungsorientierten Vertiefungsphase erproben die Studierenden das analytische Potenzial dieser Ansätze anhand exemplarischer sprachlicher Phänomene und reflektieren deren Tragfähigkeit für die Analyse des Zusammenhangs von Sprache, Gesellschaft und Technik.

Event Digital Technologies and Public Discourse
06SE254p109a / Seminar / 636

Description:

Business event contents:

This research seminar examines how digital technologies shape political discourse and public opinion. Topics include how political information is produced and circulated online, how audiences engage with and respond to political content, and the challenges posed by emerging technologies such as AI-generated content and online disinformation. Students will independently and collaboratively formulate research questions and address them using communication theories and social science methods.

The aim of this research seminar is to develop a Bachelor's thesis that deals with digital technologies and related forms of communication across various platforms. Within the framework of a project, students independently and collaboratively formulate research questions and address them using social science theories and methods. In doing so, they apply all the competencies acquired during their studies, including methodological, communication, and organizational skills. The projects are presented both orally and in writing and form the basis for the subsequent thesis in the Bachelor's thesis module. Instruction will be in English.

Event Rom und die Germanen – Freunde oder Feinde? Zum römisch-germanischen Verhältnis
06SE600-005a / Seminar / 3,348

Description:

Business event contents:

Römer und Germanen lebten weitgehend in getrennten Welten, denn der Grossteil des von germanischen Gruppen besiedelten Mitteleuropas verbleibt ausserhalb des römischen Provinzgebiets. Dennoch prägten die gegenseitigen Kontakte beide Seiten in erheblichem Ausmass. Das Verhältnis von Römern und Germanen wird dabei oft als nahezu ununterbrochener und meist militärisch ausgetragener Konflikt verstanden. Dazu haben besonders grosse und berühmt gewordene Kämpfe wesentlich beigetragen, wie etwa der Zug der Kimbern und Teutonen Ende des 2. Jahrhunderts v. Chr., die Varusschlacht im Jahre 9 n. Chr., die Markomannenkriege Mark Aurels in der zweiten Hälfte des 3. Jahrhunderts oder Roms vernichtende Niederlage in der Schlacht von Adrianopel im Jahre 378 n. Chr. Die römisch-germanischen Beziehungen waren jedoch weit vielfältiger und keineswegs allein durch kriegerische Auseinandersetzungen geprägt. Denn Roms Kriege gegen Germanen oder die Grenzschutzanlagen an Rhein und Donau lassen nur auf eine Seite des Verhältnisses von Römern und Germanen schliessen.

So gehörten dazu ebenso diplomatischer, wirtschaftlicher und kultureller Austausch. Denn dem bewaffneten Konflikt stand die nicht minder bedeutende militärische Zusammenarbeit gegenüber. So dienten Germanen nicht nur in römischen Heeren, sondern sie spielten auch in kaiserlichen Garden eine herausragende Rolle und prägten in erheblichem Ausmass das römische Heerwesen der Kaiserzeit und der Spätantike.

Das Seminar wird sich sowohl mit der Herkunft, Lebensweise und Sozialstruktur der Germanen beschäftigen, als auch mit dem vielfältigen und dynamischen Austausch mit der von Rom beherrschten Welt, sowie mit den wechselseitigen Einflüssen in der Zeit von der Römischen Republik bis zur Spätantike.

Im Rahmen dieses Seminars dient die Plattform <https://www.dodis.ch> (Diplomatische Dokumente der Schweiz) als Ausgangspunkt für Überlegungen zu den Aussenbeziehungen der Schweiz im «kurzen 20. Jahrhundert» (1914-1991). Um die auf dieser digitalen Plattform zur Verfügung gestellten Ressourcen zu nutzen, werden wir uns insbesondere mit dem Thema der Beziehungen der Schweiz zu den Vereinigten Staaten befassen. Wie wurde das Entstehen und die Expansion dieser Weltmacht von der Schweiz wahrgenommen? Was waren die Reibungspunkte oder umgekehrt die Schwerpunkte der Zusammenarbeit zwischen diesen beiden Ländern, sei es auf wirtschaftlicher, finanzieller, strategischer oder kultureller Ebene? Wie hat die Schweiz ihre bekundete Neutralität mit einer Angleichung an die imperialen Perspektiven der Vereinigten Staaten in Einklang gebracht?

Event Gruppe 03, Proseminar 1: Sexualität(en) und Begehren: Konzepte und Kontexte im Wandel
06SE600-007c / Seminar / 403

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie wurden Sexualität(en) und Begehren in unterschiedlichen historischen Kontexten gedacht, benannt und reguliert? Welche Begriffe standen zur Verfügung, um intime Praktiken, Identitäten oder Abweichungen zu beschreiben und was sagen diese Begriffe und Konzepte über die jeweiligen gesellschaftlichen Ordnungen aus? Zugleich stellt sich die Frage, wie Historiker:innen solche Vorstellungen rekonstruieren können, wenn sie häufig implizit bleiben und an zeitgenössisches Wissen gebunden sind.

Im Zentrum des Basismoduls stehen unterschiedliche historische Vorstellungen von Sexualität(en) und Begehren sowie die methodischen Herausforderungen, diese in der Retrospektive zu erfassen.

Im PS 1 beschäftigen wir uns mit den Konzepten der Antike. Welche Kategorien wurden hier verwendet und in welchen Kontexten wurde Sexualität wie verstanden? Die Andersartigkeit antiker Vorstellungen bietet die Möglichkeit unsere heutigen Vorstellungen zu hinterfragen und gibt einen Einblick in die Historizität von Konzepten. Die Studierenden analysieren Forschungsliteratur und untersuchen die Herangehens- und die Arbeitsweise von Historiker:innen.

Das PS 2 widmet sich der Begriffsgeschichte im 19. und 20. Jh. Anhand ausgewählter Begriffe werden deren Entstehung, Wandel und Verwendung in unterschiedlichen historischen Kontexten untersucht. Dabei stehen Fragen nach Normierung, Abweichung, Pathologisierung und Selbstbeschreibung im Vordergrund. Die Studierenden arbeiten mit Quellenmaterial, u. a. mit medizinischen, juristischen und literarischen Texten.

Im Basismodul erwerben die Studierenden grundlegende Kompetenzen der geschichtswissenschaftlichen Praxis. Dazu gehören Techniken der Literaturrecherche, die kritische Lektüre von Forschungsliteratur sowie die Analyse und Interpretation unterschiedlicher Quellentypen. Ziel ist es, ein Verständnis dafür zu entwickeln, wie historisches Wissen über Sexualität(en) und Begehren entsteht und welche Grenzen und Möglichkeiten dieser Erkenntnis bestehen.

Notes:

Erwartet wird die aktive Teilnahme an den Sitzungen, die fristgerechte Einreichung der Leistungsnachweise und weiterer kleiner schriftlichen Aufgaben.

Als Leistungsnachweis wird im Proseminar 1 eine Präsentation sowie ein schriftlicher Forschungsbericht verlangt. Im Proseminar 2 wird ein schriftliches Konzept sowie eine Proseminararbeit verlangt.

Das Modul gilt als bestanden, wenn die Leistungsnachweise beider Proseminare als bestanden bewertet wurden.

Event Gruppe 13, Proseminar 1: Perlen, Zucker, Porzellan: Materielle Kultur von Antike bis Neuzeit
06SE600-007m / Seminar / 421

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie verändert sich materielle Kultur im Laufe der Geschichte? Welche historischen Ereignisse und Entwicklungen beeinflussen Handelswirtschaft und Konsumverhalten nachhaltig? Was ist und wann beginnt Kolonialismus? Mit dieser Fragestellung werden wir uns der Expansionspolitik der griechischen Stadtstaaten und des Römischen Imperiums (PS 2), sowie der europäischen Kolonialmächte (PS 1) annähern. An Fallbeispielen aus unterschiedlichen Geschichtsepochen erforschen wir die Auswirkungen des Kolonialismus auf maritimen Handel und materielle Kultur. Zudem beleuchten wir, welche Einzelakteure und Akteursgruppen in das koloniale Handelssystem involviert waren und stellen breit etablierte Geschichtsnarrative in Frage. Im Proseminar 1, das der frühneuzeitlichen Epoche gewidmet ist, folgen wir den transatlantischen Handelsrouten für Warenimport und erkunden, wie dieser die lokale Güterproduktion prägte. Den Einfluss auf das Konsumverhalten untersuchen wir etwa an neuen Luxusgütern, die zum zeitgenössischen Statussymbol wurden.

Das Thema Wirtschaft in der Antike geht mit der Entwicklung der griechischen und römischen Gesellschaften einher. Nach einer Übersicht wichtiger wirtschaftlicher Akteure antiker Gesellschaften (Bürger, Frauen, Soldaten und Sklaven) konzentriert sich das Proseminar 2 auf die Grundlagen der antiken Wirtschaft, die Verwaltung öffentlicher Unternehmen in Griechenland und Rom und die Rolle von Grossereignissen bei der Veränderung antiker Wirtschaftssysteme. Wir werden uns mit antiken Definitionen der Wirtschaftswissenschaften, der Funktionsweise des griechischen und römischen Handels, der materiellen Kultur wie Münzprägung, der Verwaltung grosser Bauwerke sowie den finanziellen und sozialen Auswirkungen bedeutender Ereignisse wie der griechischen Kolonisierung, der römischen Provinzialisierung und den Folgen von Epidemien befassen.

Zudem bietet das PS 1 eine Einführung in das Studium von Forschungsliteratur und das PS 2 in die Analyse historischer Quellen.

Notes:

Proseminar 1: Referat (15. Min.) und Forschungsbericht (Deutsch oder Englisch, 3-5 Seiten).

Proseminar 2: Konzept der Proseminararbeit (ca. 2 Seiten; Projektbeschreibung als Fliesstext, Forschungsfrage, vorläufiges Inhaltsverzeichnis, Quellen- und Literaturverzeichnis, Zeitplan für den Arbeitsprozess).

Proseminararbeit (8-10 Seiten, 20.000-25.000 Zeichen, einschliesslich Text, Fussnoten und Leerzeichen, ohne Literaturverzeichnis).

Proseminar 1 und 2: Aktive Teilnahme an den Diskussionen im Kurs und Abgabe kürzerer schriftlicher Arbeiten. Die Unterrichtssprachen sind Deutsch (PS 1) und Englisch (PS 2).

Event Economic and monetary integration: debates and case studies
06SE600-017a / Seminar / 696

Description:

Business event contents:

In this course, we will explore some of the key motivations and challenges underlying processes of economic and monetary integration. In particular, we will examine market integration and expansion as responses to external threats or international competition, the relationship between economic integration and political control, and the formation of empires, nation-states, and supranational unions. The seminar begins with an overview of scholarly research in economic and monetary history, providing essential background knowledge and highlighting the recurring themes and challenges that have shaped integration projects across different historical and geographical contexts.

In the second part of the seminar, students will engage with primary sources and present their research proposals for their Seminararbeit. This second part is designed as a discussion forum that also encourages peer-to-peer feedback and helps students become familiar with the conventions of academic debate among peers (preparing research proposals, giving oral presentations, and providing peer reviews of the work presented).

Event Transnational Histories of China
06SE600-021a / Seminar / 2,914

Description:

Business event contents:

Following the method of transnational history, this seminar intertwines the defining moments of China's nation-state formation process and its relations with the outside world with the histories of individuals who experienced and influenced these critical junctures. This seminar is designed for students without prior knowledge of China's history. The reading discussion familiarizes students with key themes, enabling them to grasp the interaction between China and the world in different historical contexts, while in-class activities allow students to delve into the lives and decisions of historical stakeholders within specific historical moments.

Event Gruppe 06, Proseminar 2: Wissen und Macht
06SE600-007s / Seminar / 408

Description:

Business event contents:

Welches Wissen wurde und wird generiert, aufbewahrt und eingesetzt? Welche Akteur:innen und Institutionen waren an solchen Entscheidungsprozessen beteiligt und/oder auch exkludiert? In welchen historischen Kontexten zeigte sich Wissen als Machtfaktor?

Diese Fragen diskutieren wir anhand verschiedener Quellen/Beispielen aus der spätmittelalterlichen Eidgenossenschaft und der Neuzeit. Im PS1 analysieren wir u.a. wie materielle (Kanzlei/Archiv) und herrschaftliche Voraussetzungen mitformten, was wir heute über gesellschaftliche Ausgrenzung in der Vormoderne wissen. Im PS2 beschäftigen wir uns u.a. mit der Verknüpfung von Wissen und Wissenschaft und von Wissen und Kolonialismus, z.B. dem kolonialen Umgang mit nicht-europäischen Medizintraditionen.

Neben inhaltlichen Schwerpunkten vermittelt das Proseminar grundlegende geschichtswissenschaftliche Arbeitstechniken wie Recherche- und Lesemethoden, korrektes Zitieren sowie den Umgang mit wissenschaftlichen Texten und historischen Quellen.

Notes:

Im Proseminar 1 besteht der Leistungsnachweis aus einem Vortrag und einem Forschungsbericht.

Im Proseminar 2 wird für den Leistungsnachweis die Ausarbeitung eines Konzepts zur Proseminararbeit und eine Proseminararbeit gefordert.

In beiden Proseminaren wird die Teilnahme an den Exkursionen (Zentralbibliothek, Museum/Archiv), mündliche Beteiligung und kleinere schriftliche Arbeiten erwartet.

Event Gruppe 11, Proseminar 2: The Making of Us and Them: Inclusion and Exclusion in Ancient and Early Modern Societies
06SE600-007x / Seminar / 418

Description:

Business event contents:

Pre-modern communities were built around a set of social and legal categories from which many were systematically excluded. At the same time, both ancient and early modern sources demonstrate an enduring fascination with the figure of the 'outsider', whose existence was used to define a social community and to police the criteria of inclusion as well as boundaries of acceptable behaviour. How did political, legal, social, and religious criteria facilitate and limit participation? To what extent was social mobility possible? How did communities account for the foreign, the sick, the poor, the heretical, the criminal and the enslaved, and to what extent were those who were understood in this way accommodated within pre-existing political, legal, and social structures? What did it mean to live on the margins of society in ancient and early modern times? In this course, we will not only look at the means and marks of exclusion and stigmatisation (distinctive signs, segregation, insults, expulsion) but also at the implicit and explicit reasoning behind such dynamics, as well as, wherever possible, sources from such 'outsiders' themselves.

Within the framework of these questions, the basic module familiarizes students with the fundamental tools and methods of historical work. It will equip students to approach and critically assess historical scholarship, to use a range of research techniques and forms of citation, and to analyze historical sources, including examples from historiography, philosophy, literature, law, epigraphy and archaeology.

Notes:

Proseminar 1 (taught by Schneider in German): Presentation, research report (3-5 pages), minor written assignments and active oral participation.

Proseminar 2 (taught by Gutnick Allen in English): Proseminar paper (8-10 pages) together with an outline submitted in advance, minor written assignments and active oral participation. Papers, assignments and presentations may be submitted / delivered in English or German.

Event Language attitudes
06SE440p513a / Seminar / 4,065

Description:

Business event contents:

This course explores language attitudes toward English and its varieties, examining how beliefs, ideologies, and evaluations of language shape social interaction, identity, and power relations. Students will engage with key theoretical frameworks from sociolinguistics, social psychology, and linguistic anthropology, including concepts such as standard language ideology, prestige, stigma, accent bias, and linguistic discrimination. The course combines classic and contemporary research on attitudes toward native and non-native varieties of English, global Englishes, and multilingual contexts.

Methodological approaches to studying language attitudes - such as matched-guise experiments, surveys, interviews, and discourse analysis - are critically evaluated. Through readings, discussions, and empirical analysis, students will develop a nuanced understanding of how language attitudes are formed, reproduced, and challenged, and how they intersect with issues of race, class, gender, education, and policy. The course equips students with both theoretical insight and analytical tools for advanced research in English linguistics and sociolinguistics.

Event (Keinen) Spass haben – Erkundungen und Aktualisierungen eines alltagskulturellen Konzepts
06SE506-049a / Seminar / 174

Description:

Business event contents:

Spass haben macht Spass, keine Frage. Doch wann wir wo Spass haben wollen, dürfen, sollen oder sogar müssen, und wo auf keinen Fall, ist Gegenstand gesellschaftlicher Aushandlungsprozesse, die sich in Verboten und Imperativen, Zuschreibungen und Distinktionen manifestieren. Spass ist nur im Spannungsfeld von individueller Verwirklichung, sozialen Dynamiken und Ausdrucksweisen sowie gesellschaftlichen Machtverhältnisse zu verstehen.

Gemeinsam erforschen und erproben wir Dimensionen und Grenzen des Begriffs, Abgrenzungen zu verwandten Kategorien (Freude, Flow, Glück, Resonanz, Unterhaltung, Zeitvertreib etc.). Dabei spielen eigene empirische Erkundungen eine grosse Rolle. Wir bilden Forschungsteams, die sich bestimmten Gruppen und Räumen, Diskursen und Dispositiven sowie medialen Formaten widmen.

Im Lauf des Semesters entsteht online ein gemeinsames Spass-Archiv, das zum Semesterstart des FS 27 der (Instituts)-Öffentlichkeit vorgestellt wird.

Notes:

Für die Forschung ist zusätzlich zu den Plenumsitzungen von einem Zeitaufwand von ca. einem Tag pro Woche auszugehen.

Event Inorganic Chemistry I: Main Group Chemistry - Exploring Elemental Diversity
07VUCHE201.1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 273

Description:

Business event contents:

This lecture familiarises you with the fundamental aspects of inorganic chemistry, with a focus on the main group elements.

It deals specifically with:

- Origin of the elements
- Molecular symmetry and group theory
- MO theory of complex molecules
- Chemistry of the main group elements: Hydrogen, s-block elements, p-block elements, cluster chemistry.

The aim is to apply the basic principles learnt in the first year of study, to delve deeper into the chemistry of the elements and to understand their structure and reactivity, and to predict chemical reactivities and properties based on trends in the periodic table.

Notes:

Exercises take place in 3 groups approx. every second week during the lecture period (exact dates will be provided at the beginning of the semester).

Active participation in the exercises is expected!

Event Jewish Studies Seminar: Jewish Identities in Pop Culture: Motifs, Media, Methods
01SE14SS058 / Seminar / 1,535

Description:

Business event contents:

Seit den 2000er-Jahren wird die Popkultur durch die Digitalisierung und die kulturelle Diversifizierung stark geprägt. Diese Tendenzen haben auch die Repräsentation jüdischer Identitäten beeinflusst. In israelischen, amerikanischen oder europäischen TV-Serien werden das Judentum und Jüdischsein sehr unterschiedlich, aber oft so umfassend gezeigt, wie es noch im 20. Jahrhundert unvorstellbar gewesen wäre. Aber auch auf Social Media, in der Popmusik, im Comic oder in der Bildenden Kunst haben sich Formate etabliert, die alle Facetten des Judentums verhandeln. In diesem Seminar beschäftigen wir uns mit ausgewählten Motiven wie der Familie, Liebe und Sexualität, der Erinnerung an die jüdische Geschichte, der Tradition, Antisemitismus oder dem Verhältnis von Israel und Diaspora – und wie sich diese Motive in unterschiedlichen Produktionen zeigen. Darüber hinaus werden wir exemplarische Forschungsbeiträge diskutieren, um methodische Zugänge zur Repräsentation des Jüdischen in der Popkultur kennenzulernen. Ein Teil des Seminars wird auch den popkulturellen Reaktionen auf das Trauma und den Folgen des 7. Oktober 2023 gewidmet sein.

Notes:

Während der Reading Week vom 12.-16.10.2026 finden keine Lehrveranstaltungen an der TRF statt.

Course Materials: Werden auf Olat zur Verfügung gestellt.

Event OT Practical Course: Hebrew Reading: Biblical Creation Stories
01UE14SU047 / Exercise Group / 192

Description:

Business event contents:

This course (taught in English) will engage in close readings of the Hebrew texts of various creation stories and imagery, including the famous Genesis accounts, but also passages from Job, Psalms, and Proverbs. The class will cover on average 15-20 verses per week, and students will be expected to prepare their translations beforehand and be able to work through and explain their grammatical interpretation. Some experience with biblical Hebrew is therefore required, though intermediate students should be fine. The goal of the course is to improve facility with the Hebrew language while also engaging the literary and theological issues presented in the materials each week as we make our way through the text.

Notes:

Previous experience with biblical Hebrew required.

During Reading Week from October 12-16, 2026, there will be no classes at TRF.

Course Materials: In addition to the biblical Hebrew text, some short additional reading materials may be assigned or recommended in either English or German, though classes themselves will only be in English.

Event Probleme der Wirtschaftsgeschichte
06VU599-503a / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 3,347

Description:

Business event contents:

Diese Vorlesung gibt Einblicke in die laufende Forschung und die Forschungsschwerpunkte der Dozierenden des Masterstudienprogramms Wirtschaftsgeschichte/Economic History.

Die Vorlesung vermittelt zum einen die Schlüsselemente zum Verständnis der langfristigen Entwicklungen der ökonomischen und sozialen Bedingungen von der Antike über das Mittelalter bis heute. Zum anderen gibt die Vorlesungen einen Überblick über zentralen Theorien, Fragestellungen, Forschungsfelder sowie Methoden der Wirtschaftsgeschichte.

Das Spektrum der behandelten Themenbereiche reicht von der Geschichte des ökonomischen Denkens über die Klonometrie bis hin zur kritischen Auseinandersetzung mit wichtigen Forschungen zur Politischen Ökonomie. Ein besonderer Schwerpunkt liegt auf dem interdisziplinären Dialog zwischen Geschichtswissenschaft und Ökonomie, die wirtschaftliche Dynamiken, unternehmerische Entscheidungen und wirtschaftspolitische Weichenstellungen mit unterschiedlichen Modellen und Terminologien erklärt. Die Vorlesung ist entsprechend epochenübergreifend (von der Antike zur Gegenwart), interdisziplinär und interfakultär angelegt und vermittelt sowohl quantitative als auch qualitative Ansätze in der Wirtschaftsgeschichte.

Event Scandinavian influence on Old and Middle English
06SE440-123c / Seminar / 2,633

Description:

Business event contents:

This course explores the linguistic and cultural impact that Norse-speaking settlers had on the development of the English language. Beginning with the Viking raids and subsequent settlements in the Danelaw region in the late 9th and 10th centuries, students will explore how the language contact between Old Norse and Old English speakers in England reshaped the English language on multiple levels: lexical, grammatical, phonological, and syntactic.

The course also analyses how these contact-induced changes are particularly evident in the Middle English period, with a special focus on north-east England, where Scandinavian settlement was most extensive and linguistic interaction most intense. Students will therefore critically analyse a variety of texts from the north-eastern regions formerly under the Danelaw, such as Yorkshire, Lincolnshire, and East Anglia.

By the end of the course, students will have gained a basic understanding of how Scandinavian influence helped shape the development of the English language. Students should be able to identify the main ways in which Scandinavian influenced Old and Middle English, and explain how these changes relate to the history of the Danelaw and Viking settlement in England. In addition, they will practise reading and discussing selected texts to identify examples of linguistic contact and regional variation.

Event On Humor: From Classic Comedy to Camp
06SE440-225b / Seminar / 2,081

Description:

Business event contents:

"It is a curious fact that people are never so trivial as when they take themselves seriously" - Oscar Wilde

In trying to define the term 'comedy' Andrew Scott contends that "what we call comedy is really humour, a specific tone operating free from generic restraints, which, while not the exclusive property of comedy is closely associated with it". This means that the notion of the humorous is not only a guiding principle of different facets of the comedic but further, and more importantly, that humor seems to contain an element of liberation which also marks the cornerstone of its powerful potential in culture. Casting away any trivial seriousness, as Oscar Wilde urges us to, this class will look at theoretical and philosophical texts such as Mary Beard's Laughter in Ancient Rome as well as Noël Carroll's "Horror and Humor" and Susan Sontag's Notes on Camp alongside comedically inclined primary sources such as William Shakespeare's The Taming of the Shrew and David Sedaris' When You Are Engulfed in Flames. In doing so we will trace and explore the ways in which humor has been mediated in and has itself shaped literature and media. From classic comedy to wit, parody and camp, we will look at the myriad of ways in which categories of the humorous have been used as an effective tool to negotiate the philosophical, political and social in our shared cultural imaginary.

Event Memory, Identity and Belonging in Contemporary Postcolonial Poetry
06KO440p503a / Colloquium / 1,915

Description:

Business event contents:

This course explores the dynamic intersections of postcolonial experiences through the powerful voices of several contemporary groundbreaking poets: Warsan Shire (Somalia/UK), Natalie Diaz (Mojave/USA), Koleka Putuma (South Africa), Alok Vaid Menon (India/USA), Ocean Vuong (Vietnam/USA), and Arielle Twist (Nehiyawe (Cree)/Canada).

These poets navigate the legacies of empire, migration, and cultural erasure, challenging dominant narratives and reclaiming marginalized perspectives. Students will examine how they use language and form to articulate experiences of diaspora, indigenous sovereignty, gender fluidity, and the ongoing impacts of settler colonialism.

The colloquium invites students to reflect on the power of poetry as a site of healing, activism, and cultural affirmation in a world still marked by colonial legacies.

Course Materials: All poems will be made available online.

Event Proper. Sauberheitskonzepte seit 1800

06SE600-506a / Seminar / 2,277

Description:

Business event contents:

Von sauberen Händen über saubere Texte bis zum sauberen Gewissen - «sauber» besitzt ein breites Spektrum von Bedeutungen, das unter anderem hygienische, ästhetische und moralische Dimensionen umfasst.

Im Seminar setzen wir uns mit Sauberheitskonzepten des 19. und 20. Jahrhunderts auseinander. Wir untersuchen, was in unterschiedlichen Kontexten als «sauber» galt, welche Formen von Wissen zirkulierten und welche Rolle Dinge und Infrastrukturen dabei spielten. Zu diesem Zweck lernen wir Ansätze der Wissens- und Wissenschaftsgeschichte kennen, die uns dabei unterstützen, die Konzepte vertieft zu analysieren.

Im Zentrum stehen konkrete Räume und Medien, in denen verschiedene Akteursgruppen Vorstellungen von Sauberkeit vertraten, aushandelten oder durchzusetzen versuchten. Wir betrachten beispielsweise Hygienevorschriften in Spitälern, Praktiken der Körpererziehung und Werbung für Reinigungsmittel und fragen, inwiefern Sauberkeit als Grenzen produzierendes und verschiebendes Konzept auch soziale Hierarchien und Einschluss- bzw. Ausschlussmechanismen strukturierte.

Event Schweizer Realismus
06KO360-113b / Colloquium / 2,669

Description:

Business event contents:

Gottfried Keller und Conrad Ferdinand Meyer zählen zu den bekanntesten Vertretern des Realismus - doch wie spezifisch "schweizerisch" ist ihr Blick auf die Welt? Dieses Seminar untersucht die erzählerische Konstruktion von 'Realität' in der Schweizer Literatur des 19. Jahrhunderts. Ausgehend von programmatischen und literaturwissenschaftlichen Realismus-Theorien (u. a. zum effet de réel) analysieren wir, mit welchen ästhetischen Verfahren Autor*innen wie Jeremias Gotthelf, Gottfried Keller, C.F. Meyer und Johanna Spyri auf die Umbrüche ihrer Zeit reagierten. Mit ihnen spannt sich ein Horizont eines literarischen Bezugs auf die 'Realität' der Schweiz zwischen Stadt, Land und Gebirge, zwischen Bürgertum und Dorfbevölkerung auf, der auch von der Pluralisierung der Schweizer Gesellschaft im 19. Jahrhundert zeugt. Ein besonderes Augenmerk gilt dabei der Interdependenz von Raum und Identität: Wie werden Erziehungskonzepte, Sozialisierung und Gender-Konzepte literarisch verhandelt?

Notes:

Grundlegende Kenntnisse in der Erzähltextanalyse werden vorausgesetzt. Zur vorbereitenden Lektüre in dieser Hinsicht ist empfohlen: Matías Martínez, Michael Scheffel: Einführung in die Erzähltheorie. 12. Aufl. München 2025.

Course Materials: Die Unterrichtsmaterialien werden auf OLAT bereitgestellt.

The 6 experiments that must be completed in this course are often directly connected to current research methods at the institute. A measuring time of 1-2 afternoons per experiment, an extensive data evaluation and a laboratory report is required for each experiment. One experiment has to be presented as a poster at the end of the course. Next to modern techniques, we practice non-linear regression, global fitting and DFT calculations. Current experiments are:

- vibronic spectroscopy
- hydrophobic surfaces and contact angle measurement
- IR-circular dichroism and quantum chemical simulations
- RNA/DNA structure and folding
- Spectro-Electrochemistry
- nanosecond and femtosecond laser spectroscopy
- singlemolecule spectroscopy

Notes:

The course is compatible with one of the other two advanced practical courses in the fall semester. Accordingly, students can choose to do the experiments either in the first or the second half of the term.

Course Materials: Laboratory manuals and instructions for data analysis.

1. Molecular orbitals;
2. Acid-base chemistry and writing reasonable reaction mechanism;
3. Radicals and carbenes;
4. Photochemistry and energy transfer;
5. Electron transfer and photoredox catalysis;
6. Introduction to pericyclic reactions;
7. Cycloadditions and electrocyclizations;
8. Sigmatropic rearrangements;
9. Group transfer and cheletropic reactions;
10. Reactivity and kinetics;
11. Transition-state theory and postulates of kinetic analysis;
12. Elucidation of reaction mechanisms through kinetics.

Notes:

All participants are strongly encouraged to attend the sessions in person (no recording of the lecture is available). Lectures and exercises are mixed within sessions. A detailed explanation of the organization of the course and evaluation methodology will be presented in the first session of the semester

06SE615-501b / Seminar / 3,191

Description:

Business event contents:

This course introduces students to historical and contemporary issues around the political economy of Africa's development. It engages with the academic discourse around Africa's past and current socio-politico-economic institutions and their implications for the transformation of the continent. At the end of the course, students will increase their understanding of the political history of nation-building (e.g. role of ancient empires, slave trade and colonialism) and its relationship with the development trajectory of the continent;

The evolution of political institutions and their impact on socio-economic transformation in Africa; The role of natural resources, international trade and aid on Africa's development; The state of Africa in relation to key contemporary issues: population dynamics, international co-operation (bi-lateral and multilateral), and climate change.

Event Sprachvertiefung Tschechisch Lektüre: Autofiktion in der zeitgenössischen tschechischen Literatur
06SK480p004a / Sprachkurs / 3,579

Description:

Business event contents:

In der zeitgenössischen tschechischen Literatur hat sich die Autofiktion von einem peripheren experimentellen Schreibmodus zu einem dominanten Paradigma entwickelt, das der Exploration performativer Subjektivitätsentwürfe sowie den Aporien des Erinnerns dient. Mittels differenzierter methodischer Ansätze - die von Jan Némec' meta-autobiographischen Reflexionen über die 'Patchwork'-Integration nicht-literarischer Medien bis hin zu den grotesken Hyperstilisierungen bei Petra Hůlová und Petr Stančík reichen - verhandelt die Autorenschaft zunehmend das Spannungsverhältnis zwischen der rohen Faktizität gelebter Erfahrung und jener nuancierten 'Authentizität', die erst durch fiktionale Vermittlung generiert wird.

Notes:

Findet gleichzeitig und im gleichen Raum mit Tschechisch Mittelstufe 1 statt (PLG 1-111).

Event Histoire linguistique du francoprovençal
06SE390-005a / Seminar / 1,343

Description:

Business event contents:

Le francoprovençal est la (seule) langue romane héréditaire de la Suisse romande. Ce n'est que tardivement, au 14^e siècle, que le français a fait son apparition en Suisse et ce n'est qu'au 20^e siècle qu'il a évincé le francoprovençal originel qui reste longtemps présent dans les pratiques orales. Encore aujourd'hui il existe un certain nombre de locuteurs de cette langue qui dépasse les frontières de la Suisse vers la France et l'Italie. Le séminaire présentera l'histoire du francoprovençal (diffusion, locuteurs, contextes d'utilisation, tentatives de mise à l'écrit) et introduira à sa connaissance par des lectures de textes dialectaux modernes et par l'analyse linguistique de textes médiévaux, à l'aide de l'informatique. Il présentera les outils de travail essentiels (dictionnaires, atlas linguistiques, études grammaticales, bases de données) et la méthodologie de la recherche pour l'étude du francoprovençal.

Notes:

Des connaissances d'ancien français sont essentielles pour ce séminaire. Par ailleurs, il est important d'avoir une idée de l'histoire linguistique du français (comme elle est enseignée dans le séminaire diachronique correspondant).

Event Fondamenti di linguistica diacronica e dialettologia
06SE410-004a / Seminar / 967

Description:

Business event contents:

L'unità didattica si propone di introdurre i/le discenti alla linguistica storica italiana, tramite la presentazione delle nozioni di base di linguistica diacronica, di storia della lingua e di geografia linguistica. Tale presentazione avviene a partire dai livelli di analisi fonetico e morfologico, per poi toccare anche degli altri (in particolare lessico e sintassi). Si introducono così i principali mutamenti intervenuti a trasformare il latino parlato nell'italiano e nelle sue varietà dialettali, trattando dei fenomeni rilevanti in prospettiva paradigmatica ed esemplificandoli con testi di diverse epoche, col supporto di materiali distribuiti a lezione (fogli di accompagnamento ed esercizi).

Parallelamente alla frequenza del corso gli studenti potranno seguire un tutorato per ridiscutere i temi trattati. La comprensione dell'origine dell'italiano e delle sue varietà costituisce il presupposto per il prosieguo degli studi di italiano (in particolare nei seminari di linguistica).

Event L'ordine dei costituenti in italo-romanzo
06SE410p501a / Seminar / 1,721

Description:

Business event contents:

L'ordine dei costituenti della frase nucleare (cioè la frase indipendente dichiarativa assertiva) è uno dei parametri fondamentali per la classificazione delle lingue in tipologia linguistica. Nel seminario studieremo i tipi di ordine dei costituenti maggiori: soggetto (S), oggetto diretto (O) e verbo (V); esamineremo la distribuzione di questi tipi nelle lingue del mondo e le correlazioni esistenti con l'ordine dei costituenti in altre strutture sintattiche, per es. la posizione dei verbi ausiliari rispetto al verbo lessicale. Ci concentreremo poi sull'italiano e sulle varietà italo-romanze incluso l'italiano. Quest'ultimo rappresenta il tipo VO ma non è privo di strutture devianti, quali le costruzioni sistematicamente con testa a destra o le costruzioni marcate sintatticamente e/o pragmaticamente (dislocazioni, frase scissa, ecc.).

Course Materials: La lista delle letture obbligatorie verrà comunicata alla prima lezione e pubblicata sulla piattaforma OLAT.

Event Introduction à l'onomastique historique
06VU390p003a / Course / 1,467

Description:

Business event contents:

L'étymologie est une des branches les plus anciennes des sciences du langage. La réflexion sur les liens de parenté et de descendance entre les langues a joué un rôle déterminant dans la genèse de la linguistique moderne. Elle a plus récemment connu un élargissement par les études de toponymie et d'anthroponymie. Le séminaire montrera que l'onomastique (l'étude des noms de lieux et des noms de personnes) relève pleinement de cette méthodologie et donc de la linguistique diachronique. Le séminaire insistera sur les apports des matériaux onomastiques à la linguistique (en phonétique et en lexicologie notamment) et à la sociolinguistique historiques. Il prévoit une présentation des différentes strates de formation des noms de personnes et de noms de lieux en France. Enfin des études de cas permettront aux étudiants de se familiariser avec la pratique de l'étymologie onomastique.

Course Materials: Les matériaux seront mis à disposition sur OLAT.

Description:

Business event contents:

Le cours présentera l'histoire de la langue occitane depuis ses origines jusqu'à ce qu'elle soit évincée à l'écrit par le français pour des raisons de politique linguistique (édit de Villers-Cotterêt promulgué par François 1er en 1539). Le cours aborde ensuite les principales caractéristiques internes des scriptae régionales de l'ancien occitan (phonétique historique, morphologie, syntaxe et lexique). À cette vue synchronique s'ajoute ponctuellement une dimension diachronique afin de mieux cerner les spécificités de l'occitan au sein de la Romania. Pour illustrer l'importance de sa littérature d'exception à diffusion européenne, plusieurs auteurs et genres textuels médiévaux seront présentés en cours.

Event Literarische Mehrsprachigkeit
06UE504p003a / Exercise Group / 1,694

Description:

Business event contents:

In der Übung werden wir das noch junge Feld der Erforschung literarischer Phänomene der Mehrsprachigkeit erschließen. Bezogen auf literarische Einzelwerke meint der Ausdruck 'literarische Mehrsprachigkeit' meist stilistisch bewusst eingesetzte und poetologisch autoreflexive Formen manifester oder verborgener Verwendungen von mehr als einer Sprache in einem Text. Anhand von einschlägigen Beispielen aus der Gegenwartsliteratur, in der Verfahren literarischer Mehrsprachigkeit zunehmend als avancierte sprachkünstlerische Experimentierformen entdeckt werden, aber zugleich in klarem Bezug auf globale gesellschafts- und kulturpolitische Themen stehen (Migration, Transkulturationsprozesse, das Aufbrechen dominanter monolingualer Sprachordnungen), werden wir unterschiedliche Ansätze der Forschung kritisch bewerten. Eingübt wird damit die eigene Positionierung in einem Forschungsfeld: Wie setze ich mich von manchen Zugängen der Forschung kritisch ab und entwickle zugleich durch Kombination und Modifikation anderer Zugänge meinen eigenen Forschungsansatz? Wie kann ich mehrsprachige Gedichte zum Beispiel gleichzeitig mit Blick auf eine mögliche spezifisch plurilinguale Sprachbiografie der Autor:in und mit Blick auf Mehrsprachigkeit als bewusstes sprachkünstlerisches Formverfahren lesen? Und wie verbinde ich kulturwissenschaftliche Perspektiven mit philologischen?

Event Fachdidaktik Deutsch I (Hofer)
06SE090De1a / Seminar / 893

Description:

Business event contents:

Im ersten Semester des Fachdidaktik-Kurses stehen die Planung, Durchführung und Reflexion von (Übungs-)Lektionen im Zentrum der Arbeit. Dabei befassen wir uns mit Inhalten, Methoden und Lernzielen der verschiedenen Bereiche des Deutschunterrichts; und es beschäftigt uns die vordringliche Frage, wie sich das Fachwissen, das im Germanistikstudium erworben wird, in fachdidaktisches Wissen und Können transformieren lässt. In einem ersten Schritt besuchen Sie einige Deutschlektionen in meinen Klassen an der Kantonsschule Enge, wobei Lernziele, Inhalte und Methoden dieser Lektionen und ihre Verortung im Lehrplan im Seminar vor- und nachbesprochen werden. In einem zweiten Schritt erarbeiten Sie in Gruppen kurzen Unterrichtseinheiten, die Sie anschliessend in meinen Klassen durchführen und die darauf in Nachbesprechungen in den Gruppen wie auch im Seminar selbst eingehend beleuchtet und diskutiert werden.

06SE090De2a / Seminar / 895

Description:

Business event contents:

Im zweiten Semester des Fachdidaktik-Kurses rücken die verschiedenen Lernbereiche des Deutschunterrichts stärker in den Fokus: Schreiben, Sprechen, Lesen, Zuhören und Reflektieren. Die entsprechenden Problemfelder und Fragestellungen werden wie im ersten Teil des Kurses ausgehend von der Unterrichtspraxis diskutiert und vor dem Hintergrund der fachdidaktischen Forschung betrachtet. Von besonderem Interesse sind Themen wie Leistungsbeurteilung, erweiterte Unterrichtsformen und -methoden, Textproduktion und -rezeption sowie die Arbeit mit neuen Medien. Eine intensive Auseinandersetzung mit Konzepten aus der Wissenschaft dient der Reflexion über die eigene Rolle als Lehrperson und ermöglicht die Erweiterung des persönlichen Handlungsrepertoires.

Event Sozialpädagogik: Bildung, Demokratie, Anerkennung
06SE226p534a / Seminar / 2,768

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Seminar setzt sich mit zentralen sozialpädagogischen Theorietraditionen auseinander, indem die Begriffe Bildung, Demokratie und Anerkennung als analytische und normative Bezugspunkte in den Mittelpunkt gestellt werden. Ziel ist es, sozialpädagogisches Handeln nicht primär als Intervention oder Steuerung, sondern als gesellschaftlich eingebettete Praxis der Subjektivierung, Teilhabe und sozialen Aushandlung zu verstehen. Die Studierenden erwerben die Fähigkeit, klassische und zeitgenössische sozialpädagogische Theorien systematisch zu vergleichen und kritisch auf ihre demokratietheoretischen und anerkennungstheoretischen Implikationen hin zu befragen.

Event Hatespeech, Catcalling, Gaslighting. Formen der Gewalt in der Gegenwart
06SE360-515b / Seminar / 1,332

Description:

Business event contents:

Gewalt kennt unterschiedliche Formen. In der Gegenwart differenziert sich die Sprache zur Beschreibung von Gewalt immer mehr aus. Mit Begriffen wie Hate Speech, Catcalling oder Gaslighting rücken in den vergangenen Jahren zunehmend spezifische Gewaltphänomene in den Blick, die zuvor nicht als Gewalt erkannt und bezeichnet wurden. Bei dieser Ausdifferenzierung spielen Literatur, Theater, Kunst und andere Medien der Gegenwart eine nicht zu vernachlässigende Rolle. Sie reflektieren diese Konzepte nicht nur und tragen so zum Diskurs bei, sie bieten darüber hinaus überhaupt erst einen Zugang zu den Formen der Gewalt, die sie subvertieren und ins Widerständige wenden. Literatur und andere Künste fungieren somit als epistemologisches und kritisches Performativ. Das Seminar untersucht deshalb Formen der Gewalt in Literatur, Theater, Kunst und anderen Medien der Gegenwart. Theoretische Grundlage bilden aktuelle Gewalttheorien sowie ihre sprach-, literatur- und kulturtheoretischen Anschlüsse u.a. in der Sprechakttheorie, den Gender und Queer Theorie sowie der Critical Race Theorie.

Event Russisch Mittelstufe 1

06SK480-012a / Sprachkurs / 2,604

Description:

Business event contents:

Der Kurs erfolgt anhand eines Lehrbuches und grundsätzlich auf Russisch. Systematische Übungen, Spiele, zahlreiche Kommunikationsangebote sowie weiteres Hör-, Video- und Lesematerial dienen dazu, die neu erlernten Strukturen zu trainieren und zu verfestigen. Nach jeder abgeschlossenen grammatischen und lexikalischen Einheit werden Zwischentests durchgeführt. Kurze, offene Aufträge, welche die Studierenden selbständig einzeln oder in Tandems erledigen, ermöglichen es ihnen, ihre Kenntnisse unter Beweis zu stellen und ein direktes Feedback von anderen Studierenden zu erhalten. Am Ende des Semesters findet eine Prüfung (benotet: Notenskala 1-6 in Halbschritten) statt, in denen die verschiedenen Fertigkeiten geprüft werden.

Notes:

Schriftliche Prüfung findet voraussichtlich in der letzten Veranstaltung statt.

Course Materials: Lehrwerk "Otlitschno! aktuell A2". Benötigt wird das Kursbuch & Arbeitsbuch (ISBN: 978-3-19-204478-6)

Event Polnisch Grundstufe 1

06SK480-014a / Sprachkurs / 2,218

Description:

Business event contents:

Der Kurs Polnisch 1 richtet sich an Studierende ohne oder mit sehr geringen Vorkenntnissen der polnischen Sprache. Ziel der Veranstaltung ist der Erwerb grundlegender sprachlicher Kompetenzen in den Bereichen Hören, Sprechen, Lesen und Schreiben.

Im Unterricht werden die Grundlagen der polnischen Grammatik systematisch thematisiert. Die Studierenden lernen zentrale grammatische Begriffe kennen und entwickeln ein grundlegendes Verständnis für die Struktur des polnischen Sprachsystems. Diese Kenntnisse werden durch praktische und kommunikative Übungen gefestigt.

Der Unterricht erfolgt in spielerischer und interaktiver Form unter Einsatz vielfältiger Unterrichtsmethoden, didaktischer Ansätze und Techniken, die eine aktive Beteiligung der Studierenden fördern.

Ergänzend wird eine Präsentation zur polnischen Geschichte durchgeführt, die den Studierenden einen übersichtlichen Einblick in zentrale historische Entwicklungen Polens vermittelt und zum besseren Verständnis des sprachlichen und kulturellen Kontextes beiträgt.

Darüber hinaus werden landes- und kulturkundliche Aspekte Polens behandelt. Die gemeinsame Organisation einer Weihnachtsfeier ermöglicht einen praxisnahen Zugang zu polnischen Traditionen und fördert die Anwendung der erworbenen Sprachkenntnisse in einem kulturellen Kontext.

Notes:

Der Kurs fördert autonomes Lernen und die Entwicklung eigenständiger Lernstrategien.

Die Studierenden werden angeleitet, ihren Lernprozess aktiv mitzugestalten und Verantwortung für den eigenen Lernerfolg zu übernehmen.

Regelmäßige Vor- und Nachbereitung (z. B. Wortschatzarbeit, Grammatikübungen) ist Bestandteil des Kurses.

Aktive Teilnahme am Unterricht wird erwartet, da viele Inhalte in interaktiven und spielerischen Lernformen erarbeitet werden.

Course Materials:

Im Kurs werden verschiedene Lehrmittel eingesetzt.

Darüber hinaus kommen überwiegend eigens erstellte Unterrichtsmaterialien der Dozentin / des Dozenten zum Einsatz, die auf die Lernziele und das Sprachniveau der Studierenden abgestimmt sind. Die Kursmaterialien werden im Unterricht verteilt und zusätzlich auf der Lernplattform OLAT zur Verfügung gestellt.

Event Kulturanalyse jetzt! Was heisst lesen (jetzt)?

06VL360-801a / Course / 5,537

Description:

Business event contents:

Lesen gehört zu den ältesten Kulturtechniken. Tagtäglich lesen wir: Schrift, Texte, Bücher, aber auch Bilder, Filme, Videos, Kunst im Allgemeinen, neuerdings auch Posts, Reels, Shorts, Memes, nicht zuletzt das Sein und die Welt, Geschichte und Geschichten, Zahlen und Daten, Fakten und Fakes, den Alltag, uns selbst und unsere Gegenüber, Natur und Kosmos, Horoskope und Kaffeesatz. Zwar wird heute diskutiert, ob mit KI und Maschinen, die viel mehr und viel leistungsfähiger Texte verarbeiten können, das Lesen in eine Krise geraten ist. Jedoch möchten wir diese zeitgenössischen Herausforderungen zum Anlass nehmen, um in dieser Ringvorlesung die grundlegenden Fragen zu stellen: Was heisst lesen (jetzt)? Wie wird gelesen (heute)? Wer liest was wozu mit wem? Was sind aktuelle Praktiken, Strategien, Politiken des Lesens? Was sind seine technischen, medialen und strukturellen Voraussetzungen? Was sind seine Zukünfte? Diesen und weiteren Fragestellungen wollen wir uns in Vorträgen, Panels und Diskussionen von Kuratoriumsmitgliedern des Studienprogramms Kulturanalyse und von Gastdozierenden widmen.

Event Methodik und Praxis linguistischer Forschung: Einführung in die Datenerhebung, -aufbereitung und -auswertung
06UE360p122a / Exercise Group / 1,935

Description:

Business event contents:

Ablauf: Ausgehend von einer einleitenden Diskussion zur Generierung von linguistischen Fragestellungen und einer Besprechung ethischer wie auch wissenschaftlicher Grundlagenprinzipien der Datenerhebung verschafft das Modul den Studierenden einen Einblick in die unterschiedlichen Methoden zur Erhebung, Aufbereitung, Anreicherung und Auswertung linguistischer Daten. Die vier Bereiche werden in jeweils drei Sitzungen behandelt, wobei jeweils die erste Sitzung die grundlegenden Methoden theoretisch behandelt und durch das Lesen von Sekundärliteratur vorbereitet wird (siehe Sitzungsplan). In den zwei jeweils folgenden Sitzungen werden die theoretisch besprochenen Erkenntnisse in praktischen Anwendungsübungen umgesetzt. In kleineren Aufträgen üben die Studierenden diese Kompetenzen und Arbeiten sich im Verlauf des Semester durch ein eigenes Forschungsprojekt.

Event Teilnahme an der SIKJM Jahrestagung
06ST506p508a / Selbststudium mit Leistungsnachweis / 2,609

Description:

Business event contents:

Einmal im Jahr lädt das Schweizerische Institut für Kinder- und Jugendmedien (SIKJM) Bibliothekar:innen, Lehrpersonen, Studierende und weitere Interessierte zu einer praxisorientierten Jahrestagung ein. Die SIKJM Jahrestagung 2026 beschäftigt sich mit Literatur und Lesen im Kontext von KI. Die schnelle Entwicklung künstlicher Intelligenzen, insbesondere ihrer Möglichkeiten der Text- und Bildgenerierung, stellt bisherige Voraussetzungen und Strukturen des Literaturschaffens in Frage und verändert den Umgang mit Büchern und dem Lesen. Die Tagung bietet Einblicke in gesellschaftliche Zusammenhänge und ganz konkrete Anwendungen. Workshops bieten die Gelegenheit sich mit einer Perspektive - Illustration, Autorschaft, Verlagswelt, Bildung - konkret auseinanderzusetzen.

Notes:

Die SIKJM Jahrestagung findet am 16. September 2026 im Volkshaus Zürich statt.

Die obligatorische Infoveranstaltung zum Modul findet am Mo, 14.09.2026, 13-13.45 Uhr statt.

Event Politische Systeme und Theorien I
06VL615-015a / Course / 3,190

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Vorlesung "Politische Systeme und Theorien" führt die Studierenden in die Politikwissenschaft ein und gibt einen Überblick über politische Institutionen, politische Akteure und ihr Zusammenspiel.

Die Vorlesung beginnt mit einer Einführung in die Politikwissenschaft und führt dabei verschiedene theoretische Ansätze an. Im zweiten Teil geht es um grundlegende Begriffe wie die Autorität, Legitimität, Macht und Souveränität des Staates. In einem dritten Teil werden Herrschaftsformen und politische Systeme wie Demokratie und Autokratie behandelt. Daran schliesst ein vierter Teil über demokratische Institutionen an. Der fünfte Teil behandelt strategische Interaktionen zwischen politischen Akteuren und stellt dabei auch verschiedene Analyse-Tools vor.

Die Vorlesung hat einen integrativen Ansatz, bei dem die verschiedenen Teildisziplinen der Politikwissenschaft von den jeweiligen Fachvertreter:innen in Kontext gesetzt werden. Die Vorlesung wird dementsprechend von verschiedenen Personen gehalten. Die Vorlesung wird ergänzt durch ein wöchentliches Tutorat. Im FS27 findet der zweite Teil der Vorlesung "Systeme und Theorien" statt.

Event Proseminar Methods

01PS22LB005 / Proseminar / 1,543

Description:

Business event contents:

Huldrych Zwingli stirbt 1531 auf dem Schlachtfeld bei Kappel. Noch vor seinem Tod soll Zwingli den Wunsch geäußert haben, dass bei seinem allfälligen Tod Heinrich Bullinger ihm im Amt des Antistes nachfolgen soll. Mit 27 Jahren tritt er in die Fussstapfen Zwinglis. Besonders ihm ist es zu verdanken, dass die durch den Tod Zwinglis in Gefahr stehende Zürcher Reformation gefestigt wird. Er wird von verschiedenen Zeitgenossen als einen Prediger beschrieben, der es versteht Verständlichkeit und Gelehrsamkeit zu verbinden.

Wie hat Heinrich Bullinger gepredigt? Wie war seine Themenauswahl? Anhand ausgewählter Texte der Dekaden (einer Predigtsammlung) gehen wir diesen Fragen auf den Grund. Dabei wird zugleich erklärt, was historisches Arbeiten bedeutet. Anhand dieser und weiterer Quellentexte werden die grundlegenden Methodenschritte erarbeitet und die Fragestellungen der Kirchen- und Theologiegeschichte exemplarisch sichtbar gemacht sowie deren Bearbeitung vorgeführt.

Notes:

Das Proseminar ist so aufgebaut, dass parallel dazu eine kirchengeschichtliche, schriftliche Arbeit geschrieben werden kann.

Während der Reading Week vom 12.-16.10.2026 finden keine Lehrveranstaltungen an der TRF statt.

Course Materials: Es ist ein eigener Laptop in die Sitzungen mitzubringen. Die übrigen Materialien werden zur Verfügung gestellt.

Event Social Behaviour of Bacteria
07VLBIO297 / Course / 4,970

Description:

Business event contents:

The view of bacteria as solitary life forms has strong roots in the tradition of culturing bacteria as suspensions in liquid media. In their natural environments, however, bacteria form surface-associated, structured and co-operative consortia, referred to as biofilms. In this lecture series different aspects of prokaryotic social behaviour, including swarming motility, biofilm formation and cell-to-cell communication, will be presented and existing links between these social phenomena are discussed.

Notes:

This lecture complements the Blockkurs BIO 284 "Systemic Microbiologie" and is offered as a master course in the Microbiology Curriculum of UZH and ETHZ. Teaching language is English.

Description:

Business event contents:

Modern liberal societies believe in the fundamental equality of individuals, and yet hierarchies of rank and status persist. This seminar examines whether, and under what conditions, such hierarchies can be morally justified. Engaging with different forms of social hierarchy-from state authority and workplace management to inequalities of class, gender, and race-we draw on a range of justificatory approaches discussed in political philosophy to assess how, if at all, such arrangements can be reconciled with the ideal of equality. In doing so, we will continually ask how the discussed ideal-theoretical approaches relate to real-world social practice and what implications they have for the structure of contemporary society.

Event Introduction to Spatial History: Concepts, Problems, Technologies.

06SE600-502a / Seminar / 1,455

Description:

Business event contents:

This class offers an introduction to the manyfold applications of spatial analysis in the field of history. Besides a survey of classical works and theories in the field, we familiarize ourselves with practical applications of mapping, counter-mapping and computer-based spatial analysis. Familiarizing ourselves with different cartographic traditions around the globe, we ask what the emergence of "modern" cartography has to do with historically specific power constellations--and what questions emerge once we put "conventional" maps in a context of historically changing cosmologies. Analysis and representation of changing spatial relations is an open-ended and multidirectional task. Ultimately, the critical mapping of historical transformations leads us back to cartographic archives and to critiquing the hierarchies of things represented or not. The class is kept regionally and chronologically open in order to invite conversations across a broad range of sites. The instructor provides source materials and creative prompts for in-class exercises, while the seminar papers should reflect the development of each student's original research project.

Event Spezialisierung: Staat und Gewalt. Problem und Lösungsansätze
06SE615p020a / Seminar / 2,775

Description:

Business event contents:

Der Philosoph Thomas Hobbes sah den Staat als das zentrale Instrument zur Eindämmung von Gewalt. Daraus leitet sich das Gewaltmonopol moderner Staaten ab. Aber in allen Staaten gibt es nichtstaatliche Gruppierungen und Individuen, die Gewalt für ihre Zwecke nutzen.

Warum? Diese Frage steht im Zentrum des Seminars "Staat und Gewalt - Problem und Lösungsansätze".

Um sie zu beantworten, analysieren wir zuerst die Ursachen verschiedener Formen von Gewalt. Dabei betrachten wir politische Gewalt im Kontext von Kriegen und Terrorismus, kriminelle Gewalt durch Banden, transnationale Mafias und Kleinkriminelle, sowie soziale Gewalt wie Lynchjustiz und Ausschreitungen. Im Fokus steht stets die Rolle des Staates und die Frage, wie Gewalt verhindert und Frieden gestiftet werden kann. Das Seminar verfolgt also einen lösungsorientierten Ansatz.

Im Verlauf des Semesters setzen sich die Studierenden kritisch mit konzeptioneller und empirischer Forschung auseinander und entwickeln ein eigenes Forschungsdesign im Themenbereich von Staat und Gewalt. Diese Vorarbeit bildet die Grundlage für die empirische Forschungsarbeit (Bachelorarbeit), die im zweiten Semester durchgeführt wird. Das Seminar bietet so eine fundierte wissenschaftliche Auseinandersetzung mit dem Verhältnis von Staat und Gewalt und fördert selbständige Forschung.

Notes:

Im Verlauf dieses Spezialisierungsseminars sollen Studierende:

- fundierte Kenntnisse über das Verhältnis von Staat und Gewalt erlangen;
- bestehende Lösungsansätze und Präventionsmassnahmen für verschiedene Formen von Gewalt kritisch reflektieren;
- ihr Verständnis für konzeptionelle und empirische Ansätze in den Sozialwissenschaften vertiefen;
- zentrale Prinzipien empirischer Forschungsdesigns verstehen und anwenden;
- sowie ein eigenes Forschungsprojekt (Bachelorarbeit) entwickeln und umsetzen.

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Vorlesung führt Studierende in die zentralen philosophischen Debatten der Managementwissenschaften ein. Welche Realität untersuchen wir und gibt es nur eine davon? Was ist ein Unternehmen eigentlich und wie erforscht man es? Müssen Wirtschaftswissenschaftler und Wirtschaftswissenschaftlerinnen politisch neutral sein oder ist Forschung immer politisch? Wann wird die Nähe zur Privatwirtschaft problematisch? Um diese und weitere Fragen anzugehen, lernen Teilnehmende unterschiedliche wissenschaftstheoretische und wissenschaftsethische Positionen kennen. Description:

Business event contents:

Der Kurs Polnisch Mittelstufe 1 baut auf Grundkenntnissen auf und vertieft die Fertigkeiten in Hören, Sprechen, Lesen und Schreiben. Ein Schwerpunkt liegt auf der systematischen Erweiterung grammatischer Strukturen, insbesondere: Deklination von Nomen, Adjektiven, Pronomen und Zahlwörtern (mit Fokus auf Nominativ Plural Nicht-Personal), Steigerung von Adjektiven und Adverbien sowie die Vertiefung des verbalen Aspekts. Die grammatischen Inhalte werden in Kommunikationssituationen angewendet und gefestigt.

Der Unterricht erfolgt interaktiv und spielerisch unter Einsatz vielfältiger Methoden und fördert auch autonomes Lernen. Ergänzend gibt eine Präsentation einen Überblick über die polnische Geschichte, und die gemeinsame Organisation einer Weihnachtsfeier vermittelt kulturelle Traditionen und praktische Sprachpraxis.

Notes:

Der Kurs fördert autonomes Lernen und die Entwicklung eigenständiger Lernstrategien.

Die Studierenden werden angeleitet, ihren Lernprozess aktiv mitzugestalten und Verantwortung für den eigenen Lernerfolg zu übernehmen.

Regelmäßige Vor- und Nachbereitung (z. B. Wortschatzarbeit, Grammatikübungen) ist Bestandteil des Kurses.

Aktive Teilnahme am Unterricht wird erwartet, da viele Inhalte in interaktiven und spielerischen Lernformen erarbeitet werden.

Course Materials:

Im Kurs werden verschiedene Lehrmittel eingesetzt.

Darüber hinaus kommen überwiegend eigens erstellte Unterrichtsmaterialien der Dozentin zum Einsatz, die auf die Lernziele und das Sprachniveau der Studierenden abgestimmt sind. 02VL90WM26-1 / Course / 4,021

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Vorlesung behandelt die vielfältigen und in ihrer Komplexität nur schwer fassbaren Rechtsbeziehungen zwischen der Schweiz und der Europäischen Union. Sie ist in vier Teile gegliedert:

I. Grundlagen (völkerrechtlicher Rahmen; geschichtliche Entwicklung; Vertragsschlusskompetenzen; Geltung, Rang und Anwendbarkeit der Abkommen im schweizerischen bzw. unionalen Recht),

II. Bilaterale Abkommen (Typologie, Institutionelles, materieller Inhalt),

III. Autonome Nachvollzug (Beispiele; Verhältnis zur Rechtsvergleichung, Cassis de Dijon; Auswirkungen auf die Rechtsetzungstechnik),

Event Spezialisierung: Regionale Ungleichheiten und Konfliktlinien
06SE615p010a / Seminar / 3,973

Description:

Business event contents:

Regionale ökonomische Ungleichheiten und die daraus resultierenden politischen Spaltungen werden zunehmend als entscheidend für das Verständnis aktueller Konflikte in westlichen Demokratien gesehen. Viele politische Entwicklungen der letzten Jahre - etwa der Brexit, die Wahl Donald Trumps oder das Erstarken rechtspopulistischer Parteien in Westeuropa - lassen sich vor dem Hintergrund eines Spannungsverhältnisses zwischen strukturschwachen, oft ländlichen oder von Deindustrialisierung betroffenen Regionen und wirtschaftlich prosperierenden, kulturell liberalen Städten deuten. Auch in der Schweiz wachsen die Befürchtungen eines sich vertiefenden Stadt-Land-Konflikts, der von Parteien aufgegriffen und verstärkt wird.

In dieser Spezialisierung gehen wir (und entsprechend ihr in den BA-Arbeiten) den Ursachen, Dynamiken und Folgen dieser räumlichen Konfliktlinien auf den Grund - mit Fokus auf westliche Demokratien und / oder der Schweiz.

Dabei leiten uns unter anderem folgende Fragen:

1. Haben sich regionale ökonomische Ungleichheiten in den letzten Jahrzehnten tatsächlich verschärft? Welche politischen und ökonomischen Entwicklungen sind dafür verantwortlich?
2. Wie unterscheiden sich politische Einstellungen, Identitäten und Wahlverhalten zwischen städtischen, ländlichen, prosperierenden und abgehängten Regionen? Welche Mechanismen sind hierfür verantwortlich?
3. Werden die Interessen bestimmter Regionen besser repräsentiert als andere?

Event Einführung ins Gotische
06SE360-307a / Seminar / 775

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Gotische, die zu den ostgermanischen Sprachen gerechnete Sprache der Goten, nimmt innerhalb der überlieferten germanischen Sprachen eine Sonderstellung ein. Sie ist besonders wichtig für die sprachliche Erforschung der germanischen Sprachfamilie, da ihre Aufzeichnung, abgesehen von einigen Runeninschriften, derjenigen der anderen (alt-) germanischen Sprachen um viele Jahre vorausgeht. Das Gotische verfügt über archaische Merkmale, die es in die Nähe des Urgermanischen stellen, gleichzeitig zeigt es im Bereich des Vokalismus ihm eigene Entwicklungstendenzen.

Ziel des Seminars soll sein, sich gemeinsam die Grundzüge dieser Sprache zu erarbeiten und ihre sprachhistorischen Zusammenhänge auf unterschiedlichen sprachlichen Ebenen zu beleuchten. Besonderes Gewicht kommt dabei dem phonologischen und morphologischen Vergleich mit den nächstverwandten altgermanischen Einzelsprachen zu.

Vorausgesetzt werden neben dem Interesse und der Freude an historischer Sprachwissenschaft Grundkenntnisse der synchronen und diachronen Linguistik ("Einführung in die Sprachwissenschaft des Deutschen 1" muss abgeschlossen sein). Die Kenntnis einer anderen altgermanischen Sprache ist nicht zwingend, wenn auch wünschenswert.

Event Lautwandel in den germanischen Sprachen

06SE360-507a / Seminar / 1,643

Description:

Business event contents:

Beim Vergleich von verwandten Sprachen stösst man schnell auf Gemeinsamkeiten oder Unterschiede, die sich auf der Lautebene manifestieren. Warum heisst es beispielsweise im Althochdeutschen tag, im altfriesischen aber dei? Woher kommt das /g/ in neuenglisch egg, während es im Deutschen Ei heisst? Oder: Stimmt ch-dt. blutt mit nhd. bloss lautlich zusammen? Fragen wie diese gehören in den Bereich der historischen Phonologie der germanischen Sprachen. Im Seminar werden wir uns mit verschiedenen Phänomenen des Lautwandels innerhalb der germanischen Sprachen sowie mit theoretischen Aspekten der historischen Phonologie beschäftigen. Thema werden sowohl einzelsprachliche Veränderungen wie auch sprachübergreifende Entwicklungen sein. Ein Fokus liegt dabei auf der Sprachgeschichte des Deutschen. Voraussetzung für die Teilnahme die Bereitschaft, sich eingehend mit älteren Sprachstufen zu beschäftigen und sich in die Phonemsysteme der altgermanischen Einzelsprachen einzuarbeiten.

Event Legal Theory - Law between Neuroscience, Psychology and Behavioral Economics
02VL90GL14-1 / Course / 3,787

Description:

Business event contents:

The module offers an outline of key issues of a theoretical reflection of law and justice. It will discuss some historical examples of the evolving theoretical reflection of law and its ethical foundations. In addition, central analytical and normative problems will be considered concerning the structure and content of law and its relation to ethical thought. A special focus of attention will be contemporary cognitive science and its impact on the understanding and conceptualisation of law, including the structure and origin of moral cognition and the problem of free will. The course will offer a critical assessment of these approaches that form one of the most important issues in the contemporary reflection about law. Serious thought on these matters, it will be argued, leads to central problems of our human self- understanding that are of foundational importance for our concept of law. The theoretical reflection and its results will be exemplified by concrete cases including target killings, torture and other issues of civil, criminal, public law and the adjudication of human rights.

Event Fachdidaktik Deutsch III Linguistische Themen im Deutschunterricht
06SE090De3b / Seminar / 896

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Vielfalt und das Potenzial linguistischer Themen werden im gymnasialen Deutschunterricht oft nur teilweise ausgeschöpft. Häufig beschränkt sich die Auswahl auf traditionelle, in den Lehrplänen verankerte Bereiche wie Grammatik, Sprachgeschichte oder Kommunikationstheorie. Dabei böten eine Vielzahl linguistischer Gebiete aktuelle und relevante Themen für den Sprachunterricht: so etwa die Soziolinguistik (z. B. Sprache und Identität, Sprache und Macht) oder die Diskurslinguistik (z. B. Deutsch als Kolonialsprache, sprachliche Korrektheit in Kinderbüchern).

Das Seminar fokussiert deshalb auf die Frage, welche linguistischen Themen zum Gegenstand gymnasialen Unterrichts werden können und wie man sie vermittelt. Wie plane und prüfe ich eine linguistische Unterrichtseinheit? Welche Ziele möchte ich damit erreichen und welche Methoden sind dafür geeignet? Anhand konkreter Beispiele aus der Schulpraxis setzen wir uns mit verschiedenen Zugängen auseinander (z. B. projektorientiertem Lernen, Lernen durch Lehren, explorativen Ansätzen), die wir selbst erproben und reflektieren. Der Leistungsnachweis besteht aus der Planung eines eigenen linguistischen Unterrichtsprojekts und dessen Präsentation.

Notes:

Der Kurs verlangt von den Studierenden die Bereitschaft, Unterrichtseinheiten zu entwickeln und zu reflektieren. Entsprechend werden ein beendetes Fachstudium und erste Lehrerfahrungen empfohlen.

Event Global Strategic Management (L+E)
03VL22MO0063 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 1,247

Description:

Business event contents:

Global Strategic Management addresses the challenges confronting managers and firms competing internationally. The course focuses on multinational enterprises ("MNEs"), which own or control significant resources and operations in several, often disparate countries, cultures, and markets. An MNE's performance depends on internal and external income streams denominated in multiple currencies. MNEs have operations situated in localities with different and often face conflicting public policy priorities, product preferences, and standards of ethical conduct. The context creates strategic challenges that are distinctly different from operating in a single country. The overall theme of the course is understanding the MNE: how it is structured, how it competes, and how we explain persistent differences in performance between the MNC and its various rivals. The overall aim of the course is to understand how strategy carried out by the MNE in an international context is different from firm strategy in a purely domestic setting. The course will consist of lectures and case studies with mandatory exercises.

Event Seminar: Religion & Migration
01SE53SS020 / Seminar / 2,732

Description:

Business event contents:

How can religion provide psychological support during migration? Why do people convert during or after migration? What differences in religiosity might there be between parents who have emigrated and their children? Why can religion be a criterion for exclusion or inclusion in a host country? The seminar "Religion & Migration" examines the interrelations between religion and migration. We will explore how migration can influence religious beliefs, practices, and communities, and how migrants may use religion to shape their experiences. Topics include, for example, transnational religious networks, evolutions in religiosity, and the role of religion in integration processes. Through case studies and theoretical frameworks, students will gain knowledge of migration studies and a deeper understanding of religious aspects at the individual and communal levels.

Event Elite and Popular Culture in Early Modern Chinese and Korean Visual Arts: Hierarchies, Canon, and the Vernacular
06SE642-021a / Seminar / 5,170

Description:

Business event contents:

When studying East Asian art history, attention often focuses on the art of, or for, the elite, such as literati or court painting, imperial porcelain, or gold regalia found in royal tombs. But what about the culture and arts of society at large? What role did art play in the lives of ordinary people? And what relationships existed between the art produced and consumed by the elite and that of the non-elite classes?

Focusing on the early modern periods of China and Korea, this course will shed light on different genres of visual arts typically associated with non-elite classes or popular culture by highlighting their creation, major centers of production, as well as dissemination and consumption, including their reception in other cultures. Students will critically examine the conceptual and material distinctions between elite and popular art and study their complex interrelationships. The course addresses not only culture-specific art forms, like nianhua in China or minhwa in Korea, but also looks at interregional connections and patterns. Furthermore, students will identify and critically reflect on how social hierarchies and identities have shaped contemporary and historiographical perceptions of certain types of artworks and how these biases were reinforced by canon-formation and art historical categories and terms introduced to East Asia in the twentieth century.

Event Kinder- und Jugendmedien und Politik
06VL506p401a / Course / 1,563

Description:

Business event contents:

Literatur und Medien für Kinder und Jugendliche waren historisch immer eng mit politischen und gesellschaftlichen Auseinandersetzungen um Demokratie, Bildung und Teilhabe verknüpft. Seit dem 18. Jahrhundert gilt die Kinder- und Jugendliteratur als Experimentierfeld, in dem sich Vorstellungen von Erziehung, Moral und sozialer Ordnung widerspiegeln - ebenso wie Hoffnungen auf Emanzipation und Selbstbestimmung. Die Vorlesung zeigt, wie Ideologien nicht nur Narrative und Kindheitsbilder prägen, sondern auch ästhetische Praktiken und Produktionsbedingungen von Kinder- und Jugendmedien beeinflussen: von normierenden Lesediskursen und schulischen Vermittlungsformen bis hin zu Zensur und Bücherverboten. Anhand zentraler historischer Stationen - von der Aufklärung über die Reformpädagogik und die "Geistige Landesverteidigung" bis zu den aktuellen "Book Bans" in den USA - wird nachgezeichnet, wie eng politische, pädagogische und ästhetische Fragen miteinander verflochten sind. Im Zentrum steht die historische Spannung zwischen Emanzipation und Kontrolle. Die Vorlesung gibt damit einen Einblick in die Verflechtung literarischer, pädagogischer und politischer Diskurse und in die Bedeutung von Kinder- und Jugendmedien als Aushandlungsräume für gesellschaftlicher Werte und Konflikte.

Description:

Business event contents:

This course introduces students to the main statistical models that social scientists use. Students learn how to translate their theoretical ideas into statistical models, how to estimate those models using maximum likelihood and R, how to interpret them, and how to communicate results. They also learn how to build reproducible work flows in data analysis. Topics include: (1) categorical data analysis; (2) limited dependent variables; (3) event count and duration models; and (4) nonlinear regression.

Digitale Bildarchive eröffnen für die Geschichtswissenschaft und allgemein für die historisch arbeitenden Geisteswissenschaften neue Möglichkeiten. Formen der künstlichen Intelligenz (Bildererkennung, -beschreibung, -kategorisierung, und -auswertung) versprechen neue Zugangsformen und Möglichkeiten für (halb-)automatische Auswertungen. Gleichzeitig ist es erforderlich, den historischen Methodenapparat, der insbesondere durch medientheoretische Überlegungen geprägt wird, methodologisch und epistemologisch zu erweitern und gleichzeitig die digitalen Anwendungen kritisch zu hinterfragen. Positivistische und kritische Perspektiven zeigen in teils widersprüchliche Richtungen, die es produktiv zu kombinieren gilt. Nur weil alle Bilder mit Menschen oder Katzen aufgefunden werden können, dürfen problematische Aspekte wie die Perspektive einer Aufnahme oder Leerstellen in Sammlungen nicht vernachlässigt werden. Das Zusammenspiel von Mensch und Maschine steht somit ebenso im Zentrum wie der Einbezug von Institutionen, die Bildmaterial zur Verfügung stellen. Im Kolloquium (an der UNIBE wird die Veranstaltung als DH-Seminar geführt) diskutieren wir die Bedingungen der Nutzung und somit die Chancen und Risiken digitaler Bildarchive.

Notes:

Die Veranstaltung wird in Kooperation mit der Universität Bern durchgeführt und findet im Co-Teaching von Prof. Dr. Monika Dommann (UZH) und Prof. Dr. Tobias Hodel (UNIBE) statt. Die Veranstaltung wird in Zürich, Bern und online durchgeführt.

Event Theorien zum Amateurfilm
06KO255p003a / Colloquium / 2,889

Description:

Business event contents:

Mit dem Erscheinen der ersten kommerziellen Filmkameras Anfang der 1920er Jahre entstand eine neue Bewegtbild-Praxis: die des Amateurfilms. Damit sind hauptsächlich Filme gemeint, die ausserhalb von institutionellen Kontexten und stattdessen von begeisterten Laien in der Freizeit gedreht wurden. Da frühe Kameras und das Filmmaterial sehr kostspielig waren, konnten zunächst nur bürgerliche Personen das Aufwachen ihrer Kinder, den Familienurlaub oder das Stadtfest dokumentieren. Im Verlauf des 20. Jahrhunderts fand das Aufnehmen und Abspielen von privaten Filmen durch neue, erschwinglichere Technologien Verbreitung in allen Gesellschaftsschichten. Super-8, Video-Camcorder sowie digitale Apparate und Smartphone-Kameras boten und bieten Menschen die Möglichkeit, ihre Weltsicht zu erforschen, persönliche Erinnerungen zu bewahren, untereinander zu kommunizieren und mit audiovisuellen Bildern zu experimentieren. Für viele Menschen wurde die Kamera eine enge Begleiterin und ein Instrument zur Aufzeichnung der wichtigsten Ereignisse und Stationen ihres Lebens. Heutzutage sind solche Filme und Clips vom 'ereignisreichen Alltäglichen' selbstverständlicher Bestandteil unserer visuellen Kultur geworden.

Aufgrund dieser Verflechtung mit individuellen Biografien sowie der gegenwärtigen Ubiquität beschäftigt sich auch die Filmwissenschaft vermehrt mit der mannigfaltigen Praxis des Amateurfilms. Seit den 1980er-Jahren wurde sie aus verschiedenen, auch filmtheoretischen Perspektiven in den Blick genommen, beispielsweise aus historiografischem, feministischem, praxeologischem oder archivarischem Interesse. Innerhalb dieses Theoriekolloquiums wollen wir verschiedenen filmwissenschaftlichen Überlegungen und Herangehensweisen an den Amateurfilm Aufmerksamkeit schenken. Dabei lernen Studierende, filmtheoretische Texte zu lesen und sich in Diskussionen mit filmwissenschaftlichen Methoden sowie filmtheoretischen Konzepten auseinanderzusetzen. Sitzungsübergreifend stellen wir uns die Frage, wie private nicht-kommerzielle Bewegtbilder und deren Erscheinungsformen, Funktionen und zum Teil höchst persönliche Kolorierung filmwissenschaftliche Methoden und theoretische Konzepte herausfordern können. Von archivarischen Schwierigkeiten bezüglich historischer Dokumente über deren Potenzial für ein individuelles und gesellschaftliches Gedächtnis hin zu ihrer Rolle innerhalb von politischen Dynamiken: Amateurfilme berühren unterschiedliche Bereiche der Filmwissenschaft und verunsichern sie durch ihre spezifischen Eigenheiten. Diese Verunsicherung nehmen wir in diesem Kurs zum Anlass, einer audiovisuellen Praxis Aufmerksamkeit zu schenken, die sich am Saum der Filmwissenschaft bewegt und zutiefst in unsere menschliche Erfahrung eingebettet ist.

Event A: Verbs, verbs, verbs: Exploring the verb phrase with corpora and code
06SE440-120c / Seminar / 187

Description:

Business event contents:

The verb phrase is often considered the most central structure in any language and is vital to many areas of linguistic study. This seminar will examine English verbs and the verb phrase in depth, taking things beyond the overview given in the introductory linguistics course. Students will examine principal aspects of the English VP, including auxiliary constructions, tense, aspect and modality, argument structure and complementation, voice, and multiword verb constructions. The module focuses on how verbs and verb phrases behave in naturally occurring language, and how theoretical claims about the VP can be tested empirically using linguistic data.

A important component of this module is the methodological focus. Students will be introduced to a range of approaches for investigating the VP, including the use of existing corpora as well as self-compiled datasets. We will work with RegEx queries, and students will receive an introduction to Natural Language Processing techniques relevant to the analysis of verb phrases, such as part-of-speech tagging and basic parsing.

No prior experience with coding, RegEx, or corpus linguistics is required. This class is particularly suitable for students who have not worked with corpora and coding before, as you will receive a very gentle introduction to both topics. Students with experience are of course welcome as well.

Notes:

Students will give a presentation and submit a separate written task for their learning portfolio. The paper deadline will be 18 April 2027, it is sensible to plan to do most of the work on your paper in January and February 2027.

Event Fundamentos de la Narratología (grupo 1)
06SE427-001a / Seminar / 1,073

Description:

Business event contents:

¿Qué es un texto literario? ¿Cómo funciona y cuáles son las diferencias con otro tipo de textualidades? ¿Cómo se desarrolla el proceso de lectura y de producción de sentido? Estas son algunas interrogantes con las que abriremos este módulo sobre análisis literario, cuyo primer curso (Semestre de otoño) estará dedicado al análisis narratológico.

Tras un primer acercamiento general a la literatura, nos adentraremos en el campo de la narratología. Partiremos también de algunas preguntas clave: ¿De qué hablamos cuando hablamos de narración o de narrativa? ¿Qué es un autor, un lector, un texto? ¿Cuáles serían sus características, sus recursos y sus elementos? Y sobre todo, ¿Cómo y a través de qué herramientas podemos analizar el discurso narrativo?

En clases discutiremos una serie de textos teóricos sobre literatura y narratología, y pondremos en práctica los conceptos discutidos con ejercicios durante cada sesión.

Description:

Business event contents:

This lecture gives insight into the molecular and cellular bases of neurotransmission and signal transduction in the CNS, including sensory neurons (retina, olfactory epithelium), beyond the basic concepts covered in the "Grundstudium" (BIO143). The main topics include the structure and function of ion channels and receptors, the biochemical basis of synaptic neurotransmission, the functional properties of neurons and glial cells, and the principles of intra- and extracellular signal transduction.

Event RKE.S420.1 Religious Cultures in Past and Present –Foundations
01SE56LP012 / PHZH SEK I Module / 2,511

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Studierenden lernen Religionen und Kulturen in Verflechtung und kontextuellem Wechselverhältnis mit ihrer Umwelt kennen und üben eine zweifache Perspektive auf Religion ein: Einerseits wird ein naives Verständnis von «Religion» als historisch gegebenem Faktum dekonstruiert, andererseits wird «Religion» als analytisches Konzept begründet, anhand dessen sich soziale und kulturelle (gesellschaftliche?) Formationsprozesse beschreiben, analysieren und verstehen lassen.

Event NLP for social media analysis: An introduction
06SE254p115a / Seminar / 2,038

Description:

Business event contents:

This seminar introduces students of communication science to the foundations and applications of Natural Language Processing (NLP) in the context of social media research. The course bridges computational techniques and specific social media research by guiding students through the full research pipeline, from collecting and pre-processing textual data to conducting exploratory and inferential analyses using NLP methods. With a strong focus on social media platforms, the seminar highlights how NLP can be used to study public opinion, emotion, discourse patterns, and topic emergence across digital environments. Through case studies, interactive exercises, and critical reflection, students will explore both the potential and limitations of applying NLP tools. The course also addresses timely issues such as language bias, algorithmic fairness, and the ethics of social media research in the generative AI era. While no prior coding experience is assumed, the seminar emphasizes conceptual understanding and equips students with hands-on experience using accessible tools and guided Python notebooks.

Notes:

By the end of the seminar, students will be able to critically engage with and apply fundamental NLP techniques to analyze social media data in the context of communication research. They will understand how textual data from platforms such as Instagram, TikTok, and/or Reddit can be collected ethically, cleaned systematically, and explored using frequency-based methods. Students will be able to conduct sentiment analysis with different approaches, including rule-based lexicons, supervised classifiers, and pretrained transformer models. They will learn how to implement and interpret topic modeling methods like LDA and BERTopic to uncover dominant themes in large-scale online discourse. Also students will know about the state-of-the-art GenAI methods for their analysis of textual data. Furthermore, students will develop the skills to design their own small-scale NLP studies, formulating research questions aligned with communication theory, selecting appropriate data sources, and justifying methodological choices. Lastly, the seminar will foster a critical awareness of algorithmic bias and ethical research practices in social media research using NLP methods, preparing students to be both skilled and responsible analysts of digital communication.

Event Epigenetics

07VUBIO243 / Course / 803

Description:

Business event contents:

This course will explore epigenetics, non-coding RNAs, and post- translational protein modifications - three areas of molecular biology that complement and extend our basic knowledge of the upward causation of life (i.e., DNA->messenger RNA->Protein).

Cell fates and molecular mechanisms in different types of cells are orchestrated by transcription factors, chromatin changes, DNA methylation, noncoding RNAs, protein modifications, and other signals, whose dysregulation contributes strongly to human disease. These factors are currently the subject of intense research aimed at refining our understanding of the pathogenesis of these diseases and at developing new and more effective strategies for their treatment.

Event DNA metabolism and cancer
07VLBIO257 / Course / 598

Description:

Business event contents:

DNA of all living organisms is under constant assault by endogenous and exogenous damaging agents. In order to protect their genomes, cells have evolved complex mechanisms that protect them from the deleterious action of these agents, ranging from specific DNA repair pathways, DNA damage tolerance and cell cycle checkpoints to modulation of gene expression. A failure of one or more of these mechanisms increases genome instability, and can lead to disease, cancer and ageing. In this course, designed to foster student participation, the students will gain theoretical knowledge about the cellular mechanisms required to protect genome integrity and avoid malignant transformation, such as DNA repair pathways, cell cycle control, DNA damage tolerance during replication, genome maintenance during transcription and telomere homeostasis.

Event Die Griechische Kolonisation im westlichen Mittelmeerraum - Ursachen, Formen und Folgen
06SE600-004a / Seminar / 623

Description:

Business event contents:

In der griechischen Archaik (8.-6. Jh. v. Chr.) brachen zahlreiche Siedler aus dem Gebiet des heutigen Griechenlands auf, um im Westen der Mittelmeerwelt neue Städte zu gründen. Die Ursachen für diese Kolonisationsbewegungen waren vielfältig, genauso wie die Geschichten der auf diese Weise entstandenen Städte. Besonders erfolgreiche Gründungen entstanden in der sogenannten Magna Graecia (Süditalien und Sizilien).

Das Seminar wird auf der Grundlage von literarischen und dokumentarischen Zeugnissen auf einzelne Stadtgründungen achten und dabei nebst Ursachen, Formen und Folgen der Griechischen Kolonisation auch nach Faktoren suchen, welche Gründungen langfristig erfolgreich und krisenresilient machten. Dabei stehen die sozio-politischen Verflechtungen mit anderen griechischen Städten sowie mit autochthonen Völkerschaften (z.B. Etrusker, Sikuler oder Iberer), kulturelle Lebenswelten griechischer Siedler, ökonomische Innovationen und militärische Ereignisse im Fokus. Auf diese Weise sollen Teilnehmende Einblicke in grundlegende Entwicklungen der griechischen Archaik erhalten, die mittelfristig die griechische Klassik und langfristig sogar imperiale Herrschaftsstrukturen des Römischen Reiches über die gesamte Mittelmeerwelt prägten.

Event Ist die Feder mächtiger als das Schwert? Bedeutung von Bildung am römischen Kaiserhof
06SE602-501a / Seminar / 1,478

Description:

Business event contents:

Bildung spielte in der römischen Kaiserzeit stets eine herausragende Rolle, zumal sie wesentlich für den sozialen Status innerhalb der griechisch-römischen Welt war. Gerade Angehörige der römischen Eliten durchliefen auch aus diesem Grund eine umfassende Ausbildung, um ihren teilweise sehr unterschiedlichen Aufgaben im und für das Reich sowie ihren Rollen in der und für die römische Gesellschaft zu erfüllen. Einzelne Gelehrte spielten dabei eine wichtige Rolle nicht nur als Intellektuelle, sondern vor allem auch als Lehrende, insbesondere an den Zentren der Macht, den kaiserlichen Höfen.

Das Seminar möchte die Rolle von Bildung und Intellektuellen in der römischen Kaiserzeit erforschen. Dabei wird es zunächst um die Bedeutung, Funktion und Form griechischer-römischer Bildung (paideia) im 1.-3. Jh. n. Chr. gehen. In einem zweiten Schritt steht sodann die Analyse unterschiedlicher Netzwerke von Intellektuellen und ihren Schülerinnen und Schülern im Zentrum der Aufmerksamkeit. Dabei sollen (1) das Verhältnis zwischen Lehrenden und Lernenden (2) die sozialen Verbindungen zwischen Angehörigen einer Schule und (3) die gelehrt Inhalte selbst einer vertieften Betrachtung unterzogen werden. Auf diese Weise soll der Blick für Bildungsinhalte an kaiserlichen Höfen geschärft, die Rolle sozio-intellektueller Netzwerke erkannt und die gelehrt Inhalte gerade auch hinsichtlich römischen Herrschaftswissens erkannt und beurteilt werden. Methodisch werden Vorgehensweisen der Netzwerkanalyse/Prosopographie sowie der Ideengeschichte auf der Grundlage literarischer und dokumentarischer Quellen diskutiert.

Event Phantombilder und das Unheimliche des Films
06SE255p012a / Seminar / 2,152

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Verbindung des Kinos zum Phantomhaften und Unheimlichen reicht bis zu seinen Anfängen zurück. Trickfilme von Georges Méliès etwa loten das Potenzial des Mediums aus, mit dem Film eine fantastische Wirklichkeit zu erschaffen - oder vielleicht auch einfach nur zu registrieren. Denn schon die Fotografie des 19. Jahrhunderts kam zu dem Ergebnis, dass die neuen technischen Medien in der Lage sind, für das menschliche Auge unsichtbare Realitäten aufzuzeichnen (wie etwa Röntgenaufnahmen). Zuvor versuchten Fotograf*innen des späten 19. Jahrhunderts glaubhaft zu machen, dass sie in der Lage seien, Geister Verstorbener aufzuzeichnen. Im frühen 20. Jahrhundert wurden zudem Versuche unternommen, weitere unsichtbare Phänomene wie etwa Träume zu registrieren. Diese unterschiedlichen Projekte - einerseits von wissenschaftlichen Bestrebungen geleitet, andererseits oft als bewusste Täuschung konzipiert - greifen auf die allgemein geltende Annahme zurück: Unsere Wirklichkeit erstreckt sich in den paraoptischen Bereich jenseits dessen, was wir mit bloßem Auge erfassen können. Film und Fotografie versuchen, diese Bereiche sichtbar zu machen. Filmische und fotografische Techniken wie Mehrfachbelichtung oder Aufzeichnungen unterschiedlicher Lichtspektren bringen die Affinitäten des Mediums zum Vorschein, sich dem (archaischen) Glauben an phantomhafte Welten bildlich zu nähern. Dabei kann man von einem Doppelcharakter des Phantomhaften und Unheimlichen im Film sprechen: einerseits auf der thematischen Ebene (etwa das Vorkommen phantomhafter Gestalten in der filmischen Diegese), andererseits in Bezug auf das 'unheimliche' Potenzial des Mediums selbst. Wenn man sich zudem vor Augen führt, dass auch die zeitgenössische Neurowissenschaft darum bemüht ist, mentale Bilder wie Träume oder Vorstellungen aufzuzeichnen, so wird deutlich, dass es sich bei den Phantombildern nicht nur um eine historische Erscheinung handelt.

Im Seminar werden die verschiedenen Manifestationen der Phantombilder und des Unheimlichen im Film untersucht: von den frühen Trickfilmen und wissenschaftlichen Dokumentation über das Avantgarde- zum Science-Fiction-Kino. Es wird zudem ein breites Spektrum theoretischer und historischer Texte zu Film und Fotografie gelesen. Darüber hinaus zielt das Seminar auf eine eingehende Auseinandersetzung mit zentralen medienontologischen Ansätzen zur Ästhetik und Theorie des filmischen/fotografischen Bildes. Zusätzlich zur Vertiefung der historischen und theoretischen Kenntnisse über grundlegende Aspekte der Filmästhetik werden die analytischen Fähigkeiten der Teilnehmer*innen im intensiven Umgang mit Filmmaterial gefördert.

Event Theorien des Blicks
06KO255p014a / Colloquium / 2,890

Description:

Business event contents:

Blicktheorien prägten die Filmwissenschaft seit Mitte des letzten Jahrhunderts und kritisierten das klassische Hollywood harsch. Ideologische Verblendung und Sexismus wurden dem dominanten US-amerikanischen Film attestiert und zwar nicht nur aufgrund der dargestellten Bilder und Narrative - die Apparatustheorie fand die Wurzel des Problems in der Art und Weise, wie Kino seinen Zuschauer (!) konzipiert -- wie Kino Subjekte erschafft. Wir werden bei den psychoanalytisch und feministisch motivierten Grundlagen beginnen, zu antirassistischer und postkolonialer Blicktheorie übergehen und nach der Möglichkeit queerer filmischer Blicke und ermächtigender Blickstrukturen fragen. Was ist das Verhältnis vom male zum imperial gaze? Gibt es einen female gaze? Und was hat das alles mit Subjektivität zu tun?

Im Laufe des Semesters werden wir auch Blicke über den filmwissenschaftlichen Tellerrand wagen - u.a. mit Standpunkttheorie und dem menschlichen Blick auf Tiere. Das Kolloquium soll befähigen, Theorien des Blicks zu verstehen und selbstreflexiv auf den eigenen Blick angesichts ganz verschiedener Filme anzuwenden.

Event Gruppe 10, Proseminar 1: Umstrittene Zugehörigkeiten in der Schweizer Geschichte (15. bis 20. Jahrhundert)
06SE600-007j / Seminar / 415

Description:

Business event contents:

Wer ist Teil der Gesellschaft? Wer wird ausgeschlossen? Wie funktioniert der Ausschluss von sozialen Gruppen? Welche Rolle spielen dabei materielle und symbolische Praktiken der Kategorisierung, Herabwürdigung, Marginalisierung und Verfolgung? Wer sind die vorwärtstreibenden Kräfte? Wie reagieren Betroffene, wie setzen sie sich zur Wehr? Welche «Stimmen» können wir heute noch «hören», und wie laut? Diesen Fragen gehen wir im Basismodul I nach.

Wir betrachten anhand von Auszügen aus der Forschungsliteratur, mit welchen analytischen Herangehensweisen Fragen nach Zugehörigkeit historisiert werden. Dabei arbeiten wir mit Quellen aus der spätmittelalterlichen Eidgenossenschaft und der Schweiz im 20. Jahrhundert.

Zum einen schauen wir uns an, wie die eidgenössischen Orte an Tagsatzungen seit dem späten Mittelalter gesellschaftliche Zugehörigkeiten verschiedener Personengruppen - etwa Juden, Lombarden und fremde Bettler - verhandelten. Als Quellen sind uns die Beschlussdokumente (Abschiede) dieser Treffen in 16 edierten Bänden erhalten. Zum anderen nehmen wir die Überfremdungsdiskurse in der Schweiz seit Beginn der 1950er-Jahre in den Blick. Anhand von Propagandamaterial und Medienberichten rekonstruieren wir, wie die Schwarzenbach-Initiative ganzen Menschengruppen die Zugehörigkeit absprach. Aktivistische Stellungnahmen führen uns die Bedeutung von Counter-narratives vor Augen.

Neben inhaltlichen Schwerpunkten vermittelt das Basismodul grundlegende geschichtswissenschaftliche Arbeitstechniken wie Recherche- und Lesemethoden, korrektes Zitieren sowie den Umgang mit wissenschaftlichen Texten und historischen Quellen.

Exkursionen: Im PS1 nehmen wir an einer Führung am «Schauplatz Brunngasse» teil, einem wichtigen Erinnerungsort jüdischer Geschichte in Zürich. Im PS2 besuchen wir das Schweizerische Sozialarchiv, wo wir gemeinsam Archivmaterial der «Schwarzenbach-Initiative» sichten werden.

Notes:

Im Proseminar 1 besteht der Leistungsnachweis aus einem Vortrag und einem Forschungsbericht (3-5 Seiten). Im Proseminar 2 wird verlangt: Ausarbeitung eines Konzepts zur Proseminararbeit (2-3 Seiten) und Proseminararbeit (8-10 Seiten plus Literaturapparat). In beiden Proseminaren werden die Teilnahme an den Exkursionen (Schauplatz Brunngasse, Sozialarchiv) und mündliche Beteiligung erwartet. Kleinere Leistungsnachweise auf die Sitzung sind geplant.

Event Digital Creativity
06SE254p116a / Seminar / 632

Description:

Business event contents:

Is generative AI making us more or less creative? Are memes the most important art form of the past decade? How does digital creativity differ from analog creativity?

This course explores digital creativity as both a subject of scholarly inquiry and a form of hands-on practice. Drawing on communication, media psychology, design, and education, students examine how digital technologies reshape our creative processes and their psychological and societal implications. Each theoretical topic is paired with a hands-on activity in which students become digital creatives themselves and are introduced to tools and techniques such as prototyping, creative computing, web design, and AI-assisted content creation. The course emphasizes connecting theory and research to lived creative experiences.

- Gain an understanding of different forms of digital creativity and their psychological and societal implications.
- Critically examine and raise questions about studies and media narratives around digital creativity.
- Apply basic digital creative tools and techniques.
- Transfer knowledge gained from the course to emerging technologies and current debates.

Event Women and Forms of Politics, 1750-1850
06SE440p506a / Seminar / 4,898

Description:

Business event contents:

'Women it is said have no business with politics.-Why not?' (Charlotte Smith, Desmond (1792))

Although women were denied direct political representation, scholars have shown that women were actively involved in the world of eighteenth-century politics. Far from being unconcerned with contemporary politics, women attended public events such as the trial of Warren Hastings (1787-1795) and debates at the Houses of Parliament in great numbers, facilitated political discussions in salons across the continent, and were key figures in political campaigns such as the 1784 Westminster election. In the wake of the French Revolution, women campaigned for active citizenship, as Olympe de Gouges demanded in Déclaration des droits de la femme et de la citoyenne (1782). Women were also instrumental in promoting abolition campaigns and reform movements. As monarchs, empresses, queen consorts, and courtiers, women across Europe exercised political power and authority through official and non-official channels. This seminar will explore the different forms that women's political participation took between 1750 and 1850. We will consider the role of print and the different forms of political writing women adopted, as well as networks of correspondence. We will consider British as well as American writers.

We will explore topics such as friendship, political reform campaigns, abolition, historiography, among others. We will consider established figures such as Mary Wollstonecraft and Hannah More as well as lesser-known writers such as the prison reformer Elizabeth Fry.

Event Weltbilder im Web. Digitalisierte mittelalterliche Karten erforschen
06SE600-001b / Seminar / 3,021

Description:

Business event contents:

Mittelalterliche Karten speicherten Wissen, verorteten Herrschaftsansprüche und offenbaren uns heute Einblicke in die Weltbilder dieser fernen Epoche. Durch die fortschreitende Digitalisierung wirkt es einfacher als je zuvor, sich mit diesen Karten auseinanderzusetzen, zumal sie oftmals im Web frei verfügbar sind. Das Methodenseminar setzt an dieser Beobachtung an. Wir werden uns gemeinsam die vielfältigen Veränderungen vergegenwärtigen, die sich aus diesem neuen Umgang mit mittelalterlichen Karten ergeben. Die genannten Veränderungen betreffen die Materialität (vom Pergament zum Datensatz), den Mediengebrauch (vom physischen Dokument zum Surrogat), den Rezipientenkreis (von wenigen Mitgliedern einer Elite zu allen Menschen mit Internetzugang) und vor allem die Arbeitsweise. Deshalb werden wir uns sowohl mit herkömmlichen Methoden zur geschichtswissenschaftlichen Untersuchung von kartographischen Quellen als auch mit dem kritischen Umgang mit digitalen Methoden in den Geisteswissenschaften auseinandersetzen. Als Quellengrundlage dient uns ein Korpus von digitalisierten Welt-, Land- und Städtekarten vom 8. bis zum 16. Jahrhundert.

Die Veranstaltung ist Teil des an den Universitäten Zürich und Freiburg/Breisgau vorangetriebenen Lehrprojekts «DenkHaltung DH» und soll helfen, am Beispiel mittelalterlicher Quellen die Chancen und Herausforderungen zu erkennen, die sich aus dem Einsatz von digitalen Methoden ergeben. Im Rahmen der Veranstaltung sind auch Besuche in externen Institutionen wie der Kartenabteilung der ZB und Besuche von Externen im Seminar geplant.

Notes:

Leistungsnachweis: Im Lernprozess zu erbringende Leistungen (25%): aktive Mitgestaltung der Sitzungen, Tutorial zur Arbeit mit einer selbst gewählten digitalisierten Karte. Abgabe voraussichtlich in der 7. Semesterwoche, wird in der ersten Sitzung bestimmt.

Benotete schriftliche Arbeit (75%): 12-15 Seiten, Abgabe am 7. Juni 2027.

Description:

Business event contents:

«Einsamkeit»– verstärkt durch die Corona-Krise – in den letzten Jahre zu einem Thema geworden, das vermehrt öffentlich in Feuilletons, Leitartikeln oder Podcasts diskutiert wird. Es gibt verschiedene Gründe für das erhöhte Interesse. Einer der wichtigsten: Einsamkeit kann krank machen und ist gemäss WHO einer «Epidemie» zu vergleichen. Dazu kommt eine Zunahme an Einzelhaushalten.

Aber ist jedes Alleinsein per se schon ein Gesundheitsrisiko? Und ist jede Gemeinschaft die therapeutische Antwort auf das Leiden am Alleinsein?

In dieser Vorlesung geht es darum, Einsamkeit zu verstehen und über heilsame Gemeinschaft nachzudenken – aus psychologischer, soziologischer, philosophischer und praktisch-theologischer Sicht.

Wir werden die verschiedenen Facetten der Einsamkeit wie Isolation und Verlassenheit beleuchten, aber auch auf eine Kultur des Alleinseins zu sprechen kommen. Man kann Einsamkeit über die gesamte Lebensspanne betrachten (Kindheit/Jugend, frühes Erwachsenenalter, mittleres Erwachsenenleben, höheres Alter) und nach Einflussfaktoren (z.B. Gesundheit, Lebensereignisse) und Konsequenzen fragen. sowie Konsequenzen einbeziehen. Uns interessiert die Antwort der Seelsorge auf das Phänomen – inklusive der Antworten, die von der praktischen Philosophie (Lebenskunst) und der christlichen Spiritualität (Lebensform) gegeben werden. Wir schlagen auch immer den Bogen zur Gemeinschaft bzw. Gemeinschaft und fragen, wie das Bedürfnis nach sozialen Beziehungen und Kontakten im Zeitalter der «Singularität» eingelöst werden kann.

Event Principles of Neuroeconomics PhD
03SEDOEC0913 / Doktorandenseminar / 2,256

Description:

Business event contents:

In this course, students are expected to practice and demonstrate thoughtful combination of knowledge and skills learned in the separate compulsory courses within the Doctoral Program in Neuroeconomics. Specifically, students read and discuss a series of research articles that relate to the material covered in the other, previously completed compulsory courses. There is a written exam that tests how well students can interpret and critically evaluate the content and conclusions of the articles in light of what they have learned in all other compulsory modules.

Notes:

This course will be held on Tuesdays from 11:00-12:30 in the 2nd, 5th, 8th, and 11th weeks of the fall term. The articles to be discussed with the instructor on each date will be listed and distributed at the first meeting. Students are expected to have read each article in depth before each meeting. They should come prepared to ask questions about the articles themselves and/or how they relate to neuroeconomics in general.

Venue: BLU-008

This module will not be podcasted or recorded.

Course Materials: The list of journal articles will be distributed via OLAT before the first meeting in the first week of courses.

Event Das Eine oder das Andere? Kritik philosophischer Unterscheidungen
06SE160p501a / Seminar / 3,977

Description:

Business event contents:

In der Philosophie haben wir es oft mit sehr grundlegenden Unterscheidungen zu tun, die zum Standardrepertoire des philosophischen Denkens gehören. Solche Unterscheidungen können äusserst nützlich sein, insofern sie es ermöglichen, komplexe Sachverhalte präzise zu beschreiben und eine zuvor unübersichtliche oder verschwommene begriffliche Landschaft systematisch zu ordnen. Gleichzeitig können selbst liebgewonnene Unterscheidungen leicht zum Verhängnis werden, insbesondere dann, wenn sie problematisch, nicht erschöpfend oder nicht trennscharf sind, wenn ihre Grenzen oder Reichweite verkannt werden, oder wenn sie einfach falsch angewendet werden. In diesem Seminar werden wir anhand klassischer und zeitgenössischer Texte eine Reihe philosophischer Unterscheidungen kritisch erörtern, wie zum Beispiel jene zwischen analytischer und synthetischer Wahrheit, apriorischen und aposteriorischen Urteilen, Wissen (know that) und Können (know how), intrinsischen und extrinsischen, primären und sekundären Eigenschaften, Substanz und Qualität, Zustand und Ereignis, Type und Token, absolut und relativ, notwendig und kontingent, direkt und indirekt sowie subjektiv und objektiv. Indem die Kunst des Unterscheidens selbst zum Gegenstand philosophischer Überlegungen wird, können die Studierenden nicht nur ihr Problembewusstsein schärfen, sondern erhalten auch die Gelegenheit, zusätzliche Sicherheit im Umgang mit philosophischem Fachvokabular zu gewinnen.

Course Materials: Die Unterrichtsmaterialien werden auf OLAT verfügbar gemacht.

Die Sammlung des Klosters Einsiedeln ist topographisch geordnet. Die Teilnehmenden erhalten die Aufgabe, sich geographisch zu spezialisieren und sich einem 'Hot spot' der schweizerischen Ansichtenproduktion zu widmen. Vermittelt werden Kenntnisse aus allen Bereichen der Sammlungspflege. Praktische Fragen der druckgraphischen Techniken, der Erhaltung, Konservierung und Katalogisierung sind ebenso Teil der Veranstaltung, wie die kunsthistorischen und rezeptionsgeschichtlichen Aspekte auf dem Gebiet der sogenannten 'Schweizer Kleinmeister'. Die Katalogisate der im Rahmen der Übung bearbeiteten Blätter dienen dem Kloster danach als Grundlage für die eigene Sammlungsdatenbank.

Event ST Proseminar Ethics
01PS23LB103 / Proseminar / 2,626

Description:

Business event contents:

Gefühle bringen einen um den Verstand, so der Volksmund. Sie vernebeln die Sicht auf die Dinge mehr, als dass sie Klarheit schaffen. Macht sie das im Blick auf ethische Urteilsfindung und moralische Orientierung obsolet? Sind Gefühle hauptsächlich Störfaktoren der Vernunft oder enthalten sie selbst eine Art von (ethisch relevantem) Wissen? Wann ist «emotional-sein» ein Problem und wann ist Emotionslosigkeit eine Gefahr? In diesem Proseminar befassen wir uns mit der moralischen Bedeutung von (ausgewählten) Emotionen für die theologische Ethik. Dazu werden verschiedene Ansätze von Theolog:innen, Religionsphilosoph:innen und christlichen Schriftsteller:innen gelesen, kritisch diskutiert und im Blick auf ausgewählte Anwendungsfelder analysiert.

Das Proseminar soll neben der inhaltlichen Schwerpunktsetzung dem Kennenlernen und Einüben von grundlegenden wissenschaftlichen Arbeitsmethoden dienen. Die Studierenden sollen die methodischen Fähigkeiten zur wissenschaftlichen Analyse, Bearbeitung und Diskussion ethischer Texte und Problemstellungen erlernen und üben, in ethischen Diskursen Position zu beziehen.

Event «Qualitative Evaluation(-sforschung): Diskurs und Praxis»

06SE226-532a / Seminar / 643

Description:

Business event contents:

Evaluationen können u.a. als «systematische Untersuchungen des Nutzens oder Wertes eines Gegenstandes» verstanden werden (DeGEval, 2002, S. 13). Die Bandbreite der Gegenstände reicht von Programmen, Projekten und Massnahmen über Organisationen bis hin zu konkreten Unterrichtsstunden oder Materialien. Ebenso vielfältig sind die Ziele, welche mit Evaluationen verfolgt werden: Sie dienen u.a. der Entwicklungsarbeit und Reflexion, aber auch der Steuerung, Kontrolle und Legitimation.

Aufgrund dieser Breite begegnen uns Evaluationen in fast allen gesellschaftlichen Bereichen wie Politik, Wirtschaft und Wissenschaft. Die Fähigkeit, solche Untersuchungen kritisch zu reflektieren, ist daher im Studium - etwa für evaluative Fragestellungen in der Masterarbeit - ebenso wichtig wie in der (ausser-)universitären Berufspraxis.

Das methodische Spektrum in der Evaluationspraxis umfasst sowohl quantitative als auch qualitative Methoden sowie Mixed-Method-Designs. Dieses Modul nähert sich dem Thema Evaluation aus einer spezifischen Perspektive und nimmt Formen, Methoden, Kontexte und Praxen der qualitativen Evaluation(-sforschung) in den Blick. Gerade in pädagogischen Kontexten erscheint es oftmals gegenstandsangemessen, an den konkreten Erfahrungen und dem Wissen der Untersuchten anzusetzen.

Ziel des Moduls ist es einerseits einen orientierenden Überblick sowie Grundlagenwissen zu erarbeiten und andererseits im Rahmen von Übungen praktische Bezüge herzustellen. Darüber hinaus entwickeln die Studierenden eine eigene, kritische Perspektive zum Modulthema, indem Fragen reflektiert werden wie: Braucht es eine genuine qualitative Evaluationsforschung? Muss zwischen qualitativer Evaluation und qualitativer Evaluationsforschung unterschieden werden und wo liegt die Grenze?

Event Authoritarianism in the Digital Age
06SE615p510a / Seminar / 3,910

Description:

Business event contents:

Authoritarianism is back. Today, nearly 72 percent of the world's population lives under autocratic rule, and for the first time in more than two decades there are more autocracies than democracies worldwide (V-Dem, 2025). Understanding how authoritarian regimes maintain, legitimize, and stabilize power has therefore become one of the central challenges for political science. This seminar seeks to address this question by critically examining how contemporary non-democratic regimes exercise, legitimize, and stabilize power in the digital age. The course consists of three different blocks. The first block introduces the conceptual foundations necessary to distinguish various non-democratic, and illiberal regimes. The second block examines the evolving core toolkit of non-democratic rule by exploring how autocrats use institutions, elections, repression, co-optation, legitimation, diplomacy, and surveillance to maintain power, with particular attention to how these tools are reshaped by digital technologies and Big Tech corporations. In the final block, students apply the theoretical frameworks developed throughout the semester to a contemporary case of their choice, analysing how a specific non-democratic regime mobilizes political and technological resources to secure its rule. Assessment consists of an individual presentation, a social media video, and an end-of-term case regime report.

The seminar will be hold in English.

Event Synthesizing Research Evidence: Systematic Reviews and Meta-Analyses
06SEG80p119a / Seminar / 5,509

Description:

Business event contents:

Day 1 will introduce the foundations of synthesizing research evidence. We will cover the key principles, goals, and quality criteria of systematic reviews, and guide participants through the full workflow-from defining a research question and conducting literature searches to screening studies and extracting data. Particular emphasis will be placed on hands-on activities, where participants work with real datasets to move from raw search results to a structured dataset ready for meta-analysis. In addition, we will explore the use of AI-based tools to support the screening process, alongside a critical reflection on their benefits, limitations, and implications for transparency and reproducibility.

Day 2 will focus on the statistical analyses to synthesize quantitative evidence. We will dive into standard and complex meta-analytic modeling approaches, including robust variance estimation, multilevel and multivariate meta-analysis. These approaches deal with effect size multiplicity-a characteristic of most meta-analyses.

Event Comparative Private Law

02VL90CL5-1 / Course / 3,778

Description:

Business event contents:

This course is designed to equip students with a methodologically grounded understanding ofThis course is designed to equip students with a methodologically grounded understanding of approaches to comparative private law. It begins with an introduction—based on selected key readings—to the historical development of comparative law and the evolution of its methodological frameworks (Babusiaux). Building on this foundation, the course will explore specific domains, in particular contract law (McColgan), the law of succession with special focus testamentary freedom and forced heirship (Liebrecht) and family law from the perspective of Islamic law (Yassari), in order to illustrate and apply methodological considerations in concrete legal contexts.

Active participation requires prior engagement with the assigned readings, which will be made available in full via OLAT. Assessment will consist of a critical evaluation of a scholarly text addressing issues in comparative law. A foundational knowledge of private law across diverse legal systems is assumed.

Course Materials: All slides and documents will be published on the respective website of each chair.

Event Theories in Political Science
06SE615p511a / Seminar / 4,880

Description:

Business event contents:

To conduct research successfully, and to ultimately become productive academics, PhD students must engage with a wide range of literatures cutting across various subfields within political science. Ideas often come from unexpected places and students who focus too narrowly too early are less able to engage in the big questions that drive the discipline, and social science more generally. A broad understanding of the foundational works in political science across different subfields is necessary. This module exposes students to a wide variety of topics and literatures to assist them in developing research questions and theoretical approaches as they engage with their own research.

Scientific articles and books in field of political science will be used.

This course also welcomes advanced MA students, who can apply with the following materials: -CV -Project Description - Transcript of Records/Studienstand

Notes:

The course will take place in room AFL-H-376

Event Museen verstehen: Grundlagen des Wandels einer Kulturinstitution
06SE506p001a / Seminar / 2,021

Description:

Business event contents:

Kaum eine Kulturinstitution hat in den letzten Jahren und Jahrzehnten einen so tiefgreifenden Wandel durchlaufen wie das Museum. Er hat ihm neue Aktualität und Sichtbarkeit beschert, aber auch weitreichende Infragestellungen und andere Risiken. Kein Wunder also, dass die Situation «des Museums» (das es in solcher Homogenität nicht gibt) sehr unterschiedlich wahrgenommen wird: Die Vorhersage seiner grossen Zukunft und der Abgesang auf seine zweihundertjährige Tradition liegen aktuell oft eng beieinander.

Das Seminar nähert sich den Hintergründen dieser Entwicklungen und versucht, sie kultur- und museumstheoretisch zu verstehen. Es macht mit Grundlagenliteratur aus den Museum Studies -ihren wichtigsten Konzepten und Methoden - vertraut und fokussiert auf Kernfragen gegenwärtiger Museumsforschung und -praxis: Dazu zählen die generelle Frage nach dem Schritthalten mit den Entwicklungen in zunehmend von Diversität geprägten Gesellschaften, Fragen von Teilhabe und Inklusion, der Dekolonisierung und Demokratisierung, aber auch der Digitalisierung und ihres Einflusses auf die in der Objektivität und Räumlichkeit liegende Spezifik musealer Wahrnehmung.

Event Forschungsseminar Soziale Normen und Kooperation (Teil 1)
06SE240-506a / Seminar / 5,222

Description:

Business event contents:

Soziale Normen und Kooperation sind bestimmende Merkmale des gesellschaftlichen Zusammenlebens. Sie prägen unsere Interaktionen, Beziehungen und die Institutionen, welche wir aufbauen. Hierbei fungieren Normen als unsichtbare Regeln, die das Verhalten der Individuen lenken und es ermöglichen, in einer Gemeinschaft Kooperation zu ermöglichen. Ziel des Kurses ist die Weiterentwicklung und Bearbeitung eines eigenen empirischen Forschungsprojektes im Themenbereich sozialer Normen und Kooperation. Ein grundsätzliches Verständnis für soziale Normen und Kooperation sollte ebenso vorhanden sein wie auch eine erste Idee für ein eigenes empirisches Projekt, welches im Rahmen der Veranstaltung ausgebaut werden soll. Unter anderem können diese Kenntnisse und erste Ideen in der Veranstaltung "Einführung in die sozialen Normen und Kooperation" erworben werden.

Notes:

Ohne Unterricht im 2. Semester (2. Teil), Arbeit kann im 1. oder 2. Semester abgegeben werden.

Description:

Business event contents:

In den Kolloquien werden Texte der Teilnehmerinnen und Teilnehmer (insbesondere erste Fassungen und Teile von Bachelorarbeiten) gemeinsam diskutiert. Bei Bedarf können auch andere Texte besprochen werden. Sie kommentieren die Texte von anderen Studierenden in Form von Koreferaten und in der gemeinsamen Diskussion. Bewertet wird die im Portfolio dokumentierte Gesamtleistung.

Notes:

Damit der Arbeitsprozess optimal unterstützt wird, findet das Kolloquium unregelmässig und in Doppelsitzungen statt. Je nach Teilnehmerzahl und aufgrund des Abgabetermins für Bachelorarbeiten werden jeweils bis zu zwei Texte pro Doppelsitzung besprochen.

Event Hacking for Chemists - Prototyping and Hardware Programming
07VUCHE725.1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 1,327

Description:

Business event contents:

Our modern research environment often employs very specialized equipment and digital interfaces, which older devices often can't provide. Sometimes special means are required even just for a single experiment. Hence, a quick prototype or hack can come a long way - and this course will provide a stepping stone for that. Contents to be covered in theory and practice involve: Basics in electronics, overview of electronic components, building circuits, microcontroller programming, digital and analogue input/output processing, feedback control and low-level automation, 3D design, 3D printing.

Course Materials: Materials and information will be shared using OLAT. For hardware programming, students must use their own computer, information on the software will be available on OLAT. Materials and components for the practical exercises will be provided.

Event Ethnografien räumlicher Kultur: Methoden zwischen Systematik und Experiment in Diskussion
06KO506p504a / Colloquium / 857

Description:

Business event contents:

Mit dem sogenannten spatial turn in den Sozial- und Kulturwissenschaften hat nicht nur die Aufmerksamkeit für die räumliche Dimension der sozialen Welt an Bedeutung gewonnen, sondern ist auch die Suche nach geeigneten generellen Zugangsweisen und - im engeren Sinne - Methoden der Erforschung räumlicher Kultur intensiviert worden. Diese Suche hält ungeachtet gleichzeitiger anderer Konjunkturen der Neuorientierung von Forschung in den Humanities bis heute an.

Der Lektürekurs bietet fortgeschrittenen Studierenden der Empirischen Kulturwissenschaft einen vertieften Einblick in wichtige methodologische Debatten und exemplarische Anwendungen. Er macht insbesondere mit den für die - in einem weiten Sinne - ethnografische Erforschung von Räumlichkeit wesentlichen Konzepten und methodischen Umsetzungen vertraut. Neben verschiedenen «klassischen» Zugangsweisen sollen dabei auch Versuche der z.B. kognitionswissenschaftlichen Objektivierung sowie experimentelle Zugänge und solche der transdisziplinären bzw. künstlerischen Forschung kennengelernt und diskutiert werden.

Event Introduction to Cybersecurity Politics
06SE615p009a / Seminar / 3,911

Description:

Business event contents:

Cybersecurity is no longer just a technical issue - it is a central arena of global politics. From ransomware attacks and election interference to cyber espionage and digital infrastructure sabotage, cyber incidents shape international relations, national security strategies, and domestic politics. This seminar introduces students to the political, social, and ethical dimensions of cybersecurity. It examines how various actors (from states, public and private corporations, NGOs to citizens) understand and frame cyber threats, how cyber operations are used as instruments of power, and how questions of attribution, deterrence, norms, and regulation are negotiated both domestically and internationally. Throughout the semester, students engage with real-world cyber incidents and explore how authorities, public and private corporations and societies respond to crises in cyberspace. The course combines conceptual foundations with empirical case analysis and encourages students to critically assess how cyber threats reshape both contemporary security politics and everyday life. Assessment will consist of an individual presentation, a self-created social media video, and an end-of-term cyber incident report.

Notes:

The seminar will be hold in English.

Description:

Business event contents:

Im Kirchenrecht überschneiden sich langgestreckte rechtshistorische Traditionslinien, verfassungs- und verwaltungsrechtliche Strukturbildungen und Problemstellungen, die auch in Rechtsphilosophie und Rechtstheorie erörtert werden. In der Vorlesung soll versucht werden, diesen Verbindungslinien nachzugehen. Die Veranstaltung soll in die historischen Grundlagen des Kirchen- und Staatskirchenrechts einführen. In zwei weiteren Schritten werden das katholische und dann das evangelische Kirchenrecht näher in den Blick genommen.

Description:

Business event contents:

This course deals with the three central developments in the field of international trade regulation since the end of the Second World War, namely multilateralism, preferentialism and (coordinated) autonomy. The course begins with outlining the quasi-constitutional basis of international trade regulation to be found in the law and policy of the World Trade Organisation (WTO). Topics include the principles of non-discrimination and transparency, the pursuance of legitimate policy objectives other than trade liberalisation (such as the protection of the environment and human and animal life and health), non-tariff measures (such as rules on technical regulations and subsidies), and current developments (such as economic coercion, the dissolution of the WTO Appellate Body, trade sanctions in reaction to international aggression, and the (potential) trade war between the US, China and the rest of the world). Special attention is given to the case law of WTO panels and Appellate Body. The course then proceeds to discuss the law and policy of free trade agreements. Of particular interest are examples of regulatory innovation in selected free agreements which the US, the EU and Switzerland have concluded with partners all over the globe. Moreover, the relevance of "mega regionals" and plurilateral initiatives, such as EU-MERCOSUR, RCEP, CETA, or the Joint Statement Initiative on E-Commerce is discussed. The course concludes with a view on the newest regulatory development in international trade regulation: (coordinated) autonomy in the form of unilateral trade measures which link market access with trade-related interests (such as climate change, forced labour, or deforestation). The focus lies on the different variations of (coordinated) autonomy as evidenced in recent US, EU and Swiss trade policy decisions.

Event Von der Idee zum Produkt: ein mediengestütztes Lernangebot für den (Fremd-)Sprachenunterricht gestalten
06SE090MgL / Seminar / 2,989

Description:

Business event contents:

Dieses Seminar richtet sich an angehende (Fremd-)Sprachenlehrpersonen, aber auch Studierende weiterer Fächer, die einen interdisziplinären Ansatz mit einem Sprachfach verfolgen möchten. Auf der Grundlage von Modellen des Instructional Design und Methoden des Projektmanagements planen und entwickeln Sie eine längere Unterrichtssequenz, die nicht nur fachliche, sondern auch überfachliche und transversale Lernziele erreicht - ganz im Sinne des neuen Rahmenlehrplans. Bei dieser anspruchsvollen Aufgabe werden Sie von einer erfahrenen Lehrmittelautorin begleitet. Die Teilnahme an diesem Seminar erfordert Kreativität, Freude an der praktischen Arbeit und Durchhaltevermögen - belohnt werden Sie mit Unterrichtsmaterialien, die Sie selbst einsetzen und weitergeben können. Dabei entwickeln Sie das Mindset, das für Schulentwicklungsprojekte (z.B. Innovationsfonds des Digital Learning Hub) erforderlich ist und erhalten Einblick in aktuelle Fragen der Lehrmittelentwicklung.

Event Transversale Kompetenzen fördern mit Design thinking
06SE090DT / Seminar / 614

Description:

Business event contents:

Im neuen Rahmenlehrplan sind transversale Kompetenzen neben fachlichen Kompetenzen als integraler Bestandteil des Unterrichts verankert. Im Seminar steht die Frage im Zentrum, wie transversale Kompetenzen im gymnasialen Fachunterricht sinnvoll gefördert und sichtbar gemacht werden können. Die Studierenden setzen sich mit zentralen transversalen Kompetenzbereichen auseinander und entwickeln Unterrichts- und Lernkonzepte, die fachliches und transversales Lernen verbinden. Design Thinking dient dabei als kreativer, kollaborativer und prozessorientierter Zugang zur Gestaltung von Lernprozessen, die komplexe Fragestellungen thematisieren.

Dieser Intensivsprachkurs bietet Lernenden mit guten Basiskenntnissen im Hocharabischen einen systematischen Einstieg in den syrisch-arabischen oder levantinischen Dialekt, wie er mit lokalen Abweichungen in Syrien, Jordanien, Palästina und dem Libanon gesprochen wird. Anhand kommunikativer Standardsituationen werden Lautlehre, Grammatik und ein repräsentativer Wortschatz dieses Dialektes vermittelt und geübt. Besonderes Augenmerk gilt dem Training des Hörverständnisses anhand von Originalmaterial und dem systematischen Üben der vom Hocharabischen abweichenden Formen.

Notes:

Die Veranstaltung findet online zu den angegebenen Zeiten statt. Es ist möglich, dem Unterricht im angegebenen Raum beizuwohnen.

Die schriftliche Prüfung wird in Präsenz unter Aufsicht durchgeführt; die mündlichen Prüfungen werden online abgehalten (Daten siehe Angaben zum Leistungsnachweis).

Event ST Seminar Dogmatics: Church - Digital, local, regional, global?

01SE23SS054 / Seminar / 2,613

Description:

Business event contents:

Kirche verändert sich derzeit in ihren Formen massiv: Neue Gottesdienstformen, neue Formen von Spiritualität, neue Formen von Gemeinschaft entstehen. Dazu gehören auch digitale Formen von Kirche. Erkennbar ist erstens die Übertragung gewohnter Formen religiösen Lebens in eine digitale Form (transferring), zweitens die Modifikation religiöser Rituale für den digitalen Gebrauch (translating), sowie drittens die Entstehung neuer, auch stärker dialogischer bzw. interaktiver religiöser Praktiken und Settings (transforming). Durch diese Formen verändert sich das, was theologisch mit dem Begriff „Kirche“ gefasst wird: Die Vergemeinschaftungen der Glaubenden in ihren sichtbaren, personalen, leiblichen, räumlich und zeitlich umgrenzten Gestalten und entsprechenden Gestaltungsformaten. Das Seminar reflektiert diese Veränderungen aus kirchentheoretischer und ekklesiologischer, systematisch-theologischer und praktisch-theologischer Perspektive.

Notes:

Leistungsnachweise können auf Masterstufe sowohl in der Systematischen Theologie wie auch in der Praktischen Theologie (im Wahlbereich) erworben werden.

Während der Reading Week vom 12.-16.10.2026 finden keine Lehrveranstaltungen an der TRF statt.

Event PT Lecture Religious Education: Religious Education in Church and Congregation
01VL24SV026 / Course / 2,097

Description:

Business event contents:

In den letzten Jahren hat sich die religionspädagogische Forschung und Aufmerksamkeit deutlich auf den Bereich der sogenannten Gemeindepädagogik hin ausgeweitet. Kirchliche Bildungsangebote für unterschiedliche Altersgruppen (Kinder und Jugendliche, KonfirmandInnen, Erwachsenenbildung, SeniorInnenbildung), Zielgruppen mit thematischer Fokussierung (Theologiekurse, Akademiearbeit, Spiritualitätsangebote etc.) stehen damit vor der Herausforderung, ihre eigenen Zugänge und Angebote religionspädagogisch verantwortet durchzuführen und dabei zu bedenken, mit welchen Zielsetzungen und wie sie diese Angebote konkret durchführen. Die Vorlesung entfaltet die Grundfragen und Bedingungen gemeindepädagogischen Handelns und konkretisiert dies durch Einblicke in die Vielfalt der entsprechenden Angebote.

Event Neuromorphic Engineering I
07VLIN1404.1 / Course / 3,546

Description:

Business event contents:

Neuromorphic circuits are inspired by the organizing principles of biological neural circuits. Their computational primitives are based on physics of semiconductor devices. Neuromorphic architectures often rely on collective computation in parallel networks. Adaptation, learning and memory are implemented locally within the individual computational elements. Transistors are often operated in weak inversion (below threshold), where they exhibit exponential I-V characteristics and low currents. These properties lead to the feasibility of high-density, low- power implementations of functions that are computationally intensive in other paradigms. Application domains of neuromorphic circuits include silicon retinas and cochleas for machine vision and audition, real-time emulations of networks of biological neurons, and the development of autonomous robotic systems. This course covers devices in CMOS technology (MOS transistor below and above threshold, floating-gate MOS transistor, phototransducers), static circuits (differential pair, current mirror, transconductance amplifiers, etc.), dynamic circuits (linear and nonlinear filters, adaptive circuits), systems (silicon neuron, silicon retina and cochlea) and an introduction to multi-chip systems that communicate events analogous to spikes. The lectures are accompanied by weekly laboratory sessions on the characterization of neuromorphic circuits, from elementary devices to systems.

Event Kammermusik um 1900
06SE760p005a / Seminar / 1,553

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Jahrzehnte um 1900 lassen sich insbesondere mit Blick auf europäische Kompositionsgeschichte als Phase der Auf- und Umbrüche beschreiben. Carl Dahlhaus sprach in diesem Kontext von einer 'Moderne', die sich nach 1910 in 'Neue Musik' und 'Klassizismus' aufgespalten habe. Ihre Anfänge ortete er u.a. bei Strauss (Don Juan, 1888) und Mahler (Erste Sinfonie, 1885-88, anschliessend mehrere Revisionen), ihr Ende bei Schönbergs Übergang zu atonalem Komponieren. Welches Bild dieses Zeitraums ergibt sich jedoch, wenn man ausschliesslich auf Kammermusik fokussiert und um 1910 den Horizont über die Wiener Schule hinaus weitet? Dieser Frage wollen wir im Seminar nachgehen, werden sie - dies sei vorausgeschickt - jedoch keineswegs abschliessend beantworten können. Aus Zeitgründen setzen wir uns geographisch enge Grenzen, unternehmen Probebohrungen in verschiedenen Zentren des deutschsprachigen Raums (u.a. Wien, Berlin, München) und fahnden hierbei auch nach Partituren von Komponistinnen, namentlich von Luise Adolpha Le Beau (1950-1927) und Clara Faisst (1872-1948).

Event Theorien der Sexualität: Lust, Scham und die Politik des Begehrens
06SE245p522a / Seminar / 5,396

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie lässt sich lustvoll denken und schreiben - und was hat dies mit Sexualität zu tun? Wie wird Sexualität gedacht, reguliert und erlebt? Wie hängen Lust, Scham und Begehren zusammen, und welche Rolle spielen Macht, Wissen und gesellschaftliche Normen?

Dieses Seminar bietet eine historisch-systematische Einführung in zentrale Theorien der Sexualität. Wir lesen klassische und neuere Texte aus feministischer, queer-theoretischer und intersektionaler Sexualitätsforschung und diskutieren, wie Sexualität kulturell, politisch und wissenschaftlich geformt wird.

Ausgehend von Autor*innen wie Michel Foucault, Gayle Rubin, Pat Califia, bell hooks, Audre Lorde, Judith Butler, Kim de l'Horizon, Annie Sprinkle, Susanna Paasonen und Sara Ahmed beschäftigen wir uns mit Fragen von Körperwissen, Begehren, Normen und sexueller Freiheit.

Das Seminar verbindet theoretische Lektüre mit Diskussion, kurzen Inputs und gemeinsamen Analysen.

Leistungsnachweise können auch in kreativen Formaten erbracht werden, etwa als Essay, Podcast, visuelle, literarische oder performative Arbeit.

Notes:

Regelmässige Anwesenheit und aktive Mitarbeit werden erwartet.

Event L'accordo dal latino alle lingue romanze
06VL410p001a / Course / 1,720

Description:

Business event contents:

Nelle lingue flessive l'accordo è fenomeno onnipervasivo e multiforme. I diversi fenomeni così etichettati sono accomunati dal fatto che un determinato elemento (il bersaglio) contiene informazione relativa ad un altro elemento (il controllore), presente o meno nel contesto. In latino ad es. in _video filiam meam_ 'vedo mia figlia' l'aggettivo concordava col nome per genere, numero e caso mentre in italiano l'accordo di caso è scomparso e i generi fra i quali la regola di accordo sceglie sono due, non più tre. Oltre che nei tratti interessati, le regole di accordo possono variare, nello spazio e nel tempo, quanto ai controllori e ai bersagli coinvolti nonché alle condizioni cui esse soggiacciono. Un'ulteriore possibilità di variazione concerne le caratteristiche del controllore pertinenti per l'accordo, che generalmente sono sia morfosintattiche che semantiche ma possono anche essere solo di quest'ultimo tipo, come nell'italiano popolare _La gente parlano_ (inaccettabile nello standard), dove l'accordo verbale plurale scatta a causa del fatto che il sostantivo gente denota un'insieme di persone. Il corso introdurrà problemi e metodi dello studio dell'accordo tracciandone le linee evolutive dal latino (senza presupporre la conoscenza) alle lingue romanze e proponendo alcuni approfondimenti, in parte sull'italo-romanzo, in parte su altre aree della Romània.

Course Materials:

Event I dialetti settentrionali
06SE410p003a / Seminar / 1,360

Description:

Business event contents:

Nel ricco panorama linguistico italiano, le varietà settentrionali si distinguono dall'italiano standard per una serie di particolarità. Ad es. 1) in parte del Settentrione variare la lunghezza di una vocale accentata comporta un mutamento di significato ([nas] con la breve vuol dire 'nasce', [na:s] con la lunga vuol dire 'naso'); 2) quasi ovunque sono ignote forme dell'articolo del tipo lo (come nel tosc. lo scudo); 3) in tutto il Nord si dice la Maria la va anziché Maria va. Di questi ed altri tratti salienti dei dialetti settentrionali ci occuperemo nel seminario, che mira a introdurre strumenti di lavoro e metodi della ricerca dialettologica. A tal fine nelle sedute introduttive il docente presenterà esempi concreti di analisi di dati dialettali per ciascun livello di struttura (fonetica/fonologia, morfologia, sintassi, lessico). Seguirà la parte esercitativa, nella quale i/le partecipanti svilupperanno individualmente un tema specifico, scelto fra quelli proposti.

Course Materials:

Per un primo accostamento ai dialetti settentrionali si richiede la lettura di M. Loporcaro, Profilo linguistico dei dialetti italiani, Roma-Bari, Laterza, 3^a edizione, 2026 (capp. 1-3 e cap. 4 limitatamente ai §§4.1, 4.2, 4.3 e 4.7). Ulteriore bibliografia, in relazione ai singoli temi di esercitazione, sarà indicata all'inizio del seminario.

Event Contract Design I

02VL90WM4-1 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 4,024

Description:

Business event contents:

Contract Design I is taught by Professor Alexander Stremitzer and aims to bridge the gap between economic contract theory, contract law, and the writing of real-world contracts. In this course, we take a systematic approach to contract design. This means we first analyze the economic environment in which a transaction takes place, and then engineer contracts that achieve the desired outcome. Note that this is NOT a legal drafting class that focuses on contractual language. Instead, in Contract Design I, you will learn what the content of a contract should be so that parties can reach their goals.

Contracts are agreements between parties to engage in transactions. A good contract creates value by giving parties the right incentives to meet their objectives. A good contract designer scrutinizes the economic situation in which parties find themselves and tailors the contract to the challenges at hand. To help you become sophisticated contract designers, we draw from insights, for which more than half a dozen Nobel Prizes were awarded in the past two decades, and transfer them to the art of writing real-world contracts. In other words, Contract Design I will provide you with analytical tools related to contracting that are invaluable to successful lawyers, business leaders, and startup founders.

In Contract Design I, you will be asked to watch a series of videos (10-15 minutes each) that we produced for this course. These video episodes introduce you to key concepts of economic, behavioral, and experimental contract theory. We will cover topics such as moral hazard, adverse selection, elicitation mechanisms, relationship-specific investments, and relational contracting.

You can find the welcome video at this link Link: <https://contractdesignlab.com/videos/001-introduction>

The course will be held in a flipped class-room model: This means that you will watch learning videos specifically produced for this course ahead of the lecture and we will use the class time to discuss real- world case studies

We will cover topics such as moral hazard, adverse selection, elicitation mechanisms, relationship-specific investments, and relational contracting and apply the theoretical insights to real-life case studies ranging from purchases & sales of assets, oil & gas exploration, movie production & distribution, construction & development, M&A deals, to executive compensation and many other types of transactions.

UZH students: Your grade will consist of four parts:

1. You will take weekly computer-based quizzes during class time. Thus, it is important that you attend the lectures to be able to finish the quizzes and pass this course.
2. You compose short responses to take-home questions on case studies we assign and upload them ahead of class (Pass/Fail).
3. You participate in a group project where your team prepares and records a Powerpoint presentation on an assigned case study. You will take the role of consultants advising a company board on the design of an upcoming major transaction.
4. You complete a 2-page assignment consisting in identifying an interesting contractual arrangement (contracts in standard-form collections, real world contracts you might find, etc.) and offer a written critique of the contract from a contract-design perspective (Pass/Fail).

Description:

Business event contents:

Ziel des Moduls ist eine vertiefte Erfahrung der Lernpotentiale von Schülern*innen zu Beginn ihrer Bildungskarriere. Durch das Vermitteln von MINT-Inhalten im Anfangsunterricht lernen sie unterschiedliche MINT-Bildungsbiographien kennen und können die Entwicklung von Vorstellungen mitverfolgen. Das Seminar mit Assistenzzeit beinhaltet drei Phasen: Im Blockseminar werden Alltagsvorstellungen im eigenen Fach als auch theoretische Inputs aus Entwicklungs- und Kognitionspsychologie diskutiert. Während der Assistenzzeit wird aktiv in einer Klasse eine von den Primar- und Sekundarlehrpersonen definierte Lehraufgabe übernommen. Zum Schluss erfolgt das Verfassen eines Schlussreportes, welcher die Beschreibung des Wissenstandes der SuS beinhaltet. Dieses Seminar ist nur für LD Studierende geeignet, die sich flexibel auf die Bedürfnisse von SuS im MINT Eingangunterricht einlassen möchten.

Event Cellular Modelling of Neuropsychiatry
07VUBME365 / Block Course / 516

Description:

Business event contents:

Since the discovery of induced pluripotent stem cells (iPSC) technology by Yamanaka and Takahashi in 2006, this powerful human stem cell technology has gained great interest worldwide across many biological and medical science fields. Mental disorders, including autism spectrum conditions, schizophrenia, anorexia nervosa, bipolar and Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD) to name a few, have genetic/polygenic, neuro-immunological, environmental and neurodevelopmental causes, with complex aetiology to be yet revealed. Patient specific iPSC-disease modelling promise new opportunities in treatment monitoring, discovery of optimal medication in homogeneous patient groups and new diagnostic markers for identifying different disease subtypes. The course will provide some insights into the technology, with background knowledge to personalized cellular modelling, and hands-on experience in the culturing and quality control (QC) techniques from somatic cells up to neural cells known in the CNS.

Event From stem cell analysis to application
07VUBME350 / Block Course / 1,066

Description:

Business event contents:

Regenerative therapies are gaining importance for treating a wide range of diseases, including cardiovascular conditions and bone injuries. This interdisciplinary course is jointly organized by the University Hospital Zurich (USZ) and the Institute for Regenerative Medicine (IREM), focusing on two key areas: bone regeneration and cardiovascular tissue repair.

In the lecture sessions, students will explore the fundamentals of stem cell technologies, their application in disease modelling, and their therapeutic potential in regenerative medicine.

In the practical component, students will:

1. Learn how to culture, differentiate, and characterize human stem cells and their derivatives,
2. Gain insights into tissue engineering strategies,
3. Apply complementary techniques for biomarker analysis.

The course also includes self-study, data interpretation exercises, and concludes with group presentations.

Event Biomaterials and Applied Technologies in Dentistry
07VUBME345 / Block Course / 476

Description:

Business event contents:

Advances in the field of biomaterials and digital technologies changed the conventional applications in the dental profession and introduced many therapy options for tooth-, implant- and mucosa-borne solutions. Material science knowledge is essential for a wide range of applications ranging from tooth pastes to implants or bone substitutes. In this course, fundamental knowledge and current developments in the field of dental biomaterials, namely metals, high performance ceramics, polymers and composites will be introduced and formative, computer-aided subtractive and additive digital technologies will be demonstrated and practiced. Practical part of the course will allow for experiencing fabrication technologies for reconstructions and tissue substitutes as well as practising digital impression technologies, designing, manufacturing artificial materials and testing their stability. The course topic is at the interface between material science and biomedical engineering. Students are expected to approach a specific topic by self- study, literature and data analysis and at the end of the course present their work to the members of the group and write a short report.

Description:

Business event contents:

This course explores the fundamental principles of immune and inflammatory disorders, with particular emphasis on the experimental tools used to investigate these conditions. Students will work in three rotating groups, each focusing weekly on a different subtopic. The core themes include allergies, infections, inflammatory skin disorders, and autoimmunity.

The course begins with an introductory lecture providing an overview of the main immunological and inflammatory mechanisms underlying disease. Following this, students will gain hands-on experience with experimental design and laboratory methodologies used in both research and diagnostic settings. Practical training includes drawing human blood and subsequently processing, culturing, and analysing immune cells. In addition, students will perform organ isolation and cell culture techniques using experimental laboratory mice.

Throughout the course, weekly short presentations by clinicians will complement the laboratory work. These sessions will focus on the diagnosis and treatment of immune and inflammatory diseases, helping students connect experimental findings with clinical practice.

The course concludes with a three-part assessment (each 45 minutes) conducted in groups of five students:

- Group Presentation (Scientific Literature): Students present and critically evaluate a scientific publication related to laboratory research in immune or inflammatory disorders.
- Group Presentation (Experimental Problem-Solving): Students analyse and discuss a laboratory-related scientific problem, such as experimental design or methodological challenges.
- Individual Oral Examination: Students are examined individually on the theoretical and practical topics covered throughout the course. The examination takes place with the full group present, but each student is assessed separately.

07VUBME364 / Block Course / 1,904

Description:

Business event contents:

This course explores the immunological and molecular mechanisms underlying allergic diseases. Students will study the pathophysiology, diagnosis, and treatment of conditions such as asthma, food allergies, and atopic dermatitis. The course combines lectures, practical laboratory sessions, and case studies to provide a comprehensive understanding of both theoretical and clinical aspects of allergy. By examining current research, diagnostic methods, and emerging therapies, students will gain the skills needed to contribute to advancements in allergy treatment and management.

The practical part of this course (10-13 Nov) will be organized at the SIAF in Davos, and students will need to cover travel expenses and a part of the accommodation costs by themselves.

Notes:

This course will take place partially in Zurich and partially at the Swiss Institute of Allergy and Asthma Research in Davos.

Event Statistik I, Tutorat, Gruppe 03
06TT240-006c / Tutorat / 5,235

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie sind Einkommen und Armut in der Schweiz verteilt? Verändert sich mit zunehmendem Alter die Bereitschaft zu nachhaltiger Lebensweise? Wie sicher können wir auf Basis einer Zufallsstichprobe von 100 Personen Wahlergebnisse voraussagen? Um solche Fragen schlüssig und prägnant zu beantworten, benötigen wir Statistik. Die Veranstaltung baut zunächst eine Brücke von den erhebungstechnischen Grundlagen quantitativer Sozialforschung zum Kernelement der Statistik: Der Variable. Das zentrale Motiv der Statistik, die Verdichtung von Information, führt dann zur Suche nach geeigneten univariaten Statistiken (Mittelwerte, Streuungsmaße, Häufigkeiten), zur Auseinandersetzung mit Techniken der Zusammenhangsanalyse (Tabellenanalyse, Mittelwertvergleich, Regressionsanalyse) und den wahrscheinlichkeitstheoretischen Grundlagen statistischer Verallgemeinerungen sowie Hypothesentests.

Theory Day HS 2026

Organized by Katharina Gerund & Barbara Straumann

Prof. Dr. Rinaldo Walcott (State University of New York at Buffalo): Rinaldo Walcott holds the Carl V. Granger Chair in Africana and American Studies at the University at Buffalo. Previously, he was professor of Black Diaspora Cultural Studies at the University of Toronto, Canada. He is a writer and critic, whose research is in the areas of Black Diaspora Cultural Studies, gender and sexuality with interests in nations, nationalisms, multiculturalism, policy and education broadly defined. As an interdisciplinary Black Studies scholar, Walcott has published in a wide range of venues on everything from literature to film, to theater to music to policy. His articles have appeared in scholarly journals and academic books, as well as popular outlets. He often comments on black cultural life for radio and TV. Walcott is the author of Black Like Who: Writing Black Canada (Insomniac Press, 1997, 2nd rev. ed. 2003) and of Queer Returns: Essays on Multiculturalism, Diaspora and Black Studies (Insomniac Press, 2016) as well as the co-author of Black Life: Post-BLM and the Struggle for Freedom (Arbeiter Ring, 2019). In 2021, Walcott published The Long Emancipation: Moving Towards Freedom (Duke UP) and On Property: Policing, Prisons, and the Call for Abolition (Biblioasis), which was nominated for the Heritage Toronto Book Award, longlisted for the Toronto Book Awards, a Globe and Mail Book of the Year, and listed in CBC Books Best Canadian Nonfiction of 2021. Most recently, his thought has been featured in Borders, Human Itineraries, and All Our Relations (Duke UP, 2024) and Diversity of Aesthetics (Common Notions, 2025).

The theory day and public lecture will draw on Rinaldo Walcott's work on emancipation and freedom, situated in the interdisciplinary field of Black Diaspora Cultural Studies. Readings will include - among others - excerpts from his book The Long Emancipation: Moving Towards Freedom (2021) and the co-edited volume Black Life: Post-BLM and the Struggle for Freedom (2019). His research is particularly timely in light of recent socio-political developments that revolve around race relations, white supremacy, and structural inequalities as well as in the context of the United States Semiquincentennial, which offers a unique moment to reflect on the various entanglements and meanings of freedom and unfreedom in US politics, society, and culture.

06VL410p008a / Course / 271

Description:

Business event contents:

Il corso sarà dato da Serenella Iovino (James Gordon Hanes Distinguished Professor in Humanities) presso l'Università della Carolina del Nord a Chapel Hill e Cattedra De Sanctis Visiting Professor al politecnico di Zurigo.

Questo corso indaga il ruolo degli animali nell'immaginario umano-narrativo, visivo e simbolico-per capire come noi, animali narrativi, ci siamo evoluti raccontando storie e raffigurando la nostra relazione con le altre specie. Il percorso, comparatistico e transdisciplinare, si muove all'incrocio tra environmental humanities e biocultural studies, intrecciando archeologia cognitiva, teoria dell'evoluzione, ecomedialità, psicologia archetipica e teoria letteraria.

Dopo un'introduzione dedicata alle origini evolutive e materiali della narrazione e delle immagini, il seminario si concentra sugli animali nella letteratura e nelle arti moderne e contemporanee. Ogni settimana sarà dedicata a una figura animale emblematica-cane, gatto, scimmia, scarafaggio, orso e altre ancora-trattata come dispositivo narrativo, specchio simbolico e laboratorio di immaginazione.

Il corso è concepito come uno spazio dialogico e partecipato, in cui letture teoriche, testi creativi e materiali iconografici si intrecciano con l'intervento attivo dei partecipanti.

Event Gewirkte Welten: Europäische Tapisserien zwischen Spätmittelalter und Früher Neuzeit
06SE640-009a / Seminar / 5,202

Description:

Business event contents:

Großformatige Tapisserien gehören zu den kostspieligsten Objekten, mit denen vom späten Mittelalter bis in die Frühe Neuzeit ganze Räume und Fassaden temporär umfassend ausgestattet und verändert werden konnten. Der Zeitaufwand bei Herstellung der Bildwirkereien als auch die verwendeten Materialien machten Tapisserien zur Luxusware, die der Wand- und Tafelmalerei der Zeit nicht selten den Rang abliefen. Das prestigeträchtige Medium wurde auch verwendet, um mit den darauf dargestellten Geschichten politische Signale zu vermitteln. Hier treten insbesondere die burgundischen Herrscher hervor, die sich durch beträchtliche Investitionen in die mobilen Bildwirkereien (etwa zu Alexander dem Großen oder Julius Caesar) bei Festen und Einzügen eine Kulisse für ihr politisches Wirken schufen. Doch auch literarische Themen, Wildleute, Wappen, biblische Erzählungen wurden in aufwendige Tapisserien umgesetzt, die Sammlerbegehrlichkeiten in ganz Europa weckten.

Das Seminar, das sich an Anfänger und Fortgeschrittene richtet, wird sich an ausgewählten Beispielen dem Medium Tapisserie widmen. In gemeinsamen Lektüren in den ersten Sitzungen sollen die methodischen Grundlagen erarbeitet werden. Auch Museumsbesuche in Zürich, Bern und Basel sind für das Semester eingeplant.

Notes:

Die Termine für Museumsbesuche in Zürich, Bern und Basel werden zu Beginn der Vorlesungszeit im Seminar besprochen und festgelegt.

Event La Serenissima Repubblica. Venezianische Kunst und Kultur der Frühen Neuzeit
06SE640-503a / Seminar / 5,058

Description:

Business event contents:

Die von transkulturellen Austauschprozessen geprägte venezianische Kultur der Frühen Neuzeit zeichnet sich durch eine Vielfalt an ästhetischen Phänomenen aus, denen innerhalb der europäischen Kunst oft ein singulärer Status zukommt. Die komplexe staatliche Struktur der Republik mit Dogen und Patriarchen an der Spitze förderte die Entwicklung signifikanter Darstellungsformen und Repräsentationsstrategien, die massgeblich nicht nur die Gestaltung und Nutzung öffentlicher Räume bestimmten, sondern zugleich der kommunalen Identitätsstiftung dienten. Anhand unterschiedlicher Gattungen und Objektgruppen sowie ihrer jeweiligen funktionalen Zusammenhänge setzt sich das Seminar mit jenen ausdifferenzierten ästhetischen Strategien auseinander, die das Selbstverständnis Venedigs als privilegierte See- und Handelsmacht fortwährend konstituierten und dauerhaft legitimierten.

Notes:

Das Seminar findet voraussichtlich vom 7.-15. November in Venedig statt. Die Teilnahme an den vorbereitenden Sitzungen am 29. September und am 20. Oktober, jeweils um 12:00 Uhr, ist obligatorisch. Interessierte bewerben sich bitte mit einem kurzen Motivationsschreiben (max. 1 Seite) bis zum 7. September an ida.colangelo@khist.uzh.ch

Event Applied statistics for biomedicine and biology: advanced linear models
07VUBME334 / Block Course / 288

Description:

Business event contents:

Linear models lie at the heart of many statistical approaches, yet applying them to biomedical or biological data is no trivial task. In this course, we start with a review of the basic linear model (OLS regression), and gradually extend its framework in R to arrive at Generalized Linear Mixed Models (GLMMs) which can accommodate for most common complications inherent to data in the life sciences. During the last week of the course, participants will be introduced to, and learn to apply, a Bayesian framework to build linear models.

Notes:

Room: Campus Irchel, Y42 K88

Participants should bring their own laptops with a recent version of R (and highly recommended, RStudio) installed

Event Human Evolutionary EcoPhysiology
07BLBIO204 / Block Course / 5,247

Description:

Business event contents:

Throughout the evolution of our species, natural environments have provided the context within which natural selection has acted to shape our biology. During the last 200-300 years, however, urban centres have rapidly become our primary habitat. This change may have created an evolutionary mismatch; a situation in which health and evolutionary fitness may be negatively influenced by an incompatibility between the environment Homo sapiens are primarily adapted to and the habitat we currently occupy. In this course, students will consider how humans have impacted the global environment throughout our evolutionary journey and how these changes impact human health, function and evolutionary fitness in the 21st Century. Drawing on evolutionary theory, physiology, immunology, ecology, microbiology and psychology, students will interact with these ideas through pertinent research articles, group discussions and a capstone research project.

Event Cultural Differences in Finance (S)
03SE22MO0278 / Seminar / 583

Description:

Business event contents:

The world is a diverse place, even considering today's globalized economy.

Cultural differences are still considerable. This also affects financial decision making which is influenced by economic as well as cultural differences. Differences in financial decision making, however, lead to differences between financial markets. In this class, we are discussing recent research on these cultural differences, and also how they can sometimes be used to test theories in behavioral finance. The basis for the class are research papers. The class will also include some small research project that participants will conduct in groups.

Notes:

Max. 20 Students

Students need to apply to participate in the seminar. Application (CV) is possible until Friday, 14th August, 2026, at the latest to banking@uni-trier.de. Should there be places left after the deadline, later applications will be considered.

Event Statistik I, Tutorat, Gruppe 01
06TT240-006a / Tutorat / 5,233

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie sind Einkommen und Armut in der Schweiz verteilt? Verändert sich mit zunehmendem Alter die Bereitschaft zu nachhaltiger Lebensweise? Wie sicher können wir auf Basis einer Zufallsstichprobe von 100 Personen Wahlergebnisse voraussagen? Um solche Fragen schlüssig und prägnant zu beantworten, benötigen wir Statistik. Die Veranstaltung baut zunächst eine Brücke von den erhebungstechnischen Grundlagen quantitativer Sozialforschung zum Kernelement der Statistik: Der Variable. Das zentrale Motiv der Statistik, die Verdichtung von Information, führt dann zur Suche nach geeigneten univariaten Statistiken (Mittelwerte, Streuungsmaße, Häufigkeiten), zur Auseinandersetzung mit Techniken der Zusammenhangsanalyse (Tabellenanalyse, Mittelwertvergleich, Regressionsanalyse) und den wahrscheinlichkeitstheoretischen Grundlagen statistischer Verallgemeinerungen sowie Hypothesentests.

Event Theorie in der empirischen erziehungswissenschaftlichen Forschung
06SEG80p122a / Seminar / 5,510

Description:

Business event contents:

The course introduces participants to different types of educational theories and examines how such theories are developed, refined, and tested within empirical educational research. It is shown how theoretical perspectives inform the design, implementation, and interpretation of empirical studies, as well as how theoretical constructs can be operationalised. The course also explores how theory and empirical evidence are integrated and presented in scholarly publications, particularly in academic journals. A focus lies on outlining typical deficits in theory building and evaluation in this (and related) research fields and on how to overcome these deficits.

The course is designed to be accessible to PhD-students from diverse methodological backgrounds and is not intended solely for those with a quantitative focus.

Event Innere Konstanten der Sprachgeschichte des Deutschen
06VL360p133a / Course / 5,171

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Thema der Ringvorlesung schliesst direkt an konzeptionelle und terminologische Überlegungen an, wie sie Stefan Sonderegger in seinem ersten Band der "Grundzüge deutscher Sprachgeschichte" entwickelt hat. So geht Sonderegger davon aus, dass es "eine in der Diachronie des Deutschen nicht nur über kürzere oder längere Zeit wirksame, sondern durch die gesamte deutsche Sprachgeschichte von Sprachstufe zu Sprachstufe immer wieder hervortretende Veränderungstendenz im Sinne einer geistesgeschichtlich gleichgerichteten oder im Sprachsystem unablässig wirksamen Entfaltung" (Sonderegger 1979: 217 - 218) gibt. Wir möchten diese Überlegungen aufgreifen und uns mit dem Sprachwandel im Deutschen beschäftigen, der wesentlich durch das Sprachsystem selbst bestimmt ist (vgl. "language drift" bei Sapir 1921). In den Blick rückt damit auch der typologische Charakter des Deutschen als germanische Sprache im Verhältnis zu den anderen west- und nordgermanischen Sprachen, synchron, aber vor allem auch diachron betrachtet; etwa im Hinblick auf den Wandel vom synthetischen zum analytischen Sprachbau oder der Entwicklung zu einem morphologisch-syntaktischen "Mischtyp". Aus diesem Vorgehen lassen sich die folgenden übergreifenden Fragestellungen und Themen für die Ringvorlesung ableiten:

- Welche Hinweise auf das Wirken innerer Konstanten lassen sich in der Sprachgeschichte des Deutschen ausmachen? Warum weisen gerade diese Phänomene eine innere Konstanz in der Entwicklung auf?
- Inwiefern zeigen sich auch Diskontinuitäten, etwa im Hinblick auf beschleunigte bzw. verlangsamte Dynamiken innerhalb und zwischen Sprachstufen? Beeinflussen sich die inneren Konstanten mitunter gegenseitig in ihren Dynamiken?
- Lassen sich Einflüsse der äusseren Sprachgeschichte (z.B. Sprachnormierung, Sprachkontakt) auf die inneren Konstanten feststellen? Zu welchen Dynamiken führen diese Einflüsse?
- Sind die inneren Konstanten in den Varietäten des Deutschen unterschiedlich ausgeprägt? In welchem Verhältnis stehen die inneren Konstanten des Deutschen zu denen der anderen germanischen Sprachen und wohin entwickelt sich aus der Perspektive der inneren Sprachgeschichte das Deutsche?

Notes:

Es handelt sich um eine Ringvorlesung der Gesellschaft für germanistische Sprachgeschichte, vertreten durch die Universität Passau. Die Vorlesung findet jeweils dienstags 18:15 - 19:45 über Zoom statt, eine Anmeldung ist nicht erforderlich. Studierende der UZH buchen das Modul an der UZH.

Event Transnational Organised Crime - The UN Perspective
02VL120WM4-1 / Course / 3,754

Description:

Business event contents:

This course explores the criminology and criminalization of organised crimes and outlines national and international efforts to investigate such crime and prosecute offenders. The focus is on organised criminal groups, drug trafficking, trafficking in persons, and smuggling of migrants.

The course is designed to give students an understanding of contemporary patterns and characteristics of transnational organized crime and relevant international conventions in this field. The course enhances students' abilities to engage with and research policy documents and legal material, critically analyse legislation, case studies and scholarly writing, present research findings, and elaborate practical recommendations for law reform and policy change relevant to the subject area.

Notes:

The course will be held on campus and in-person over three days in December 2026. The course, including the assessment, will be in English language only.

Course Materials:

The detailed course outline (syllabus) and all course material will be made available online at the start of the semester.

Event Braucht gute Bildung Forschung? Über Sinn, Nutzen und Grenzen erziehungswissenschaftlicher Forschung
06SEG80p121a / Seminar / 5,505

Description:

Business event contents:

Führt didaktische Forschung zu besserem Unterricht? Trifft die Bildungspolitik tatsächlich bessere Entscheide, wenn sie sich an wissenschaftlicher Evidenz orientiert? Und was ist mit der Theorie - ist sie ein Hobby für nostalgische Akademiker:innen?

Im Alltag der Doktorierenden stehen solche Fragen meist nicht im Vordergrund. Sie sind aber nicht bedeutungslos, da sie die Frage berühren, warum und wie wir forschen. Sie prägen auch die öffentliche Debatte damit das zukünftige Berufsfeld von Doktorierenden.

Auf der Basis von Gerd Biestas Educational Research: An Unorthodox Introduction denken wir in diesem Modul gemeinsam darüber nach, warum wir Bildungsforschung betreiben, was sie leisten kann (oder vielleicht auch nicht) und welche Rolle sie für pädagogische (Schul)Praxis, Politik und Gesellschaft spielt. Ziel des Moduls ist es, die eigene Forschungsarbeit zu reflektieren und dabei neue Perspektiven auf das eigene wissenschaftliche Tun zu gewinnen.

Description:

Business event contents:

In den reformierten Orten der Eidgenossenschaft und in den oberdeutschen Regionen entwickelte sich in der Reformation ein eigener Typ von Gottesdienst, der sich von der katholischen und auch der lutherischen Liturgie unterscheidet. An einem der Ursprungsorte, direkt neben dem Zürcher Grossmünster, geht der Sommerkurs Stationen der Geschichte des reformierten Gottesdienstes nach. Dozierende aus Kirchengeschichte, Bibelwissenschaft, Systematischer Theologie und Praktischer Theologie beleuchten unterschiedliche Facetten gottesdienstlicher Praxis und theologischer Reflexion über den Gottesdienst von der Reformationszeit bis in die Gegenwart des 21. Jahrhunderts

Event Teilnahme an der Tagung «New Game Plus 2 – Writing, Researching & Documenting Videogames»
06ST506p502a / Selbststudium mit Leistungsnachweis / 2,066

Description:

Business event contents:

New Game Plus 2 widmet sich dem Thema des Schreibens und Dokumentierens von Games in seinen kulturellen und materiellen Kontexten. So fokussiert sich die Tagung auf künstlerische, dokumentarische und ethnografische Praxen, mit denen bspw. Forscher*innen und Devs versuchen, Games in ihren kulturellen und materiellen Dimensionen einzufangen. Uns begleitet zudem die Frage, wie qualitative Feldforschung mit der Analyse des kulturellen Mediums "Video Games" verbunden werden kann und wie die Entwickler*innen selbst ihr künstlerisches Schaffen festhalten.

Dieser thematische Zuschnitt wird aus der Dringlichkeit heraus stark gemacht, die kritische Auseinandersetzung mit dem umsatzstärksten kulturellen Medium aus einer geistes- und sozialwissenschaftlichen Perspektive weiter voranzutreiben.

Event Nachwuchsforum Provenienzforschung
06KO640p504a / Colloquium / 5,558

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Forschungskolloquium, das dieses Jahr in Zusammenarbeit mit Museum Rietberg stattfindet, versteht sich explizit als lehrstuhl-, instituts-, und universitätsübergreifende Nachwuchsveranstaltung, deren Schwerpunkt sich aus dem gerade sehr dynamischen Forschungsfeld der Provenienzforschung in der Schweiz ergibt. Das Nachwuchsforum Provenienzforschung bietet im Workshopformat Masterstudierenden und Doktoranden den Raum, um gemeinsam ihre aktuellen Arbeiten zu diskutieren und sich sowohl über spezifische inhaltliche als auch methodische Fragestellungen auszutauschen. Dafür sind sowohl Beiträge willkommen, die sich mit der Herkunft und Geschichte von Kulturgütern auseinandersetzen, als auch solche, die deren Bedeutungs-, Funktions- oder Präsentationswandel in ihrem jeweiligen historischen Kontext thematisieren.

Event Ethnographie: Grundlagen, Forschungspraxis und Reflexion qualitativer Forschungsstandards
06SEG80p123a / Seminar / 5,506

Description:

Business event contents:

Ethnografien ermöglichen es, alltägliche Lebenswelten von Menschen sowie institutionelle Prozesse und Praktiken forschend zu verstehen. Der Workshop vermittelt ein Grundverständnis für ethnografisches Denken, Forschen und Schreiben und damit für zentrale Prämissen qualitativer Sozialforschung.

Im Fokus stehen neben der Ethnografie als Forschungsstrategie mit ihrem breiten Methodenrepertoire insbesondere die reflexive Auseinandersetzung mit der eigenen Standortgebundenheit als Forscher:in - ein Erkenntnispotential, das auch für andere qualitative Forschungszugänge fruchtbar ist. U.a. werden folgende Fragen adressiert: Wie lässt sich Ethnografie in den qualitativen Methodendiskurs einordnen? Wie reflektiere ich meine Positioniertheit? Wie verfasse ich Feldnotizen?

Der Workshop verbindet theoretische Inputs mit Einzel-, Kleingruppen- und Plenumsarbeit sowie einer Forschungswerkstatt, in der Bezüge zu den eigenen Projekten hergestellt werden. Wir werden vor allem forschungspraktisch an Datenmaterial aus laufenden Projekten arbeiten.

Event Standing in Place: Art as Context and Community

06SE645-505a / Seminar / 5,571

Description:

Business event contents:

The last fifteen years have seen a dramatic shift in the status of the individual versus the collective artistic practice. The reasons behind this transformation are complex and important issues to touch upon: mainstream emergence of collective struggles such as neo-colonialism, LGBTQAI+ activism and visibility, commoning and self-governance, and more). While considering the prominence of these concerns in cultural discourses, the core of this seminar will be how art institutions and organizations have shifted to accommodate these new forms, concepts, and expanded understandings of contemporary art. The shifts affect all aspects of institutional work from new administrative processes to necessitating novel curatorial approaches that consider the context and community when producing and presenting work. The relevant context can vary from the implications of the socio-political moment, the unique characteristics of the site or locale, the economic situation, or the challenges of public demands and expectations. Community, on the other hand, ranges from the immediate stakeholders in a project, the professional artistic community, concerned, or the broader international cultural context and its growing dynamics of polarization. The seminar will look broadly at these issues and their relationship to artworks and exhibitions, as central to the cultural horizon in which curators and institutions operate and experience artistic work today. To bring these questions down to earth and to address them in concrete ways, the seminar will evolve out of the context of Mophradat's work and its development over the last ten years. Furthermore, dissecting its unique way of working by looking in-depth at some of the artistic practices with which it has been closely aligned. (Mophradat is a Belgian nonprofit organization which works to create opportunities for artists from the Arab world.)

Event Südsee Repräsentation: deutsche und japanische Kolonisten in den pazifischen Kolonien
06SE600-020a / Seminar / 3,595

Description:

Business event contents:

Recent studies have revealed the stronger presence of German and Japanese colonisers in the Pacific world during the late 19th and early 20th centuries. Their colonial activities included those beyond the typical exploitation of natural resources or military expansion: ethnographic survey, architectural construction, and art production to name a few. This seminar sets its focus on these relatively less studied aspects of the two empires' colonialisms. Considering that some parts of the region have undergone both German and Japanese rules, it is crucial to contextualise the encounters of the colonisers of these two empires to understand the situation of their colonial representations. How did the German and Japanese colonisers observe and represent the Pacific world? How did they engage with the Indigenous populations on each site? Did their representations of the Pacific influence each other and how?

After the initial sessions to share each participant's understandings and thoughts on some academic literature and to set up the concrete research questions for the Seminararbeit, there will be three to four half- or full-day workshops, all of which will be concluded by the final session where the 'dialogue assignment' will take place. The workshops will include a session at UZH's Völkerkunde(?)museum with the guests from the University of Queensland, Australia, an online/hybrid session with Osaka National Museum of Ethnology, Japan, and another couple of sessions with Ethnologischem Museum at Humboldt Forum Berlin, MARKK Hamburg, or GRASSI Leipzig, Germany.

Students will be expected to attend all the sessions including the workshops to engage with interdisciplinary and international research in an open-minded way. The course will be held in both English and German, and the participants may submit/present their assignments in either language.

Event Deploying Power: Politics and Patronage in Japanese Arts, 1600–1964
06VL642p001a / Course / 610

Description:

Business event contents:

How has art and architecture been critically employed in discourses of power in Japan from the early modern to the modern era? In each week we will focus on a case study where the arts writ large are used for the purpose of asserting-or resisting-power through paintings, prints, and architecture. Starting with the formation of the city of Edo, we'll consider how the built environment, paintings, and other arts were deployed to assert political authority for the shogun's capital. Yet shogunal power was not totalizing; rather, it was resisted in various ways. Patrons in the imperial capital (Kyoto) reclaimed tradition and the classical past to demonstrate cultural authority, while wealthy merchants supported art forms that challenged both shogunal and imperial visual regimes. Meanwhile, with the growth of print culture, publishers made texts and images that slipped around official restrictions and marketed Edo as a modern city. How art was deployed in support of Japan's modernization in the later nineteenth century, from soft power serving in nation building, to propaganda in the service of war, to avant-garde resistance in the postwar period will demonstrate the way that the visual world was imbricated within and beyond politics.

03UEDOEC0380 / Exercise Group / 1,736

Description:

Business event contents:

This course is an introduction to macroeconomic theory at the PhD level. We develop tools that are commonly used in macroeconomics but also other areas of economics, notably recursive methods and discrete and continuous time dynamic optimization. We apply these tools to some of the most important topics of macroeconomics, including general equilibrium with complete and incomplete markets, consumption-savings problems, investment, dynamic contracts, fiscal policy, economic growth and climate macroeconomics.

Event Writing for Impact: Leveraging AI Tools to Publish in High-Quality Journals
06SEG80p125a / Seminar / 5,580

Description:

Business event contents:

This course explores how AI tools can be used responsibly and strategically to support academic writing and publishing in high-quality journals. Participants will learn how to recognize AI-generated content, formulate effective prompts, engage in dialogic interactions with AI tools, and use AI across different phases of the writing process—from idea development and structuring to revision and refinement. The course also addresses journal guidelines on AI use, distinguishes between productive and problematic practices, and introduces multi-agent approaches to writing and feedback. By the end of the course, participants will be able to critically evaluate AI-supported writing practices and integrate AI tools transparently, ethically, and effectively into their own scholarly work.

Event AI as a Research Tool: Workflow Design for the Social Sciences
06SE615p512a / Seminar / 5,311

Description:

Business event contents:

Artificial intelligence tools - large language models, coding assistants, automated analysis pipelines - are increasingly used by social science researchers. However, most of these tools are built within a software engineering paradigm that prioritizes shipping products, rapid iteration, and abstraction of complexity. Social scientific research operates under fundamentally different commitments: reproducibility, methodological transparency, epistemic humility, and peer accountability. This course equips researchers with the conceptual vocabulary and practical skills to bridge that gap.

The course is organized around three pillars. First, we examine the paradigm mismatch between software project management (agile development, "move fast and break things," black-box tooling) and the norms of social scientific inquiry (replication, falsifiability, transparent inference). Researchers will learn to recognize when AI tooling defaults conflict with research integrity and how to negotiate those tensions. Second, we survey the landscape of AI tools through the lens of research ethics and reproducibility, evaluating tools not just by capability but by auditability, data governance, and methodological fit. Third, we develop practical frameworks for human-in-the-loop workflow design, treating AI as an assistant within a deliberate research process rather than an oracle that replaces judgement.

The course combines intensive conceptual and hands-on instruction in a block seminar before the semester begins, with two applied follow-up sessions during the semester. Students and researchers will work directly with Claude Code as the primary AI tooling environment, learning to direct an AI agent within deliberate research workflows. Integration with R is used to demonstrate quantitative applications, but the course treats AI-augmented workflow design as approach-agnostic equally applicable to statistical analysis, qualitative coding, archival research, literature synthesis, and theory development.

Notes:

The course is open to MA students in the social sciences. No programming experience is required, though students with coding backgrounds will find additional depth in the applied sessions. The intensive block format (2-3 days before the semester, followed by 2 full-day meetings during the semester) is designed so that the early sessions build conceptual foundations and tool literacy, while later sessions focus on applied critique of students' own project workflows. Assessment deliverables are identical across levels; BA students benefit from engaging with the more advanced applications modelled by MA and PhD colleagues.

Event Kunst als Weltentwurf: Formalismus, Marxismus, Internationalismus zwischen sowjetischer Avantgarde und globaler Modernität
06SE640-515a / Seminar / 5,640

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Seminar untersucht die sowjetische Avantgarde der Jahre 1917-1939 nicht als abgeschlossenes nationales Phänomen, sondern als Teil eines revolutionären Projekts, in dem Kunst, Politik und gesellschaftliche Transformation im Horizont von Marxismus und Internationalismus neu zusammengedacht wurden. Nach 1917 erschien die weltumspannende Imagination der Avantgarde als Entwurf neuer Formen des Sehens, Fühlens, Arbeitens, Zusammenlebens und globalen Handelns. Im Zentrum steht die Frage, wie avantgardistische Formen die Ansprüche einer neuen Gesellschaft nicht nur darstellten, sondern selbst zu Mitteln der Weltgestaltung wurden. Ausgehend von der Oktoberrevolution und der Idee der Weltrevolution verfolgt das Seminar, wie Formalismus, Konstruktivismus und Produktivismus Kunst als gesellschaftliche Praxis neu bestimmten - und wie diese Ansprüche in den 1930er Jahren im Sozialistischen Realismus, in antifaschistischer Volksfrontkultur und auf Weltausstellungen transformiert und neu verhandelt wurden. Beispiele reichen von Władysław Strzemińskis polnischem Konstruktivismus über Le Corbusiers Projekte in Moskau bis zu Diego Riveras Fresken in Mexiko und den USA. Anhand der Pariser Exposition Internationale von 1937 und der New Yorker Weltausstellung von 1939 wird untersucht, wie sowjetische visuelle Kultur ihre Weltentwürfe in Konkurrenz zu faschistischen und kapitalistischen Zukunftsbildern inszenierte. Anhand programmatischer Texte - etwa von Aleksandr Bogdanov, Lev Trotzki und den Formalisten - analysiert das Seminar Werke der visuellen Kunst und Architektur im Zusammenhang mit politischen Manifesten, literaturtheoretischen Methoden und antiimperialen Diskursen. Die sowjetische Avantgarde erscheint dabei als transdisziplinäres Feld, in dem Begriffe wie Form, Konstruktion, Projektion, Produktion, Arbeit und Internationalismus zwischen Kunstgeschichte, Literaturtheorie, marxistischer Theorie und postkolonialen Fragestellungen zirkulierten.

Notes:

Nach Möglichkeit wird das Seminar durch einen gemeinsamen Museums- oder Sammlungsbesuch ergänzt, etwa im Museum für Gestaltung Zürich / Pavillon Le Corbusier, Kunsthaus Zürich oder in der Graphischen Sammlung ETH Zürich.

Event Partizipation von Schüler:innen - erziehungswissenschaftliche und fachdidaktische Perspektiven
06SEG80p124a / Seminar / 5,508

Description:

Business event contents:

Im bildungspolitischen, erziehungswissenschaftlichen und (fach-)didaktischen Diskurs spielt der Partizipationsbegriff schon seit geraumer Zeit (immer wieder) eine wichtige Rolle. Zum einen hat sich Partizipation in einem normativen Sinn Gehör verschafft, was zu einer zunehmenden Akzeptanz und Verbreitung schulischer Partizipationsformate beigetragen hat. Zum anderen hat sich Partizipation in der Unterrichtsforschung auch in einem deskriptiven Sinn als Analysekategorie etabliert, was zu einem besseren Verständnis von Beteiligungsstrukturen in Unterrichtsprozessen beitragen kann.

Das Modul befasst sich mit unterschiedlichen Konzeptionen von Partizipation und diskutiert aus erziehungswissenschaftlicher und fachdidaktischer Perspektive, welche Potenziale und welche Herausforderungen mit dem Partizipationspostulat einhergehen.

Event Platon: Sophistes

06SE160p504a / Seminar / 3,986

Description:

Business event contents:

Platons Dialog Sophistes ist der modernste seiner Texte, da er Fragen behandelt, die bis heute die theoretische Philosophie prägen. Dazu zählen die Frage, ob es allgemeinste Begriffe gibt und wenn ja, welche, die Frage, wie man über das Nichtseiende sprechen kann, ohne es damit zu etwas Seiendem zu machen sowie die Frage, was eine Aussage wahr macht.

Das Seminar wird vor allem Platons Problemstellungen und Lösungsansätze behandeln. Dies wird grundsätzlich lehrreich sein für ein besseres Verständnis der theoretischen Philosophie. Griechischkenntnisse sind nicht erforderlich.

Course Materials: Arbeitsgrundlage wird die zweisprachige Reclam-Ausgabe sein.

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Zelle ist die funktionelle Einheit des Lebens. Verschiedene Zelltypen erfüllen einzeln, oder in Geweben organisiert, spezifische Aufgaben. Ziel der Vorlesung ist, ausgewählte Aspekte von tierischen und pflanzlichen Zellen und die zugrunde liegenden Regeln zu diskutieren.

Notes:

Das Modul beinhaltet 2 Stunden Vorlesung pro Woche während des ganzen Semesters, sowie insgesamt 2 Praktikumsnachmittage.

Course Materials:

Unterrichtsmaterialien

Alberts B. et al., "Molekularbiologie der Zelle" 7. Auflage, Wiley-VCH, ISBN: 978-3-527-34072-9

oder alternativ die englischsprachige Ausgabe: Alberts B. et al., "Molecular Biology of the Cell", 7th edition, Garland Science, New York, NY, 2014, ISBN 9780815344322.

Dieses Buch gibt einen umfassenden Überblick über die moderne Zellbiologie. Es bildet das Rückgrat der Vorlesung und bietet Beispiele für Problemstellungen und Fragen sowie Selbsttests. Ein Glossar am Ende des Buches fasst die wichtigsten Begriffe zusammen.

Das Studium der englischen Version ist eine hervorragende Vorbereitung für den späteren Umgang mit englischer Fachliteratur. Obwohl nur selektive Ausschnitte dieses umfassenden Lehrbuchs für die Vorlesung direkt relevant sind, empfehlen wir dieses Buch auch im Hinblick auf die Veranstaltungen in Molekularer Biologie der höheren Semester.

Event Von der Idee zum Text – ein Schreibseminar
06SEG11p101a / Seminar / 5,504

Description:

Business event contents:

Während des Schreibens einer Dissertation haben wir manchmal eine Idee, die gut klingt und sich auch gut erzählen lässt, die wir aber (zu) lange nicht im Schreiben konkretisieren. Aber wir alle wissen eigentlich, dass sich erst im Schreibprozess herausstellt, wie gut eine Idee funktioniert, ob sie trägt, ob sie genug hergibt, wie sie sich entwickeln lässt - und kennen auch die befreiende Erfahrung, dass sich eine gute Idee beim Schreiben wie von selbst weiterentwickelt.

Das Ziel dieses Seminars ist es, den Weg von einer Idee zu einem Text gemeinsam in einer kleinen Gruppe zu gehen. Wir diskutieren zusammen eine Idee für ein Kapitel, einen Aufsatz oder einen Antrag und erstellen dann im Austausch mit andere/n einen konkreten Plan für die Umsetzung. Wir beschäftigen uns dabei auch mit konkreten praktischen Fragen wie zum Beispiel: Wie bereite ich einen Text für die Publikation in einer Zeitschrift vor, und wie antworte ich auf Reviewer? Was sind die wichtigsten Punkte in einem Forschungsantrag und was/wer kann mir helfen, diese umzusetzen? Was sind die letzten Schritte auf dem Weg der Abschluss einer Dissertation? Was gehört in die Einleitung/Synopsis und den Schluss?

Das Seminar ist für alle geeignet, die Unterstützung und Struktur beim Umsetzen einer Idee in einen Text brauchen können, und die sich verpflichten möchten, eine erste Version eines Textes im Laufe des Herbstsemesters bis Ende Januar zu schreiben. Besonders geeignet ist der Kurs für Doktorierende ab dem zweiten Jahr.

Der Schreibprozess wird begleitet durch kurze Treffen online und durch individuelle Besprechungen während des Semesters, und durch vier längere Treffen im Semester, bei denen wir Ideen und Texte gemeinsam diskutieren und immer einen praktischen Schwerpunkt haben.

Event Buddhismus und chinesische Philosophie
06UE280-301a / Exercise Group / 495

Description:

Business event contents:

Ab der Östlichen Hàn-Zeit (1.-3. Jh. d.Z.) drang über die Seidenstrasse mit dem Buddhismus eine neue Religion und Weltsicht nach China. Spätestens ab dem 5. Jh. wurde dieser zur dominanten Geistesströmung und hat seither die chinesische Philosophie tiefgreifend geprägt. Schon in der Táng-Zeit (617/8-906) verwandelten sich die konkurrierenden Geistesströmungen des Daoismus und Konfuzianismus mit chinesischem Ursprung unter seinem Einfluss von Grund auf. Und auch wenn ab der Sòng-Zeit (960-1279) eine neue Spielart des Konfuzianismus den Buddhismus als dominante Philosophie verdrängte, ist dieser "Neokonfuzianismus" ohne seine impliziten und expliziten buddhistischen Bezüge nicht vorstellbar. In diesem Kurs betrachten wir ausgehend vom ersten Kontakt zwischen indischem Buddhismus und chinesischem Denken, wie buddhistische Auffassungen trotz fortwährender gegenseitiger Abgrenzungsdiskurse alle chinesischen Geistesströmungen mitformten. Zugleich hat sich auch das buddhistische Denken in diesem chinesischen Kontext verändert. Zu Beginn dieses Austauschs etwa schreiben buddhistische Mönchsgelehrte wie Sēngzhào 僧肇 (374-414), ein Verfechter der buddhistischen "Lehre des Mittleren Weges" (madhaymaka), vom 3. bis zum 5. Jh. in der Sprache des daoistischen Klassikers Zhuāngzǐ. Etwas mehr als zwei Jahrhunderte später bedienen sich dagegen daoistische Philosophen wie der Zhuāngzǐ-Kommentator Chéng Xuányīng 成玄英 (fl. 631-655) einer Begrifflichkeit und Argumentationsweise, die buddhistische Lehrer des Mittleren Weges, der Tiāntái- oder Huāyán-Richtungen entwickelt haben. Und Mitte des 8. Jh. orientieren sich selbst offen antibuddhistische Gelehrte wie Hán Yù 韓愈 (768-824) oder Lǐ Áo 李翱 (772-841), die einer Rückkehr zum Altertum das Wort reden, an Themen, die von der buddhistischen "Leitkultur" bestimmt sind: So verfechten sie Menzius' Lehre von der "Güte" der menschlichen Natur - offensichtlich ein Eingeständnis an die buddhistische Lehre der allen Wesen zukommenden Buddhanatur -, und sie propagieren konfuzianische Selbstkultivierung (xiū shēn 修身, aus dem konfuzianischen Klassiker des Grossen Lernens 大學) und Meditation (Menzius' zuò wàng 坐忘, "Sitzen in Selbstvergessenheit"). Zeitgleich bildet sich mit dem Chán-Buddhismus eine Spielart des Buddhismus heraus, in der die aus Indien überkommenen Schriften und Meditationspraktiken zunehmend in den Hintergrund treten, und die sich auch für traditionelle chinesische Texte und Begriffe etwa aus dem Daoismus öffnet. Der Neokonfuzianismus schliesslich, als dessen Hauptvertreter der Philosoph Zhū Xī 朱熹 (1120-1200) gilt, ist trotz seiner antibuddhistischen Rhetorik in wesentlichen Zügen buddhistisch geprägt. Viele Erläuterungen etwa seines zentralen Begriffes des "Prinzips" (lǐ 理) übernimmt er direkt aus Schriften des Huāyán-Buddhismus. Gleiches gilt für die neokonfuzianische Gegenströmung des "Herz"-Lernens (xīn xué 心學), die Meditationstechniken des buddhistischen Chán aufgreift. Nach einer Phase der Vermischung der "Drei Lehren" in der Míng-Zeit (1368-1644), zeichnet sich die anschliessende Qīng-Periode (1644-1911) durch vermehrte gegenseitige Abgrenzungsversuche aus. Schliesslich erlebt die buddhistische "Nur-Bewusstseinslehre" (wéi shí 唯識) am Ende des 19. und Beginn des 20. Jh. eine Renaissance, auch weil ihre systematische und ausdifferenzierte Begrifflichkeit von vielen als in China verankerter Gegenentwurf zur westlichen Logik und Erkenntnistheorie betrachtet wurde. Wir werden in diesem Kurs sowohl Auszüge aus Primärquellen als auch Forschungsliteratur zum Einfluss des Buddhismus auf das chinesische Denken lesen.

Event Aufzeichnungen über die „Weitergabe der Leuchte“ und andere Texte der Chán-Tradition (禪)
06UE280-680a / Exercise Group / 315

Description:

Business event contents:

Der Chán-Buddhismus befasst sich seinem Namen nach mit der buddhistischen "Meditation", handelt es sich beim Wort chán doch um die Sinisierung des gleichbedeutenden Sanskritwortes dhyāna. Auf die "Erleuchtung", die "Einsicht" in die vermeintlich jedem Wesen innewohnende "Buddha-Natur" (fó xìng 佛性), ausgerichtet, lässt er dabei die aus Indien stammenden Praktiken der Meditation und Textexegese hinter sich. Der Tradierung der Lehre durch die Lehrreden des Buddha (Sūtren, jīng 經), die zuvor im Mittelpunkt der buddhistischen Gelehrsamkeit stand, stellt er eine Überlieferung der Lehre von "Geist zu Geist" entgegen, durch die er sich in einer Reihe von Lehrer-Schülerbeziehungen direkt auf den historischen Buddha zurückführt. Damit kommt der Dokumentation und dem Studium der vom Lehrer bezeugten Erleuchtung des Schülers autoritative Kraft zu. Die auf den So Gekommenen zurückgehende Abfolge von Patriarchen ist der Dreh- und Angelpunkt des genealogisch begründeten Geltungsanspruchs des Chán. Die "Fälle" (gōng'àn 公案) der dokumentierten Erleuchtung bezeugen somit die Weitergabe der Lehre - die Texte sprechen vom Weiterreichen der Leuchte (chuán dēng 傳燈) - und verdrängen eben damit die Lehrautorität der schriftlich überlieferten Lehrreden des Buddha. Historisch greifbar ist die Entwicklung der Chán-Schule ab dem 8. Jh. Die Phase davor fällt ins Legendäre. Die Kompilation der massgeblichen Schriftsammlungen erfolgt in der Sòng-Zeit (960-1279). Ebenso jener Umgang mit Text und Unterweisung, für die der Chán hierzulande berühmt geworden ist, und in der Unsinniges und Absurdes, Alltägliches und Belangloses, aber auch Ungebührliches und Übergriffiges zum Anlass der Erleuchtung werden. Anders als in Japan ist der Chán in China nie eine institutionell eigenständige "Schule" geworden. Vielmehr bezog sich der offizielle Begriff chán ganz allgemein auf Mönche, die sich weniger mit Scholastik oder Ritualen, als vielmehr mit Meditation befassten. Im Kurs werden wir verschiedene Texte aus der Chán-Tradition lesen. Beginnen werden wir mit einer Auswahl an Fällen aus dem songzeitlichen Jīngdé chuándēng lù 景德傳燈錄 (Aufzeichnungen über die Weitergabe der Leuchte aus der jīngdé-Ära [1004-1007]), der ersten "Geschichte" der Chán-Schule.

Event Solid State and Structural Inorganic Chemistry
07VLCHE719.1 / Course / 2,758

Description:

Business event contents:

This course is geared towards senior undergraduate students and other participants with basic knowledge of inorganic chemistry and a strong interest in materials sciences and the related structural chemistry. An introduction to the basic principles of structural inorganic chemistry (structure and bonding models, crystallographic principles) will be provided, followed by a detailed discussion of the most important crystal structure types that are the foundation of modern materials research. In parallel, key synthetic and analytical techniques (e.g. preparation/ characterization of nanomaterials) will be illustrated, thereby preparing the participants for their own future projects in the field. During the course, an introduction to single crystal X-ray diffraction techniques and to X-ray absorption spectroscopy will be provided to complement these key techniques, together with hands-on problems from our current research. Concise introductions to other key analytical techniques in materials research, such as electron microscopy, will furthermore be provided. Selected state-of-the art examples for the development of functional and energy materials will round off the course. Depending on the profile of the audience, special content arrangements can be made at the beginning of the course.

Notes:

Starting date and times can be newly arranged upon request.

Event Littérature et société en France (XXe-XXIe siècle)

06VL390p007a / Course / 1,712

Description:

Business event contents:

Le cours sera donné par Gisèle Sapiro, Professeure invitée de la Chaire de littérature et culture de l'EPFZ. Gisèle Sapiro est directrice de recherche au CNRS et directrice d'études à l'EHESS (Gisèle Sapiro | EHESS) (Centre européen de sociologie et de science politique).

Le cours traitera des rapports entre littérature et société sous deux angles : comment la littérature rend compte du monde social, et comment la littérature s'inscrit dans le monde social. D'une part, la littérature véhicule des représentations du monde social, et peut en cela contribuer à reproduire la « violence symbolique » (au sens de Bourdieu) ou rompre avec elle. On interrogera notamment la représentation des femmes dans les œuvres. D'autre part, la littérature est un phénomène de société, dont la valeur est construite par un ensemble d'instances spécifiques - édition, prix, festivals de littérature -, dont on analysera le fonctionnement. Avec l'écrivaine Gwenaëlle Aubry, on discutera de la façon dans la littérature se saisit de la réalité, en l'occurrence l'expérience de la pandémie. Avec l'écrivain Makenzy Orcel, on abordera la place de la littérature dite francophone en France.

Description:

Business event contents:

The lab course consists of three parts. For three weeks, students do one analytical experiment and two advanced literature experiments. The experimental instructions for the literature syntheses have to be found by a literature search in different databases. For another three weeks, students do an advanced project in a research group, whose members will also provide the supervision. This gives a fascinating insight into the current research activities. In the seminar, the work groups in Inorganic Chemistry present themselves. The final part takes place in the last week, in which the students present the results from their research projects.

Notes:

takes place in the 2nd half of the semester

Event Tremate, tremate le streghe son tornate! Hexen in der Populärkultur – Figuren und Narrative in Medien und Künsten
06ST506p405a / Selbststudium mit Leistungsnachweis / 2,915

Description:

Business event contents:

Im Herbst 1996 startete die TV-Serie Sabrina, the Teenage Witch auf ABC. Dieses kleine Jubiläum wollen wir nutzen, um uns in einer interdisziplinär ausgerichteten Tagung mit den vielfältigen, stetig changierenden Hexenbildern in der Populärkultur zu befassen.

Sabrina bietet sich als Ausgangspunkt an, weil sie einerseits Teil des von Rachel Moseley 2002 als «glamorous witchcraft» (vgl. Moseley 2003) bezeichneten Phänomens ist, das anhand der Figur der jungen Hexe Magie, Feminismus und Weiblichkeit zusammenzuführen versucht. Diese Art der Hexendarstellung ist für die späten 1990er Jahre prägend und wird in der TV-Serie Charmed (1998) oder in den Filmen The Craft (1996) und Practical Magic (1998) verbreitet. Andererseits, weil die Hexe Sabrina schon ab den 1960er Jahren in den Archie-Comics und einer Animationsserie auftritt und ab 2018 auch mit The Chilling Adventures of Sabrina ein Remake erfährt (vgl. Mathis, Graves und Tyndall 2023). Der letzte Titel verweist auf eine Tendenz, die sich ab den 2010er Jahren wieder deutlicher manifestiert, indem die dunkle, gefährliche Seite der Hexe, die lange prägend war, wieder in den Vordergrund rückt. Ein Trend, der sich auch in den TV-Serien Salem (2014), American Horror Story mit der Staffel Coven (2013) oder im Film The VVitch. A New England Folktale (2015) niederschlägt (vgl. Corcoran 2022; Ho 2021; Johnston und Aloï 2007; Heller-Nicholas 2024; Greene 2018).

Diese Beispiele zeigen, dass die Hexenbilder untereinander im Austausch stehen, auf kulturelle Deutungsmuster rekurren, auf soziale, religiöse und wirtschaftliche Veränderungen der Gesellschaft reagieren (vgl. Blécourt 2017; Stephens 2020). Das nehmen wir als Gelegenheit, die vielfältigen Metamorphosen der Gestalt der Hexe in den letzten 250 Jahren seit dem Ende der gerichtlich sanktionierten Hexenverfolgungen zu betrachten. Dabei sind wir uns bewusst, dass viele der heute verbreiteten Elemente des Hexenimaginationen eine zeitlich wesentlich weiter zurückreichende Geschichte aufweisen als die eingangs erwähnte Sabrina. Erinnert sei an die sexualisierten Hexendarstellungen bei Hans Baldung Grien oder Albrecht Dürer, oder an Quellen aus der Zeit der Hexenverfolgung wie der Wickiana oder dämonologische Schriften aus dem 15. und 16. Jahrhundert (vgl. Hinz und Brinkmann 2007; Hults 2005). In den Märchen - nicht nur bei den Brüdern Grimm - nehmen Hexen eine wichtige Rolle als hässliche, dämonische Antagonistinnen ein. Vorgezeichnet im 19. Jahrhundert (Michelet 1862), findet die Vorstellung der Hexe als Anhänger:in eines heidnischen (Frucht-barkeits-)Kultes im 20. Jahrhundert durch die Entstehung von Wicca und verwandten neureligiösen Gruppen Aufschwung (vgl. z.B. Hutton 1999; Magliocco 2004; Hegner 2019). Diese unterschiedlichen Elemente formieren in sich stetig ändernder Zusammensetzung das Bild der Hexe. Daraus lässt sich schliessen, dass DIE Hexe nicht existiert - vielmehr werden je nach Zeit- oder Sprachraum, literarischem Genre und Alter der intendierten Adressat:innen unterschiedliche Hexendarstellungen favorisiert. Ob als dämonisierte Aussenseiterin, naturverbundene Heilerin oder Symbol weiblicher (menschlicher) Selbstermächtigung, fungiert die Hexe stets als Projektionsfläche.

Die geplante, interdisziplinär ausgerichtete Tagung nimmt Hexenbilder und Hexennarrative in ihrer historischen, sozialen und kulturellen Gewachsenheit in den Blick und fragt nach deren medialer, ästhetischer und/oder ideologischer Konstruktion.

English version:

Tremate, tremate le streghe son tornate! Witches in popular culture - figures and narratives in media and the arts

Sabrina, the Teenage Witch premiered in autumn 1996. This small anniversary serves as an opportunity to explore the diverse and constantly changing images of witches in popular culture.

Sabrina is a good starting point for a journey through different images of witches because, she is part of the phenomenon described by Rachel Moseley as 'glamorous witchcraft' (cf. Moseley 2003), combining magic, feminism and in the image of the young witch. This representation of the witch was characteristic for the late 1990s and was popularised in the TV series like Charmed (1998) and films The Craft (1996) and Practical Magic (1998). But the witch Sabrina is older and younger, she has been appearing in Archie comics and an animated series since the 1960s, and in 2018 she has seen a remake with The Chilling Adventures of Sabrina (cf. Mathis, Graves and Tyndall 2023). The latter title refers to a trend manifest since the 2010s emphasising the dark, dangerous and sinister side of witches. This trend is also reflected in the TV series Salem (2014), American Horror Story with the season Coven (2013) and the film The VVitch. A New England Folktale (2015) (cf. Corcoran 2022; Ho 2021; Johnston and Aloï 2007; Heller-Nicholas 2024; Greene 2018).

These examples show that images of witches do not simply exist in isolation, but interact with each other, draw on cultural patterns, and respond to social, religious, and economic changes in society (cf. Blécourt 2017; Stephens 2020). We take this as an opportunity to consider the diverse metamorphoses of the figure of the witch over the last 250 years since the end of the witch hunts. We are well aware that many of the widespread elements defining the images of the witch have a much longer history than Sabrina. Quite influential are the sexualised sketches of witches by Hans Baldung Grien or Albrecht Dürer, or sources stemming from the time of witch hunts such as the Wickiana or demonological writings from the 15th and 16th centuries (cf. Hinz and Brinkmann 2007; Hults 2005). In fairy tales - not only those of the Brothers Grimm - witches play an important role as ugly, demonic antagonists. First outlined in the 19th century (Michelet 1862), the idea of the witch as a follower of a pagan (fertility) cult gained momentum in the 20th century with the emergence of Wicca and related new religious groups (cf. e.g. Hutton 1999; Magliocco 2004; Hegner 2019).

Event Forschungsseminar (Beginn FS 2026), Teil II
06SE226-513a / Seminar / 1,012

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Lernen in formellen (wie Schule und Universitäten) sowie informellen Lernkontexten wird zunehmend durch digitale Technologien wie generative und prädiktive Künstliche Intelligenz (KI) beeinflusst.

Diese Technologien beeinflussen den Lehr- und Lernprozess und können dabei aktiv gestaltet werden. In diesem Forschungsseminar werden zwei zentrale Themen der digitalen Lerntechnologien behandelt: Zum einen die multimediale Lernforschung, die sich mit der Gestaltung digitaler Lerntechnologien - unter anderem mit generativen KI - zur Optimierung der Lernleistung beschäftigt. Zum anderen geht es um Learning Analytics, die sich mit der Anpassung des Lernens und der Analyse von Lehrprozessen (z. B. durch Feedback) mithilfe von Daten aus digitalen Technologien - wie prädiktiver KI - befasst, um fundierte pädagogische und didaktische Entscheidungen zu treffen. Der Begriff adaptives Lehren beschreibt die Verbindung beider Forschungsfelder, um Lernerfahrungen zu personalisieren.

Die Studierenden setzen sich mit Theorien, empirischen Erkenntnissen und Forschungsmethoden in den Bereichen Multimedia Learning und Learning Analytics auseinander.

Dabei soll auch ein klarer Bezug zur (Forschungs-)Ethik im Zusammenhang mit dem Einsatz von KI hergestellt werden. Ziel ist es, übergreifende Konzepte und offene Forschungsfragen zu identifizieren sowie zukünftige Herausforderungen, Trends und Einflussfaktoren auf die Wirkung digitaler Technologien auf Lehr- und Lernprozesse zu antizipieren und diese auf einen Bildungsbereich zu übertragen, der dem gewählten Studienschwerpunkt entspricht.

Mögliche übergeordnete Forschungsfragen sind:

- Wie müssen KI-gestützte Lerntechnologien gestaltet sein, um effektive Wissensvermittlung zu ermöglichen?
- Wie kann der Einsatz von KI die Lernerfahrungen personalisieren und adaptiv an individuelle Bedürfnisse anpassen?
- Wie kann digitale Wissensvermittlung Lehrpersonen bei der Gestaltung von multimedialen Lernarrangements oder beim Lehren unterstützen?
- Wie kann digitale Wissensvermittlung (z. B. mittels KI) selbstreguliertes Lernen (oder andere relevante Theorien) beim multimedialen Lernen unterstützen?
- Welche Daten können von Lehrpersonen genutzt werden, um Unterrichtsmethoden zu optimieren?
- Wie sollten Dashboards/digitale Displays gestaltet sein, um Lehrende/Lernende effizient zu informieren?
- Welche Denkweisen und Kompetenzen sind erforderlich, um eine erfolgreiche Integration von KI in die Wissensvermittlung zu ermöglichen?
- Wie hat sich der Umgang mit KI-Technologien in Bildungskontexten (Schulen und Universitäten) verändert? (Historische Diskurse über Erwartungen und Wirkungen)
- Welche politischen Rahmenbedingungen und ethischen Richtlinien beeinflussen den Einsatz von KI in der Wissensvermittlung?
- Welche ethischen Herausforderungen ergeben sich beim Einsatz von KI im sozialpädagogischen Kontext - insbesondere in Bezug auf den Schutz von Kindern und Jugendlichen?
- Wie haben technologische Innovationen - von der Einführung des Computers bis hin zur Künstlichen Intelligenz - Bildungsverständnisse und Lernpraktiken im historischen Verlauf verändert?

Event Exkursion Schulische Umwelten und pädagogische Atmosphären
06EX226p513a / Field Trip / 874

Description:

Business event contents:

Pädagogische Atmosphären prägen schulische Umwelten auf vielschichtige Weise und beeinflussen Lernprozesse, soziale Beziehungen sowie das subjektive Erleben von Schule. Das Exkursionsseminar widmet sich der Frage, wie solche Atmosphären in unterschiedlichen schulischen Kontexten entstehen, wahrgenommen und reflektiert werden können. Im Mittelpunkt stehen schulische Räume, Alltagspraktiken und Interaktionen, die im Zusammenspiel spezifische atmosphärische Qualitäten hervorbringen. Aufbauend auf erziehungswissenschaftlichen, phänomenologischen und teilweise auch raumtheoretischen Perspektiven verbindet das Seminar theoretische Auseinandersetzungen mit Präsentationen, Gesprächen und Kurz-Interviews vor Ort. Im Rahmen der (unterschiedlichen) Kurz-Exkursionen analysieren die Teilnehmenden schulische Umwelten hinsichtlich ihrer räumlichen, sozialen und affektiven Dimensionen und setzen sich mit deren Bedeutung für pädagogisches Handeln und Denken auseinander. Ziel des Seminars ist es, eine neugierige und reflexive Haltung gegenüber pädagogischen Atmosphären zu entwickeln und deren Relevanz für eine lernförderliche Bildungspraxis thematisieren zu können.

Die Auswahl der Schulen / Institutionen erfolgte nach dem Kontrastprinzip (reformpädagogische Institutionen und Regelschulen) und den persönlichen Schulerfahrungen der Teilnehmenden.

Event Architektur beschreiben lernen vor Ort
06UE640p009a / Exercise Group / 4,972

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Existenz von Architektur ist für uns selbstverständlich. Wir bewohnen sie, viele von uns erleben ihren gesamten Alltag in ihr, oder in Räumen, die von ihr geprägt sind. Doch können wir sie auch beschreiben?

Wir widmen uns in der praxisorientierten Übung räumlicher Wahrnehmung im Allgemeinen, weiter dem Verständnis konstruktiver Prinzipien und genauer dem Beschreiben und Benennen von architektonischen (Gestaltungs-)Prinzipien und spezifischen Elementen.

Exemplarische Bauten in Zürich werden nach einer Einführungsveranstaltung in jeweils drei Blockterminen vor Ort gemeinsam mit der wissenschaftlichen Illustratorin des Lehrstuhls, Daniela Hoseli, in zeichnerischen Studien und im gemeinsamen Gespräch unter die Lupe genommen. Zeichnung und Beschreibung werden dabei als ebenbürtige Ausdrucksformen verstanden, die Architektur darzustellen.

Während des zeichnerischen Prozesses wird die Architekturterminologie erlernt, Vorkenntnisse in der Architekturterminologie sind deshalb hilfreich. Für die zeichnerischen Übungen sind keinerlei Voraussetzungen nötig.

Notes:

Einführungsveranstaltung: Freitag 25. September, 14-16 Uhr

Blocktermine vor Ort, jeweils Freitag von 10-16 Uhr: 02. Oktober ; 23. Oktober und 30. Oktober

Der Treffpunkt vor Ort wird jeweils eine Woche vorher angekündigt.

Course Materials: Zeichenmaterial (A3-Block, Stifte, Zeichenunterlage, Stühlchen etc.) sind zu den drei vor Ort Terminen im Oktober mitzubringen.
Empfohlen zum Vorbereiten, Nachschlagen und Mitbringen: Das "Wörterbuch der Architektur" des Reclam Sachbuch Verlags.

Der epochenübergreifende Workshop wird gehalten von zwei Historiker:innen mit Schwerpunkten im Mittelalter respektive im 19./20. Jahrhundert. Doktorierende haben die Gelegenheit, Kapitelentwürfe zum Thema des Workshops von der Vormoderne bis ins 20. Jahrhundert in deutscher oder englischer Sprache zur Diskussion zu stellen. Diese sollten nach Möglichkeit zwei bis drei Wochen im Voraus verschickt werden. Auch mündliche Projektvorstellungen sind nach Absprache möglich. Ausserdem sollen von den Dozierenden ausgewählte Texte gemeinsam diskutiert werden.

The workshop will be held by two historians with a focus on the Middle Ages and the 19th/20th century. Doctoral students will have the opportunity to submit draft chapters on the topic of the workshop from the pre-modern period to the 20th century for discussion in German or English. If possible, these should be sent two to three weeks in advance. Oral project presentations are also possible by arrangement. In addition, participants will discuss texts chosen by the instructors.

Event Law and Technology - a cross-continental perspective
02VL90WM15-1 / Course / 4,034

Description:

Business event contents:

This course will explore the interaction between law and modern technology. It will introduce students to the potentially problematic relationship between legal rules and technological change, and then begin to explore real substantive problems at the interface between them. This will require some understanding of particular legal doctrines and particular technologies, which the course itself will provide. It is the aim of the course to teach, encourage and nurture creative legal (and technological) thinking when contemplating questions such as the possible regulation and/or promotion (for example, through patents) of technology and technological change.

Event Herausforderung der Nachhaltigkeitskommunikation
06SE254p125a / Seminar / 1,336

Description:

Business event contents:

Von Wirtschafts- und Politikakteuren wird heutzutage erwartet, dass sie sich in Sachen Nachhaltigkeit engagieren. Gleichzeitig wird die Glaubwürdigkeit solcher Nachhaltigkeitsbemühungen aufgrund von Greenwashing, vergangenen Krisen und bestehenden Deutungsmustern zunehmend kritisch hinterfragt.

Das Seminar "Nachhaltigkeitskommunikation" setzt sich mit dem Leitkonzept der nachhaltigen Entwicklung auseinander und analysiert die kommunikativen Herausforderungen, die mit dessen Vermittlung verbunden sind. Die Studierenden verbinden theoretische Ansätze mit praktischer Anwendung, indem sie einen konkreten Fall der Nachhaltigkeitskommunikation auswählen und diesen theoriegeleitet analysieren.

Das Seminar fördert kritisches Denken, Reflexionsfähigkeit und Teamarbeit. Im Zentrum steht die Entwicklung, Diskussion und kritische Bewertung innovativer Kommunikationsstrategien im Kontext von Nachhaltigkeit.

Das vertiefte und eigenständige Erarbeiten der Thematik kann nicht durch generative KI ersetzt werden. Generative KI darf und soll jedoch reflektiert und transparent als Unterstützung im Arbeitsprozess eingesetzt werden. Die Verantwortung für Analyse, Argumentation und Bewertung liegt stets bei den Studierenden selbst. In diesem Sinne gilt: "Sapere aude! Habe Mut, dich deines eigenen Verstandes zu bedienen!" (Immanuel Kant, 1784)

Notes:

Dieses Seminar beinhaltet zwei Voraussetzungen:

1. Verständnis was Fallstudien sind.
2. Fähigkeit zum selbstorganisierten Arbeiten.

Event Project Development in Biodiversity
07VUEEE324 / Block Course / 681

Description:

Business event contents:

In 4 groups of 3 people each, we develop research projects at Master level (max. 1 year, 5000 CHF) in the area of biodiversity research/biogeography, and write 5-page proposals. The aim is to have time to fully explore the challenges of first designing a suitable project, then developing the appropriate experimental setup, and finally to put this into clear and convincing words. The core of the course are intensive daily one-to-one meetings (1-2 hours per day with each group).

At the end of the course, the groups review each others proposals, which provides a different perspective and feedback. In parallel, there is a series of lectures on various aspects of biodiversity and biogeography research (e.g., island biogeography, diversity-functionality relationships, global diversity patterns; this varies with the interests of the participants), plus a general introduction to writing proposals, and an intro to managing data and using scite.ai (by our librarian).

Event DNA Next Generation Sequencing – from theory to practice
07VUBIO680 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 597

Description:

Business event contents:

Next-generation sequencing (NGS) technologies have revolutionized almost all fields in biology and are changing the practice of medicine. With the falling equipment and sequencing costs, they are becoming indispensable techniques in research and diagnostic laboratories. As a joint state-of-the-art research and training facility of the ETH Zurich and the University of Zurich, the NGS team at the Functional Genomics Center Zurich (FGCZ) offers a five-day course with hands-on practicals.

The lectures cover NGS technologies, their applications and data analysis principles. The practicals consists of sequencing library preparation from gDNA, sequencing run set up on bench top sequencer, and sequencing data analysis. Additionally, single molecule sequencing is covered during this course, including a practical session.

Event Introduction to Spatial Transcriptomics Data Analysis
07VUBIO696 / Lecture with Practical Exercises / 1,456

Description:

Business event contents:

Discover the exciting field of spatial transcriptomics and learn how to analyze spatially resolved gene expression data in our new introductory course. This class provides a foundational overview of the methods and technologies underlying spatial transcriptomics, a cutting-edge approach that combines gene expression profiling with spatial context.

Designed as an introduction, the course focuses on basic data analysis techniques to help participants build a strong understanding of sequencing-based and imaging-based spatial transcriptomics technologies. Hands-on exercises will offer practical experience, making the concepts accessible and easy to grasp.

As a special feature, the final day of the course is optional and dedicated to personalized learning. Participants are invited to bring their own datasets and receive expert guidance in applying the fundamental analysis methods covered during the course.

Whether you are new to the field or looking to build a foundational understanding, this course will equip you with the basic knowledge and skills needed to begin working with spatial transcriptomics data.

Event Research cycle in genomics
07BLBIO253 / Block Course / 2,567

Description:

Business event contents:

In the framework of high-throughput analytical technologies, we implement research-based teaching and learning to experience how the research process works. Genomic analytical high-throughput technologies are revolutionizing science and the practice of medicine. Thus, as a joint state-of-the-art research and training facility of the ETH and the University of Zurich, the Functional Genomics Center Zurich (FGCZ) offers this course in NGS and MS-based technologies. In this course you learn the research cycle in genomics (transferable to any research field, not only in genomics). You will be provided with a dataset of an already performed experimental evolution experiment. After an introduction into the topic and a literature review, you will form a research question you want to investigate with the dataset and a hypothesis. You will then form groups to answer your research question and have enough time to fully examine the dataset (dry lab only). You will learn how to explore mutations in a genome sequence (using IGV), how to correlate them to proteomics (using Scaffold) and form associations with the phenotypic data. By the end of the third week, you will write an abstract about your research project and present your findings in a poster presentation.

Event Cell Biology of Viral Infections
07VUBIO322 / Block Course / 514

Description:

Business event contents:

Viruses are at the interface of living and non-living matter. Outside of their hosts, they are passive carriers of genetic information with inherent capabilities to enter their hosts and rewire the genetic programme of the host cells. Viruses contain information that allows them to evade the pressure of both innate and adaptive immune systems. In their entire complexity viruses manipulate all known aspects of cell physiology. This makes them excellent tools to discover thus unknown features of cells and organisms. Exploring how viruses interact with cells offers new handles against viral disease.

In this course we will discuss and experimentally assess virus-host interactions. In particular, we will elaborate on herpes viruses, and influenza viruses and compare their specific ways to interact with host cells.

Event Systems dynamics in cell and developmental biology
07VUBIO325 / Block Course / 2,837

Description:

Business event contents:

This blockcourse covers new methods in cell and developmental biology using quantitative imaging and computational image analysis. You will learn how quantitative information can be extracted from bioimage data using advanced computer vision methods, how to obtain dynamic and/or multiplexed measurements from such data, and how this can be used for mathematical modelling of biological systems. This will be applied to reveal how variation in cellular behavior emerges, both in space and in time, and what the underlying causes and mechanisms may be.

Event Quantitative Life Sciences: from Infectious Diseases to Ecosystems
07BLBIO445 / Block Course / 4,685

Description:

Business event contents:

Quantitative approaches are gaining steadily in importance in biology due to the increasing complexity and amount of data generated, which often require mathematical models for their interpretation. This course aims to present students with the diversity of research-questions in the Life Sciences that can be addressed with quantitative methods and to give them a hands-on experience (typically using R) with these methods.

The topics discussed range from interpreting genomic data, to the epidemiology of Infectious Diseases, Pharmacodynamics, Immune Dynamics, to Evolution and the Stability of Ecosystems. Researchers who actively work in the field of quantitative biology will present in an approx.

60min lecture about their recent research. Each lecture is followed by a discussion of the key concepts and a hands-on part for the respective topic, ideally in R. At the end of the course, the students will present (15 min) one paper from one of the lecturers.

Each course day is dedicated to one of the following topics (minor changes possible) - Hands-on introduction to R - Big Data in R - From Epidemics to Viruses - Population Biological Models on Phylogenetic Trees - Analyzing the complexity in species-interaction networks - Quantitative Genetics - Modeling emerging epidemics/outbreaks - Cancer evolution - Resource Competition and Game Theory - Reconstruction of diverse populations using Next-Generation Sequencing Data - Bacterial Dynamics within Hosts

- Pharmacokinetics, Pharmacodynamics, & Stoichiometry - Gene Regu Networks

Event Genome Instability and Molecular Cancer Research
07VUBIO246 / Block Course / 1,128

Description:

Business event contents:

DNA of all living organisms is under constant assault of endogenous and exogenous damaging agents. Cells have evolved complex mechanisms to deal with these attacks and maintain genome stability, such as specific DNA repair pathways, DNA damage tolerance, cell cycle checkpoints and modulation of gene expression. A failure in one or more of these mechanisms increases genome instability, leading to disease, cancer and ageing. In this course, the students will gain theoretical knowledge and hands-on experience of state-of-the-art methods to study DNA damage and repair, checkpoint activation, DNA replication stress, cell cycle regulation and pathogen-induced tumorigenesis. The experimental section will extend from yeast and human cell culture to tumor mouse models, covering various areas of molecular biology and cell biology. The experiments will make use of a variety of techniques such as flow cytometry, western blotting, RNA interference, immunofluorescent stainings, single-molecule analysis of replicating chromosomes and physical detection of chromosomal breakage, depending on the set of laboratories visited by the individual student.

07VUBIO319 / Block Course / 515

Description:

Business event contents:

BIO319 gives an introduction to research in oncology with focus on the regulation of cancer cell motility and invasion. Paediatric neuro- oncological disorders will be presented and current challenges for effective cancer treatments discussed. The course will give an introduction to cell migration and its deregulation in disease. Using a paediatric brain tumour cell model, the students will practically experience how specifics of cancer cell behaviour can be addressed experimentally.

Event Das Verhältnis zwischen Kritik und Ethnografie: Theorie, Praxis und Textproduktion
06UE506p402a / Exercise Group / 604

Description:

Business event contents:

Der Workshop zielt darauf ab, den kulturwissenschaftlichen Kritik in ihren theoretischen Grundlagen zu rekonstruieren und sie im Spannungsfeld ethnografischer Feldarbeit zu reflektieren. Ausgangspunkt ist die Frage, wie Kritik in der EKW einerseits aus der empirischen Beobachtung sozialer Phänomene hervorgeht und andererseits aus theoretisch wie meta-empirisch fundierten Formen der Gesellschaftskritik abgeleitet wird. Der Workshop ist entsprechend in drei aufeinander bezogene Blöcke gegliedert:

1. einen begriffstheoretischen Block mit der Lektüre zentraler Texte aus der (Wissens-)Soziologie, der Sozialphilosophie und den Kulturwissenschaften;
2. einen ethnografischen Arbeitsblock, der die Entwicklung der Fragestellung sowie die Durchführung teilnehmender Beobachtung umfasst; sowie
3. einen Schreib- und Analyseblock, der der Entwicklung und Artikulation von Kritik in Form der Textproduktion dient

Event Statistik I, Tutorat, Gruppe 02
06TT240-006b / Tutorat / 5,234

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie sind Einkommen und Armut in der Schweiz verteilt? Verändert sich mit zunehmendem Alter die Bereitschaft zu nachhaltiger Lebensweise? Wie sicher können wir auf Basis einer Zufallsstichprobe von 100 Personen Wahlergebnisse voraussagen? Um solche Fragen schlüssig und prägnant zu beantworten, benötigen wir Statistik. Die Veranstaltung baut zunächst eine Brücke von den erhebungstechnischen Grundlagen quantitativer Sozialforschung zum Kernelement der Statistik: Der Variable. Das zentrale Motiv der Statistik, die Verdichtung von Information, führt dann zur Suche nach geeigneten univariaten Statistiken (Mittelwerte, Streuungsmaße, Häufigkeiten), zur Auseinandersetzung mit Techniken der Zusammenhangsanalyse (Tabellenanalyse, Mittelwertvergleich, Regressionsanalyse) und den wahrscheinlichkeitstheoretischen Grundlagen statistischer Verallgemeinerungen sowie Hypothesentests.

Event Jewish Studies Seminar: Jüdische Filmgeschichte als Migrationsgeschichte
01SE14SS059 / Seminar / 1,534

Description:

Business event contents:

Jüdische Erfahrung ist grundlegend von Migration, Exil und Diaspora sowie der damit verbundenen Mehrsprachigkeit und multiplen kulturellen Zugehörigkeiten geprägt. Diese Vielfalt spiegelt sich unmittelbar in der jüdischen Filmgeschichte wider, die sich konsequent als Migrationsgeschichte lesen lässt.

Das Seminar spannt den Bogen von den jüdischen Einwanderern aus Osteuropa, die die Gründung der großen Hollywoodstudios in den 1910er-Jahren prägten, über das jiddische Kino – oft als nostalgisches „Heimwehkino“ zwischen zwei Welten beschrieben – bis hin zum prägenden Kapitel des Filmexils und den filmischen Auseinandersetzungen mit ‚Displacement‘, den Ab/Brüchen und Neuanfängen nach der Shoah. Zudem betrachten wir zeitgenössische Filme, die von Mehrsprachigkeit, Reisen und der Suche nach Wurzeln erzählen.

Anhand unterschiedlicher Genres und Epochen folgt das Blockseminar diesen Spuren von Migrationserfahrungen und nimmt dabei sowohl die Biografien der Filmschaffenden als auch die filmischen Werke selbst in den Blick.

Notes:

Das Programm und die Lektüre wird ab Semesterbeginn auf Olat zur Verfügung stehen.

Event Genetic and Epigenetic Control of Plant Development
07VUBIO285 / Block Course / 4,966

Description:

Business event contents:

In this course we introduce concepts of developmental biology at the genetic and molecular level and apply general methods for their analysis. The lecture focuses on plant reproduction and epigenetic processes and investigates how these affect development. In the laboratory we use Arabidopsis as a model system concentrating on four aspects: the identification and isolation of genes, the investigation of genetic interactions and hierarchies, and the characterization of gene expression and gene function.

07VUBIO282 / Block Course / 4,977

Description:

Business event contents:

Students have the opportunity to familiarize themselves with a variety of techniques which are important in experimental biology. These include heterologous expression of eukaryotic genes in E. coli, induced gene expression in transgenic Arabidopsis plants and in protoplasts, analysis of protein-protein interaction by the yeast two-hybrid system and pull-down assays. Lectures on the theoretical background accompany each experimental part.

Event Plant Sensing

07VUBIO286 / Block Course / 4,979

Description:

Business event contents:

Plants are constantly exposed to a variety of external stimuli - being either autocrine or paracrine signals controlling growth and development, or signals that directly originate from the environment.

Plant use both intracellular and cell-surface receptors (many of which being receptor kinases) to sense these signals, which allow them to transduce these inputs into a plethora of adaptive cellular responses.

During this block course, students will take part in ongoing projects within the group, dealing specifically with measuring different signalling outputs using diverse qualitative and quantitative bioassays in a range of native or heterologous experimental systems. In addition, general techniques to analyse protein expression, protein localization, as well as enzymatic activity will be introduced. The block course will be accompanied by theoretical lectures on the methods used, as well as an overview of sensing mechanisms used by plants to develop, grow, and adapt to their ever-changing environment.

07VUBIO284 / Block Course / 4,982

Description:

Business event contents:

Many bacteria have a "Dr. Jekyll and Mister Hide" personality: While they may be beneficial for biotechnological applications, e.g. as biocontrol organisms or for the degradation of pollutants in the environment, they may also cause severe infections in humans. Using various molecular methods light will be shed on the various facets of bacterial behaviour within this practical course.

Notes:

Begleitend zum Blockkurs BIO 284 wird der Besuch der zweistündigen Vorlesung BIO 297 "Social Behaviour of Bacteria" dringend empfohlen.

Event Translational Medicine in Neuroscience and Infection
07VUBME368 / Block Course / 2,912

Description:

Business event contents:

Translational medicine is a rapidly growing discipline in biomedical research with the overall goal to translate new knowledge, mechanisms, and techniques generated by advances in basic research into new approaches for prevention, diagnosis and treatment of disease.

In this course we provide insights into current research including ongoing randomized clinical trials, and discipline-specific laboratory and clinical research using multi-disciplinary, "bench-to-bedside" approaches. Students will be able to choose between a wetlab microbiology project for urinary tract infections or an in-vivo neurophysiology/imaging project (places limited per project), and will be joined for lectures in clinical sciences. Students will be asked to voluntarily participate in non-invasive study procedures, but participation is not required and will not be factored into the evaluation.

Event Statistik I, Tutorat, Gruppe 04
06TT240-006d / Tutorat / 5,236

Description:

Business event contents:

Wie sind Einkommen und Armut in der Schweiz verteilt? Verändert sich mit zunehmendem Alter die Bereitschaft zu nachhaltiger Lebensweise? Wie sicher können wir auf Basis einer Zufallsstichprobe von 100 Personen Wahlergebnisse voraussagen? Um solche Fragen schlüssig und prägnant zu beantworten, benötigen wir Statistik. Die Veranstaltung baut zunächst eine Brücke von den erhebungstechnischen Grundlagen quantitativer Sozialforschung zum Kernelement der Statistik: Der Variable. Das zentrale Motiv der Statistik, die Verdichtung von Information, führt dann zur Suche nach geeigneten univariaten Statistiken (Mittelwerte, Streuungsmaße, Häufigkeiten), zur Auseinandersetzung mit Techniken der Zusammenhangsanalyse (Tabellenanalyse, Mittelwertvergleich, Regressionsanalyse) und den wahrscheinlichkeitstheoretischen Grundlagen statistischer Verallgemeinerungen sowie Hypothesentests.

Event International Geneva: Multilateralism and Diplomacy
06SE615p504a / Seminar / 3,472

Description:

Business event contents:

The module provides in-depth specialist knowledge in a selected field of research. Students will develop their skills to analyze selected topics of international relations from the perspective of political science. The focus is in the exchange with leading international experts in the individual policy areas. The various topics are explored in theoretical and empirical depth. The module also provides an insight into possible career prospects for political scientists.

Notes:

International Geneva is the most important hub for multilateral governance with 41 international organizations, representations of 180 states, around 750 non-governmental organizations and over 4000 visits by heads of state, prime ministers, and other high-ranking individuals every year.

The module provides an insight into these activities with key figures from International Geneva. Exemplary organizations are discussed and visited on site. This year, the focus is on humanitarian organizations, multilateral economic negotiations within the framework of the WTO and the impact of the digital transformation on multilateralism. Participants will have the opportunity for a personal exchange with the various speakers.

The workshop will take place in Geneva from October 13 to 16, 2026.

Course Materials: Teaching materials and a bibliography will be distributed at the introductory event and on an ongoing basis during the workshop.

Event Introduction to the Medical and Health Care Law
02VLW1RI_30 / Course / 1,463

Description:

Business event contents:

The course begins by defining the notions of health care, medical and biomedical law. This is followed by an overview of the sources of national health care law. In this regard, special attention is given to federal powers and fundamental rights in the context of medicine and health care matters.

The relevant sources of international health care law, in particular international treaties and soft law, are then explored. Three sessions are dedicated to the regulation of drugs, transplant medicine and research involving human beings.

The course will be conducted by alternating theoretical inputs with case studies and short presentations by the participants.

Event Schweizer Idyllen in der Moderne
06SE360-112a / Seminar / 2,951

Description:

Business event contents:

Wer hat's erfunden? Richtig: die Schweiz. Zwar gibt es Idyllen seit der Antike - doch erst im 18. Jahrhundert entsteht die moderne Idylle, die von Anfang an höchst ambivalent ist. Diese Ambivalenz untersuchen wir in Idyllen zwischen 1842 und 1925: auf der einen Seite viele grüne Wiesen, Waldlichtungen, schneebedeckte Berge und herrliche Sonnenuntergänge, auf der anderen Seite physische und psychische Gewalt, ökonomische Ausbeutung und sexueller Missbrauch - insbesondere von Mädchen. Dabei geht die Idylle - auch dieses Phänomen werden wir im Seminar erarbeiten - mit der christlich geprägten Gattung der Legende spannende Verbindungen ein. Diese Texte führen uns zu den Abgründen der modernen, d.h. der bürgerlichen Gesellschaft, die von Anfang an von inneren Konflikten zerrissen ist. Wir arbeiten auf der Grundlage von: Gattungstheorie, Strukturalismus, Affect Studies, Intertextualität / Intermedialität, Gender Studies / Vulnerability Studies, Psychoanalyse.

Description:

Business event contents:

Beskrivelse av kurset:

Kurset har som mål å forbedre studentenes skriftlige og muntlige ferdigheter i norsk og omfatter arbeid med komplekse grammatiske strukturer, idiomatiske uttrykk og den siste delen av læreboka Et år i Norge (leksjon 17-23). Muntlige ferdigheter utvikles gjennom interaktive oppgaver, arbeid med lyrikk og høytlesning av utvalgte dikt av lyrikerne Inger Hagerup og Andre Bjerke.

I de skjønnlitterære ukene skal studentene arbeide med Sult i ulike uttrykksformer. Vi leser og analyserer tegneserieadaptasjonen Sult (2023) av Martin Ernstsens, basert på Knut Hamsuns roman Sult (1890), og ser også den nyere filmatiseringen Sult 2020 (2023) av Ian Senior. Gjennom arbeid med romanutdrag, tegneserie og film får studentene utforske hvordan et klassisk litterært verk kan tolkes og aktualiseres i ulike medier og historiske kontekster. Sammenligningen gir grunnlag for refleksjon over modernismens menneskesyn, framstillinger av fremmedgjøring, fattigdom og identitet, samt over hvordan form, uttrykk og medium påvirker tolkning og mening. Arbeidet med Sult bidrar til å utdype språkkunnskapene og danner utgangspunkt for samtaler om kulturhistorisk kontekst og studentenes egen samtid.

Notes:

Mål med språkkurset:

Studentene skal ha kjennskap til norsk formålære, syntaks og idiomatikk og kunne uttrykke seg skriftlig i refererende, beskrivende og argumenterende framstillinger. De skal beherske hovedreglene i norsk grammatikk. Muntlig skal studentene kunne presentere et dikt, delta aktivt i samtaler og diskusjoner, uttrykke seg forståelig og vise evne til å forstå andre. Gjennom arbeid med skjønnlitteratur i ulike medier skal studentene også utvikle evne til analyse og sammenligning av tekster i lys av både kulturhistorisk kontekst og egen samtid.

Event Exkursion ans Stummfilmfestival Zürich
06EX255p010a / Field Trip / 878

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Stummfilmfestival im Filmpodium ist ein fester Bestandteil der Filmkultur in Zürich. Gezeigt werden historische Filme aus der Zeit des Stummfilms in neuen Restaurierungen mit Live-Vertonung durch renommierte Musiker*innen, die ein breites musikalisches Spektrum abdecken. Rund die Hälfte des Programms widmet sich einem Themenschwerpunkt, wie zuletzt 2026 «Tanz der Bilder».

Wie kuratiert man ein solches Programm? Wie kommt man an die Filmkopien und nach welchen Kriterien wählt man die Live-Musik aus? An der Exkursion werden wir uns an mehreren Abenden eine Auswahl des Festivalprogramms anschauen und Gespräche mit den Programmgestalter*innen sowie mit ausgewählten Stummfilm-Musiker*innen führen. In einer einführenden Seminarsitzung werden Texte zum Thema «Stummfilmpräsentation heute» diskutiert und auf dieser Grundlage Leitfragen für den Festivalbesuch entwickelt. Nach einer abschliessenden Reflexionssitzung werden die Teilnehmenden kurze Texte zu den besprochenen Themengebieten anfertigen.

Die Exkursion soll Einblick in die Organisation eines filmhistorischen Festivals geben, in theoretische Fragestellungen einführen, die sich an die heutige Präsentation von Stummfilmen im öffentlichen Raum knüpfen, und insbesondere den Aspekt der Live-Vertonung in den Blick nehmen.

Notes:

Bedingung ist die Teilnahme an mindestens zehn Filmprogrammen während des Festivals mit begleitenden Gesprächsrunden (14.-31. Januar 2027, abends), an den rahmenden Seminarsitzungen (13. Januar 2027, 14-18 Uhr; 1. Februar 2027, 12-15 Uhr), sowie die Anfertigung einer schriftlichen Arbeit (6-8 Seiten) bis zum 15. Februar 2027. Die genauen Termine für die Filmvorführungen werden Anfang Dezember 2026 bekanntgegeben.

Alle Teilnehmenden erhalten einen Filmpodium-Programmpass für die Spielzeit Januar/Februar 2027.

Event Kunst- und Kulturrecht
02VL90GL9-1 / Course / 3,783

Description:

Business event contents:

Das Modul untersucht Themen, die das gesellschaftliche Zusammenspiel von Kunst, Wirtschaft, Staat und Recht betreffen. Was ist "Kunst"? Wie unterscheidet sich der Kunstbegriff des Kunstsystems von jenem des Rechts? Wie steht es mit der Autonomie der Kunst, wenn Kunstwerke gehandelt werden? Ist "Kunst" dasselbe wie "Kultur"? Diese Fragen bilden den Fluchtpunkt rechtssoziologischer Reflexion, stehen aber gleichzeitig im Zentrum der aktuellen Diskussion über die Bedingungen, unter denen autonom kreatives Schaffen in einer global vernetzten Welt möglich ist.

Die praktische Relevanz dieser Fragen zeigt sich bei Beschränkungen der Kunstfreiheit durch staatliche Interventionen ebenso wie bei Massnahmen der staatlichen oder privaten Kunstförderung, die Autoren in besonderer Weise ihrer künstlerischen Freiheit berauben können. Sie zeigt sich ferner im Bereich des Urheberrechts, das KünstlerInnen zwar eine Möglichkeit zur Selbstfinanzierung bietet, sich aber gleichzeitig auch hemmend auf die Entstehung neuer Kunst auswirken kann (z.B. bei Collagen oder Remix-Kunst). Negative Auswirkungen des internationalen Handels mit Werken bildender Kunst machen häufig Schlagzeilen. Tatsache ist, dass jährlich viele Kunstwerke illegal grenzüberschreitend gehandelt werden.

Event Legal Gender Studies
02VL120WM13 / Course / 3,773

Description:

Business event contents:

The course "Legal Gender Studies" explores the relationships between gender and the law, with a focus on feminist and queer approaches to law. It introduces students to the historical development, methods, and key theoretical frameworks of legal gender studies, shedding light on how law both shapes and is shaped by gendered assumptions, identities, and power structures.

Alongside its engagement with feminist and queer theories, intersectionality, vulnerability, and masculinities theories, the course will focus on a range of contemporary topics, including gender-based violence and the legal questions surrounding trans and non-binary people. Methodologically, students will critically engage with legal scholarship, case law, and relevant research from the social sciences at the intersection of gender and law.

In addition to the core teaching, the course will feature guest lectures by invited experts and, a guided thematic visit to the Kunsthaus Zürich, exploring representations of gender, femininity, and womanhood through art.

Notes:

1 October 2026, 17.00 – 18.30:
Guided Tour at Kunsthaus

Course Materials: Sources and reading materials will be uploaded to OLAT (<https://lms.uzh.ch/url/RepositoryEntry/17916888349>) together with the slides.

Event Exkursion an die 30. Internationalen Kurzfilmtage Winterthur
06EX255p009a / Field Trip / 876

Description:

Business event contents:

Die Kurzfilmtage in Winterthur feiern dieses Jahr die 30. Ausgabe und wurden über die Jahre zum wichtigsten Festival in der Schweiz, das sich ganz der kurzen filmischen Form verschrieben hat. Auch international gelten die KFTG mittlerweile als bedeutender Treffpunkt und Kompetenzzentrum für Liebhaber*innen dieser Filmgattung. Das Eintauchen in die thematischen Programmblocke und Sektionen der Wettbewerbe eröffnet den Teilnehmer*innen der Exkursion die Möglichkeit, verschiedenste Facetten des aktuellen und historischen Kurzfilmschaffens kennenzulernen und zu diskutieren. Denn, so wird auf der Webseite der KFTG (<https://www.kurzfilmtage.ch>) klargestellt: «Der Kurzfilm ist nicht einfach ein kürzerer Film. Er ist eine eigene Kunstform...» Über die Auseinandersetzung mit den filmischen Werken hinaus, werden Einblicke in die Festivalarbeit des Teams der Kurzfilmtage ermöglicht.

Vor dem Festivalbesuch sind zwei obligatorische Sitzungen an der Uni als Vorbereitung vorgesehen: Neben der Präsentation des Festivals widmen sich diese vor allem der Geschichte und der spezifischen Ästhetik des Kurzfilms. Es gilt insbesondere die Besonderheiten des kurzen filmischen Erzählens zu analysieren und die Gemeinsamkeiten und Unterschiede zum Langfilm zu diskutieren.

Die Nachbereitung der Exkursion findet in einer weiteren Sitzung an der Uni statt.
